How is it that normal people, people who usually have some sense of home decorating and color coordination, go stark raving mad at Christmas and end up with homes that look like white icing, candy covered, sugar-coated gingerbread houses with assorted sprinklings of twinkling lights and wildly-decorated Christmas trees in the most abnormal places?

After I put up my tree last weekend, I sat down to enjoy my (as usual) over-decorated house. As I sat there, I realized what a mish-mash of colors and lights I have around. Every surface is covered with some sort of brightly-colored Christmas gee-gaw, even parts of the floor and plastic evergreen, shiny tinsel and colored balls hang from windows and doorways and dangle in the middle of the rooms. Bright lights and assorted Christmas smells assault the senses.

My "good" tree, the real one in the living room, is a gigantic cone of migraine-producing glitter. It looks as though the contents of Mrs. Grant's jewelry box had been upended over it, lit with hundreds of brain-piercing little white lights. Strings of tiny, shiny red balls hold the whole thing together, and strings of plaid (?) ribbon cascade down from the top of the tree like the ties on Christmas packages.

I have other decorated trees around the house, too. I have one small one in the TV room, trimmed with lots of little plastic bears, cinnamon gingerbread men, little wooden ornament treasures from years past, and a big red ribbon. There is another small tree in the dining room, trimmed with those same cinnamon gingerbread men and a garland of strung popcorn interspersed with red beads (supposedly representing cranberries but cranberries were too expensive so I used wooden beads which I found for half price in an isolated corner of the store).

Lest I forget, the gingerbread men are my failed attempt at making my own ornaments. They are made with cinnamon and applesauce rolled out and cut like cookies, then baked for six hours. I guess I rolled mine too thin and baked them too long because all of my gingerbread men got severe cases of scoliosis. They all have bowed backs and I couldn't turn them over and paint the backs because they were burned. Oh well - they smell good!

Besides the "good" tree in the living room, I have a full-sized artificial tree in my basement rec room because this is where we will open our gifts on Christmas eve. This tree is a true work of art. It is the one that is covered with the ornaments that were made by the kids and the cute little Christmas things that people have given me over the years. Since I had so much popcorn and got so many red beads on sale, I make enough popcorn garland to decorate this tree with it too, but if someone walks too hard the popcorn crumbles off. It has multi-colored bright little lights that twinkle on and off, too.

But I love it – the more Christmas stuff around, the better it is. I have Christmas rugs and Christmas scarves on every surface. I have a Christmas shower curtain, Christmas pictures and a quilted Christmas wall hanging in my bathroom. I have Christmas flowers stuck in any container that will hold them - if something doesn't look like Christmas, I stick a red flower in it. I have Christmas pictures, little Christmas quilts on my quilt racks and Christmas quilts and afghans on my chairs. I have candles everywhere and will light them all on Christmas eve – if I don't forget.

Most of my Christmas stuff has been around for years. In fact, the best stuff has been made by my family and friends. I treasure some of the most worn ornaments and decorations because they remind me of someone or something from long ago. I will never get rid of my Christmas stuff because of what it means to me.

Maybe this is why I decorate so much and so violently. After being around so many years, I have accumulated a considerable amount of precious Christmas stuff, and I can't bear to leave any of it in a box.

Maybe some day I'll have to get a bigger house to accommodate all of my Christmas decorations. In the meantime, twinkle twinkle little gingerbread house.

LIBRARY LINES
By Heidi Hoks, Librarian

The TRF Public Library invites you to visit the library and check out all that it has to offer. This month check out the magazine section. The library subscribes to 102 different magazines of all types. Some magazines are also donated to the library. Magazines are reviewed annually to determine if any magazines should be added or subtracted from the collection. Back issues of magazines are kept just behind the magazine reading area and can be checked out for a week at a time.

Upcoming Events

Preschool Storytimes held Wednesdays from 9:30 to 10 a.m. December 10 & 17. Christmas Storytime held Wednesday, December 24 from 9:30 to 10 a.m. Christmas Open House with refreshments and treats held from 9 a.m. to noon on December 24. The library will close at noon on December 24 and be closed December 25. The library will close at 5 p.m. on December 31 and is closed January 1.

Book Reviews of the Month

Codes of Betrayal by best selling author Dorothy Uhnak is a story of a New York policeman who must choose between his professional code as a policeman and his drive for revenge for the death of his young son. A must for fans of authors Joseph Wambaugh and Mario Puzo and of authentic and intense crime novels.

Who are the Promise Keepers? Understanding the Christian Men's Movement by Ken Abraham explains the new phenomenon known as Promise Keepers from an objective standpoint. Ken Abraham asks the questions people most want answered in a factual manner.

Percy the Christmas Bear by Tom Hegg is a loveable loving tale of a little bear created especially by Santa for himself, but whose greatest wish is to be loved by one special little girl or boy.

Web Sites of the Month

http://www.he.net/~sparker/cranes.html - Cranes for Peace. An Award-winning site where you can learn about Sadako, the thousand origami cranes and how to fold your own.

http://www.screenit.com - Screen It! Entertainment Review for Parents. If you wanted more information than just the G, PG, etc. codes released by MPAA, this is the website for you. It contains reviews on movies, music and videos, rating the item's contents on such categories as blood/gore, disrespectful/bad attitude, alcohol/drugs, frightening/tense scenes, use of guns/weapons, imitative behavior, jump scenes, music, profanity, sex/nudity, smoking, tense family scenes, violence and personal dialogues to talk about at home. It does not focus the plot, who it's not suitable for, any cast review and technical information and how others rated the movie/music/video.

Question of the Month

Why don't you have any of the bestsellers? The Thief River Falls Public Library does try to purchase books from the New York Times bestsellers, but many people want to read them and so they are often checked out. Because the library's budget is limited, only one copy of a book from that list is purchased for the library unless there are enough requests on it at a time (7 or more) to justify purchasing another copy. To place a request on a book, simply ask at the front desk and the library staff will be happy to place it for you OR place it yourself from the computerized catalog. To find a list of the New York Times best seller list, check at the library. The hardcover bestseller list is located in the hardcover New book section and the paperback bestseller list is located in the New paperback section. If the library owns the book, it will be noted beside the title on the list. Both these sections are to your immediate right as you enter the library. You may also find the best seller list on the Thief River Falls Public Library homepage: http://www.northernlights.lib.mn.us/trf.htm

Challenger makes plans for several Christmas programs

Students at Challenger Elementary School in Thief River Falls are busily preparing for Christmas programs for friends and relatives.

The following is a schedule of the programs taking place for grade kindergarten through grade 5.

- December 11 — 10 a.m. morning kindergarten; 1:30 p.m. afternoon kindergarten.
- December 12 — 10 a.m. First grade program; 1:30 p.m. Second grade program.
- December 16 — 1:30 p.m. Fourth grade program.
- December 17 — 10 a.m. Third grade program; 1:30 p.m. Fifth grade program.

The program featuring morning and afternoon kindergarten classes is called "Sounds of Christmas" and is directed by Diane Johnson. Their program includes favorite Christmas tunes "Up On The Housetop," "Jingle Bells," "Away in the Manger" and more.

The program featuring first grade students, directed by Gene [illegible] and Diane Johnson, is entitled "A Cheerful Christmas Celebration." Favorite Christmas tunes and spirituals like "Here Comes Santa Claus" and "Go Tell It On The Mountain" will be among the songs performed by students.

"The Littlest Tree's Christmas Gift" is the title of the Christmas program featuring students in the second grade. Their program, directed by Diane Johnson, features a storyline, and Christmas tunes such as "Here We Come A Caroling" and "Child in the Night".

The third grade students will perform a number of traditional Christmas songs for its Christmas program. Under the direction of Diane Johnson and Alice Sather, the students will sing "Here We Come A Wassailing", "I Saw Three Ships", "Deck the Halls" and much more.

Many kinds of percussion instruments will be featured in a "Folk Song Christmas" to be performed by the third grade class at Challenger Elementary school. They merrily welcome family and friends to this year's Christmas Program that will be held on Wednesday, December 17, at 10 a.m. The third grade program is under the direction of Diane Johnson and Alice Sathar.

Joyously welcoming in the Holiday Season are these kindergarten classes at Challenger Elementary, who are busy preparing their Christmas program for friends and relatives. Programs for the kindergarten classes will be held on Thursday, December 11, at 10 a.m. for the morning classes and at 1:30 p.m. for the afternoon classes.

"The Little Tree's Christmas Gift" is the title of the mini-musical that the second graders at Challenger Elementary School will be performing to usher in the Holidays this year. Their program will be held on Friday, December 12, at 1:30 p.m. All friends and relatives are welcome to attend as these youngsters welcome in the season with their songs and merriment.

"Every Little Wish" is one of the songs that the second grade class at Challenger will be singing to welcome in the Holidays. Here, Mrs. Bauer's class is expressing the "joy" of Christmas as they sing. The second grade and kindergarten programs are under the direction of Diana Johnson.

McIntosh man injured Sunday snowmobiling

Kelly Jason Landseth, 28, McIntosh, was injured in a snowmobile accident in Lambert township of Red Lake County on Sunday, December 7.

Red Lake County Sheriff's department received a report of the accident at 12:04 a.m. According to the accident report, Landseth was westbound on a 1990 Polaris Indy 500 snowmobile in the north ditch of County road 4, about one-half mile west of Highway 92, when the snowmobile struck a cement bridge structure.

Landseth was taken to First Care Hospital in Fosston by Fosston Ambulance.

The accident remains under investigation by the Red Lake County Sheriff's department.

TO THE PUBLIC:

Music In Motion would like to publicly express our sincerest regrets that unforeseen weather related events caused our late arrival at the wedding of Denise Huot and Garry Hermreck the evening of November 21, 1997. We would like the bride and groom, their families and guests, Elk's club management and radio station KYCK to know how sorry we are for any problems our late arrival may have caused.

Please accept that KYCK is a radio station. Music In Motion uses as a promotional vehicle and was in no way responsible for any of the unfortunate events that took place that evening.

While Music In Motion takes responsibility for making every effort to cover every one of our entertainment commitments to the best of our ability we also have had to accept that weather can and does cause problems that end up out of our control. That was the case on this night. The entertainer who was originating from Fargo that day encountered severe weather, greatly delaying the arrival at the reception. If the severity of the weather could have been anticipated, the entertainer could have left for the reception sooner.

Even the best of reason, for our inability to arrive on time does not keep us from feeling badly about how it affected Denise and Garry on their special wedding night.

Again our sincerest apologies.

Music In Motion

Purchased with the donation of funds were easy reading classics by Dr. Seuss, Wanda Gag, Robert McCloskey, Leo Lionni, Joan Walsh Anglund, H. A. Rey, Ezra Jack Keats, Paul Galdone and Charlotte Zolotow and new beginning reading books as well as classics on cassette such as White Fang and All Quiet on the Western Front. Pictured with some of the books are Hested relatives (from left) Margaret Stokke, Agnes Stokke and Steve Stokke and young visitor Jacob Hass.

Senior forum at Valley Home for public Dec. 10

"Who Gets Grandma's Yellow Pie Plate?" is the topic of a presentation by Sharon Knutson of Ada, Norman county extension educator, at a senior forum Wednesday, December 10, at 1 p.m. at Valley Home in Thief River Falls.

"The distribution of your lifetime gathering of things involves many decisions," Knutson says. "This is an issue which affects all individuals, regardless of their culture or financial worth. There is a great deal of sensitivity in transferring non-titled property. The workshop will discuss ways of distribution and means to continue traditions and pass on family history."

The forum is co-sponsored by the United Way and Valley Home.

One injured in snowmobile accident

Law Enforcement in Thief River Falls are investigating a snowmobile accident which resulted in an individual being taken to the hospital.

On December 9 at about 5:20 a.m. law enforcement received a report of a snowmobile accident two miles north of Highway 1 from the Softball fields and about one-half mile west. The individual was unresponsive and not alert at the scene and was taken to Northwest Medical Center and then transferred to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks. He has not been identified yet. The incident remains under investigation.

Thefts. On December 3 police received a report that someone had taken 35 Christmas light bulbs from a string of light bulbs on the Gazebo in Floyd B. Olson Park. The theft loss was estimated at $11.

On December 7 at 8:37 a.m. police received a report of a stolen snowmobile. A 1996 Arctic Cat 440 Panther, valued at $3,300, and sitting on a trailer in a yard in the 200 block of North Kendall, had been taken off the trailer. The trailer was found a few houses away. Before it had been reported stolen, however, it had been involved in an accident. At 5:49 a.m. police received a report of a snowmobile and car accident at Third and Markley. When the vehicles collided, the driver of the snowmobile was thrown from the machine. He then got up and ran away on the river.

On December 8, police reported that the safe taken from Black Cat had been found in Eau Claire County, Wisconsin. Police say deer hunters in Wisconsin found the safe at an abandoned farm and reported it to officials in Wisconsin on November 28. They did not learn that it had been taken from the Black Cat in Thief River Falls until December 3. Contents of the safe were missing.

On November 6 police received a report of a stolen laptop computer from Arctic Cat. Through investigation police have now charged Ryan Allen Hible, Thief River Falls, with theft over $500, a felony. Hible was working with another company on a project at Arctic Cat at the time of the theft.

On December 7 at 9:16 a.m. a local individual reported the theft of a 1990 Mercury Sable. It had been taken from behind Twice But Nice and was valued at $4,000. Later, officials received a report that the vehicle had been found near Alvarado. It had been driven into a ditch and rolled. There was nobody inside the vehicle when it was discovered.

Burglary. On December 5 police received a report of a burglary from a garage in the 300 block of North Merriam. Someone entered the garage and took a Craftsman toolbox and tools valued at $1,000.

On December 8 at 8:55 p.m. police received a call from Franklin Middle School. Someone had taken money and other items from a classroom. Charges are pending against 18-year-old Michael Howard Freeman, Thief River Falls, for burglary. Charges are also pending against a 17-year-old male of Thief River Falls.

Accidents. On December 2 at 12:24 p.m. police received a report of an accident near Third and Merriam. A car driven by Pamela Jean Scott, Lengby, was considered a total loss after it struck a tree. Scott lost control of the vehicle on slippery roads.

On December 3 at 8:30 p.m. police received a report of an accident in the Hardee's parking lot. Lawrence Timothy Kostrzewski, Thief River Falls, had parked a 1972 Mercury Comet in the Hardee's parking lot. The vehicle jumped out of park and rolled back into a garage at 311 North Knight. There was no damage to the garage, but police estimated that there was $300 damage to the car. Kostrzewski injured his left ankle while trying to stop the vehicle.

Assaults. On December 8 at 2:58 a.m. police received a 911 call from a woman. Following investigation, Loren Dean Stigen, 38, Thief River Falls, was charged with fifth degree assault. The victim did not require hospital care.

On December 6 at 11:10 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of a domestic incident at a Smiley township residence. Charges for assault are pending against 35-year-old Greg Randy Johnson. The incident involved striking two women.

Drugs. On December 8 at 10 p.m. officer stopped a vehicle. The vehicle and occupants had been under surveillance for suspected drug traffic and weapons. The vehicle was stopped and the three occupants questioned. Over one ounce of cocaine was found along with some marijuana and other drug paraphernalia. Two of the individuals, Miguel Angel Martinez, 24, Minto, ND, and Graciano Alvarado Rodriquez, Jr., 19, Oslo, admitted to having loaded handguns on their person during an incident over the weekend of November 22. The Marshall County Sheriff's department was contacted and the handguns were recovered at an Oslo residence. Martinez, Rodriquez Jr. and Troy Lavell Waile, 26, Thief River Falls, face charges of felony sale and possession of controlled substances. Martinez and Rodriquez Jr. also face weapons offenses.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

LHS bands to present concert Thursday, Dec. 11

Lincoln High School bands will present their first concert of the season at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, December 11. The concert will be held at the Lincoln High School Auditorium. There will be no [illegible].

The concert will include performances by the Jazz Band, the Concert Band and the Wind Ensemble. All of the groups are under the direction of Brian [illegible].

The Jazz Band will open the concert with three songs: "[illegible] Freddie", "Traces" and "Children of Sanchez". Featured soloists during the Jazz Band portion of the concert will be Jim Lehrer on trombone, Cody Hempel on guitar, Luke Torgerson on trumpet, and Lesley Ihle on alto saxophone.

The Concert Band will start their portion of the program with an exciting overture entitled "Celtic Ritual" which evokes the mood of folk music of the British Isles. It will be followed by a modern overture for band called "Windstar". This group's third selection, "Lindbergh Variations", was inspired by a memorial to the kidnapped Lindbergh baby that stands in a small town in Florida. The Concert Band's final number will be a band arrangement of the famous orchestral work "1812 Overture".

The Wind Ensemble will open with a classic of the band repertoire, Gustav Holst's "Second Suite for Band in F Major". This wonderful setting of English folk songs features solos by many members of the band. The next selection is a beautiful chorale setting of "Elegy for a Young American". It is dedicated to the memory of John F. Kennedy. "Incantation and Dance" by John Barnes Chance follows. The incantation portion is beautiful and mysterious; the dance section is wild and features the percussion section. The concert will close with the band's exciting and often surprising rendition of Leroy Anderson's "A Christmas Festival".

The Band Boosters will serve cider and Christmas cookies in the cafeteria following the concert.

Concert Band members include: Flute — Tara Bachand, Angie Johnson, Jennifer Koch, Neal Patel, Amy Rominski, Ashlyn Stratton, Carolyn Walrath; Bassoon — Jenny Klasen; Clarinet — Yvonne Asp, Amy Christenson, Tiffany Frank, Theresa Gaffney, Katy Hook, Lisa Joppru; Bass Clarinet — George Hay; Alto Saxophone — Dena Holstad, Kristin Muzzy, Carissa Ptacek, Stephanie Sculthorp, Amanda Strutz; Tenor Saxophone — Melissa Adamson, Chad Brenneman; Baritone Sax — Matt Beito; Trumpet — Josh Gryskiewicz, Chad Halvorson, Erica Hudson, Marsha Lubitz, Kara Mosbeck, John Schwartz, Nate Sorvig, and Amber Stocklund; Horn — Dede Dilley, Josh Lampe; Trombone — Travis Dahlen, Luke Miller, Kyle Newton, Robbie Omdahl, Cherri Rosland and Steve Wigand; Euphonium — [illegible]; Tuba — [illegible] Kevin [illegible]; Percussion — [illegible] Caleb Nelson, Nick Nelson, Justin Skjerven and John Sylvester.

Leah Kenner, a Lincoln High school student and baritone player, is among the many students preparing for the Lincoln High School bands concert, which will be held 7:30 p.m. Thursday, December 11, in the school auditorium.

Reye Lamm and Collin Schaler, percussionists with the Lincoln High School band, concentrate on their music. They are among the many students preparing for the bands' concerts 7:30 p.m. Thursday, December 11, in the school auditorium.

TRF Orchestras to present concerts

Franklin Middle School and Lincoln High School Orchestras, directed by Derek Druse, will present their annual Christmas concert on Monday, December 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln High School auditorium. The concert is free and the public is invited to attend.

Each orchestra will perform traditional holiday music as well as many classical favorites. The concert will be opened by musicians of the Franklin Middle School Sixth Grade Orchestra, and they will perform a melody of Jewish Chanukah and Christmas melodies known as Holiday Special. The very talented viola section of the orchestra will be featured in another medley of Christmas songs titled Santa Plays the Viola, arranged by Mark Williams. They will also perform melodies out of their music book that they have worked on in the last month.

The Franklin Middle School Seventh and Eighth Grade Orchestras will perform second on the program and will play "Themes from Vivaldi's 'Gloria'", an arrangement of melodies from the famous "Gloria", written by Antonio Vivaldi for chorus and orchestra, often performed during the holiday season. They will also play an arrangement of "Still, Still, Still," an Austrian carol. They will close with Elton John's "Candle in the Wind", which has gained immense popularity with its recent performance by the artist at Princess Diana's funeral.

The Lincoln High School Orchestra will perform "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Johann Sebastian Bach and an arrangement of the popular folk song "Greensleeves" by Marcus D. Dowty. "Jesu" is one of the classics commonly associated with Christmas, and is very popular today as a wedding song. This arrangement of "Greensleeves", which sounds like the popular carol "What Child is This", carries many suspensions and harmonic devices. It is described by the publisher as being reminiscent of Manheim Steamroller.

The main feature of the concert will be the Thief River Falls Youth Symphony, featuring musicians from the Franklin and Lincoln Orchestras as well as members of the Lincoln High School Wind Ensemble. They will finish the concert by performing Gioacchino Rossini's "William Tell Overture", well known as the theme to the popular "Lone Ranger" TV series many years back, but written as an introduction to an opera. They will also play an arrangement of the popular "Winter Wonderland."

The Challenger Fourth and Fifth Grade Orchestras will be performing at their annual Christmas music programs on December 16 at 1:30 p.m. for the fourth grade, and on December 17 at 1:30 p.m. for the fifth grade. The fourth graders will be performing the first songs they ever learned, and the fifth graders will be performing popular Christmas songs.

Graduation standards reviewed in English

that while we all hope she or he graduates from high school nobody ever graduates from learning. The Graduation Standards focus on giving your child the skills needed to keep learning and growing throughout a lifetime.

Isn't this practical approach just a common sense approach to public education?

Yes! But the sad truth is that on a state level, Graduation Standards are new. In the past, all the State of Minnesota legally required before a student received a diploma was that a student sat in certain classes for a determined number of hours. Graduation Standards say Minnesotans do not care so much how long a kid can sit, instead, Minnesotans care how much a kid can show he or she learned.

How do curriculum and testing relate to Graduation Standards?

Minnesota's Graduation Standards have two levels, Basic and High. Basic Standards testing measures whether your child is meeting minimum learning levels in mathematics, reading and writing.

Beginning this year, statewide benchmark tests will be given to all students in Grades 3, 5 and 8. In the 1999-2000 school year, the state will begin testing high school students. Schools must report how all their students performed, as well as reporting to you how your child performed. This helps you, as you select a school for your child, to know a particular learning environment's reputation for student achievement.

Graduation Standards do not dictate curriculum choices to school districts, instead they set 10 areas of learning in which students must demonstrate proficiency. These 10 areas comprise what is known as the High Standards Profile of Learning.

Schools and districts are given sample performance packages that allow students to demonstrate knowledge in the 10 content areas. The performance packages are not all a student needs to know to have mastered a content area, however, they are a way to check out how a student is progressing through practical projects or a series of assignments where students show what they know. For example, some districts may choose to have students create portfolios—samplers of sorts—that showcase how the students have stretched and grown throughout their K-12 education in Minnesota schools.

Do Graduation Standards represent a lot of change for local schools and teachers?

Yes, but Graduation Standards refocus education in Minnesota to being in line with what our best teachers have always done. Most teachers and schools believe the changes are needed and good. Teachers and districts are offered training by the Department of Children, Families & Learning to help them adapt their existing education models to the more performance-driven Graduation Standards.

Are Graduation Standards a code-word for outcomes-based education?

No. Outcomes-based education is only one method a district or school can choose to teach content areas in the Graduation Standards Profile of Learning. Outcomes-based education is a local choice, not a state decision.

Will traditional letter grades still impact whether students get high school diplomas?

Your school district is free to set its own requirements for a diploma in addition to what is required by the State of Minnesota. Schools and districts determine their own grading systems. But as far as state law is concerned, a basic threshold is set for districts that says a diploma cannot be awarded unless a student has passed basic standard tests in mathematics, reading and writing and that the student has completed a series of projects and exercises that demonstrate the student knows, understands, and is able to do work in the 10 content areas of the High Standards Profile of Learning.

Are Graduation Standards appropriate for all kids?

Yes. The Department of Children, Families & Learning believes that Graduation Standards are especially appropriate for kids who face tough odds. Graduation Standards insist that Minnesota must not give up on any child's education. Many children face obstacles. No child must be doomed by them. With both basic standards testing and the High Standards Profile of Learning, Minnesota educators can do a much better job at early identification of academic areas where children struggle and get children and young people the timely and effective help they need to succeed.

What about non-academic factors that affect children's academic performance?

The Department of Children, Families & Children was created to provide Minnesota families and communities with a more holistic approach to meeting needs for education and social services. The Department recognizes that child poverty, nutrition, housing and safety all affect learning, and so it is working together with communities and with educators on all of these issues.

Many others throughout our state recognize this interplay of issues. The vision at the Minnesota Department of Children, Families & Learning is that the agency will succeed in reaching its goals to the extent it works in partnership with your family, your school and your community.

How can I help my child succeed?

Expect your child to succeed. Set a good example by continuing to learn and grow yourself. Read for your own enjoyment and encourage your child to read. Set a time and place for homework, and make sure your child does it. Talk to teacher. Praise your child's success. Get involved. Remember, nobody is a more important teacher for your child than you!

Pirates turn TRF mistakes into points

Crookston converted first half Thief River Falls turnovers into points Thursday and the Pirates went on to beat the host Prowlers 45-35 in the opening game of the 1997-98 boys high school basketball season for both teams.

The loss spoiled the debut of new Thief River Falls head coach Bob Johnson. "Obviously that's not the way you want to start," acknowledged Johnson. "You would like to open with a win at home."

But the Prowlers could not overcome a rash of mistakes that put them in a 17-point first half hole. The toughest stretch came at the start of the second quarter when the Pirates turned six Thief River Falls turnovers into a 12-0 run. The blitz, which included three fast break layups, turned a 13-8 first quarter lead into a 25-8 spread with 2:09 to play in the first half.

"We have no excuse for what happened," noted Johnson. "They were a little anxious and maybe a little nervous for the first game."

Thief River Falls trailed 27-13 at the end of a half in which the Prowlers had more turnovers (14) than field goal attempts (11).

While they were never able to make up that early deficit, but Prowlers play improved in the second half. The difference was a reachable 36-29 following a Cody Unseldle free throw with 5:23 to play, and moments later there was an opportunity to make it a five-point game. But an ill-advised shot that was forced was well off the mark, and Crookston promptly responded with a fast break lay-up by Jason Kuehn and a long jumper off an offensive rebound by Jerome Moeller to re-establish a 40-29 gap with 3:57 to play.

"We played a solid second half," said Johnson. "We didn't turn the ball over as much, and we took better shots."

Moeller, a 6-0 senior and Kuehn, a 5-10 senior on a smaller but quicker Crookston squad, led the Pirates with 11 points each. The Prowlers' lone double figure scorer was 6-1 senior Jeremy Swenson with 12 points – 10 of them coming at the free throw line.

Thief River Falls put up just 26 shots, hitting 9 of them (31 percent), while Crookston went 20-for-45 from the field (44 percent). Points from a 17-for-25 free throw night kept the Prowlers in the game. The Pirates went 5-for-7 at the line. Thief River Falls finished with a 20-19 rebound edge, but topped the turnover figures 20-11.

The loss was disappointing, but Johnson said he was happy with the Prowlers' effort, especially in the second half. "That's part of our philosophy," he explained. "It makes no difference if we're 20 points ahead or 20 points behind, we want the kids to play hard the whole game."

Crookston - [illegible] 11, Jeremy Moeller 11, Justin Bruchmeier 7, Jason Kuehn 11, Tim Lindgren 4, Dustin Uttermark 6, Ryan Parm 4.

TRF - Jeremy Swenson 12, Kelly Cota 6, Casey Skjerven 2, Mike Johnson 5, Kyle Waterworth 2, Cody Unseldle 1, Justin Wessels [illegible], Ryan Flynn 2.

Thief River Falls' Kelly Cota (15) was fouled by Crookston defender Dustin Uttermark as he tried to put up a shot during Thursday's season-opening boys high school basketball match-up. The Pirates beat the Prowlers 45-35.

Gators' defense wins opener

Scoring was at a premium Thursday as Badger/Greenbush-Middle River beat Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 41-36 in boys high school basketball. The Gators won their 1997-98 season opener on the road by playing defense.

"It was a good defensive game," reported Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "Some of it was a first-game timing thing on offense, but both teams played some pretty good defense."

The two teams swapped leads at each quarter break. The Gators were up 9-8 at the first stop, trailed 16-15 at halftime and went back on top 29-28 at the end of the third quarter.

A fourth quarter drought from the field by Warren-Alvarado-Oslo swung the game in the Gators' favor. The Ponies did not hit a basket over the first 7 1/2 minutes of the final period, and wound up in a must-foul situation down the stretch. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River capitalized by going 6-for-9 at the line in the last two minutes – their entire free throw production of the night.

"That was the difference right there," noted Sparby.

Bret Hennin earned 12 points and Shane Nelson had 10 for the Gators. Tyler Solberg of the Ponies led all scorers with 18 points.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 16-for-38 from the field (42 percent) and had a 27-19 rebound edge. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo was 13-for-42 from the floor (31 percent), including just 1-for-11 shooting from 3-point range. The Ponies made 9 of 19 free throws. The Gators had more turnovers 13-10.

Outside shots fall as Mustangs beat Wolverines 67-52

Red Lake County Central's inside game opened up when the Mustangs hit the outside shots Thursday. Net result was a 67-52 girls high school basketball win over Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke at Plummer that left both teams at 2-1.

Angie Chervestad had a game-high 22-point performance for the Mustangs. The 6-0 senior put a hurt on the Wolverines inside after they had to abandon a defense designed to plug up the middle when Katie O'Neill (10 points), Sylvia Hilgeman (10) and Frances Hilgeman (6) knocked down shots from the outside.

"We started the game by denying Chervestad the ball," explained Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast. "But they hit the outside shots on us, and we had to make a change. That left the middle open. Nothing really seemed to work for us."

Red Lake County Central had quarter leads of 19-8, 30-22 and 50-36.

"We played pretty well in the first and third quarters," pointed out Mustangs coach Rick Kovestu. "We hit those outside shots, and that helped to spread things out for Angie."

Kathryn Stanley scored 14 points to lead Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, while Jenny Nelson and Dana Wiseth both netted 12.

The Mustangs were 28-for-55 from the field (51 percent), while the Wolverines were just 19-for-52 (37 percent). "Offensively the ball just didn't bounce our way," noted Gast. "Chervestad is tough on defense, too, and that made it hard to get anything going inside. The outside shots were there, but they wouldn't drop for us. I thought we played hard enough to win, but the ball wouldn't go our way. I thought they (Mustangs) played very well."

Red Lake County Central was 11-for-17 at the free throw line, where Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke went 14-for-22. The Mustangs finished with a 41-25 rebound edge and topped the turnover charts 22-21.

Little Falls girls edge TRF 43-41

A last-second Thief River Falls shot failed to drop Saturday, allowing Little Falls to escape with a 43-41 girls high school basketball win.

The visiting Flyers led at the quarter stops 12-9, 26-21 and 33-29, but couldn't lay claim to a win until the Prowlers' potential game-tying shot at the end went in and out of the bucket.

"We had a lot of chances, including that last shot," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe, whose team fell to 1-2 in their 1997-98 home opener.

A 19-point game by the Flyers' Sarah Solis led all scorers in the matinee match-up – Little Falls' first-ever appearance in Thief River Falls. Amber Klinker turned in a 14-point effort for the Prowlers, while teammate Nicole Kopari pulled down 10 rebounds.

Thief River Falls shot only 31 percent from the field (18-for-59) and went just 4-for-15 at the free throw line, where Little Falls was 13-for-23.

"The free throws are hurting us," acknowledged Loe.

Little Falls finished with a 38-32 rebound edge, but the Flyers also topped the turnover charts, 24-22.

"It was not very pretty," admitted Loe, "but it was exciting. Defensively we played well, but we have to do a better job offensively."

Nordics pull away from Bears

Matt Nelson scored 22 of his game-high 25 points in the second half Friday as Marshall County Central pulled away from Lake of the Woods 63-47 in a boys high school basketball game played at Baudette.

The Nordics won despite being shut out in the second quarter. They were ahead 19-12 after eight minutes, but found themselves trailing 23-19 at halftime.

"We had a good first quarter," noted Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland. "We had some baskets off our transition game."

But Lake of the Woods switched to a man-to-man defense at the start of the second quarter, and the Bears quickness on the perimeter changed the complexion of the game. The Nordics were 0-for-13 from the field in the second quarter.

"Our shot selection deteriorated," explained Ueland.

However, the Bears' defensive change brought a price – fouls. The Nordics went 19-for 27 at the line for the night. They were back on top 35-34 by the end of the third quarter, and collected a dozen points at the line while pulling away down the stretch.

Caleb Holthusen and David Wilcox joined Nelson in double figures for the winners with 12 and 10 points, respectively. Holthusen, however, played only 15 minutes before leaving with a knee injury and Jon Domrecki's playing time was curtailed because of fouls. The loss of those two players pretty much took care of the Nordics' inside game.

Tony Caldwell scored 16 points and Greg Hulmagel had 12 to lead the Bears.

Marshall County Central was 19-for-52 from the field (37 percent), while Lake of the Woods was a similar 18-for-51 (35 percent). The Bears made 10 of 18 free throws. They had a 37-29 rebound advantage, but also had more turnovers, 28-16.

It was the second win in as many starts for the Nordics, who began the year with a 78-41 win over Warroad. "This one wasn't nearly as crisp as the first game," noted Ueland.

Annual Elks Hoop Shoot Contest will be held on Sunday

Thief River Falls' 26th annual local Elks Hoop Shoot Contest for boys and girls ages 8-13 will be held Sunday, Dec. 14, from 2 to 4 p.m. in the Lincoln High School gym.

The event drew 276 participants in 1996. Six champions will advance to the area finals Sunday, Dec. 21, also in the Lincoln gym.

Over 3 million youth throughout the county participated in last year's contest for in three age categories – 8-9, 10-11, 12-13. Each contestant has 25 shots at the hoop. The boy and girl in each age group with the best scores advance through four tiers of competition to qualify for the national finals.

Sports Boosters will meet Thursday noon

Dr. Orley Gunderson, President of Northland Community and Technical College, will be the guest speaker at the weekly Thursday 12-noon Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Club luncheon meeting at the Elks.

It will be the final meeting of the 1997 portion of the 1997-98 season for the Sports Boosters, who will not meet Dec. 18, Dec. 25 and Jan. 1 because of the holidays.

TRF wrestlers lose to Gators...

Prowler Invitational to be held Saturday

Sixth annual Prowler Invitational high school wrestling meet will take place Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. in the Lincoln High School gym.

East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, Walker-Hackensack-Akeley/Nevis, Red Lake County Central and Roseau will join Thief River Falls in the five-team field.

John Belyea coached Prowlers saw their dual meet record drop to 0-2 Friday with a 60-18 loss to Badger/Greenbush-Middle River in the 1997-98 Thief River Falls home opener.

The Prowlers picked up just three wins against the Gators – by eighth graders Beau Abrahamson and Philip Henninson at 103 and 140 pounds respectively, and by senior Jerome Houske at 171.

Grand Forks teams are up next for TRF

■ Prowlers look for first hockey win

Thief River Falls, after having lost to northwestern Minnesota rivals Roseau and Warroad to start the 1997-98 season, and coming up empty-handed on a weekend trip to the Twin Cities against St. Paul Johnson and Blake, will try its luck against North Dakota competition this week as the Prowlers try to break into the win column in high school hockey.

The back-to-back assignments will find the Prowlers hosting Grand Forks Central Friday and then driving to Grand Forks Saturday to meet Red River.

Johnson beat Thief River Falls 7-3 Friday night and Blake edged the Prowlers 5-4 Saturday afternoon.

"Friday was brutal beyond belief," said Thief River Falls coach Scott Bergland. "That's the worst high school performance I think I've ever seen."

The long trip, a Thursday scrimmage and a Friday morning practice preceded the game and might have left the Prowlers a little leg-weary, admitted Bergland. "But that's no excuse," he said. "We just played poorly."

Johnson led 1-0 after one period and had a 3-1 advantage at the second intermission before opening up a 7-1 third period gap.

Tim Fugants scored the first Thief River Falls goal. Jason Hanson and Wade Chiodo scored 29 seconds apart in the final 1:36. Chiodo and Craig Lawrence picked up assists. Josh Holmes was in goal for the Prowlers, who were out-shot 35-25.

Blake scored twice in the first 3 1/2 minutes and the edge stood up the rest of the way in the Saturday matinee match-up with the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls stayed within 4-2 on second period goals by Chiodo and Jarod Reierson, then pulled within 4-3 when Chiodo scored again four seconds into the third period. But that was as close as the Prowlers came with the Bears picking up an insurance goal late in the period.

Jeff Ricks, Kyle Anderson, Treavor Peterson and Trevor Lee had assists for the Prowlers.

"Saturday was better (than Friday)," noted Bergland. "We played pretty decent, but we didn't get any breaks." And they had to deal with a number of injuries that forced the Prowlers to juggle their line-up.

Among the injured was starting goalie Mike Dwyers, who left the ice near the midway mark of the second period. Holmes finished the game in the nets. The Prowlers were out-shot 30-22.

Defensive efforts by Northland's Paula Hovda (20) and Naomi Wilebski (40) kept Rochester away from the basket during this bit of action in Friday's college basketball match-up. Jada Bjortomt (23) of the Yellowjackets looked to teammate Kelly Klein on the inside on the play. Northland lost its 1997-98 debut 68-52.

Personnel losses hurt NCTC

Rick Nikunen might have felt like one of the Northland Community and Technical College students Friday – one who has spent a month studying for a test only to find out the night before the exam that he had been going over the wrong material. You panic, but at that point there's nothing to do but give it a shot and take whatever grade you get.

Nikunen, the Pioneers' head women's basketball coach thought he had himself a pretty good ball club this year. So did other coaches, who voted Northland No. 5 in the National Junior College Athletic Association Division II preseason polls.

But in the days before Northland opened the 1997-98 season at home Friday against Rochester, Nikunen's line-up took a major hit. Adria Olson left school, Darlene Nelson wound up in the hospital because of illness, Tammy Neihy incurred back problems and Kerrin Stoskopf injured a foot. Neihy tried to play, but couldn't. Stoskopf played briefly before limping off the floor.

All four are sophomores, and two, maybe three of them, were penciled in as starters. With them went most of the Pioneers' inside game.

"We had four solid weeks," said Nikunen of Northland's preseason work. "We had good practices. Everything was coming together. We had good team chemistry. Now, it's like starting over. We're really scrambling. We lost a lot of scoring."

In the game itself, Rochester forward Kelly Klein scored three straight baskets on the inside during a minute-and-a-half stretch that produced an 11-6 lead with 13:43 remaining in the first half – a lead the Yellowjackets would never relinquish.

Northland's Jamekka Lucas would later do Klein one better with four straight buckets, including three fast break lay-ups, to pull the Pioneers within 34-32 with 4:32 left in the half.

But Rochester survived the challenge and went into intermission with a 33-27 lead. A 10-2 run midway through the second half turned a 39-35 game into a 49-37 spread. With Northland unable to put together back-to-back baskets down the stretch, the Yellowjackets' lead was safe.

Klein, a 6-0 sophomore from Rochester Mayo High School, led all scorers with 18 points. Teammates Lindsay Peterson, a 6-1 freshman from Lake City, and Jada Bjortomt, a 5-8 sophomore from Chatfield, added 13 and 11 points, respectively. Lucas, a 5-7 freshman from St. Paul, scored 14 points to lead the Pioneers, with Paula Hovda, a 5-7 sophomore from Roseau, picking up 10. Lucas and Hovda also had five steals each.

Rochester turned the ball over 27 times, but Northland could not convert those mistakes into points. The outside shots wouldn't fall and the inside game vanished with the personnel losses.

Northland shot 32 percent from the field (21/66) while Rochester shot 58 percent (25/43). The Yellowjackets also had a productive 14-for-18 night at the free throw line – all in the second half. The Pioneers were 9-for-17 at the line.

Rochester had a 29-26 rebound edge. Northland turned it over 18 times.

Grygla-Gatzké wins debut

Grygla-Gatzke mixed some defense with a patient, shot-searching offense Friday and came up with a winning formula – a 43-39 season-opening boys high school basketball victory over Stephen-Argyle.

"I was very pleased with our defense," reported Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson. "That's something we've been stressing since the start. And we're pleased with our patience on offense. We did a nice job with our shot selection."

It was an inexperienced squad that Johnson put on the floor for the Eagles' home debut, with seven of the nine players he used experiencing their first extensive varsity duty. The returning veterans, Alex Anderson and Philip Brateng, came through with 22 and 10 points, respectively. Steve Crummy led Stephen-Argyle with 13 points.

The two teams played to a 9-9 first quarter draw. The Storm went ahead 22-18 at halftime, but the Eagles had a 31-29 lead heading into the fourth quarter.

Andrew Sundberg came up with four key points for the winners down the stretch, and Bryce Torgerson, after missing two free throws with 23 seconds to play, made amends by grabbing the rebound off the second attempt and putting the ball in the basket for a 40-37 Grygla-Gatzke lead. Two free throws by Anderson put the Eagles up by five, with the Storm hitting a basket at the buzzer to close it out.

"It was a good way to open the season," offered Johnson.

Grygla-Gatzke was 14-for-37 from the field (38 percent) and 9-for-17 at the free throw line. Stephen-Argyle went 17-for-40 from the floor (43 percent) and 4-for-10 at the line. The Storm had a 24-18 rebound edge. The Eagles had more turnovers, 16-15.

B/G-MR girls beaten by Bears

It finally happened. Tom Neibauer watched his Badger/Greenbush-Middle River girls high school basketball team lose a 46-45 Friday night decision to Lake of the Woods. The loss was the first defeat ever for a Neibauer-coached team at the hands of the Bears, ending a 34-0 run covering 17 seasons as coach of the Gators and, before the three-community combination, Middle River.

The streak almost continued, but a buzzer-beater from 18 feet out by the Gators' Stefanie Sparby went in and out of the basket.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River led 16-15 at the end of the first quarter and maintained a 26-22 edge at halftime. After leading by as many as eight earlier in the game, the Gators found themselves involved in a 36-36 tie to start the fourth quarter.

The Bears got back in it when the Gators went nine minutes without a point – the final four minutes of the third quarter and the first five minutes of the final period.

Two free throws by Missy Smith did put Badger/Greenbush ahead 45-44 in the final seconds, but Heather Hanson of the Bears got behind the Gators' press and came up with what would prove to be the game-winning basket on a lay-up.

A quick Badger/Greenbush-Middle River time-out set up Sparby's final attempt.

Sparby finished with a game-high 19 points. Smith had 10. Ellie Waibel scored 18 points, Kimi Bragdon 12 and Cyndi Hull 10 for the Bears.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 18-for-46 from the field (39 percent) and 8-for-10 at the free throw line. Lake of the Woods went 6-for-13 at the line.

"We've got to play better," said Neibauer. "We're mis-handling too many passes in the post. Our perimeter people are making good passes, but the people in the middle aren't handling the ball."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River will compete in the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational beginning Thursday at Warren. The 1-1 Gators will meet Fertile-Beltrami in a 7:15 p.m. quarterfinal draw. The same bracket will feature Kittson Central vs. East Grand Forks. The other bracket in the eight-team, three-day event will feature East Grand Forks Sacred Heart vs. Warren-Alvarado-Oslo and Fisher/Climax vs. Paxton.

Turnovers plague RLCC in 36-point setback at W-E-M

Win-E-Mac doubled mistake-prone Red Lake County Central 72-36 Friday in boys high school basketball, dropping the Mustangs to 0-2.

First-year Red Lake County Central coach Chris McLean watched his team turn the ball over 40 times.

Down 14-10 at the end of the first quarter, the visiting Mustangs were able to pull within 22-21 early in the second quarter, but were outscored 12-2 over the final two minutes of the first half. They had similar trouble at the start of the second half and found themselves trailing 53-31 through three quarters.

Steven Hanley scored 14 points to lead the Patriots, with Joe Mahlen and Scott Brumwell both netting 12. Mark Erickson had 10 to pace the Mustangs.

Nordics improve, but still fall 80-45 against Wildcats

Marshall County Central came up with its best effort of the young 1997-98 girls high school basketball season Monday, but it wasn't enough against the best team the Nordics have faced to date as Tri-County left Newfolden with an 80-45 win.

It was the third straight setback for the Nordics and first-year head coach Alice Dahl, who said, "We played well. The girls have really improved."

But Tri-County, figured to be one of the best teams in the area, still controlled play with a 27-12 first quarter lead, a 49-23 halftime cushion and a 63-33 third quarter spread.

"They're a real good ball club," acknowledged Dahl.

Anna Bogestad and Krista Bogestad scored 22 points apiece for the Wildcats, while Afton Hanson netted 17. Kristi Kilen led the Nordics with 13 points and Miki Waterworth had 11.

Marshall County Central shot 41 percent from the field (18/49) and went 9-for-16 at the free throw line.

Tri-County shot an eye-opening 61 percent from the floor (37/63).

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Tri County	27	22	14	17	80
MCC	12	11	10	12	45

T.C. - Alexis Stechmann 2, Afton Hanson 17, Mindi Ruud 0, Anna Bogestad 22, Heather Ryan 5, Krista Bogestad 22, Sarah Kuzak 6.

MIDDLE SCHOOL

Franklin Middle School eighth grade girls basketball team beat Crookston twice Monday, winning the A game 32-19 behind a 12-point effort by Brenda Kopari and taking the B game 37-14 as Jennifer Blazejewski scored 6 points.

The Franklin seventh grade girls wound up with a split against Crookston, losing the A game 33-27 while winning the B game 42-13. Cari Harbott scored 8 points and Ashley Harbasch had 6 to lead the Franklin A scoring, while Julie Blazejewski and Kelsey Hollan scored 10 points each in the B game.

Trying to stay with Rochester's Reggie Ollendieck, Northland defender Josh Whitlock had to get around the Yellowjackets' Keith Marion during Friday's college basketball game played in Thief River Falls. Ollendieck scored a game-high 38 points, but the Pioneers came up with a come-from-behind 83-76 win.

Pioneers rally for 83-76 win

Good defense will be one of the keys to any success enjoyed by the undersized Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball team this winter. But the Pioneers discovered out it's hard to defend free throws in a Friday night home court assignment against Rochester. Luckily they figured that out before it was too late, and went on to register a gutsy 83-76 come-from-behind victory.

It was a feel-good-about-yourself win for the Pioneers, who found themselves down 11 just 5 1/2 minute into the game. They were trailing by 13 with 9:01 to play in the first half, but 4 1/2 minutes later, it was a 36-34 contest when Chaka Ali, their tallest player at 6-4, hit one from the side. Josh Whitlock drained back-to-back three-pointers out front, and Ali worked his way inside to complete a 10-0 run.

A rebound basket by Arthur Hamilton beat the horn and kept the Pioneers within 45-41 at halftime.

A big part of Rochester's first half success was 14-for-18 free throw shooting. The Yellowjackets' second half included just a 1-for-6 showing at the line.

"We gave them too many free throws in the first half," acknowledged Ted Krize, who picked up his first win as a college coach. "We had a lot of dumb fouls. It was sloppy defense on our part."

Northland changed that in the second half and overtook Rochester for the first time at 59-58 on a rebound basket by Ali, a short jumper by Dwight Goodwin and a rebound tip by Ali with 9:08 to play.

Jason Lorenson caught nothing but net from the side on the Yellowjackets' ensuing trip down the court, but Northland regained the lead for keeps when Hamilton was left alone on the wing, where he drained a three-pointer with 8:01 left.

It was a nail-biter at the end when Peter LaFleur of Rochester came up with a steal and a fast break lay-up to pull the Yellowjackets within 74-72 with 36.2 seconds on the clock.

Goodwin then took a football-like inbound pass as he broke toward the basket on the ensuing in-bounds play for a lay-up to make it 76-72. He missed a chance for three-point play, but Hamilton was there for the rebound on the free throw, drew a foul and then made one of two gift tosses.

There was still more action, however, as Lorenson came back with a base line drive for a 77-74 game with 22.8 seconds showing. Hamilton made two free throws with 20.9 seconds to play and Reggie Ollendieck of Rochester hit a long jumper on the run to keep the visitors in contention at 79-76 with 15.4 seconds still to play.

Two free throws by Nic Thompson provided Northland with an 81-76 cushion with 14.1 seconds remaining, and a slam dunk on a fast break by Ali locked it up.

"We worked very hard and maintained our composure down the stretch," noted Krize. "We played smart, and we played together. I thought we wore them down. We played a lot of pressure man-to-man defense, and I think it got to them."

Northland balance offset a 38-point game by Ollendieck, a 6-1 sophomore from Cresco, IA, and a 21-point effort by Lorenson, a 6-0 freshman from Cannon Falls. The Pioneers countered with 23 by Ali, a freshman from Minneapolis, 20 by Josh Whitlock, a sophomore from Lancaster, 14 by Thompson, a sophomore from Warroad, and 14 by Goodwin, a sophomore from Milwaukee, WI who played last year at Hibbing Community College.

"Guys like Whitlock, Thompson, (Ryan) Teiken and Hamilton are hard-nose kids who give 100 percent," pointed out Krize.

And while those guys set the table, Ali added the finishing touch with his strong debut in a Northland uniform after missing the Pioneers' season-opening 102-58 loss to UND-Lake Region while completing course work. "Ali is an athlete," offered Krize. "He'll be known throughout the league before he's done. It makes a difference with him in there."

Northland turned in a 50 percent 32-for-64 shooting performance and finished 13-for-20 at the line after a quiet 2-for-2 first half. Rochester shot 41 percent from the field (29/71) and went 15-for-24 the line overall. Rochester out-rebound Northland 36-28, and topped the turnover charts 16-15.

RLCC player honored

Tyler Nelson, a 6-0, 170-pound senior from Red Lake County Central, has been named to the 1997 Minnesota Nine-Man all-state high school football team.

Nelson, who helped lead the Mustangs to a section title and their first-ever appearance in the state playoffs, was selected to the post-season honor squad as a linebacker.

Other area players on the team include senior defensive lineman Jim Rygns and senior offensive lineman Darren Szczepanski, both from Argyle.

MCC turnovers add up in loss to Roseau girls

Thirty-two Marshall County Central turnovers and 52 percent Roseau shooting added up to a one-sided 86-42 Thursday night girls high school basketball win for the host Rams.

Roseau ran up a 26-9 first quarter lead and was never challenged. It was 45-21 at halftime and 66-34 through three quarters.

"Our turnovers hurt us," said Marshall County Central coach Alice Dahl, who voiced the same concerns following a 74-39 season-opening loss to Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke. "We had a lot of bad passes. And every time we turned the ball over, they converted them into baskets."

Five Roseau scorers hit double figures, led by Cathy Gotzman with 16 points. Miki Waterworth scored 14 points and Kristi Kilen had 11 for Marshall County Central. "Miki and Kristi did a nice job for us," noted Dahl.

Marshall County Central was 17-for-53 from the field (32 percent) and only 5-for-18 at the free throw line. The Nordics lost the rebound battle just 33-31, but had 19 more turnovers than the Rams.

Scoring

Wolverines struggle in 53-33 loss to RLF

An off-night against a good team added up to a 20-point Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke girls high school basketball loss to Red Lake Falls Monday in Grygla.

The Eagles doubled the Wolverines 10-5 in the first quarter, had a 26-14 halftime advantage, enjoyed a 42-21 third quarter cushion and won 53-33.

"We played real poor," reported Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke coach Mike Gast, whose team opened the season with a pair of wins, but is now 2-2. "I thought we would give Red Lake Falls a better game, but we just did not play well at all."

Erika Matzke scored 16 points and Jodi Purath had 12 for the Eagles. The Wolverines did not have a double figure scorer.

Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke was just 14-for-48 from the field (29 percent) and 4-for-8 at the free throw line. Red Lake Falls went 21-for-48 from the floor (44 percent) and made 11 of 13 free throws.

Scoring

Life Jackets – A Gift of Life

What holiday gift can you buy for that outdoors enthusiast who already has virtually everything? Consider giving them something that could literally be a gift of life – a new life jacket with modern features.

"Life jackets don't work unless worn at the time of an accident," said Kim Elverum, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Boat and Water Safety Coordinator. "Giving a good-looking life jacket to a favorite outdoors person increases that person's chance of surviving a boating mishap because the life jacket is more likely to be worn on a regular basis."

Today there are attractive U.S. Coast Guard approved life jackets in the $25 to $50 range for just about any water-based sport, from water skiing to riding a water scooter. There are comfortable life jackets that look like fishing vests, with a multitude of pockets to hold fishing gear.

One new option is an inflatable life jacket. Although available for years, inflatable life jackets have only recently been Coast Guard approved. They have the advantage of being comfortable and easy to wear. Once inflated, however, flotation is equal to or greater than traditional life jackets. Inflatables are not intended for use on personal watercraft or while water skiing or for similar sports.

The best life jacket for waterfowlers and late-season fishing literally is a jacket according to Elverum. Called a "float coat" this full-sleeved jacket doesn't look like a life preserver at all, so the gift recipient is more likely to wear it. Float coats have other advantages over the regular life vests: they offer protection from the elements and also provide even more protection from hypothermia if the wearer winds up in the water.

Hypothermia, a life-threatening lowering of the body's core temperature, accounts for as many as 50 percent of all boating fatalities in northern states. A float coat helps protect the victim from the effects of cold water until help arrives or the victim can climb back into the boat. Float coats can cost $120 or more, but are worth the expense for those who use their boat in the spring or fall. Float coats also make great ice fishing and snowmobiling jackets.

"Most hunters would love to have a float coat, but for some reason, they spend the money on a new depth finder or graphite rod," Elverum noted. "I've always heard that the best gift is one the recipient would love to have, but might not purchase for themselves."

Modern life jackets can be found at most well-stocked sporting goods stores and outdoor sports mail order retailers.

Maps Make Good Gifts

Looking for a gift to give that recreation lover on your gift list? The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources offers an inexpensive gift that is useful for anyone who loves the out-of-doors – Public Recreation Information Maps (PRIM).

The maps bring together federal, state and county lands and their recreational facilities, making them easier to find.

The PRIM series divides the state into 51 map areas, with each map showing public lands (color-coded), township, section and range lines, topography, public campgrounds, state trails and state forest roads, designated trout streams, water access sites, and more.

A comprehensive, full-color chart featured on the back of each area map summarizes recreational facilities of the area.

Selected PRIM maps are sold at sporting goods stores, quick stop station stores, and a number of DNR area and regional offices throughout Minnesota. Complete sets are available from the Minnesota Bookstore at 117 University Avenue in St. Paul and the DNR Gift Shop at 500 Lafayette Road in St. Paul.

PRIM maps cost $4.95, plus tax. For help in deciding which maps to buy, or to order maps by phone with Visa, MasterCard, American Express or Discover, call the DNR Information Center toll free at 1-888-MINNDNR.

State DNR issuing an early-season warning to snowmobile riders

Now that snow has fallen upon Minnesota, snowmobiling enthusiasts are anxious to get out on the trails. The Department of Natural Resources reminds snowmobilers that many public trails usually open Dec. 1, but early season snowmobiling carries risks. Thin snow cover can hide hazards. Wet areas on trails and thin ice on lakes and wetlands are added dangers.

Work is underway to remove dead falls and other snowmobile trail hazards, and to install signs. Grooming begins after the trails are prepared and are covered by 10 to 12 inches of snow. The vast majority of recreational trails in Minnesota are across private lands, with the written permission of the landowners. This permission allows the trails to be open to the public, usually from Dec. 1 through March 31. Grooming usually begins in mid to late December. Before Dec. 1, the public can use many of the trail systems in state parks and forests, or any of the state trails, if snow conditions are adequate.

Early season conditions can pose added dangers for snowmobilers, according to DNR Enforcement Education Coordinator Jeff Thielen. "Riding in unfamiliar areas, across unsafe ice, in road ditches, on unprepared trails, and riding too fast for conditions are major contributing factors for many of early season accidents," Thielen said.

DNR Boat and Water Safety Coordinator Kim Elverum said early season snowmobiling across frozen water can be especially hazardous. "This time of year, snowmobilers need to be especially cautious crossing lakes and wetlands," Elverum said. "Snow cover actually insulates thin ice and keeps water from freezing very thick. There needs to be at least five inches of clear solid ice to support a snowmobile."

It's best to avoid crossing ice at all early in the season, Elverum said. "Snowmobilers should never assume that ice is safe," he said. "Our advice is to stay on the trails early in the season, and avoid traveling on ice at all until we have experienced sustained cold weather."

Thielen said there is another early season safety concern. "A light covering of snow doesn't shield snowmobiles from objects and unseen dangers as well as good base will later in the season."

Excessive speed, alcohol and darkness are contributing factors in most snowmobiling fatalities in Minnesota. Another factor is inexperience. Those new to the sport are encouraged by the DNR to take snowmobile safety training classes offered statewide by a network of volunteers. A new law aimed at improving snowmobile safety requires snowmobile operators born after Dec. 31, 1979 to have a valid snowmobile certificate effective Oct. 1, 1998. Since snowmobile safety courses are held only during winter, teenagers who want to be certified for next year's snowmobile season should take the course now.

Ag Banker survey yields mixed reviews but remains optimistic

While Minnesota and South Dakota bankers are optimistic about farmers' finances, North Dakota bankers report financial constrictions due to low wheat prices and yield reductions due to plant disease problems, according to an August survey of 101 agricultural bankers by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis.

"The general responses are mixed according to bankers in the area reporting. Higher cattle prices and good grain yields have finally pulled Montana ranchers out of the cellar while low wheat prices and widespread plant disease problems have hit North Dakota farmers hard," says Minneapolis Fed agricultural economist Edward Lotterman.

Other survey findings:

- Milk prices fell about 25 percent below year-earlier levels dealing a blow to Wisconsin dairy farmers.
- Minnesota farmers continue to fare the best with generally favorable weather and prices for corn and soybeans.
- South Dakota bankers report financial constrictions due to beef producers suffering high death losses from adverse weather in winter and early spring.
- Funds availability tightened marginally from the preceding quarter, loan payments improved when renewals dropped substantially and referrals to other lenders are down slightly.
- District banks are cutting rates on most categories of farm loans.
- Land price changes were largely in the 3 to 6 percent range with the exception of North Dakota where cropland prices increased only one percent and grazing land dropped slightly.

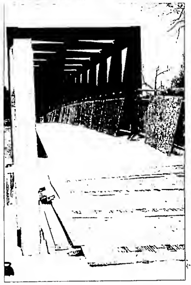
Despite localized problems for ranchers in the Dakotas and wheat producers in North Dakota, most bankers were optimistic about prospects for their clients.

Nominations for '98 LHS Hall of Fame sought

Nominations for the 1998 Prowler Hall of Fame are now being sought. Categories considered include outstanding musical performer, outstanding artistic performer, outstanding athlete, outstanding director, advisor, coach or outstanding community service.

Individuals selected for the Hall of Fame will be inducted May 9 during a banquet at the Best Western.

For more information and a nomination form contact Lincoln Activities Office, 101 South Knight Ave., Thief River Falls, MN 56701. The nomination deadline is March 1, 1998.



Saturday, Sno-Drifters snowmobile club of Thief River Falls and individuals on Sentence to Serve began the process of protecting the new Hartz Park bridge to protect it from damage caused by snowmobiles which will be allowed to cross it this winter. The bridge should be ready for use sometime this week.

We have been having [illegible] weather [illegible] [illegible] Gully Community Center [illegible] for Eileen Erickson. They will be only 12 days before Christmas and a great time to start [illegible]. We hope [illegible] feeling [illegible] home for Eileen [illegible] improvement. Whatever you have to take for the Bake Sale [illegible] for the Country Store will be welcome. If a financial donation [illegible] for you we'd surely appreciate that. Ten to Four o'clock.

Ruben and Clarice Kolling had company for breakfast at the Gully Cafe Tuesday morning when Olivia and Debbie Agnes from Trail and Charles and Karen Jorgenson from Clearbrook drove over for a visit.

When we heard of Eileen Erickson's medical problems we felt she can use some help from good and concerned friends, relatives and neighbors. The City Council say we can use the Gully Community Center on December 13th. We plan for a Bake Sale and Country Store on that day. Anyone who knows or has heard of Eileen's problems, won't you get them ready and help on December 13th. Any kind of baked goods for the Bake Sale and for the Country Store, it may be fresh vegetables, canned goods, fancy work, craft goods, sewing or whatever you can make, or a cash donation. Anyone that can help during the day please volunteer. It is open to individuals, organizations, groups, old or young. We invite neighboring towns to take part. We hope the day will help Eileen get medical help she needs for recovery, and someday the [illegible] caring of others may be a [illegible] help as medical help for a person's recovery. Please come help on December 13th.

Senator Responds To Editorial About Global Warming

GUEST EDITORIAL

by State Sen. Roger Moe

I read with interest your editorial about the "unproven theory of global warming" and the "economic suicide" our country would be committing by reducing the amount of carbon dioxide we emit from power plants and automobiles.

Last month there was a three day conference at North Dakota University in Grand Forks called "Impact of Climate Variability and Climate Change on the Northern Great Plains." Experts from NASA, the National Center for Atmospheric Research, and the Center for Aerospace Sciences at the University of North Dakota attended the conference. None of the scientists and experts who spoke over the three days of the conference said that climate change was an unproven theory. The message from the conference was that while there are still many uncertainties, a scientific consensus has been reached about global warming; it is real.

Robert Corell from the U.S. Global Change Research Project said that greenhouse gasses from the burning of fossil fuels are responsible for dramatic increases in atmospheric carbon dioxide levels and the increase in the temperature of the earth. Corell showed a graph where carbon dioxide levels over the last 150 thousand years closely matched warming and cooling trends. However, the last 200 years showed skyrocketing carbon dioxide levels and global temperature trend levels.

Temperatures this century are warmer than at any time since the year 1400. Annual global temperatures have gone up one degree Fahrenheit in the last 100 years. At this rate of warming, Glacier National Park's glaciers will melt away in 20 to 25 years. Global temperatures and greenhouse gas levels are expected to continue to rise.

The lack of consensus about the reality of global warming that you describe in your editorial is simply false. A handful of skeptical scientists like Sherwood Idso, who was mentioned in your editorial, have attempted to discredit the report released in 1995 by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC). This United Nations panel consists of 2,500 eminent climate scientists from all over the world.

The IPCC report says that warmer temperatures will likely lead to more extreme rain events, more flooding or more severe droughts. The panel says that globally one-third of the world's forests will undergo major changes. The report also indicates that countries in the tropical regions of the world could see their agricultural productions severely disrupted by global warming.

Your editorial cites Mr. Idso's assertion that increased carbon dioxide levels and temperatures will cause crops and plants to flourish due to carbon dioxide fertilization and longer growing seasons. This speculation is flawed. While short-term increases in plant growth can be attributed to increased carbon dioxide levels, scientists say that long-term carbon dioxide exposure may actually weaken plants.

Longer growing seasons and milder winters also have their drawbacks. A warmer climate means more insect pests and more seasonal cycles of pests such as grasshoppers. Milder winters allow more insects to survive that would otherwise be killed by colder temperatures.

According to Ross Gelbspan's book The Heat Is On, the coal giant Western Fuels Association paid $250,000 to produce a video The Greening of Planet Earth, narrated by Sherwood Idso and produced by a company headed by Idso's wife. The video's message is the earth will flourish with agricultural abundance with a doubling of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere. I believe it would be wiser to believe the consensus of 2,500 top climate scientists than a handful of skeptics closely tied to the coal industry.

Your editorial said that the U.S. will be committing "economic suicide" if we take bold steps at Kyoto to reduce carbon emissions. The U.S., with about 4% of the world's population, is responsible for 25% of the world's emissions. We will be endangering the future of our children and grandchildren if we don't act responsibly now to reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

About Ethics, Religion Volunteering, Thanks

Asked in a survey conducted for Lutheran Brotherhood if there is one unchanging standard for right or wrong or if ethics vary by situation, 63 per cent of randomly selected adult Americans said ethical standards vary by situation.

Further, 51 per cent say women are more ethical than men in their behavior. Forty-five percent of men and 56 percent of women say women are the most ethical and 12 percent of men and eight percent of women say women are the most ethical. Thirty percent of men and 22 percent of women say both sexes are equally ethical. (Since neither total comes to 100 per cent, we must assume the remainder considered both men and women to be unethical.)

Asked what they are most thankful for, 38 per cent of Americans say God and 37 percent say family.

Fifty-two percent of Americans have volunteered in the past year and 71 per cent say they do so because they enjoy it. Forty-nine percent say community service should be a requirement for high school graduation and 46 percent say it shouldn't. Those opinions probably parallel the people who volunteer and those who don't.

Fifty-five percent of Americans pray at least once a day and only nine percent never pray. When Americans do pray, 68 percent give thanks and 10 per cent ask for something.

Sixty-four percent of Americans think it's OK to wear casual dress, such as jeans, to church, synagogue or other religious services. Fifty-nine percent require their children to attend religious services and among Americans who aren't parents, 71 percent think parents should require their children to attend religious services.

We thought you might be interested.

A special fund was set up for the meal site and a gift was given to Clara Hesse in appreciation of her faithful non-salaried work at the meal site. Cash gifts were sent to several nursing homes and Hospice for Christmas. Gifts for Red Lake County food shelf and unwrapped gifts for Hillcrest may be brought. Next meeting will be on December 18 and will be a potluck. Door prize winners were, Burnell Byer and Howard LaFayette. Entertainment was provided by the first grade children under the direction of Sharon Rosler and Nancy Gustafson.

The children wore Thanksgiving outfits and sang some great songs. Some of the parents came to watch the fun and the children were given treats on their way out.

Concert

The Fall band and chorus concert was held in the gym. The Jr. High band played "Hold My Hand", "Save The Best For Last" and "The River". The Senior High band played "Turn Turn, Turn", "We Are The Young" and "He Never Failed Me Yet". Sarah Haggo and Kelsey Rewertz were the accompanists and did and excellent job. The Jr. High band played "Kum Bah Yah" and the "William Tell Overture" and the Senior band played "Caroline Legend", theme from "Northern Exposure" and "That Thing You Do". Refreshments were served. On December 10th at 7:00 p.m. the kindergarten through sixth grade will have a Christmas Concert. All are invited.

Service at Hillcrest

Pastor Johnson of Immanuel Lutheran Church held his monthly service at Hillcrest. With Pastor was Bunny DuChamp, Hazel Ollie and Effie Byer.

Burnel and Effie Byer visited with Ernie and Dorothy Peterson and later were supper guests at the home of Roy and Shirley Vigstol of Thief River Falls.

Frances Schofart had a nice visit with Charlotte Loining on Thursday.

Our prayers go out to Tom Huolart of Plummer. He was taken to the hospital in Thief River Falls on Monday.

Quilter's Honor

Immanuel Lutheran Church of Plummer honor a great bunch of people after our church services. They were our quilters who have put in many hours of work and a lot of love in making warm quilts for Lutheran World Relief. The quilters are, Amelia Eskeli, Charlotte Loining, Jean Mott, Hazel Ollie, Clara Hesse, Dorothy Roose, Bunny DuChamp, Bernice Peterson, Avis Frelland, Effie Byer, Dan Carpenter, Florence Tvedt, Esther Walters, Lucille Kvasager and Burnel Byer. This year the group also gave quilts to the flood victims. Since the quilters of Immanuel started quilting they have made 4,375 quilts! That sure is a lot of stitches and so much love. God Bless you all!

Friday Lloyd and Wavell Sorenson and Eugene and Willia Prestegaard went to the hospital in Thief River Falls to visit with Karen and Tim (Skjervon) Bakken the proud parents of a baby boy. More news about the baby will be in next weeks news.

Happy 1st Birthday

On Sunday Jean Carpenter and Alice Kelley along with their son and daughter Judy and Jim Kelley all of Plummer went to Roseau for the first birthday of Jade Kelley. Jade is the daughter of Jeff and Tammy Kelley. Also attending the party were, Jared and Jenny Kelley, Tammy's parents Mr. and Mrs. Mercil of Brooks and sister Terri and her friend, and Angie and her family.

Plummer Auxiliary Meets

Plummer American Auxiliary Post 623 met on November 20th at the legions clubrooms. Fern Whitney, Membership Chairman, reported we have 86 paid up members. Those who haven't paid please do so soon. She also read a letter of reward for membership sent in early from 9th district President Lois. Christmas party will be on December 11th at 7:00 p.m. Bring a $5.00 gift exchange and also a gift to be sent to Fargo's Veterans Hospital. Members may bring a guest and it's a potluck. The Legion and Auxiliary will be serving a pancake breakfast on Sunday Dec 7th from 11:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. Free will donation. Auxiliary will be serving the Lions Christmas party on December 6th and the school Christmas party on December 20th. Anyone who can help work please contact President Wilkens.

Happy Birthday Lorraine

Friday Lorraine Fisher, Reinette Walters, Connie Hughes, Emily Skjervon, Shar Fox and Edna Hyde all went to China King in Thief River Falls for Lorraine's birthday dinner. Reinette made the birthday card.

Amelia Eskeli and Edna Hyde were coffee visitors at the home of Wilhelmina Gollant.

Saturday Wavell Sorenson and Sheila Gorody visited with Brein Espeseth at the hospital in Thief River Falls. On Sunday Lloyd and Wavell went to the baby shower at the home of Dennis and Danella Magnell for little Miranda Marie. Tuesday Wavell, Sheila and Rebecca went to Karlstad to cheer on Tricia at her basketball game.

Wednesday Lloyd and Wavell Sorenson went to the funeral of Herman Ruud of Roseau.

Strandquist

After five days of some thawing each day, folks are beginning to call this weather in Northwest Minnesota a cool Indian summer. Some TV weather reporters blame it on Nino, a part of the Pacific Ocean that got overheated. To me it looks like a long island of hot lava is trying to build a bridge to Asia from South America. With the Chinese running the Panama Canal it would be nice to find a way across the Americas and not have to depend on them to let us go through. Anyhow we have been enjoying the sunshine most every day for awhile with plenty of fog in the forenoons.

Most folks around here were well fed on Thanksgiving Day and now are busy working off the cellulite by shopping, baking, decorating and whatever else is needed to be done for the biggest holiday of the year, Christmas Day. But it sure is fun and all those Christmas parties that are coming up makes you feel stuffed already.

The Bethesda Lutheran Church has been busy as Pastor Norquist plans to take on a church at Buxton, ND in a couple of months. We are sorry to see them leave but wish them the best of everything where ever they go.

Mary and Donna Renstrom and Chris Carrico went to Coon Rapids on Wednesday and spent Thanksgiving season with Cal and Maureen Banyan. They returned home on Saturday.

Judy Kleinvachter visited Elmer Holmstrom and Evelyn Albaugh on Sunday. Richard and Carol Thompson was there also.

Thursday dinner guests-contributors at the Isaac Thompson were Nelson LaDoux of Thief River Falls, Carol and Karl Thompson of Red Lake Falls, Robert, Cathy, Andrew and Lise Thompson, Elmer Holmstrom and Evelyn Albaugh of Newfolden.

Dinner guests at Dean and JoAnne Holmstrom's on Friday were Doug, Karleen and Parker Holmstrom, Dave and Elaine Grovum of Thief River Falls, and Elsie Lahoolh.

Marie Stallen, Kaye Turnwall, Claudia Berggren, Pat and Wayne Larson, Kristin Lyons, Kelly Lofrooth, June Kasprowicz, Gary, Barb and Lewis, and Chris and Barry of Prior Lake visited at Judy Kleinvachter's this weekend.

Isaac and Betsy Thompson, Robert and Andrew Thompson visited Elsie on Sunday evening.

Dave Bassler of Bemidji came and got Johnny Vagle started on his journey to California on Friday. Johnny was going with his son Wesley to fly to Los Angeles and visit with friends for a week and then spend the holidays with his children before returning to this lovely area.

Goodridge

Mrs. Robert Parnow visited at the Clarence Dahlen home on Saturday afternoon.

Thanksgiving Day Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Liedberg were visitors and dinner guests at the Henry Kazmierczak home at rural Stephen.

Thanksgiving Day Mr. and Mrs. Neil Liedberg, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Liedberg of Thief River Falls and Jim Liedberg of Warren enjoyed Thanksgiving Dinner together at the Best Western in Thief River Falls.

In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Norman Liedberg, Jim Liedberg and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Liedberg, Sheri Liedberg and Andrew Lallier visited at the Clarence Dahlen home and they all enjoyed Birthday lunch with Jim Liedberg who had a Birthday on November 23rd.

HISTORICAL REVIEW OF THE TIMES AND ST. HILAIRE SPECTATOR

FROM THE PAGES OF THE TIMES

50 YEARS AGO • DECEMBER 11, 1947

by Jerome and Donna Myhrer

Open House Being Held In Observance Of Book Week

"Open house is being held this week at the Carnegie public library in connection with the annual observance of Book Week. A display of new books and new editions of older publications is on display in the recently enlarged and redecorated library annex on the lower floor. Mrs. Hazel Halpern, librarian, and the library board joined in extending an invitation to the public to come in and inspect the new room, which is attractively decorated in light yellow, with bookcases finished in a deeper shade of yellow, while the floor is finished in a maroon."

Relief Wheat To Be Received Here Until Christmas

"Rev. Walter M. Pedersen, chairman of the Pennington county committee recently appointed to receive donations of wheat and other grains or cash to be used for the relief of needy persons in European countries, announced this week that the local campaign would be extended until Christmas. Members of the local Boy and Girl Scout organizations aided in packing the clothing and food for shipment."

Effect Of Increase In Phone Rates On Local Patrons Not Yet Known

"While the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission during the past week granted an increase in telephone rates to the Northwestern Bell Telephone company, A. J. Rau, manager of the Thief River Falls exchange, said yesterday he had received no official notification as to what effect the boost will have on rates in this city. He added that the new rates will take effect with the bills to be sent out late in January."

2,810 Employed Men And Women In City, Survey Indicates

"A survey of employment in Thief River Falls recently completed by the local office of the state employment service in cooperation with the Civic and Commerce association, reveals that in November of this year there were a total of 2,810 employed persons in this city, topping the prewar figure for April, 1940, by 972, or a gain of 52.9 percent.

"Since VJ Day, 56 new businesses, now employing 192 workers, have been set up in Thief River Falls. These are establishments new to the city and do not include firms located here prior to that date, but now operating under new ownership or management."

New Pastor Will Speak At Home For The Aged

"Rev. Wesley Lindhlom, new pastor of the First Baptist church, will bring the message at the union praise and prayer service next Thursday, December 18, 8 o'clock p.m. at the home for the aged, arranged by Union Gospel Tent Mission committee, said L. W. Lindholm, chairman, who said that the meeting is open to the public. A Christmas offering is to be lifted for the Home for the Aged."

Soo Cafe's New Basement Party Room Is Now Open

"Opening this week of a banquet and party room in the basement of the Soo Cafe was announced today by Gordon and Raymond Johnson, proprietors. The attractively decorated room equipped with a gas log fireplace, is 23 by 40 feet in dimensions and will accommodate banquet groups of up to 75 persons."

Telephones
Red River Valley Towns To Be Connected

GRAND FORKS PLAINDEALER [a newspaper]: "E. M. Walsh, the owner of the Crookston telephone system, is in the city [Grand Forks] today. Speaking to the PLAINDEALER, Mr. Walsh stated that he expected to incorporate a company with the object in view of connecting Crookston with Fosston, McIntosh, Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and East Grand Forks by telephone. It is expected that the system will be completed early next summer and ready for business. These additional connections would make the system one of the most valuable in the valley. The 'phones used are different from the Bell, in use here, and no connection can be made with this city on that account."

Editorial comments from the files of Norm A. Holen

—The campaign for early holiday mailing conducted in recent years by the postoffice department seems to be paying off. The Christmas rush is starting earlier and earlier.

—It looks as though Santa won't make an advance trip to Thief River Falls this season, but if he does his stuff on Christmas Eve local youngsters won't feel too bad.

—Beginning next January, new applicants for drivers licenses will be required to pass an examination. Sounds like a sensible move.

—Simile: As unpopular as over-night car parkers are with the snowplow crews.

—The CIO is out after another wage increase. As Major Bowes used to say, "Around and around she goes and where she stops, nobody knows."

—A wet winter is in prospect in neighboring Polk county. A half dozen towns down there voted last week in favor of the legal sale of liquor.

—Remember way back when a miniature golf course was located across the street north of the Auditorium?

—Speaking of steady work, Mayor Val Franta of Mahnomen has held that job for 28 years.

—In these days of acute power shortages, we folks in Thief River Falls may consider ourselves fortunate that the municipal power plant can spare the juice for those attractive holiday lighting effects in the downtown district.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
JOINT PENNINGTON AND RED LAKE COUNTY BOARD MEETING
PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD ROOM
NOVEMBER 3, 1997, 11:00 A.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of [illegible] and the Red Lake County [illegible] Commissioners met in the Commissioners Board Room at the Pennington County Courthouse in Thief River Falls on Monday, November 3, 1997, [illegible]:00 A.M. Members present: Donald Jensen, Charles Hrplir, Bob Carlson, Bud Comstock, Oliver Swanson, Bob Schmitz, Karin Amiel, Eddie Larson, George Delosier, Len Hanson. Members absent: none.

Others present at the time was Duane Mattson.

The Pennington County Board met with the Red Lake County Board of Commissioners to discuss their options for the Joint Ag Inspector position.

Since the six month probation time has almost completed for the Ag Inspector, the County Boards had three options. The first option was to hire Dale Nass permanently. The second option was to extend his probation for another six months. The third option was to terminate his employment.

At this time Dale Nass met with both County Boards to give a report and to discuss his performance as County Ag Inspector.

After some discussion Commissioner Hrplir moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to not extend probation, but to terminate Dale Nass's employment effective November 21, 1997 pending legal review by the County Attorney. Motion unanimously carried.

County Engineer, Dalton Schulz, met with the County Board to inform that he will be meeting with the architect about the Highway Department Building and other State officials on December 9, 1997 at 1:00 P.M.

Commissioner Carlson moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to have Commissioner Naplin and Auditor Olson fill out the Native Prairie comment sheet and send along a resolution that was passed a few years back regarding the State buying land and then selling the same amount of acres. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Carlson moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to adjourn to November 12, 1997. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board directed the County Engineer to prepare the documents to do the transfer on the foregoing roads. The County Engineer is to also set up a meeting with the officials of Highlanding and Star Township for 9:00 A.M. December 17, 1997 at the Pennington County Courthouse. There will also be a Road Committee meeting the same day.

The County Board has been receiving calls from people stating that people are hunting on property owned by Pennington County used as a gravel pit. This matter will be checked by County Attorney Dave Olin to generate a policy that may be adopted before the 1998 hunting season.

The County Engineer, Dellon Schulz, informed the County Board that there will be a bid opening on L2431 at 10:00 A.M. on November 14, 1997.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to approve the Joint Powers Board Beaver Damage Control Agreement. Motion unanimously carried.

A question was raised on whether or not the Red Lake Tribe has attempted to change the status of property recently purchased near the Casino into Trust land. The Chairman was to call Senator Stumpf and the Governor's office to find out any information regarding this item.

Judge Murphy met with the County Board to update them on the ITV project. For this project to be completed the vents in the Courtroom will need to be quieted.

John and Gloria Erickson met with the County Board to discuss their privately owned and operated Demolition Pit. The County Board asked the Ericksons if there would be room for the demolished Oakland Park Sanitorium.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the warrants for November 12, 1997. Motion unanimously carried.

Kolrba moved, [illegible] seconded, to approve the [illegible] pending [illegible] board members. Motion carried. (See Items #3.12 - #3.13 attached to the official board minutes.)

Superintendent Hoffert presented the budget and cash flow reports. The district showed a November 30, 1997 investment of $383,196 [illegible] #3.23 attached to the official board minutes.)

Terry Anderson, Chairperson and Pastor Robert Dahlen of the Goodridge Lutheran Parish presented a letter expressing their concern that a concert was scheduled for Wednesday, December 10 at 6:15 p.m. The board and administration explained that this was not a decision made lightly and that due to an unique situation the 6:15 time was chosen to enable those wishing to attend the concert and the local church service to have the opportunity to attend both. (See patron concern letter #4.1 attached to the official board minutes.)

At 8:30 p.m. the board recessed to present the tax levy hearing as mandated by law. Superintendent Hoffert reviewed the tax levy statement. Following the presentation Philipp moved, Swenson seconded, to accept the 1997 payable 1998 levy for $235,670.64 as of December 8, 1997, allowing the window period of one business day mandated by state law. Upon not having heard any board members disapproval to the levy the motion shall stand approved. Motion carried. (See report #3.13 attached to the official board minutes.)

Discussion resumed on the patron concern letter. Gallagher moved, Swenson seconded, that in order to not be in competition with church activities on Wednesday evening the concert be moved to Saturday, December 13 at 7:00 p.m. Lengthy discussion followed. Motion failed five against, one in favor. The consensus of the board was that as in the past, the district will whenever possible continue the practice of leaving Wednesday evenings free of school activities. The concert will remain as scheduled for Wednesday, December 10 at 6:15.

Kolrba moved, Hyland seconded, to direct the administration to evaluate all programs in terms of possible reductions for the 1997 - 1998 school year. Motion carried.

Superintendent Hoffert reported that the elevator installation project has begun.

Gallagher reported that the teaching staff from the Northwest Regional Interdistrict Council have reached salary agreement through negotiations.

Pay for additional driving time on a regular route was referred to the administration.

Agenda for a paired board meeting with Grygla was discussed briefly.

Superintendent Hoffert presented minutes from the ESV, NWSC, and LINKS project.

The consensus of the board was to set the next regular meeting for Tuesday, January 20, 1998 at 8:00 p.m. Meeting adjourned at 8:50 p.m.

Alice Forsberg and I attended a Polk County Community Health Service dinner meeting in Crookston on Monday evening at Northland Inn. We were guests of Jane Bergh who is one of the Polk County nurses. She gave us an appropriate souvenir as remembrances of the evening. Remarks were given by Brenda Menke, Diane Bockmeier and Sheri Altepeter and a tasty dinner was served. The County Commissioners were also in attendance. It was interesting to hear reports of the various areas. Three Youth Action Representatives from Crookston schools gave an informative demonstration of deaths caused from unhealthy life styles such as drugs, smoking or drinking. They dropped metal pellets into a metal container. The loud sound of each pellet indicated the lost [illegible] of a person's health. This represented a certain [illegible] the Northwest and we were [illegible] at the number of pellets they used.

The Gully Ladies Aid met on Wednesday November 12 with Cheryl Nyhus President, conducting the meeting. TRF Council hears plans for dredging of reservoir

Plans and a schedule for the proposed dredging of the reservoir in Thief River Falls were unveiled at a Thief River Falls City Council meeting Tuesday evening.

Plans tentatively call for dredging to begin as early as May. Lowell Enerson, director of the Red Lake Watershed District, said they hope to complete the project next summer but the engineer on the project, Brent Johnson, anticipates a two year project.

Enerson said they were "off and running" on the project. He expects bids on the $1 million project to be opened in April. The state will pick up $500,000 of the project, and the Red Lake Watershed District and city of Thief River Falls have each committed to $250,000.

Potential sites for the spoil were discussed only in the abstract. Enerson said he had some sites in mind and they weren't along the river.

Ron Lindberg, public works director, noted that technology has changed considerably since the 60's when dredging was last done in the reservoir. Because of the technology it opens a whole new area of potential sites.

Plans presented by Enerson to the council do call for the development of criteria to identify sites and locations for dredging. It also calls for accepting public input at a meeting, which hasn't been scheduled yet.

■ Lindberg informed the council that the Sno-Drifters and STS crews had performed some work on the Hartz Park bridge pursuant to an agreement to allow the bridge to be used for snowmobile traffic. He said Police Chief [illegible], Parks and Recreation Director Madelyn Vigen, and himself had inspected the bridge and had come up with a short list of some things that needed to be done. He added that the bridge is open to pedestrian traffic, but would not be open to snowmobile traffic until a few more items are done, the signs are all in place, and snow covers the bridge.

■ Bids for office furniture at the Soo Depot were rejected by the council.

Don Stewart, community development director, and project coordinator, explained that there had been an error in the bidding process. The error was not a simple irregularity and could not be ignored. The mistake occurred at the architect's office. At a council meeting on November 25 the council discussed the matter and referred it to the Administrative Services committee, directing it to come up with a recommendation. The Administrative Services committee was unable to reach a consensus on the matter but did forward two recommendations. One optional recommendation called for all bids to be rejected and re-advertise the project. The second optional recommendation called for one bid to be rejected as a non-qualified bid and to accept the low bid of Tony Dorn Inc.

Stewart also indicated that their decision would have an impact on where they were financially with the project. If they accepted option 1 they could have about $30,000 left to do things like purchase new seats. If they accepted option 2, they would be left with about $10,000 and they would have to wait to do the other things.

After some discussion, the council voted 6-1, with Dale Weinberg dissenting, to reject all bids and re-advertise for bids on office furniture.

■ The council approved a request for additional fees from

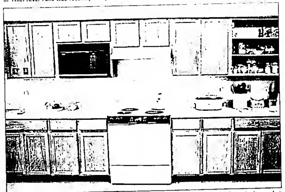
Pennington County Family Preservation Center in Thief River Falls was recently completed. The facility is licensed to house 10 children and is located on North Atlantic.



The kitchen area at the Family Preservation Center in Thief River Falls is fully equipped. Meals for the 10 children which can be housed at the facility, are made here.

Emmanuel Has Come pageant planned for Adventist church

Emmanuel Has Come, a musical pageant on the birth and life of Jesus, will be presented by choirs, orchestra and actors from Thief River Falls and many other area communities Saturday and Sunday, December 20 and 21, at 7 p.m. in the Seventh-day Adventist Church, 1024 Tindolph Avenue South in Thief River Falls.

Performance time for the two act pageant will be about 90 minutes with a short intermission between acts. The public is invited to attend. There will be no admission charge but a free-will offering will be accepted. Directed off-street parking will be available and a time of fellowship and refreshments will follow the program in the adjacent SDA school auditorium.

Actors Listed

Actors include the following and are from Thief River Falls unless listed otherwise the first time their names appear.

Sherman McCormick, Matthew, Nicole Thompson, Mary, Jacob Thompson, Baby Jesus, Jim Hoks, Joseph, Kay Teeters-Asp, Rachel, Sylvia Rondorf, Leah, Yvonne Asp, Rebecca, Leonard Rondorf, Caleb, Jerome Henning, Middle River, Jesse Stan Frame, Joshua, and Philip Hoks, Aaron.

Family Preservation Center opens its doors on Dec. 8

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Pennington County Family Preservation Center, a home away from home for infants and children from birth to 17, opened its doors on Monday in Thief River Falls.

The reason for the new home is apparent when viewing the explosion in out of county placements. In 1992, Pennington county placed six minors in out-of-county facilities. In 1996, the county placed 55 minors in out-of-county placement.

It's not just a cost issue, said project and program coordinator Terry DeMars. The issue also involves keeping children in the community, in schools, and with their families.

Many children from Pennington county have been sent to good facilities, he said, but oftentimes the treatment has been out of context with the family or community. After treatment, the children returned to the environment where they had difficulties and those problems returned because the treatment didn't match the need and the children ended up being sent back out of the community. With this program they hope to halt that revolving door, DeMars said.

The Pennington County Family Preservation Center is located at 923 Atlantic Avenue North in Thief River Falls. The 5,300 square foot facility which has been licensed to house 10 children, will house boys and girls from birth to age 17. Staff include three home-based therapists, a clinical psychologist, live-in house parents, and other staff including DeMars. DeMars and Allan and Peggy Kuck will be the primary live-in staff. They will be at the home 24-hours a day Monday through Friday until a weekend staff takes over.

The purpose of the facility is to treat children locally, DeMars said. He said they propose to offer a number of services and programs including emergency shelter, respite care for parents of emotionally disturbed children, assessments for courts, and treatment.

Children benefiting from the program include children who either have had emotional disturbances so significant that they cannot be managed at home, or be from circumstances that they cannot be properly cared for at home. Children at the facility will also include "at-risk" children who have committed minor offenses, not the child with a recent history of violence or severe crimes and violations.

DeMars said they are proud of their programming, which they believe is fairly non-traditional. Traditionally such facilities have a strong educational component. At the Pennington County facility, children will be asked to participate in one major activity or project at the center, such as running a half-marathon, canoeing, a winter camp, or producing a theatre production — something DeMars described as "fairly substantial". Accomplishing such events or activities gives the participant a sense of achievement and pride. In addition participants in the program will be expected to participate in volunteer projects such as shoveling sidewalks for elderly residents in the community. It is hoped that volunteer activity will help youth focus on others rather than themselves. It will also help re-define the children in the eyes of the community as "givers" instead of "takers".

The program will also have a strong focus on family, DeMars said. Family will be asked to attend dinners, participate in recreational activities, and head-up treatment. The intent is to get parents involved.

Minority student services director reviews position

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Terry Blacklance, minority student services coordinator, described his position with the district as interesting, busy and fantastic.

Monday evening, Blacklance provided School District 564 board with an update of his activities as the new minority student services coordinator since taking on the position July 1, 1997.

Blacklance has spent a great deal of time organizing and reorganizing the position. In addition he has hired seven tutors to serve referrals. Blacklance said there have been 19 referrals to the program and 30 students in the district have taken advantage of the programs offered. Blacklance also organized and planned the "First Annual Northwest Human Rights Workshop". Topics at the October 29-30 workshop included embracing diversity, gender issues, anti-violence, disability awareness, gangs and conflict resolution. Blacklance said there were 22 panelists and 52 participants.

Blacklance has set a number of goals and objectives for himself in this position, including what he calls his toughest challenge — getting parents involved in their student's education. He also hopes to offer minority parents and students the opportunity to be heard. That's a goal he holds above criticism of the proposed educational diversity rule.

Board Chairman Carl Clark noted that it's interesting that the proposed state rule requires districts to track its students by race, when it's against the law to even ask an individual about race on a job application. Clark said that it shouldn't be about race. If a district perceives a need for a student, it should address that need.

Blacklance said he doesn't like to use the word "force", but it describes what districts are being required to do. He also added that he isn't fully informed about the diversity rule, but the state was attempting to answer a number of questions many districts have asked. Whether good or bad, he said, the result of the rule is to force districts to examine race and gender issues regardless of whether there's two or 160 minorities in the district. Most importantly, he said it gives parents and students an opportunity to voice their concerns.

Blacklance noted that the matter of race in the district is stable. He did add that the focus on minorities

N. Quentin Jones services today at Methodist Church

Funeral services are being held today (Wednesday, December 17) at United Methodist Church in Thief River Falls for N. Quentin Jones, 90, a long time educator, coach and active community resident.

Jones taught physical education and coached swimming, track and cross country from 1912 to 1972 at Lincoln high school. He was inducted into the Minnesota State Track Coaches Hall of Fame, Thief River Falls Education Association Prowler Hall of Fame, and was named Thief River Falls Teacher of the Year, Thief River Falls outstanding citizen award and Pennington county senior citizen award.

Landowners Rights Ass'n. hears Leitch and Stevens

Professor Jay Leitch of North Dakota State University in Fargo and Sen. Dan Stevens of Mora, senate author of the Minnesota Property Rights Bill, were guest speakers at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Landowners Rights Association Saturday morning, December 13, at the Best Western Inn of Thief River Falls.

Professor Leitch discussed the Minnesota Wetlands Conservation Act of 1991 and the value-views which a portion of society has placed on wetlands. He said the idea of "no net loss" of wetlands is contrary to the way decisions are normally made regarding human values and dollars and cents comparisons.

Wetlands obviously have value that the public likes, Dr. Leitch said at the meeting, but there must be a recognition that other land uses also have value. If there is no net loss of wetlands, then there must be a loss of something else. Should there be a Wooded Hillside Conservation Act or an Oak Grove Conservation Act or a Farmland Conservation Act?

Discussing the mitigation process for replacement of wetlands under the Act, he questioned the wisdom in spending thousands of dollars to replace a wetland realistically valued at $200 to $300. "I don't believe that is a good investment," he said.

Definition A Major Problem

The major problem in the wetland controversy is wetland definition and delineation, he said. A marsh with generally permanent standing water is far different from a flooded farm field, he noted, but both may be classified as wetlands under the law.

Definition of a wetland, he said, is almost abstract. A wetland is defined as land producing wetland vegetation while wetland vegetation is defined as plants that grow in a wetland.

Individual Versus Society

The argument is between individual rights and the rights of society, the economist said. Both rights must be considered. There are many areas of activity which are restricted on private property because it has been determined that they are detrimental to society.

In 1995 the world population was 5.5 billion people. That total is projected to rise to 10 billion by the year 2030. The rights of individuals versus the rights of society change dramatically as there are more people on the same amount of land.

Regarding the value of wetlands as a buffer against flooding, he said the value is minor in the event of modest, localized flooding and nonexistent in a catastrophic flood such as experienced in the Red River Valley this year. The road network in the valley was much more effective at controlling flood flow last spring than wetlands, serving as a series of mini-dams that delayed the rush of water to the river.

TRF council hears plans for dredging of reservoir

the architect working on the project. Stewart explained that the contract with the architect was for one year, but that had stretched into about 18 months. When project is completed, it will have been nearly two years. Under terms of the contract, the architect had the right to charge an hourly rate. Stewart said there was considerable negotiations, which took into account the recent mistake and the request was negotiated down to $23,727.

■ For the time being, the city has decided to suspend negotiations to purchase the old Peterson-Biddick Feed Mill property.

The property located next to the Soo Line depot, was seen as ideal for additional parking to the depot, which will house city administrative office. The Peterson-Biddick Feed Mill building is currently being demolished. The Administrative Services Committee has been negotiating with Canadian Pacific Railway to acquire the property for about a year. The council received a letter from CP's area manager for real estate, which rejects the city's latest offer. It was the recommendation of the committee to suspend negotiations for the property.

■ The council has approved a resolution of support for a Minnesota Department of Health study of manufactured home parks within the city.

Thief River Falls Police Chief Ken Froschheiser called the request timely. He explained that officers had conducted search warrants at a couple of manufactured homes on unrelated cases and had discovered appalling conditions.

Don Barron, council representative, said the survey could then be used as a possible spring board into rental certification for all rental units — something the council has discussed for many years. Barron wondered whether the city's building inspector could inspect units now.

The City Attorney Paul Ihle, said he couldn't unless he had permission, or probable cause.

Barron then described the city's ordinance as a "toothless tiger."

Ihle said that if the landlord does not like what's happening in a rental unit he or she has all kinds of options.

Other council members suggested that the discussion had drifted away from the subject. The resolution before them was for a study of manufactured parks. The council then approved the recommendation.

■ Chief Froschheiser notified the council that his department had received a $40,000 state grant covering the law enforcement/school liaison program for 1998 and 1999. Chief Froschheiser expressed his thanks to the Thief River Falls Youth Development Committee for its grant writing services.

■ The council approved a request by the Superintendent of Utilities to seek a loan from the state for a $1.6 million waste water improvement project being considered by the city.

Items approved by the council from the consent agenda included: use of the auditorium gym facilities by St. Bernard's church school for the balance of the 1997-98 school year, the closing out of the golf club improvement fund and project at year end 1997, a salary and benefit adjustment for the city administrator to be equal to the 1997-98 MAPS agreement, the renewal of animal disposal contract services with Dan Trontvet for 1998, the consumption of alcoholic beverages in Red Robe and LaFave Parks on January 24 and 25 for the snowmobile races, a substitute dog catchers agreement with Shane Nelson and Brian Arto for 1998, the MN State bid from Superior Ford for a 1998 Ford Crown Victoria, and the approval of an on-sale intoxicated liquor licenses, on-sale wine licenses and club on-sale liquor licenses. A request for a dance permit was denied because it was not made in a timely fashion, according to policy standards.

Optometrists to offer free eye exams to poor

Minnesota Vision Project, which provides free eye examinations to low-income workers and their families, will be conducted throughout the state in January under sponsorship of the Salvation Army and volunteer members of the Minnesota Optometric Association.

The comprehensive eye exams will be given in participating optometrists offices.

To qualify for the free eye care, persons must have: (1) A job or live in a household where there is one working member, (2) No eye health care coverage of any kind, Income below an established level based on household size; and (4) Had no eye exam within the past two years.

Applicants can be screened for eligibility from January 2 through January 30 by calling the Salvation Army at 1-612-224-6916 from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. Exams will be given in the optometrists' offices some time in March.

Application forms are also available from The Salvation Army, 401 West 7th Street, St. Paul, MN 55102. Be sure to mention the Minnesota Vision project.

Jnnyce Jordahl-Minuz, O.D., facilitator for the project, urges people who feel they may be eligible for the free eye care to apply, even if they don't think they have a vision problem.

"Many eye health problems don't have noticeable early symptoms," she said. "Even with common vision problems like nearsightedness, farsightedness or astigmatism, people can become so accustomed to the way they see things that they don't realize they are not seeing as well as they could be."

She said that seven out of 10 people examined in the 1997 program needed a new eyeglass prescription.

Mosher, Sistad receive prizes

Ryan Mosher of Grygla won a potted Black Hills spruce and Letty Sistad of Oklee a potted Colorado spruce at the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District tree order day recently.

Assistance with tree plans and species selection was provided to participants by district staff. District residents interested in planting trees should contact the district office in Grygla at 294-6144 soon.

Skating is just one of Becky Mooney's many talents

Passes freestyle senior test, attains highest level passed by any TRF skater

By Kathi Carlson
The Times Reporter

Becky Mooney reaches for the stars and grabbed one recently when she achieved the highest level any Thief River Falls figure skater has ever achieved.

Becky passed the senior freestyle test on her first try while testing in Grand Forks on Sunday, December 7. It's a feat that, according to Lisa Semanko of the Thief River Falls Skating Club no other Thief River Falls skater has accomplished—a level that not even all Olympic skaters achieve on their first try.

Reaching the senior or gold level in these areas is very difficult, according to Semanko. "The majority of skaters will never reach it, and it is especially difficult when your ice time hours are as limited as ours. Most skaters who do reach golds belong to clubs where they skate much of the day all year long. Becky has accomplished this despite the lack of year-round ice."

Freestyle skating is a combination of jumps and spins. Some of the jumps done as singles, doubles, triples, etc., are the toe loop, flip loop, lutz and axel. Scratch sit, camel and lay-back are some of the spins done by freestyle skaters.

The eight levels of testing include the pre-preliminary, preliminary, pre-juvenile, juvenile, intermediate, novice, junior and senior.

The Thief River Falls Skating Club is affiliated with the United States Figure Skating Association which sanctions the shows, competitions and test sessions the skaters take part in. The USFSA is also responsible for establishing the test structure that skaters must follow.

According to the USFSA rule book, requirements for the senior freestyle test include a four-minute program set to music requiring at least four different double or triple jumps, two different jump combinations consisting of two double jumps or a double and triple jump and at least four different spins, each with a minimum of six revolutions. One of the spins must be a flying spin and one must be a spin combination consisting of at least two positions and at least one change of foot with a minimum of ten revolutions.

Freestyle step requirements include one serpentine step sequence of very advanced difficulty and a complex sequence of turns in the field covering the entire ice surface and including counters and rockers. Harmonious steps and connecting movement in time to music should be maintained throughout the program.

The entire freestyle program should be of championship caliber performed in good form and skated with style, rhythm, grace and sureness. There should be a definite change of pace in music and in the skating as the candidate demonstrates interpretive ability. The entire ice surface should be utilized, and athletic and aesthetic ability and variety should be demonstrated.

Semanko says, "Although four minutes might not seem like much, it is a very long time when one considers the stamina needed to accomplish the requirements!"

Becky has also passed her senior moves in the field test. This element consists mainly of footwork that skaters use—turns, edges, spirals, etc—in set patterns. The eight levels of testing are the same as freestyle. Moves in the field replaces the figure eights that skaters used to use.

The dance element of figure skating requires set patterns of steps done to music. Skaters must show the appropriate steps and edges as well as the expression and style each dance requires. Dance examples include the waltz, blues and tango, to name a few. The seven levels of testing in dance are preliminary, pre-bronze, bronze, pre-silver, silver, pre-gold and gold. Each level includes three dances. Becky is working on her pre-gold dances. She has passed the killian with the blues and paso doble left.

With all of these skating accomplishments one would think that she has little time for anything else, but skating is only a small part of this young woman's life.

Becky is co-captain of the girl's varsity basketball team, was co-captain of the cross country team where she has advanced to the state twice, and has represented Thief River Falls three times in track, participating in the 800 and 1600 meter races. She will be the track team's co-captain in the spring. Maintaining a 4.0 average throughout her school career, Becky is active in the National Honor Society and Key Club. She is also active at St. Bernard's Catholic Church where she attended school through the sixth grade.

Becky is not one to blow her own horn—at least not very loud. While the petite 17-year-old high school senior's smile is bright and quick, her words are soft. She attributes her accomplishments to the support of her "parents, friends and coaches" and "a lot of hard work, too."

Becky's parents are Ken and Val Mooney, and she shares their attention with three sisters. Tami is 19, a student at the University of Minnesota and recently married to Trevor Knutson. Younger sisters Jacki and Kendra are 13 and 11. Ken is a self-employed carpenter, and Val works at Digi-Key.

Family is priority in the Mooney household, and it's not unusual to see the whole family riding bicycles together down Highway 59 near their home south of Thief River Falls.

Becky has been skating since the age of four which has meant many early mornings for Val and Ken over the years. She laughs as she says, "Mom loved it when I got my driver's license."

Becky and her three skating sisters have also needed countless skating costumes for the many shows and competitions. Val admits that sometimes the schedules have been hectic but adds sincerely that they have "really enjoyed it." Grinning proudly, Ken describes daughter Becky as "maintenance free." What more can the dad of a teenage girl ask for?

When asked about inspirational people in her life, Becky mentions Olympic runner Gail Deavers who overcame a thyroid condition. She also names her skating coach, Jen Knutson, who Becky says, "has always been there—through good times and bad."

Becky describes herself in a single word—"ambitious." Taking a full load of academic courses throughout her school years, she says scholastics come "pretty easy." Becky plans to go to college and wants to become a doctor. Because of her future goals, she sensibly says that school is at the top of her priority list.

Does ambitious Becky have time for fun? She says that she "has fun doing all of it." She also says she's had the same boyfriend for a "long time" as she smiles and hesitates a bit before adding, "well, five months."

With news about youth sometimes negative, Becky is a breath of fresh air, and while the supportive family, friends and coaches rightfully share the credit for her accomplishments, it is Becky—ambitious and determined—who has picked herself up and dusted herself off as she's learned to skate like a champion.

Keep reaching for the stars, Becky. The sky is yours.

Seventeen-year-old Becky Mooney recently passed the senior freestyle figure skating test, the highest level ever attained by a Thief River Falls skater. She has also passed the senior moves in the field test and is working on her pre-gold in dance. In addition to her skating accomplishments, Becky participates in cross country, track, basketball, the National Honor Society, Key Club, church activities at St. Bernard's Catholic Church – all of this while maintaining a 4.0 grade point average at Lincoln High School where she is a senior.

Computers for the New User taught in class

"Introduction to Computers for the New User" is the name of a course to be taught in four three-hour sessions from 6 to 9 p.m. January 5, 6, 12 and 13 in room 106 at Northland Community and Technical College.

Course fee is $90 plus the cost of a textbook and Dan Willoughby will be the instructor.

The course is designed for the beginner with little or no experience and will cover the basics of IBM-compatible personal computers. An explanation will be given of what various computer terms mean.

Topics will include personal computer components, start-up process, mouse, memory storage, printers and an introduction to the Windows 95 software program.

For more information or to preregister, contact the custom training and continuing education department at NCTC, phone 681-0793 or 1-800-959-6282.

NCTC class offered on Internet use

Six-hour course on "Introduction to the Internet" will be conducted in two three-hour sessions from 6 to 9 p.m. Wednesdays, January 14 and 21, in room 106 at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls.

Janelle Klinke will instruct the class and cost is $60. Preregistration is required prior to January 9 by contacting the custom training and continuing education department at 681-0793 or 1-800-959-6282.

The class is intended to provide a comprehensive overview of how the Internet works and the services it provides. A discussion of terminology and hands-on practice will prepare participants to use the many applications and resources available on the Internet.

Topics include "Structure and Function of the Internet," "Resources," "Access Providers," "News," "Gopher and List Servers," "Telnex," "FTP Sites and World Wide Web Sites," "On-Line Tutorials" and "Reference Materials."

Lisa Swanson with choir at Jamestown college

Lisa Swanson of Thief River Falls was among the students in the choir performing during the 29th annual Jamestown College Christmas Concert, Friday, December 12, through Sunday, December 14.

This year's concert featured several soloists and the music along with artistic back-drops depicting the progress of man's life. The annual Christmas Concert is planned and arranged by Dr. Richard Smith, choir director and professor of chemistry, music and education at Jamestown College.

Rynae Haugen and Jamie Harder wed

Candleabras with netting adorned the pews and altar of Zion Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls for the September 6 wedding of Rynae L. Haugen and Jamie L. Harder. Pastor Robert Dahlen officiated at the 4 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Ronald and Odella Haugen of Goodridge and Wayne and Donna Harder of Thief River Falls.

Special music included "Keeper of the Stars" and "If" sung by Ryan and Rory Haugen, brothers of the bride and "Wedding Song" sung by Lesley Sundrud, friend of the couple. Lee Ruppe played the guitar. In addition to various selections by Lori Line, organist Paula Adamson, friend of the couple, played Mendelssohn's "Bridal March" as the processional and "March Jubilant" by Lori Line as the recessional. The groom was surprised when the bride sang a special song, "Endless Love."

The bride chose a gown of white satin. The scalloped top featured detachable sleeves and was decorated with beads and pearls. The straight skirt was accented by a detachable, very detailed and scalloped train. Her pearl crown-like headpiece held four layers of trailing netting. She carried a bouquet of fresh flowers which included white spray roses with purple statice, various flowers and trailing ivy.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Rhonda Downs of Goodridge. Bridesmaids included Lori Race of Goodridge, sister of the groom, Jodie Harder of Thief River Falls, sister of the groom, Lesley Vraa of Thief River Falls, friend of the bride, Tabitha Downs of Goodridge, niece of the bride, Dawn Haugen of Goodridge, sister-in-law of the bride, and Stacy Dahlen of Bloomington, friend of the bride.

The brides attendants wore gowns featuring a dark purple velvet bodices and crepe skirts. They carried circular bouquets of brightly colored fresh wildflowers.

Danielle Harder of Warroad, niece of the groom, was the flower girl. She wore a gown similar to those of the bridesmaids and carried a basket of wildflowers.

Tasha Haugen, niece and Godchild of the bride, was the miniature bride. She wore a white satin gown trimmed with pearls and lace. Her bouquet was of small white roses.

Petal throwers were Riley Harder, niece of the groom, and Kensie Haugen, niece of the bride. They wore white dresses with purple flowers and carried white crocheted baskets filled with purple petals.

The bride's friend, Nicole Paulson, was her personal attendant.

The groom was attired in a black tuxedo with tails accented by a white vest and bow tie. His boutonniere was a white rose.

Aaron Enge of Grafton attended his friend as bestman. Groomsmen were the groom's brothers Mark Harder of Warroad and Rodney Harder of Thief River Falls, and the bride's brothers Randy and Rod Haugen of Rapid City, SD, and Rory Haugen and Ryan Haugen of Goodridge.

The grooms attendants wore black double-breasted tuxedos with black vests. Their boutonnieres consisted of brightly colored fresh wildflowers.

Tyler Downs of Goodridge, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer. The groom's cousin, Hans Harder, was the miniature groom. They wore black tuxedos with vests. Their boutonnieres were of fresh wildflowers.

The guests were ushered by Tom Race of Goodridge, brother-in-law of the groom, Randel Downs of Goodridge, brother-in-law of the bride, Ken Geske of Thief River Falls, friend of the couple, and Brian Bugge of Thief River Falls, friend of the couple.

The ushers wore black single button tuxedos with black vests. Their boutonnieres also were of fresh wildflowers.

The mother of the bride wore a dark purple suit coat dress with a white silk shirt. The mother of the groom wore a black purple dress complimented by a short coat jacket. Their corsages of all-white fresh flowers were accented with bits of purple.

The black single buttoned tuxedos with black vests worn by the couple's fathers were complimented by boutonnieres of fresh wildflowers.

Honored guests were the groom's nephew, Collin Race, and the bride's niece, Acreal Haugen, who is stationed in Texas with the United States Air Force.

Hosting the reception were Carolyn and Orin Lee, aunt and uncle of the bride, and Penny and Greg Harder, aunt and uncle of the groom. The brides nieces, Heather Downs and Lindsay Haugen, attended the guest book.

The all-white four tier cakes adorned with paper roses and trailing ivy were placed on multi-level stands. The bride's mother made the wedding cake and krumkaka. The cake was cut by Jean Haugen, aunt of the bride, and Annette Harder, aunt of the groom.

Aunts of the groom, Bette Harder and Louise Quinn served coffee. Joan Baker, aunt of the groom, and Pat Dahle, aunt of the bride, served punch.

Flower hostesses were Rhonda Haugen, sister-in-law of the bride and Sherri Harder, sister-in-law of the groom. Attending the gift table were the bride's nieces, Kayla and Jena Haugen. Waitresses were the bride's nieces, Alisha Downs and Rozlynn Haugen and the bride's cousins, Sara and Erin Haugen and Rhandi Jo Halvorson.

Following a wedding trip to Jamaica, Rynae and Jamie are at home in rural Thief River Falls.

Rynae is a graduate of Goodridge High School and Northland Community and Technical College. She is employed by Townsend Pricing, Inc.

Jamie is a graduate of Lincoln High School and Northland Community and Technical College. He is employed by Milender Mail Service.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

To The North Pole

Dear Santa Claus

Thanks for the great past year. The holidays were happy as well as the months following. I wasn't involved in any fender benders or accidents requiring the use of a diver. I stayed busy and can't believe it's already time to write you my yearly wish letter.

My first request may seem a little out of your realm, but it can't hurt to ask. I'm dreaming (not of a white Christmas) of a mild winter. After the last two or three winters, I'm ready for something a little more on the medium side – not too much snow, not too much cold but just right.

From the temperatures we've been experiencing lately, my wish is already being answered. But I shouldn't say it too loudly because we all know how quickly the weather changes around here. I suppose I shouldn't complain to you, the North Pole can't be all that moderate either and you seem to survive year after year.

My second request goes hand-in-hand with the last wish. I'm looking for you to bring me a lifetime supply of candles, matches, flashlights, batteries and a generator (for good measure). In April we discovered what essential items these were and not to be without. You could say I've become a little paranoid about power outages and water surging up from the sump pump hole; that's a weekend never to be repeated.

Thirdly (again a bit out of your range), I'm seeking just a tiny bit of crafting ability. You see, I broke down and attended one of those rubber stamping parties. I was just going to purchase a Christmas gift for a relative when I got sucked up in all the cool stuff I could make.

Briefly, I forgot that I don't possess an ounce of talent for that kind of hobby. It sure would be fun to develop even a smidgen of ability and surprise my friends and relatives with homemade cards and gifts. I can almost hear you laugh out loud when you read this. But just think, next year my letter could be written on a special card made by me!

A few of my simpler requests include fur-lined slippers and a stack of really good books. When I begin reading nothing else matters. The dishes, laundry, dusting and scrubbing get low priority. (You can scratch the request for a book on gardening. Our vegetable garden is now a lovely piece of green grass.)

Enough for me. That's a tall order for anyone, including you. I suppose on a couple of those requests I should have written a little earlier so you could get a head start.

You'll need an extra big sleigh for the number one item on my husband's Christmas list: a snow blower. But if you're able to fill my first request, I'm sure he'll settle for a really nice shiny shovel. It would look great hanging from a nail in the garage.

For our 7-year-old son, toys seem to be the order. I know he's personally requested a Mega something or other. Yes, and anything related to hockey would be just fine. We've finally discovered a way to tire the kid out. And now that there's a stick in his hand and a mask over his face he's not able to eat as much snow off the rink. Something good has come out of hockey!

And, though he hasn't written this on his list, my son would enjoy a Peef bear. You know, like the one you created in the book. He covets my Peef bear and is always "peeking" the bear's belly.

Thanks for your attention. We all hope that Mrs. Claus and the reindeer are well and that your special deliveries are successful. Milk and cookies (a new recipe, even) will be waiting for you.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year

What Christmas Means To Me

As one looks around today (inside and outside), one thing is made perfectly clear: the Christmas season is here. Practically everything around us reflects this fact: snow, Christmas trees, decorative lights, Christmas music, toys galore, etc. When you ask someone what Christmas means to them, a typical response might be, "It's a time where family and friends are together, you have a big dinner and presents are exchanged." But what does Christmas really mean?

Personally, I thoroughly enjoy being with family and friends, but the meaning of Christmas goes much deeper than this theme. Jesus is the focal point of this season. Christmas is celebrating God sending Jesus to earth. This event was foretold in Isaiah 7:14, "Behold, a virgin will be with child and bear a son, and she will call His name Immanuel." Immanuel literally means "God with us." (Matthew 1:23) This small baby lying in a manger was not just another ordinary baby, born to parents who were unimportant in our minds and from an ordinary town. This baby was God Himself! He is the Savior of the world. He is the only son of God. Most of us have heard and may even memorize the Christmas story in Luke 2. Have you really pondered the significance of this event? God could have planned another way to have worked out our sins, but He chose to send us a personal Savior who experienced many of the things we have all been through. There was no room for Him in the Inn. He was despised and rejected by men. He was misunderstood. John 10:10 tells us that Jesus came so that "they might have life and life more abundantly." God loved us so much that "He gave us His only Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." (John 3:16)

This is what Christmas means to me. We can be the most generous and thoughtful people in the world but yet still miss the deep fulfillment that Christmas has to offer us. The story is the same today as it was approximately 2,000 years ago: "Do not be afraid, for I bring you good tidings of great joy... For today, in the city of David, there has been born for you a Savior, who is Christ the Lord." (Luke 2:10,11)

May you experience the true meaning of Christmas!

Rosalind Wold and Mike Reishus wed October 4

Rosalind Wold and Mike Reishus exchanged marriage vows Saturday, October 4, 1997 at St. Bernard's Catholic Church in Thief River Falls. Father Dennis Wieland officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Roland and Rose Wold of Thief River Falls and John and Sandy Reishus of Warroad.

Soloist Jane Mattson, friend of the bride, provided special music. Pianists included Gladys Paulson, great-aunt of the bride, and Paula Adamson, friend of the bride.

Jodi Kuznia of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, was the Matron of Honor.

Also attending the bride were Tami Lundgren of Fargo, ND, Heather Bane of Thief River Falls and Lori Mackenroth of Thief River Falls, all friends of the bride.

The bride's God-daughters, Chantel Kuznia and Heather Bane, both of Thief River Falls, were flower girls.

Eric Bolton of Fargo, ND, friend of the groom, was the Bestman. Groomsmen included Erik Speer of Fargo, ND, friend of the groom, Ryan Wold of Thief River Falls, brother of the bride and Charlie Hendrickson of Rochester, friend of the groom.

Keaton Joppru of Thief River Falls, friend of the bride, was the ring bearer.

The guests were ushered by Randy Berberich of Minneapolis, uncle of the bride, Ross Reishus of Warren, brother of the groom, and Paul Kubesh of Minneapolis, friend of the groom.

Special guests at the wedding included Fred and Delores Berberich of Erskine, grandparents of the bride, Olga Johnson of Badger, great-grandmother of the bride, Josephine Reishus of Biwabik, grandmother of the groom and Anthony and Fern Michalski of St. Cloud, grandparents of the groom.

The reception was hosted by the bride's uncle and aunt, Jeff and Anita Capp, and the groom's uncle and aunt, Jerry and Jean Albright.

The guest book was attended by Julie Reishus, sister-in-law of the couple, and Sue LaBounty, sister of the groom.

Arlene Molskness, cousin of the bride, and Vicki St. Marie, aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake. Punch was served by Bobbi and Tracey Berberich, both cousins of the bride.

Char Gagner, aunt of the bride, and Kristi Brockberg were flower hostesses. Kris and Ben Adamson and Kyla Genereux, friends of the bride, were gift carriers. Programs were distributed by Calli Adamson and Lucas Genereux, friends of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to the North Shore, Rosalind and Mike are at home in Fargo, ND.

Moscow native to present classical concert in TRF

Minnesota is a long way from Moscow. In terms of distance and culture, Christmas will find 16 year old Alex Primakov (Preem' ah - kopf) very far from home.

Primakov, an international exchange student and a junior at Lincoln High School, will present a concert of classical music on Sunday, December 21 at 7 p.m. at the United Methodist Church in Thief River Falls. Primakov says the concert entitled "The Power of Classical Music" is his way of saying "thank you" to the Thief River Falls community that has been so warm and welcoming this school year.

On his first visit to Minnesota to attend school, Primakov left behind his parents, Alexander and Vera, and his 11 year old brother, Oleg. He arrived in New York on August 24 after a long flight from Moscow. He then traveled to Minneapolis and then to his host family in Thief River Falls.

Primakov speaks fluent English which he learned in school in Russia along with his native Russiana and also Ukrainian which he learned from his grandparents. His music education includes piano, theory and choral music. He won't compare music studies between Russia and the United States saying only that they are different. "It has been interesting, different – new styles and new composers," says Primakov. "The concert I will present will include a variety, some Russian composers. I hope everyone will come, (and) I hope that they will like the music and learn more about the classical style."

Primakov also enjoys pop music and was recently featured at the annual Lincoln High School Christmas Choral Concert directed by Darcy Reese.

He will also have the opportunity to sing with the Concert Choir when they travel on its New York tour in the spring of 1998. The tour will include a performance at Carnagie Hall. Each student must pay his own way, and Primakov welcomes sponsors.

"After the concert, there will be a free will offering, and anyone who would like to help sponsor my trip with the Concert Choir will be able to do so," says Primakov. "It is not possible for my family in Russia to help me much, and it would not be right to expect my host families to take on such a large expense."

Primakov will be staying with three host families during the school year, Al and Eileen Walseth, Ken and Janeen Kalsnes and Deb and Darryl Tvethakk. He will return to Russia in June where he will complete his secondary education. He hopes to attend the University of Moscow with his sights on a degree in business.

Everyone is welcome to attend Primakov's concert, "The Power of Classical Music," which will be performed on a grand piano in the sanctuary of the United Methodist Church on Sunday, December 21 at 7 p.m.

Spaghetti supper at Goodridge Community Center

A spagetti supper will be held Monday, December 22 from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Goodridge Community Center.

The entree will be accompanied by a vegetable tray, French bread, dessert and beverages. High school and adult tickets are $5.50, grades K - 6 are $3 and preschoolers are free.

The supper is being sponsored by the Goodridge biology class to raise funds for its trip to the Wolfridge Environmental Center located north of Duluth.

Northwest Community Action Board to meet

Northwest Community Action Inc. Board of Directors will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, December 18 at 7 p.m. in the Badger office. This meeting is open to the public.

Carly Dee and Erick Thompson wed Nov. 21

...Send Those Cards

It is about the time to get those Christmas cards out. I finally got my address labels on computer, so I'm hoping I can get my cards out before Christmas this year.

Christmas cards have become somewhat sparse since the price of a stamp has risen and risen and risen. People who used to send cards to every relative and acquaintance have quit sending so many cards. Now they just send to those who live out of town, figuring, I suppose, that they will see the people who live nearby.

I don't know about other people, but I hardly see anyone during the pre-Christmas rush. Either I am racing through the stores, seeing nothing but what I am trying to buy, or I am at home, baking, decorating, cleaning and cooking (and writing on cards, I guess). I always wish I could get to those nice community activities and the cute little school programs where I might see some people that I know, but something always comes up. I always vow that one Christmas I will take the time to attend all of the nice lightings, musicals and Christmas programs, if not to see old friends, at least to get into the Merry Christmas mode. It just hasn't happened yet.

For a while I didn't send many Christmas cards, either, but my list has grown each year and now I am sending just about as many as I did when postage was 13 cents. I enjoy sending cards, just to let people know I am still around. To heck with the postage - anyway, it only costs $3.20 to send 10 cards - and that is hardly the cost of a hamburger nowadays. I'm going to continue to send my cards and add to the list every year.

I almost always write a little bit in my cards. Sometimes I get a little uncomfortable, imagining what strangers might be reading my trivial "words of wisdom" in my friends' cards, but then I don't care. I'm always disappointed when I get a card with just signatures and no little note along with it, so I'm not going to be that kind of Christmas card sender. I'm going to include my notes no matter who is reading them, even to people I see often.

I have one friend here in town that I see at least once a week, but we always exchange Christmas cards and always send each other a little note. During the year, we just don't have time to talk to one another, even though we always say we will surely get together for lunch (and never do), or we will visit one another one evening or weekend (we never do). Both of us have fairly large families and we are both busy with jobs, and sometimes I think that Christmas card is the only time I can actually hear how she is doing.

And those Christmas letters that come with the cards have become a joke I don't think is deserved. I happen to like Christmas letters. Even though I don't even know Aunt Maude and really am not interested in her bunions, I still like to hear what is going on in my friends' lives.

Sure, some of the information in the letters isn't always interesting, but most of it is. I figure at the ages I and my friends are getting to be, we'd better exchange information at least once a year, just to know that we're still alive, and even better is a Christmas letter from them that tells me where they've been and what they've been doing and how many grandchildren they have now and what successes their children are. Then I don't feel so bad about bragging back at them about mine either.

So, send those cards before the Big Day and don't hesitate to write a little note in them, just to let everyone know you're still in there kicking. Remember, we who receive your cards love to get them and put them up on walls and doorways to let our families read and admire them, too.

Magic Reindeer Mix

The bright light from Rudolph's nose is sure to help him find this magical reindeer mix! Mix some colored sugar sprinkles into a container of dry oatmeal. Ask each child to scoop some reindeer mix into a personalized sandwich bag. Attach a copy of the following instructions to each bag:

"On Christmas Eve before you go to bed, sprinkle this magic reindeer food on your lawn. The magic sparkle and the smell of the oats will help guide Rudolph to your house!"

Your little ones are sure to hear the pitter-patter of reindeer hooves racing to gobble up this tasty treat.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Edwards, Richard. You're Safe Now, Waterdog. Watt, the dog, and Matt were always together until one day when Watt was left behind on a riverbank. The rains came and washed Watt into the river! A little girl named Hattie saved the day after making a daring rescue.

Shields, Carol. I Wish My Brother Was A Dog. What do you do when your ever-pesky baby brother knocks over a magnificent toy construction you spent hours building? Why, you make a wish that he'd be a dog, of course!

VIDEO VARIETY

The Three Lives of Thomasina. Tragedy strikes when Mary finds her beloved Thomasina seriously injured and not even her father, a veterinarian, can save the pet. The only hope lies in a mysterious "witch" and the healing power of love.

MAGAZINE MENTION

Transparent animals are featured in the November issue of Ranger Rick. Copepods, anemone shrimp and glass catfish would all make an excellent "can't-see-food" dinner!

WONDERS OF THE WEB

"Bill Nye, the Science Guy." Nye applies his entertaining approach to science on the Web with a Demo of the Day, and highlights from the day's television episode.

PARENTING TIPS
Giving Gifts

Many of you are struggling with the problems of a materialistic society at a time when gift-giving is not only appropriate but expected. We expect to give to our children. We give food, shelter, clothing and love all year as best we can. We also expect to give to them at Christmas. But what does all this giving teach to children? If children are always on the receiving end, will they think that only big people give and only little people receive?

All children start out as selfish, self-centered individuals; as they grow so does their ability to give and share. The holiday season is an ideal time to reinforce a child's developing spirit of generosity. According to a Parents magazine article from December 1991, children as young as two or three don't yet have a real understanding of giving but are aware of the good feelings associated with it. Even though you'll have to pick out the gifts your child gives, you can involve a toddler in the act of giving the gift. By giving gifts with you, your child will share your good feelings and will also begin to learn the joys that are associated with giving.

Even though each child's generosity develops at a different pace, you should try to keep him/her involved in the entire process of giving as much as possible. The ability to give as well as receive is a life-long process which begins at birth.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

When your child gives you something such as a hug or a "drawing," be sure to express your appreciation.

Make It Yourself With Wool contest held recently

Sixty-seven entrants in four age divisions used more than 210 yards of wool fabrics to make their own garments and participate in the Minnesota "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest held recently in New York Mills.

Local participants included Kale Kilen and Kas Lynn Street.

Advancing to national competition are Courtney Crane of Anoka (junior, age 13 to 16) and Hector Matthys of Cottonwood (senior, age 17-24). The adult winner was Jean Olson of Woodbury.

The national competition will be held January 24-26 in Reno, NV.

The purpose of the "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest is to focus attention on the beauty and versatility of wool or yarn in sewing, knitting or crocheting fashionable garments. Contestants must use fabric or yarn of at least 60 percent wool.

Thief River Falls - Quentin Jones, 90, died Saturday, December 13, 1997 at the Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services will be held today, Wednesday, December 17 at the United Methodist Church with Reverend Bill Keir officiating. Ida Nordhall will be the organist with June Anderson providing special vocal music. Violinist Jim Solsten will play his own special arrangements of "How Gently Sweet Afton" and "Amazing Grace." The family considers all of Quentin's former students as honorary casketbearers. Casketbearers will be Orville Lillingson, Ted Hellie, Robert Nygaard, Jim Sims, Hal Solst and Ralph Skay.

Visitation was Tuesday from 3 to 8 p.m. at Green Funeral Home and at the church Wednesday from 9 a.m. until the time of the service. The family suggests memorials to the Quentin and Libby Jones Scholarship Fund in the Thief River Falls Foundation.

Norris Quentin Jones was born on January 22, 1907 in Revillo, SD, the son of Harry E. and Maud A. (Dunbrack) Jones. He graduated from Revillo High School in 1925, Carleton College in 1929, and later from the University of North Dakota with a masters degree in education. Following his formal education, Quentin's love for teaching led him to teaching positions in Malta, MT for two years, Park Rapids from 1932 to 1942 and in Thief River Falls from 1942 until he retired in 1972. Quentin was a physical education teacher, coached swimming, cross country and was a physical education curriculum writer for elementary education. He spent his summers as a lifeguard and diving instructor in Thief River Falls.

He was active in Boy Scouts, receiving the coveted Silver Beaver Award. He also worked with the Minnesota Education Association, American Red Cross, Golden K Kiwanis Club where he served as president, district officer and treasurer. He loved gardening and was a member of the Thief River Falls Garden Club. In later years he worked with the Meals On Wheels program.

Quentin received several awards including the Pennington County Senior Citizen award, Thief River Falls "Outstanding Citizen" award, Thief River Falls High School Teacher of the Year, was inducted into the Minnesota State Track Coach's Hall of Fame and the Thief River Falls Education Association Prowler Hall of Fame.

He was united in marriage to Elizabeth "Libby" McBride on July 24, 1937 in Minneapolis. The couple celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary this past year.

In addition to his wife, Libby, Quentin is survived by four sons, Evan M. Jones of St. Cloud, Kenneth A. Jones of Silver Spring, MD, David M. Jones of Oshkosh, WI and Thomas Q. Jones of Indianapolis, IN; six grandchildren and their mothers; one great grandchild; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by two infant children, Elizabeth and Charles; his parents, three brothers, Robert, Evan and Milton Jones; and four sisters, Verna Fitch, Alta Street, Marguerite Cook and Lucille Dean; two nephews and one niece.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q. Does Social Security have special disability programs for someone who has AIDS or is HIV positive.

A. No, but such an individual could apply for social security through the Social Security or SSI disability programs just like anyone else. Major, non-medical factors for disability are work requirements for Social Security and income and resource requirements for SSI. The medical requirements for disability are usually that the person is expected to be able to engage in work at a substantial level of activity for a period expected to last at least one year or otherwise expected to result in death before that time. Disability decisions also consider the individual's age, educational background and work experience. For more information you can request the free booklet, A Guide to Social Security and SSI Disability for People with HIV Infection (SSA Publication 05-10020) by calling 1-800-772-1213 or at any Social Security office.

Quentin Jones, 90

Thief River Falls - Quentin Jones, 90, died Saturday, December 13, 1997 at the Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services will be held today, Wednesday, December 17 at the United Methodist Church with Reverend Bill Kerr officiating. Ida Nordvall will be the organist with Jane Anderson providing special vocal music. Violinist Jim Sidsten will play his own special arrangements of "How Gently Sweet Afton" and "Amazing Grace." The family considers all of Quentin's former students as honorary casketbearers. Casketbearers will be Orville Ellingson, Ted Hellie, Robert Nygaard, Jim Sims, Ed Spiler and Ralph Skay.

Visitation was Tuesday from 3 to 8 p.m. at Green Funeral Home and at the church Wednesday from 9 a.m. until the time of the service. The family suggests memorials to the Quentin and Libby Jones Scholarship Fund in the Thief River Falls Foundation.

Norris Quentin Jones was born on January 22, 1907 in Revillo, SD, the son of Harry E. and Maud A. (Dunbrack) Jones. He graduated from Revillo High School in 1925, Carleton College in 1929, and later from the University of North Dakota with a masters degree in education. Following his formal education, Quentin's love for teaching led him to teaching positions in Malta, MT for two years, Park Rapids from 1932 to 1942 and in Thief River Falls from 1942 until he retired in 1972. Quentin was a physical education teacher, coached swimming, cross country and was a physical education curriculum writer for elementary education. He spent his summers as a lifeguard and driving instructor in Thief River Falls.

He was active in Boy Scouts, receiving the coveted Silver Beaver Award. He also worked with the Minnesota Education Association, American Red Cross, Golden K Kiwanis Club where he served as president, district officer and treasurer. He loved gardening and was a member of the Thief River Falls Garden Club. In later years he worked with the Meals On Wheels program.

Quentin received several awards including the Pennington County Senior Citizen award, Thief River Falls "Outstanding Citizen" award, Thief River Falls High School Teacher of the Year, was inducted into the Minnesota State Track Coach's Hall of Fame and the Thief River Falls Education Association Prowler Hall of Fame.

He was united in marriage to Elizabeth "Libby" McBride on July 24, 1937 in Minneapolis. The couple celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary this past year.

In addition to his wife, Libby, Quentin is survived by four sons, Evan M. Jones of St. Cloud, Kenneth A. Jones of Silver Spring, MD, David M. Jones of Oshkosh, WI and Thomas Q. Jones of Indianapolis, IN, six grandchildren and their mothers, one great grandchild, and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by two infant children, Elizabeth and Charles, his parents, three brothers, Robert, Evan and Milton Jones, and four sisters, Verna Fitch, Alta Street, Marguerite Cook and Lucille Dean, two nephews and one niece.

Funeral services were held Saturday, December 13 at 2 p.m. at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Bertha with Reverend Curtis Foreman officiating. Casketbearers were Gerald Kiesow, Gary Kiesow, Steven Burke, Jesse VanTassel, Charles Weyner and Dennis Kiesow. Burial was at Peace Evangelical Cemetery in Bertha township.

Frederick August Kotz was born on February 12, 1898 in Bertha township, the son of Gustav and Anna (Sinykuk) Kotz. On June 28, 1942 he was united in marriage to Rosa B. Kiesow at the Kotz home in Bertha township. Frederick lived in the Bertha community for 98 years before moving to Parkers Prairie for one year and then to the Knute Nelson Memorial Home in Alexandria in July of 1997.

He was a member of the Farm Bureau and the Bertha Creamery Association. He enjoyed hunting and fishing and was an expert cribbage player.

Frederick is survived by his wife, Rosa Kotz, one nephew, and one great nephew.

He was preceded in death by his parents, four brothers, Carl, William, Walter and Paul, and two sisters, Marie Thielke and Emma Waldon.

Clara Bendel, 90

Red Lake Falls - Clara Bendel, 90, died Sunday, December 14, 1997 at Hillcrest Nursing Home in Red Lake Falls.

Mass of Christian Burial was held Tuesday, December 16 at 2 p.m. at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Red Lake Falls with Father Gary LaMoine officiating. Kathie Knutt was the organist, and special music was provided by the St. Joseph's Catholic Church Choir. Casketbearers were Knights of Columbus Holy Family Council 10723.

Clara Frances Bendel was born July 12, 1907 in Madison, the daughter of John and Mary (Brown) Bendel. She moved to Greenbush at a young age, and in 1914, the family moved to Red Lake County where she attended both parochial and public schools. After graduating from high school and teacher training, she taught in rural school for 12 years. She was employed at the Red Lake Falls Clinic and later at Red Lake Electric until she retired in 1972.

Clara was an active member of the Catholic Daughters, St. Ann's Society and the American Legion Auxiliary of which she once served as president. She had been a resident of Sunset Court for 13 years and participated in all of its activities including writing a monthly newsletter which was published in the Gazette.

Clara is survived by two brothers, John and Leo (Josephine) Bendel, both of Red Lake Falls, one sister, Florence (Wallace) Miller of Red Lake Falls, and several nieces and nephews.

She is preceded in death by her parents, four brothers, Clarence, Joseph, Carl and Babey, and three sisters, Frances Constant, Mary Fitzgerald and Sabina Rennick.

Merry Moncus, 33

Harlingen, TX - Merry Moncus, 33, died Monday, December 8, 1997 as the result of a car accident in Brownsville, TX.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, December 20 at 11 a.m. at Lakeview Community Church in Hillman, MN with Reverend David Golden officiating. Janel Holmquist will be the pianist. Casketbearers will be Mark Byer, Terry Christianson, Gary Vennes, Michael Christianson, Mark Mathison and Russell Vennes. Interment will be in Lakeview Community Cemetery in Hillman. The Williams-Hanson-Kaun Funeral Home of Princeton is in charge of the arrangements.

Merry Margaret Vennes was born October 10, 1964 in Perham, the daughter of Gordon and Peggy (Christianson) Vennes. As a child she lived in Frazee and Thief River Falls prior to moving to Harlingen, TX in 1980. She graduated from Harlingen High School and married Mark Moncus. She was employed by Safeguard Pest Control.

She is survived by her children, Matthew and Jessica Moncus, and Abel Jon "A. J." Davila, all of Harlingen, her mother and step-father, Peggy and DeWayne Huntington of Hinkley; her brothers and sisters-in-law, Gary (Cynthia) Vennes of North Branch, Russell Jon Vennes of McGregor and Cindy Vennes of Thief River Falls; her sister and brother-in-law, Deborah (Mark) Byer of Albertsville, her step-father, Otis Miller of Harlingen; and several nieces, nephews, aunts, uncles, other relatives and friends.

Merry was preceded in death by her father, Gordon Vennes; one brother, Ronald Vennes, and her grandparents.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q. Does Social Security have special disability programs for someone who has AIDS or is HIV positive.

A. No, but such an individual could apply for social security through the Social Security or SSI disability programs just like anyone else. Major, non-medical factors for disability are work requirements for Social Security and income and resource requirements for SSI. The medical requirements for disability are usually that the person is expected to be able to engage in work at a substantial level of activity for a period expected to last at least one year or otherwise expected to result in death before that time. Disability decisions also consider the individual's age, educational background and work experience. For more information you can request the free booklet, A Guide to Social Security and SSI Disability for People with HIV Infection (SSA Publication 05-10020) by calling 1-800-772-1213 or at any Social Security office.

Beth Olson
Lincoln High School

Well, it happened — the Christmas season sneaked up on me again. Before I could blink, Thanksgiving was a thing of the past except for some leftovers and houses all over town were signaling airplanes to land on their front porches with their slightly overdone displays of Christmas lights.

My house was no exception to the day after Thanksgiving "Decoration Eruption." After driving home from an early morning basketball practise I found a note on our kitchen counter from my mom, who was conveniently at work, asking me and my dad to bring all of the boxes of Christmas decorations up from the basement. Now, to the ordinary person this may sound like a simple task, but not at my house! My mom loves Christmas so we have approximately 800 boxes of decorations with their own designated area in our basement.

I followed my dad down the stairs to the dreaded basement, dragging my feet the whole way. He wriggled into the crawl space, which in my opinion, is called "crawl space" because of all the crawly things that live in there, and I let out a small groan. This was going to take forever!

After ten minutes of my dad handing me box after box of ornaments, lights and garland (and probably a million little spiders) we called it quits. Mom wouldn't miss a few "misplaced" boxes, would she? Actually, I think I caught a glimpse of her sneaking downstairs later that evening, returning with a few long-forgotten candles!

After all of our decorations were up and blinking and/or clanging with an annoying, high-pitched Christmas carol, the few traditions we have at our house started to appear, one by one.

The first was the lighting of my mom's prized "Christmas Village." The village is on display year-round next to our fireplace, but is only lit during the "holiday season." After staring at "Fezziwik's Warehouse" and "Butterfub Farm" for a nanosecond, everything pretty much went back to normal at the Olson house.

My family's biggest Christmas "tradition" is watching as many Christmas video's as we can before the big day arrives.

The first, and probably most important, video we watch is National Lampoon's Christmas Vacation Starring Chevy Chase as Clark W. Griswald. This movie is about all of the problems Clark overcomes to have the "...hap, hap, happiest Christmas..." he possibly can with snooty neighbors, a bumbling of a boss, and a hillbilly cousin-in-law. My family and I sit on the couch and laugh until tears roll down our faces. I think we like it so much because my uncle, Greg, resembles Chevy Chase right down to the cleft in his chin.

Another family favorite is A Christmas Story. This is a great movie about a kid named Ralphie, who wants nothing more than a "Red Ryder Bee Bee Gun" for Christmas. Poor Ralphie's hopes vanish when his mom, teacher, and even the Santa at the mall all tell him, "You'll shoot your eye out!" However, the Christmas spirit prevails, and the real Santa comes through for Ralphie with the Red Ryder on Christmas morning. Although Ralphie does nearly shoot out his eye with his new gun, the movie ends "happily ever after."

Finally, I viewed How the Grinch Stole Christmas last weekend with my cousin, Max. Even though it's a cartoon, I sat, mesmerized, for the 30 minutes it took for the Grinch to realize that love and selfless giving is what Christmas is all about. I think a lot of people should see this movie to realize that Christmas is not just about presents, presents, and more presents.

Although most of my family's traditions seem to be watching movies (I didn't even mention Miracle on 34th Street, White Christmas, A Charlie Brown Christmas, The Santa Clause, or Home Alone), we know that Christmas is about love, faith and hopefully, giving to others who are less fortunate. Sometimes we forget how very fortunate we are to have a roof over our heads, food on the table, and material possessions that others are not so fortunate to have. The Christmas season helps to remind us of those less fortunate than ourselves. I hope many of you will remember the Salvation Army, food shelf, and Angel Tree this year. May the joy of the season continue to bless you all. Merry Christmas!

MN Preventative Resource Center offers hosting ideas

The holidays are a time when families, friends and co-workers gather to celebrate the season. Some choose to serve alcohol on these occasions and in order to minimize the risk and promote safety, the Minnesota Prevention Resource Center offers the following points with responsible hosting in mind:

- Consider the appropriateness of serving alcohol at your party. Are most of the guests non-drinkers? Will children be present? Think about the kinds of messages children receive when alcohol is served at family events.
- Extend personal greetings and make introductions to your guests. Make guests feel at ease without alcohol.
- When preparing snacks to go with beverages, go easy on salty, thirst producing appetizers.
- Limit the amount of alcohol that is served if it is offered at all. A good rule of thumb is one drink – a beer, a glass of wine, or a one-shot mixed drink – per hour. That is about all the average person can handle safely.
- Include activities that people enjoy – dancing, sports, social games and good conversation. Guests who are having a good time are less likely to seek out the bartender.
- Mix nonalcoholic and alcoholic drinks with equal flair. There are many recipes for nonalcoholic drinks available.
- Place a generous supply of nonalcoholic drink ingredients in a highly visible location if not mixing drinks yourself. Make sure that everyone knows nonalcoholic drinks are available. Never push alcohol on people who choose not to drink.
- In anticipation of your guests' drive home, stop serving alcohol at least an hour before the party is scheduled to end.
- Make the party climate one that discourages overindulgence, and if, despite your best efforts, a guest has had too much to drink, do everything you can to prevent him or her from driving. Ask a sober guest to drive an impaired guest home, or call a taxi. Invite the guest to stay longer or even overnight. Chances are your concern will be appreciated later.
- Stay alert yourself so that you can be a good judge of your guests' conditions. Your guests are your responsibility.

The Minnesota Prevention Resource Center encourages a happy and safe holiday season. For more information, contact the center at 2829 Verndale Ave., Anoka, MN 55303, (612) 427-5310 or 800-247-1303.

Landowner's Rights Ass'n. hears Leitch and Stevens

Stevens Reviews Bill

Sen. Dan Stevens reviewed his state property rights bill which he said is intended to provide just compensation for taking of property by government laws and regulations.

Eminent domain, the process of acquiring private property for the public good, has three principles, he said, "and the last two frequently are ignored. In addition to a taking of private property for the public good, the law calls for protection of the rights of the property owner and payment of just compensation for the loss of value."

Sen. Stevens said that the state constitution is even more restrictive than the federal document. Section 13 of Article I of the state constitution states that no property shall be "taken, destroyed or damaged for public use without payment of just compensation. Restrictions on use and a resulting reduction in value must certainly be considered as damage [illegible]."

Sen. Stevens circulated handouts summarizing some of the principles of property rights as addressed in his bill.

Takings Not Compensated

Uncompensated regulatory taking of private property has become an immense problem over the past 10 years, one of the handouts states. "As state agency rules and local zoning ordinances have increased in number and scope, property owners have found themselves unable to use their property and unable to recover any losses that result. The problem, therefore, begins with the growth of government regulations that deny owners the legitimate use of their property."

Stevens said the bill states that a taking occurs when a regulatory program (land use planning/zoning) [illegible] If there is a taking, [illegible] may retain title and [illegible] reduction [illegible] fair market value [illegible] or relinquish title and [illegible] equal to the full market value of the property.

In addition, the [illegible] bill is also [illegible] and the county auditor must adjust the property tax accordingly. Compensation is not required where the [illegible] of the property constitutes a public nuisance or if the decrease in value [illegible] at least 10 percent of the fair market value of the property or $7,500, whichever is less.

The time has come for Minnesota to address this issue and to redress the wrongs that have been imposed on individual landowners.

Beware Of Word Change

Noting that community based planning is primarily a metro area concern, Sen. Stevens said that he [illegible] from International Falls to Thief River Falls last September and he would venture a guess that [illegible] last concern on the minds of area residents was urban sprawl.

Joseph (Jim Hoks, center) encounters Simeon (Dale Rosette) and Anne (Stephenie Degon) at the temple where he and Mary have brought the infant Jesus (Jacob Thompson, not pictured) for dedication. Simeon and Anne both recognize the baby as the Messiah. "Emmanuel Has Come" will be presented as a community musical pageant Saturday and Sunday, December 20 and 21, at the Seventh-day Adventist church in Thief River Falls.

"Created by Karla Worley and published in 1991, this may be a fairly new musical but it tells the old, old story of the greatest event in human history—God Himself coming to bring us His redemptive love in the person of His only Son, Jesus Christ," states director Ben Sayler.

Several of the songs are familiar, he said, but there is some less familiar but beautifully appropriate other music as well.

"We looked long and hard to find a cantata that would not leave the listener at the manger," Sayler added. "Worley uses song and the spoken word to move the viewer beyond Christ's birth through his life as well.

Based On Biblical Text

"Based on the Biblical text, this two act work takes us from the joyous story of Christmas to the anticipation of His glorious second coming. We experience Israel as it longs for a Messiah. We are shown glimpses of the ministry of Jesus—how he was loved by some and despised by others. We see and hear the miraculous testimonies of how Jesus touched the lives of rich and poor alike.

"Worley has done an excellent job of combining the talents of singers, musicians and actors in an attempt to proclaim Emmanuel Has Come."

Family Preservation center opens its doors on Dec. 8

DeMars also said they are in the process of developing a work program, a resource room at the facility for the public, and a workshop in the future for program participants.

At the beginning of treatment, participants will be evaluated by the staff psychologist to identify strengths. DeMars said then treatment will focus on their strengths rather than weaknesses.

The program is also connected to the Family Preservation Project, which has been in effect for about a year and a half. With the project and program, DeMars hopes to expand home-based counseling, a telephone information line, a parent support group for parents of emotionally disturbed children, a parenting group to teach parenting skills, and a gardening and baking group for other participants.

Funding for the project comes from a variety of sources including grants from Northwest Minnesota Foundation, Minnesota Department of Human Services, and State and Federal grants, which DeMars said, they intend to continue to seek. DeMars also said there's also a unique arrangement, almost a partnership, between Northwest Medical Center and Pennington County.

Dick Spyhalski, chief executive officer of Northwest Medical Center, said that the program brings together a number of services, and it will save the community a lot of money. By way of example, he said Pennington county will save money on the cost of out-of-county housing, the law enforcement center will save money on the cost of transportation, the school district will not lose student aid.

DeMars explained that the Center was the dream and vision of the Pennington County Welfare board. Their vision became possible with financial backing of the county and Northwest Medical Center.

Juvenile Placement/Problem

Thief River Falls Police Sergeant and Juvenile Officer Jim Haugen thinks the new center will complement the community. He noted that they are taking a different approach or style in treatment, and it will be interesting to see in a year how it has worked.

As an asset to the community, officials will be able to use the facility on an emergency basis, particularly in situations involving a family in crisis. There are few foster care families in the county, Haugen said, and placement during emergencies becomes a problem. This facility will allow officials to temporarily place children in the facility while "things cool down" with the family, he said.

Haugen noted that there has been an increase in the number of minors being placed outside of the home. The juvenile system is very complex, he said. The fact that children are being placed outside of the home reflects not only an increase in juvenile problems, but a philosophy that says children should be removed from a situation earlier in the process so that it has an impact on the child. Further, children are removed from the home for many different reasons and for different lengths of time.

He believes the facility will also have an impact on the county financially. The average per diem cost of housing a child out of the county averages something like $100 per day.

Haugen said the Youth Development Committee in Thief River Falls has been trying to do what it can to keep families together. Having this facility in the community keeps the child in the community and makes communication between the family and child much easier, he added.

Nicole Woodman, Pennington County juvenile probation officer, sees the facility as a "good asset to the community." She said she hopes it prevents some out-of-county placement, because it separates families and is expensive. Woodman said she typically has 15 to 16 children in placement at any one time. That includes foster care and a variety of other settings. The cost to place one child in a satellite home ranges from something like $39 to $51 per day. To place a child at Mille Lacs Academy costs something like $140 to $150 per day. Those costs do not include transportation costs, education or other costs. Of course, Woodman said, the new facility will not stop all out-of-county placement. Some children just won't be appropriate for that setting.

Woodman said she is glad the county now has a place to send children, it's definitely going to be an asset to the community.

Minority student services director reviews position will probably result in more reports of racial incidents and encourage more people to speak out about the issues and problems. The district does not have any big problems, he said, but there are some issues that need to be addressed.

One of the issues Blacklance hopes to address and have a parent advisory committee examine is the curriculum. Blacklance cited an example of a text brought home as homework by his son. He said the book's reference to native Americans, which described many as still wearing feathers and leather, was inaccurate at best. He would like to see his committee get involved in some curriculum issues and look at whether the books being used in the district treat racial and gender issues sensitively and accurately.

Blacklance noted that in the district there are 62 native Americans, and 160 minorities. That's roughly 8 to 9 percent of the student population. With further examination, Blacklance said it's possible that rate could increase to about 11 percent.

Interestingly, Jean Larson, board member, noted that in 1994, the percentage of minorities in the district was about 3.8 percent.

Some of Blacklance's other goals and objectives include continuing to offer academic assistance to students with needs, providing cultural activities to interested students districtwide, providing cultural educational programs to district staff, and developing a minority educators hiring program.

Currently, the minority students services committee is meeting once a month.

During the board meeting, the board certified the final 1997 payable 1998 levy in the amount of $3,421,493.83, and, approved the adjusted revenue and expenditure budget. The adjusted amount is $16,282,164 for revenue, and $16,271,486 for expenditures.

Special recognition was paid to Hank Hallstrom, who has served on the board of education for School District 564 since 1982. Hallstrom decided not to run for re-election. The board presented him with a plaque expressing its appreciation for his hard work and dedication.

The board recognized the following: Tawnya Kim Stroot of Thief River Falls who has completed the graduation requirements through the Northwest Area Learning Center, and the Thief River Falls Athletic Boosters who recently made donations for tennis and cross-country medals and trophies.

The following personnel items were approved through the consent agenda: the resignation of Glen Peters as assistant golf coach, a request to extend 10 sick leave days to Sharon Phillion, teacher on medical leave of absence, the employment of Lisa Simenson as Challenger preschool receptionist/secretary, an increase in Elizabeth Quick's assignment as ESL teacher from .6 to 1.0 FTE; the employment of Dustin Chambers as second shift maintenance, the employment of Melissa Peterson as ECFE playground aide at Challenger, the employment of Julianda Lundsten as LD/OHI pupil program support assistant at FMS, the employment of Laurie Fayette as transportation assistant in the district, the employment of Joan King as cleaner, the employment of Tina Jacobs as cleaner; the employment of Michael Jacobs as cleaner, the employment of Justin Wood as cleaner, the extra-curricular assignment of Robert Wayne as assistant seventh grade girls basketball coach, the transfer of Barb Forsberg from three-hour playground educational assistant to 6-7 hour pupil program support assistant for physically handicapped at Challenger, a contract with the Northwest Service Cooperative to complete the 1998 pay equity implementation report.

The board accepted the proposal of Brady Martz for audit services for fiscal years ending June 10, 1998, June 30, 1999, and June 30, 2000.

The board approved previously reviewed policies on harassment and violence, and on hazing.

The board scheduled its organizational meeting on January 12, at 7 p.m., and the next regular meeting of the board for January 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Central Boiler distributes profit sharing, bonus

Profit sharing, safety bonus and company contribution to employees' 401K accounts totaled $88,354.79 during 1997 at Central Boiler near Greenbush. In 1996 the bonus program and 401K match totaled $48,329.07.

The safety bonus plan is designed to reward employees as a group for safe working habits, reduced injuries and reduced worker's compensation insurance costs. Again this year the manufacturer of outdoor wood furnaces and gas log fireplaces had no time loss due to injuries.

Volunteers for Christmas eve dinner needed

Volunteers, especially drivers, are needed for the 15th Annual Community Christmas Dinner in Thief River Falls. The event will be held at the Evergreen Eating Emporium from 4 to 6 p.m.

The event is open to everyone. Although the annual event is free of charge, because of generous contributions of individuals and businesses, a free-will offering is always accepted. Whatever is left after expenses is donated to the local food shelf.

Organizers are expecting to serve about 500 meals this year. To accomplish this feat, a large number of volunteers are needed. Several individuals have signed up to volunteer, but drivers are still needed. Anyone interested in volunteering should contact the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce at 681-3720.

Reservations will be taken until December 23 at the Chamber of Commerce.

Guarded closely by Ben Hanson of Goodridge, Bug-O-Nay-Ge-Shig guard Chris White had his dribble get away from him and he was called for carrying the ball during this bit of action in the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament. The Huskies won the first round game 85-40.

Central hands TRF 5-2 loss

Grand Forks Central kept Thief River Falls from breaking into the win column for the first time this winter by beating the Prowlers 5-2 in a Friday night high school hockey match-up at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

The two teams skated through a scoreless first period, but Central scored twice in the first 6:28 of the second period, and controlled play the rest of the way.

It was the Prowlers' fifth straight loss, and head coach Scott Bergland wasn't happy with how it occurred. "We didn't come ready to play hockey, and they did," he said. "We had two guys who wanted to play, and until the other 18 come to play, we're in trouble."

Jason Capes of the Knights opened the scoring at 5:18 of the second period when a pass by teammate Aaron Bina put him behind the Prowlers' defense and, staying a step ahead of his closest pursuer, he beat Thief River Falls goalie Mike Dower cleanly with a close-in wrist shot.

Just 70 seconds later it was 2-0 when David Wakefield put a backhand shot up and over Dowers, who was on his knees.

Thief River Falls got on the board with a power play goal by Kyle Anderson at 7:53. Central goalie Mike McKinney made the save on a slap shot from the point, but with the Prowlers whacking away at the rebound, Anderson popped the puck in the net.

However, Central regained a two-goal edge at 12:11 of the second period when Adam Bye happened to be in the right place at the right time as a shot from the left of Dowers caromed to the right to Bye, who was all alone for an easy goal and a 3-1 game.

Thief River Falls had a chance to get back in it when Wade Chiodo let go with a hard, low slap shot as he crossed the blue line for a short-handed goal at 3:29 of the third period.

But the spark failed to light a fire, and Central wrapped it up on power play goals by Brad Volrath off the left wing at 13:27 and by Dan Moe, who hit an open net at 14:25.

Dowers finished with 32 saves. McKinney had 19.

"We didn't do the things we needed to do to win the game," offered Bergland. "We couldn't get a sustained forecheck going."

Scoring

First period – none.

Second period – GFC, Jason Capes (Aaron Bina), 5:18; GFC, David Wakefield (Tom Beckstad-Nick Fuhert), 6:28; TRF, Kyle Anderson (Adam Nordin-Treavor Peterson), 7:53; GFC, Adam Bye (Capes-Mike Ryan), 12:11.

Third period – TRF, Wade Chiodo (un.), 3:20; GFC, Brad Volrath (Bina), 13:27; GFC, Dan Moe (Josh Quamme), 14:25.

Goalie saves – TRF, Mike Dowers 13-11-8–32; GFC, Mike McKinney 4-10-5–19.

Nordics fall to Wildcats 51-46

A five-point swing in the final two minutes propelled Tri-County to a 51-46 boys high school basketball win over Marshall County Central Friday at Newfolden.

The Wildcats led at the quarter stops 11-9, 27-24 and 39-34. The Nordics, down as as many as 10 points early in the third quarter, were up four heading into the final two minutes before the game turned on them.

A Tri-County field goal was followed by a pair of free throw opportunities. The Wildcats made the first attempt. A rebound on the miss led to another basket, turning the four-point deficit into a one-point lead. They made free throws at the end to finish off the Nordics.

"Defensively we played very well," noted Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland, "but we didn't get enough shots, and we got beat on the offensive boards."

Jared Britten scored 14 points, Seth Olson 12 and Phil Kamierczak had 10 for the Wildcats. The Nordics were led by Matt Nelson with 13 points and David Wilcox with 12.

Marshall County Central got off just 33 shots, hitting 15 of them (45 percent). Tri-County was 19-for-49 from the field (38 percent). The Nordics went 11-for-18 at the free throw line, where the Wildcats were 8-for-16. The winners had a 30-19 rebound advantage, with 14 of those coming on the offensive boards.

The loss snapped a three-game season opening win streak for the Nordics.

"We had a good chance to win," said Ueland. "It's not that often you get a chance to pull off an upset, and you hate to see an opportunity slip away like that."

Red Lake Falls wins crown

Red Lake Falls beat East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 47-40 Saturday in the championship game of the 1997 Northland Community and Technical College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament.

It was the first title for the Eagles, who became the fourth team to win the crown in the seven-year history of the tournament. Goodridge won the inaugural event in 1991, followed by four straight Red Lake County Central victories from 1992 through 1995. Grygla-Gatzke won it a year ago.

Goodridge edged Grygla-Gatzke 40-39 in the third place game. Red Lake County Central defeated Kittson County North 48-36 for the consolation title and Circle of Life handled Bug-O-Nay-Ge-Shig 71-55 in the seventh place game.

EGF Sacred Heart 40

Red Lake Falls, after scoring just a single second quarter point and trailing 25-15 at halftime, took over in the second half to beat East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 47-40 in the championship game.

The winners came out of the third quarter with a 30-29 lead, then went 9-for-13 at the free throw line over the final eight minutes to clinch it.

Eric Hopperstad scored 13 points and Chris Swendra had 12 to lead the Red Lake Falls scoring. Eric Neil, the only Sacred Heart scorer in double figures, netted 13.

Both teams needed overtime wins to reach the finals, with Red Lake Falls getting by Kittson County North 65-56 in a quarterfinal overtime contest and Sacred Heart stopping Grygla-Gatzke 44-35 in a semifinal overtime.

NCTC women lose two games

Worthington and Ridgewater handed the Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball team a pair of losses on a weekend trip to southern Minnesota for the Pioneers.

Friday night, Worthington won going away, 83-53. Saturday afternoon, Ridgewater hung on to win 61-55.

Results put the Pioneers, hit by early-season injuries, illness and team departures, at 1-3.

"Worthington has a bunch of kids who are really fast," pointed out Northland coach Rick Nikunen. "With their speed, and the long bus ride, they just wore us down. In the second half, we just ran out of gas."

The Pioneers put together a strong showing against Ridgewater the next day. "We played really well," noted Nikunen. "We dug ourselves a hole early. We battled back, but we could never get over the hump."

Worthington 83
Northland 53

Three Northland turnovers in the final moments of the first half turned a two-point game to a 36-24 spread at intermission, and the Pioneers never recovered, losing to Worthington 83-53.

Jessica Knutson scored 22 points to lead four double-figure Worthington scorers. Paula Hovda and Meckenzie Malwitz scored 11 points each for Northland.

Northland went 21-for-53 from the field (40 percent) and 10-for-17 at the free throw line. Worthington was 33-for-78 from the floor (42 percent) and 15-for-21 at the line. The winners had a 48-36 rebound advantage. The Pioneers topped the turnover charts 29-14.

Northland 55

Ridgewater jumped in front 16-4 at the start and never lost the lead en route to a 61-55 win over Northland.

The Pioneers pulled within 32-26 at halftime and on three occasions in the final five minutes had it down to a single-point deficit and had possession of the ball, but were unable to get the go-ahead basket.

LaNae Rohner of Ridgewater had 19 points and Tammy Nerby of Northland finished with 17 to lead their respective teams in scoring. The Pioneers also got an 11-point game from Jamekka Lucas and 10 from Naomi Wilebski.

Northland shot 39 percent from the floor (21/54) and made 14 of 24 free throw attempts. Ridgewater shot 32 percent from the floor (22/68) and went 9-for-10 at the line. Ridgewater beat Northland 51-38 on the boards and topped the turnover charts, 24-23.

Rams win TRF wrestling title

Roseau won team honors at the sixth annual Prowler Invitational high school wrestling tournament held in Thief River Falls Saturday.

The Rams finished the day with 211.5 points followed by Walker-Hackensack-Akeley/Nevis with 202.5, Red Lake County Central 193, Thief River Falls 117, and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 18.

Chris Weise, Walker-Hackensack-Akeley/Nevis, the winner at 140 pounds, was named the meet's Outstanding Wrestler. Troy Zubke, another Walker-Hackensack-Akeley/Nevis wrestler, collected the Quick Pin Award with a 14-second match. He was the runner-up finisher at 171.

The host Prowlers won individual titles at both ends of the weight scales, with Beau Abrahamson winning at 103 pounds and Robert Spry taking the heavyweight crown.

It was the third outing of the 1997-98 season for the John Belyea coached Prowlers, who lost to Warren-Alvarado-Oslo and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River in earlier dual meet matches.

Thief River Falls wrestler Bob Strutz tried to pull away from Jake Cotten of Walker-Hackensack-Akeley/Nevis during their 160-pound match in Saturday's Prowler Invitational. Cotten won the match and the Wolves finished second to Roseau in the five-team event.

Gators win Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational...

B/G-MR girls defend crown

Opponents found points hard to come by against Badger/Greenbush-Middle River during the 1997 Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational girls high school basketball. And as a result, the Gators walked away with their second straight title and fourth crown in the past five years.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River gave up just 101 points in the three tournament games, beating Fertile-Beltrami 44-36 in the Thursday quarterfinals, Kittson Central 45-36 in the Friday semifinals and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart 53-29 in the Saturday championship game.

"We smothered them defensively," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Tom Neibauer following the Gators' win over Kittson Central that put them in the finals for the fifth straight year. It was a comment that fit all three tournament games for the winners. "If we keep teams below 40, we'll always have a chance to win," he added.

It was the play of juniors Kelsey Foldesi, Missy Smith, Merri Reese and Dezi Sovde that impressed Neibauer the most in the three wins. "Our juniors really improved in the tournament," he said. "That's going to make us that much stronger."

Kittson Central 36

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River shook off some first half turnover trouble and pulled away down the stretch in a 45-36 semifinal win over Kittson Central.

The Wolfpack had leads of 10-7, 22-15 and 30-27 at the three quarter stops, but were out-scored 18-6 over the final eight minutes.

Tiffany Hagen scored 13 points and Stefanie Sparby had 11 for the Gators, who were 19-for-42 from the field (45 percent) and 5-for-10 at the free throw line, where the Wolfpack was 4-for-6.

Janna Lindegard led Kittson Central with 12 points.

Wolfpack picks up win over TRF boys

Kittson Central converted Thief River Falls turnovers and fouls into points Saturday as the Wolfpack beat the visiting Prowlers 73-47 in boys high school basketball.

The Hallock/Kennedy combination had quarter leads of 15-8, 34-23 and 53-35.

Josh Deere scored 22 points and Jason Urbaniak had 10 for the Wolfpack. Kelly Cota led the mistake-prone Prowlers with 18 points.

Kittson Central was a busy 20-for-34 at the free throw line, where Thief River Falls was a quiet 5-for-10.

The loss dropped the Prowlers to 0-3 heading into a homestand that will will feature games against Bemidji Thursday and Detroit Lakes Saturday, followed by the 14th annual Russ Smith Northwest Christmas Classic Dec. 29-31.

Lakers hold off Prowlers, 53-48

■ TRF girls lose to Detroit Lakes

Thief River Falls overcame a 20-point first half deficit, but couldn't complete the comeback Friday in a 53-48 girls high school basketball loss at Detroit Lakes.

The Lakers led at the quarter stops 21-13, 32-19 and 43-32. The Prowlers' game-long rally produced a 47-46 lead in the final minute, but Detroit Lakes iced it at the free throw line at the end.

"In the first half, I was very disappointed," said Thief River Falls coach Jeff Loe. "We did not execute offensively at all. We folded against their pressure defense and turned the ball over. In the third quarter, we played really well. Defensively we really got after them."

But it still wound up as the Prowlers' fourth loss in five starts.

Lisa Elijah scored 17 points to lead the Lakers. Nicole Kopari had a game-high 26 point performance for the Prowlers.

Thief River Falls shot 33 percent from the field (18/55) and went 1-for-16 at the free throw line. Detroit Lakes shot 43 percent from the floor (19/44) and had a 15-for-25 night at the line. The Lakers doubled the Prowlers on the boards, 40-20. Thief River Falls had more turnovers, 19-17.

TRF JV boys win 58-47

Collin Schafer scored 20 points Saturday to lead the Thief River Falls junior varsity boys high school basketball team to a 58-47 win over Kittson Central.

Thief River Falls trailed 16-14 at the end of the first quarter, but went ahead 32-28 at halftime and opened up a 48-34 third quarter spread.

Wade Haviland and Zack Bosh added 8 points each to the Thief River Falls offense. Thief River Falls junior varsity is now 2-1.

Pair of Prowlers open 1997-98 swim season

Two sophomores represented Thief River Falls at the Otter Invitational Saturday that kicked off the Prowlers' 1997-98 boys high school swimming schedule.

Head coach Brian Olson took only Zach Olson and Sam Kezar to the meet. The dozen or so others on the roster had to wait until the dual meet portion of the schedule got under way this week – a Tuesday trip to Bemidji and a Thursday home opener vs. Crookston – to see action.

"Zach and Sam swam great," said Olson. "Those were the only two I knew would be ready to face that kind of competition. The others are pretty young and inexperienced."

It was an impressive debut for Olson, who was a double-event winner in the distance races with a 2:00.71 in the 200-yard freestyle and a 5:32.28 in the 500-yard freestyle.

Kezar was solid in the sprints with a seventh place 1:01.07 in the 100-yard freestyle and an eighth place 26.88 in the 50-yard freestyle.

"It was a good way for both of them to begin the season," noted Olson. "It's a good starting point."

Morris Area won team honors in a field that also included entries from Montevideo, Rocori and Fergus Falls.

The dual meets against the Lumberjacks and Pirates will be followed by the annual Prowler Relays Saturday beginning at at 1 p.m.

Red Lake County Central freshman Cole Mickelson put up a shot against Circle of Life defender Eugene Davis during Friday's match-up in the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament. The Mustangs won the consolation semifinal game 66-51.

Boys basketball tournament...

RLF, Sacred Heart reach NCTC finals

Red Lake Falls and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart found themselves in unfamiliar surroundings Friday – headed to the championship game of the seventh annual Northland Community and Technical College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament.

The first-time championship game qualifiers advanced through an evening semifinal doubleheader that found Red Lake Falls knocking off Goodridge 59-54 Sacred Heart beating defending champion Grygla-Gatzke 44-35 in overtime.

Red Lake Falls 59
Goodridge 54

Trailing 32-26 at halftime, Red Lake Falls gained the upper hand by limiting Goodridge to four third quarter points as the Eagles defeated the Huskies 59-54.

Red Lake Falls carried a 39-36 lead into the fourth quarter, and kept Goodridge at bay by going 9-for-10 at the line over the final eight minutes.

Josiah Hoefer scored 13 points, Eric Hopperstad 12 and Danny Gagner 11 in a balanced Red Lake Falls attack. Jim and Travis Scheel came up with matching 14-point games for the Huskies.

Roughriders edge TRF with late goal

Thief River Falls scored early, but Grand Forks Red River scored late Saturday as the Roughriders edged the visiting Prowlers 3-2 on an Andy Schneider goal at 14:23 of the third period.

The Prowlers got on the board at 1:04 of the first period on a goal by Kyle Anderson, then after falling behind 2-1 in the second period gained a tie on a Wade Choudo goal at 6:20 of the final period.

It was the sixth straight season opening loss for the Prowlers, but head coach Scott Bergland saw his team put together a solid effort. "We played well," he said. "They're as good a team as we've played."

Pioneers drop pair of weekend games

Northland men's basketball team let one slip away Friday night, and the Pioneers were never in a Saturday afternoon contest on a weekend swing into the Minnesota Community College Conference Southern Division.

Worthington rallied for a 76-72 victory, while Ridgewater belted Northland 116-74.

"We had hoped to get a split, and we should have," said Northland coach Ted Krize, whose team lost a six-point lead in the final six minutes Friday. "It was frustrating to lose like that. We got hurried. We lost our composure."

The long trip, a late night and a Saturday matinee against a home team that had not played the night before took a toll on the Pioneers in their match-up with Ridgewater. "We were tired," acknowledged Krize, "but we kept playing. It was a good learning experience for the kids. I think both games taught us a lot."

The losses dropped Northland to 1-4 heading into a Thursday game at the Grand Forks Air Base that will close out the 1997 portion of the Pioneers' 1997-98 schedule.

Worthington 76
Northland 72

Worthington, ahead 35-34 at halftime, had to come from behind down the stretch to beat Northland 76-72.

Mike Churchill scored 17 points to lead the winners, who trailed by a half-dozen with six minutes to play. Nic Thompson of the Pioneers shared game-high scoring honors with Churchill. Northland also got double figure scoring from Josh Whitlock with 14 points, Dwight Goodwin with 12 and Chaka Ali 10.

Northland shot 55 percent from the field, but put up only 42 shots (hitting 23 of them). The Pioneers were 17-for-22 at the free throw line, where Worthington was 15-for-21.

Ali, the Pioneers' top scoring threat, was limited to 15 minutes of playing time because of foul trouble.

Gators' offense sputters in loss to Rams, 54-44

Problems on offense led to trouble on the scoreboard for Badger/Greenbush-Middle River Friday as the Gators lost a 54-44 boys high school basketball game to Roseau.

After starting the game with a 12-9 first quarter lead, the Gators picked up just three points over the middle two quarters. They were down 20-15 at halftime and were shut out in the third quarter when the Roseau lead climbed to 31-15.

"We played a pretty fair first quarter," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "But we started turning the ball over in the second quarter. We got careless."

The Gators lost the ball six times in the second quarter and went without a field goal the first six minutes.

"I did not believe it could be any worse than that, then we don't even score in the third quarter," offered Sparby. "I can not put my finger on what when wrong. Roseau played pretty good defense, but not that good. We should have been able to score."

The Gators turned things around offensively in the final quarter, scoring 29 points. But in the process, their gambling attack left them vulnerable defensively, and the Rams matched their scoring outburst in a 52-point quarter.

"We went with an all-out full court press in the fourth quarter," explained Sparby. "We got some points, but we gave up some baskets, too. We knew we couldn't do that the whole game, but being behind like that, we had to take some chances."

The Gators also had troubles scoring points in their season opener, although they beat Warren-Alvarado Oslo 41-36.

"Offensively we're just not there yet," acknowledged Sparby.

Four Gators did reach double figures against the Rams, with Daryl Wockenfuss netting 12 points, Jeremy Larson 11, Bret Benlow 10 and Andy Schenkey 10. Isaac Lang led Roseau with 15 points, while Dustin Mertens picked up 13, Justin Kjos 12 and Peter Erickson 10.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 17-for-50 from the field (34 percent) and 6-for-12 at the free throw line. Roseau went 19-for-39 from the floor (49 percent) and had a 12-for-27 night at the line. The rebounds were event at 22-apiece. The Rams wound up with more turnovers, 20-18.

Scoring

TRF girls win 44-36 JV game at Detroit Lakes

Erika Hudson scored 12 points Friday as the Thief River Falls junior varsity girls high school basketball team beat Detroit Lakes 44-36.

Thief River Falls, 2-3 for the year, had a 14-9 first quarter lead, went into halftime tied at 17-17 and carried a 36-25 lead into the final quarter.

Boys basketball tournament...

RLF, Sacred Heart reach NCTC finals

Red Lake Falls and East Grand Forks Sacred Heart found themselves in unfamiliar surroundings Friday – headed to the championship game of the seventh annual Northland Community and Technical College Invitational boys high school basketball tournament.

The first-time championship game qualifiers advanced through an evening semifinal doubleheader that found Red Lake Falls knocking off Goodridge 59-54 Sacred Heart beating defending champion Grygla-Gatzke 44-35 in overtime.

Red Lake Falls 59
Goodridge 54

Trailing 32-26 at halftime, Red Lake Falls gained the upper hand by limiting Goodridge to four third quarter points as the Eagles defeated the Huskies 59-54.

Red Lake Falls carried a 39-36 lead into the fourth quarter, and kept Goodridge at bay by going 9-for-10 at the line over the final eight minutes.

Josiah Hoefer scored 13 points, Eric Hopperstad 12 and Danny Gagner 11 in a balanced Red Lake Falls attack. Jim and Travis Scheef came up with matching 14-point games for the Huskies.

Roughriders edge TRF with late goal

Thief River Falls scored early, but Grand Forks Red River scored late Saturday as the Roughriders edged the visiting Prowlers 3-2 on an Andy Schneider goal at 14:23 of the third period.

The Prowlers got on the board at 1:04 of the first period on a goal by Kyle Anderson, then after falling behind 2-1 in the second period, gained a tie on a Wade Chiodo goal at 6:20 of the final period.

It was the sixth straight season opening loss for the Prowlers, but head coach Scott Bergland saw his team put together a solid effort. "We played well," he said. "They're as good a team as we've played."

Thief River Falls had a number of scoring chances that hit the [illegible] side, including a third [illegible] Red River net as time [illegible]. "We hit pipes and missed [illegible] that could have just as easily went in," noted Bergland.

Scoring

First period - TRF, Kyle Anderson ([illegible] Fogarty, Trevor Lee) 1:04

Second period - RR, [illegible] (un) 3:05; RR, David [illegible] (Johnson, Kent Boggs) 13:43

Third period - TRF, Wade Chiodo (Steve Nordin, Anderson) 6:20; RR, Andy Schneider (Bonkowski, Scott [illegible]) 14:23

Goalie saves - TRF, [illegible] 9-30; RR, Chris Decker [illegible]

Pioneers drop pair of weekend games

Northland men's basketball team let one slip away Friday night, and the Pioneers were never in a Saturday afternoon contest on a weekend swing into the Minnesota Community College Conference Southern Division.

Worthington rallied for a 76-72 victory, while Ridgewater belted Northland 116-74.

"We had hoped to get a split, and we should have," said Northland coach Ted Krize, whose team lost a six-point lead in the final six minutes Friday. "It was frustrating to lose like that. We got hurried. We lost our composure."

The long trip, a late night and a Saturday matinee against a home team that had not played the night before took a toll on the Pioneers in their match-up with Ridgewater. "We were tired," acknowledged Krize, "but we kept playing. It was a good learning experience for the kids. I think both games taught us a lot."

The losses dropped Northland to 1-4 heading into a Thursday game at the Grand Forks Air Base that will close out the 1997 portion of the Pioneers' 1997-98 schedule.

Worthington 76
Northland 72

Worthington, ahead 35-34 at halftime, had to come from behind down the stretch to beat Northland 76-72.

Mike Churchill scored 17 points to lead the winners, who trailed by a half-dozen with six minutes to play. Nic Thompson of the Pioneers shared game-high scoring honors with Churchill. Northland also got double figure scoring from Josh Whitlock with 14 points, Dwight Goodwin with 12 and Chaka Ali 10.

Northland shot 55 percent from the field, but put up only 42 shots (hitting 23 of them). The Pioneers were 17-for-22 at the free throw line, where Worthington was 15-for-21.

Ali, the Pioneers' top scoring threat, was limited to 15 minutes of playing time because of foul trouble.

Scoring

Ridgewater 116
Northland 74

Ahead just 19-14 eight minutes into the game, Ridgewater went on a 25-0 run and cruised past Northland 116-74.

It was 57-24 at halftime.

The winners had a 1-2 scoring punch in Scott Koenen with 33 points and Mitch Stuewe with 21. Northland countered with a 25-point game from Chaka Ali, 18 by Josh Whitlock and 17 by Dwight Goodwin.

Gators' offense sputters in loss to Rams, 54-44

Problems on offense led to trouble on the scoreboard for Badger/Greenbush-Middle River Friday as the Gators lost a 54-44 boys high school basketball game to Roseau.

After starting the game with a 12-9 first quarter lead, the Gators picked up just three points over the middle two quarters. They were down 20-15 at halftime and were shut out in the third quarter when the Roseau lead climbed to 31-15.

"We played a pretty fair first quarter," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "But we started turning the ball over in the second quarter. We got careless."

The Gators lost the ball six times in the second quarter and went without a field goal the first six minutes.

"I did not believe it could be any worse than that, then we don't even score in the third quarter," offered Sparby. "I can not put my finger on what when wrong. Roseau played pretty good defense, but not that good. We should have been able to score."

The Gators turned things around offensively in the final quarter, scoring 29 points. But in the process, their gambling attack left them vulnerable defensively, and the Rams matched their scoring outburst in a 52-point quarter.

"We went with an all-out full court press in the fourth quarter," explained Sparby. "We got some points, but we gave up some baskets, too. We knew we couldn't do that the whole game, but being behind like that, we had to take some chances."

The Gators also had troubles scoring points in their season opener, although they beat Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 41-36.

"Offensively we're just not there yet," acknowledged Sparby.

Four Gators did reach double figures against the Rams, with Daryl Wockenfuss netting 12 points, Jeremy Larson 11, Bret Bentow 10 and Andy Schenkey 10. Isaac Lang led Roseau with 15 points, while Dustin Mertens picked up 13, Justin Kjos 12 and Peter Erickson 10.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River was 17-for-50 from the field (34 percent) and 6-for-12 at the free throw line. Roseau went 19-for-39 from the floor (49 percent) and had a 12-for-27 night at the line. The rebounds were event at 22-apiece. The Rams wound up with more turnovers, 20-18.

Several animals held at animal pound in TRF

Several animals are being held in the Thief River Falls Animal Pound. Each animal will be kept for a minimum of 10 days from the date of impoundment. Animals may be claimed by their owner or an individual willing to care for the pet. For more information contact the Pennington County Law Enforcement Center at 681-6161.

The following animals are being held in the animal pound: a brown and white small male mutt, caught December 3 at Challenger Elementary School, a brown male mutt dropped off at the Law Enforcement Center December 5, a brown and black shepherd caught December 9 near the Arnold Avenue store, two brown and black mutts caught December 9 in Northwest Trailer court, a black mutt caught December 10 in St. Hilaire, a brown and black German shepherd caught December 11 in Oklee, a brown and black German shepherd caught December 11 in Countryside trailer court, a German shepherd caught December 11 on North Dewey.

Pennington Co. receives check from FEMA

Pennington County has received a second check from the Federal Emergency Management Act agency for disaster claims from the 1997 ice storm and flood. The check amounted to $342,128.

Pennington County Sheriff Gerald Moe explained that this was the second check received by the county for the disasters in Pennington county last spring. He said he expects to receive another check from the state.

The first check Pennington county received was for $101,617. The total from FEMA is now $443,745.

Moe said the money comes from claims filed by various agencies, such as townships, the hospital, and county highway department. At its last meeting, the county board approved disbursement of those funds to the agencies filing the claims.

Leadership changed hands at a joyful Christmas party for the Friendship Club. Val Chommie, who has been the main leadership figure for the organization, turned over leadership of the club to Pat Markstrom. Joining her on this last joyful day was her grandson Hans Johnson and his wife Becky. Val refuses to take credit for the success of the organization and gives all credit for its success to people in the community, the clubs and organizations and United Way, which has supported the club. Val will be moving to the Twin Cities area for the winter. Val also didn't let the Christmas party focus on her contribution. She wanted the party only to benefit the many members of the organization. Pictured from left are: (front row, from left) Val Chommie, Pat Markstrom, Shannon Olson, director Heritage Community Center; (back row) Becky and Hans Johnson.

Jessica Swonson, daughter of Greg and Sue Swonson, is delighted by the horses at the Larry Bakko farm. Jessica and many other children visited the Bakko farm along with Head Start and ECFE families of Thief River Falls last week. Families participated in a sleigh ride, decorating outdoor trees, feeding chickens and other activities.

Two face charges of first degree burglary

Two Thief River Falls men face felony burglary charges after allegedly being caught in the act of taking a stereo from a local residence. Thomas Louis Swantek, 21, and William Marvin Yonke, 23, Thief River Falls, were charged with burglary in the first degree, after they were allegedly caught trying to take a stereo from a residence on December 5. Police received the report of a resident catching the two in the act at 3:51 a.m.

Assault. On December 9 at 6:39 p.m. police were called to a local residence regarding a domestic situation. The alleged assailant had already left by the time they arrived, but a woman said she had been pushed several times. Charges for fifth degree assault are pending against 19-year-old Robin Morin, Thief River Falls.

On December 10 at 8:10 p.m. police received a report from a woman who claimed she had been pushed and hit in the head and stomach. A charge of fifth degree assault is pending against LeeAnn Gast, 19, Thief River Falls.

Thefts. On August 2, police were contacted by the owners of the Summerfield Place apartments in Thief River Falls, who reported that the manager, Milo Otter Espe, had taken an estimated $1,300 from the apartments. He allegedly took the money by endorsing checks to the apartment and also taking petty cash. He has paid back about $800. Charges for theft have been filed against Milo Otter Espe, 51, currently Wannaska.

Charges for theft by check or issuing dishonored checks have been filed against Sean David Adams, 18, Thief River Falls, $658; Ryan Michael Rude, 20, Thief River Falls, $586; Blaine Alan Carpenter, 18, Plummer, $93.25; Larry Elmer Nelson, 50, Middle River, $50; and Justen Patrick Janssen, 22, Moorhead, $89.81.

On December 9 at 11:59 a.m. police received a report that someone had attempted to take a snowmobile hood. They apparently dropped it when they were interrupted.

On December 6 at 7:42 p.m. a family came out of a local restaurant, got in their vehicle to drive home and discovered a bag of clothing in it. They contacted police as the clothing still had tags on it and didn't belong to them. Police learned that the clothing had come from Pamida and no clerk remembered selling the clothing. The clothing, which included a windsuit and two sweaters, were taken back to Pamida.

On December 7 at 8:36 a.m. the sheriff's department received a report that a stove, valued at $100, had been taken from a fish house. Police had already recovered parts of the stove from an accident between a snowmobile and car last week at Third and Markley. In that accident, the driver of the snowmobile got up and fled from the scene on foot.

Accidents. On December 10 at 3:30 p.m. police received a report of an accident on Highway 59 near the intersection with the frontage road in front of Kmart. Aaron Lee Skallet, Thief River Falls, was driving a car north on Highway 59 when a van driven by Anne Marie Heden, Oklee, struck the rear quarter panel of his vehicle. Heden was attempting to turn south onto Highway 59 and did not see Skallet. Police estimated damages at $800 to the Skallet vehicle, and $600 to the Heden vehicle.

On December 12 at 5:49 p.m. police received a report of an accident at Pennington Avenue and the Hugo's parking lot entrance. A car driven by Rebecca Ann Leach, Thief River Falls, was traveling south on Pennington Avenue, when a Blazer driven by Brent Logan Rohl, Thief River Falls, exited from the parking lot to turn left onto Pennington Avenue and the vehicles collided. Police considered the Leach vehicle a total loss. They estimated damage to the Rohl Blazer at $2,500.

Cruelty to animals. On December 9 at 4:39 p.m. police received a report of a dead dog in a back yard of a residence in the 1200 block of North Main. Police found a German Shepherd cross dead and still chained to a tree in the back yard of the residence. A charge of cruelty to animals is pending against Roger Allen Nelson, Thief River Falls.

Consumption under age. On December 13 at 11:27 p.m. police received calls of a loud party at a local trailer court. Upon investigation, the following were cited for consumption under age: Tony Ronald Winter, 18, Thief River Falls; Rachel Marie Klassen, 18, Thief River Falls; Thomas Philip Altepeter, 20, Thief River Falls; Matthew Paul Larson, 18, Thief River Falls; Matthew Lee Olsen-Shaffer, 18, Thief River Falls; Kristi Lee O'Donnell, 18, Thief River Falls; Lisa Ann Vettleson, 18, Thief River Falls; Michael John McEnelly, 19, Williams; Amber Blythe Jorgens, 20, Crookston; Matthew Lawrence Hontute, 19, Goodridge; a 16-year-old male from Warroad; two 17-year-old males from Thief River Falls; and a 17-year-old male from Goodridge.

On December 13 at 12:34 a.m. police received a report of a possible fight in an alley. The following were cited for consumption under age: Tyrone Theodore Benson, 20, Thief River Falls; Jason Lynn Johnson, 20, Thief River Falls; Paul Duane Berg, 20, Thief River Falls; and a 17-year-old male from St. Hilaire.

On December 13 at 10:57 p.m. police and sheriff's deputies responded to a local residence following a report of a fight. The following were cited for consumption under age: Chad Steven Paulson, 18, Thief River Falls; Brian Curtis Howe, 20, Thief River Falls; Luke Jason Davis, 18, Thief River Falls; a 16-year-old female from Grygla; and a 15-year-old female from Thief River Falls. Tyrone Theodore Benson, 20, Thief River Falls was cited for disorderly conduct. John David Omhler, Jr., 20, Strandquist, was cited for disorderly conduct and consumption under age.

On December 16 at 2:38 a.m. police stopped a vehicle on South Pennington Avenue and charged a 17-year-old male from Thief River Falls with consumption under age.

Drugs. On December 13 at 7:15 p.m. officers charged a 16-year-old male from Thief River Falls, with possession of a small amount of marijuana, possession of tobacco, and possession of drug paraphernalia.

On December 14 at 2:41 a.m. a sheriff's deputy investigating a suspicious behavior, charged 18-year-old Matthew Aaron Carpenter, Thief River Falls, with possession of a small amount of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

Driving while intoxicated. On December 12 at 4:15 a.m. Mark Alan Haugen, 21, Thief River Falls, was charged with driving while intoxicated.

Disorderly conduct. On December 14 at 11:19 p.m. police were at a residence on another case when they observed a fight. Brent Edward Thompson, Thief River Falls, was charged with disorderly conduct after he allegedly broke a window and pushed someone, and was loud and boisterous.

On December 15 at 4:52 p.m. police received a report of a fight near Second and Horace. Two 13-year-old males were beating up on a third male. Charges of disorderly conduct are pending against the 13-year-old males in juvenile proceedings.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Vehicles collide at Highway 59 and Red Lake Co. 1

Two vehicles collided at the intersection of Highway 59 and Red Lake County 1 just south of Plummer on Sunday.

Minnesota State Patrol received a report of the accident at 2:51 p.m. According to the accident report, Milton Wikstrom, Alexandria, 35, was driving a 1992 Geo Metro south on Highway 59, when a 1988 Chevrolet driven by Melanie Bjerklie, 19, Trail, entered onto the Highway from Red Lake County 1. There was moderate damage to both vehicles, and no injuries.

Fire department responds to three fires Saturday

Thief River Falls Fire Department was busy Saturday evening. In the past of three hours the fire department responded to as many fires. Fortunately, there were no injuries.

At 6:06 p.m. on Saturday, December 13, the fire department received a report of a car fire near Highway 59 and State Aid 3. A 1994 Ford Probe owned by Anita Hamm, St. Hilaire was destroyed by fire.

At 7:54 p.m. on Saturday, the fire department received a report of a fire on the third floor of the hospital. There was smoke damage to the hospital. No one was injured.

At 9:06 p.m. on Saturday the fire department received a report of a car fire near Fifth and LaBree in Thief River Falls. A 1986 Ford Tempo owned by Levy Kraft, Thief River Falls, was destroyed by fire. There were no injuries.

Santa to hand out toys at local LEC

Santa will hand out toys to area children participating in the Christmas for Pennington County program at the Law Enforcement Center from 4 to 7 p.m. on December 19.

Local residents donated the gifts by selecting "angels" from local Christmas trees and returning the gift to the participating store or the Law Enforcement Center. Each "angel" lists a child's age and gift requests.

Residents still with gifts from the Angel Tree should return the gifts as soon as possible.

First laboratory confirmed flu case of the year reported

The year's first case of laboratory-confirmed influenza has been reported to the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) — prompting a reminder from state health officials that there's still time to get your annual flu shot.

The state's first flue case was reported in a three year old boy from Minneapolis. The boy's illness was caused by an influenza virus similar to the A Wuhan strain — one of the three strains that were targeted in formulating this year's influenza vaccine.

This first reported influenza case underscores the importance of getting immunized against the illness — especially for people over 65, and people with heart disease, lung disease, diabetes or immune system problems. Influenza immunizations are also recommended for some health care workers, and for children and teenagers with diseases like arthritis, which are commonly treated with aspirin. In children, aspirin can increase the risk of developing a serious complication of influenza called Reye syndrome.

People over 65 and people with chronic health problems should also see their doctor to find out if they need a shot for pneumococcal pneumonia, a common complication of influenza.

There is no specific public health recommendation regarding flu shots for healthy adults under the age of 65. However recent studies have suggested that they may also benefit from being immunized.

While the pneumococcal pneumonia shots usually have to be given only once, the influenza shots have to be repeated every year. The influenza vaccine is reformulated each year to protect against those strains of the virus that are most likely to show up during the upcoming influenza season.

This year's vaccine is formulated to protect against A Bayern and B Beijing, in addition to A Wuhan. For technical reasons, other strains of the influenza virus have been substituted for the three targeted strains in manufacturing the vaccine. The strains used in making the vaccine — A Johannesburg, A Nanchang and B Harbin — are similar enough to offer protection against the targeted strains.

The symptoms of influenza — which tend to appear suddenly — can include a sore throat, coughing, fever, headache, muscle aches and fatigue. People who become severely ill with influenza-like symptoms should see a physician.

People with questions about flu shots or other adult immunizations can contact their local public health department, or call the Minnesota Immunization Hotline at 1-800-657-3970.

Margo Peterson (right) of Inter-County Nursing presents a breast pump machine to Merle Finney of Digi-Key. Digi-Key applied for and received the machine from the Minnesota Department of Health, Family Health Division, which is committed to promoting initiation and duration of breastfeeding. The "Lactation Friendly Workplace Program" is designed to help employers support employees who choose to breastfeed. Benefits to employers include reduced staff turnover and loss of a skilled worker after the birth of a child; reduced sick time/personal leave for breastfeeding women because their infants are more resistant to illness; fewer medical expenses; an employee with fewer concerns for the welfare of her child; improved employee satisfaction and morale; and enhanced reputation of an organization concerned for the well-being of its employees and their families.

Challenger Elementary School, represented by Gion Espe, and Merle Erlendson, received a breast pump machine from Margo Peterson of Inter-County Nursing. Challenger Elementary School applied for and received the machine from the Minnesota Department of Health, Family Health Division, which is committed to promoting initiation and duration of breastfeeding. The "Lactation Friendly Workplace Program" is designed to help employers support employees who choose to breastfeed. Members of Company B stationed in TRF earn several promotions

Several members of Company B (Det) Second Battalion 136th Infantry (Mech) stationed in Thief River Falls received promotions recently.

Private first Cameron and Michelle Geray met the time in grade and time in service requirements to be promoted to Private E2. Private Cameron is the son of Dennis and Debra Cameron of Warroad. He is currently attending Northland Community and Technical College. Private Geray is the daughter of Joseph and Barbara Geray of Mahnomen. She is also attending Northland Community and Technical College.

Todd Vedhraaten and Adam Gallant were promoted during December training assembly. Todd Vedhraaten was promoted to the rank of Sergeant. Adam Gallant was promoted to the rank of specialist.

Sergeant Vedhraaten is employed at Digi-Key, Corp., and resides in Thief River Falls with his wife Angela and daughter Reese. Specialist Gallant is the son of Roger and Lynnelle Gallant of Plummer. Specialist Gallant is currently attending college.

Richard Kilen, Seth Martell and Logan Wallace met the time in grade, time in service, and duty performance requirements to be promoted to Private First Class. PFC Kilen is the son of Michael and Stephanie Kilen of Greenbush. PFC Martell is the son of Doug and Mary Martell of Thief River Falls. PFC Kilen and PFC Martell are currently attending their senior year in high school. PFC Wallace is the son of Elise Wallace of Middle River. PFC Wallace has recently returned from basic training.

Prudent use of budget surplus best for Minn.

By Sen. Roger Moe

Another round of good news regarding the state budget came recently. The cost of operating state government is lower than expected and additional revenues are flowing into the treasury. It has been several years since we have faced a forecast containing bad news for the state and the accompanying unpleasant consequences. Unfortunately, some important memories are fading.

We might be tempted to start taking the regular diet of surplus revenues for granted, doubting the need to plan for any leveling off of the economy or even a possible decline. It is true that our state has a diverse economy, and it has been strong for a long time. Few states can claim the steady economic growth and nearly full employment Minnesota has experienced over the last few years.

Suggestions for using the latest projected surplus, estimated at more than $1.3 billion between now and mid-1999, are coming fast and furiously. Frankly, some of the proposals are not fiscally responsible ideas.

You don't have to go back far in history to recall a time when we suffered through several years of budget problems. They came in the early 1980s, soon after people got the notion that our state economy would never be subject to sharp decline. They also came after tax rate cuts and spending obligations that simply could not be sustained.

As for the current situation, we can afford to return much of the budget surplus to taxpayers. In fact, the 1997 Legislature established a property tax relief and reform fund which receives money from future surpluses to help lower property tax burdens. Governor Carlson is also operating under that assumption as he prepares the supplemental budget to be announced early next year.

In the long run, we cannot afford to build significantly on our existing base of spending. Earlier this year, most economic forecasters were predicting a slight decline in the economy in Minnesota and across the nation. Real growth in income was expected to slide to just below 2 percent a year, which is still a healthy growth rate. The economy is now believed to be growing at the rate of 3.3 percent a year.

According to experts, the economy has never been this sound and strong so late in a period of expansion. With this in mind, we must be fiscally prudent. Some of the proposals for using the surplus are designed for short-term political gain rather than the long-term fiscal health of our state. Some tend to favor certain constituencies, such as commercial industrial property owners and tax relief targeted at Twin Cities area residents.

I plan to oppose any plans offered in the name of reform that shift the state's tax and finance system away from fairness and the ability to pay. I believe that some one-time spending on new technologies and infrastructure will prepare us for the fast-approaching 21st century. In leaner years, we allowed too many of our capital investments to fall behind on maintenance and improvements.

By addressing these infrastructure needs now, when we have surplus funds available, future generations in the new millennium will be better prepared for inevitable fluctuations in the economy down the road. Now is the time to get ready for the challenges we will face in the future.

Pesticide container recycling program has successful year

Minnesota Department of Agriculture's Empty Pesticide Container Collection and Recycling Program collected 385,000 empty pesticide containers for recycling in 1997, saving 136 tons of plastic from being placed in state landfills.

Since the program started in 1990, 519 tons of plastic pesticide containers have been recycled. Disposal of all the containers recycled since 1990 would require 500,000 cubic feet or a space 80 feet wide, 80 feet long and 80 feet high.

"Recycling empty pesticide containers has been the normal method of container disposal," said Gene Hugoson, MDA commissioner.

Container collection records were set in 22 counties this year. Swift county led all other counties by recycling 19,706 containers. Swift county also led the state in 1996. Other top counties included Renville county, with 15,700 containers collected, McLeod county, with 13,300; Jackson county, with 13,198; Grant county, with 11,612; Wright county, with 10,716; Lyon county, with 10,500; and Martin county with 10,500. This was the first year that Jackson, Wright, Lyon and Martin counties had topped the 10,000 container level.

The empty pesticide container collection program will continue in 1998. For more information contact Steven Poncin, Minnesota Department of Agriculture, 90 West Plato Blvd., St. Paul, MN or call 612-296-5136.

Zion musical groups to present The Visit

Choirs and musical groups of Zion Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls will present their annual Christmas concert Sunday, December 21, at 4 p.m. under the direction of Naomi Rasmond.

This will be the 30th year that Naomi has been putting together a Christmas program for church choirs at the parishes her husband serves as pastor. Title of this year's concert is The Visit, based on Leo Tolstoy's story, Martin, the Cobbler, as told by Heidi Hoks.

"The program will focus on the way in which God visits a world filled with hurt and unrest to bring us His peace," Mrs. Raymond said. "There will be a number of soloists, as well as an interpretive dance to help us feel and experience the hope that Christ brings."

Participating in the concert are the Kids Praise choir directed by Diane Johnson, the Joyful Noise choir directed by Deb Wittenburg, and the Senior choir, Bell choir and Resonance quartet directed by Naomi Rasmond.

The groups will be accompanied by Amy James, flutist, Phyllis Dalager, Ida Nordvall and Coreen Erickson, pianists. Technical work will be done by Paul Spielman.

The concert will be followed by a silver tea in the fellowship hall, sponsored by Aid Association for Lutherans.

There is no charge for the concert. It is Zion's Christmas gift to the community. Everyone is welcome to come.

Larry Singer prepared much of Thanksgiving dinner and invited guests and with the help of his mother Cathy and sisters Joanne and Doreen they all enjoyed a traditional Thanksgiving dinner at Larry's together with Cory and Debbie May, Larry Sorenson, Gay Brovold, David Haugen and Wendt Singer.

Last week when we tried to name Veterans from this area, I'm sorry I didn't get all the names and at least one I left out was Wendt Singer he served for three years during World War 2. He served in England, Germany and Belgium. He spent some time in a hospital in England before being sent home.

Members of the Gully American Legion Auxiliary are planning to have a bake sale at Gully's Community Center on December 6th then again on December 15th at one o'clock. They plan to make 20 cheer baskets for Christmas gifts.

We spent Thanksgiving Day at Thief River Falls at the Torgerson home and were guests for dinner with Carol and Les and Lyn and Ed Turenne. Others there were Amber Peoples, Bob and Mauri Evans, Joey and Amanda of St. Paul, Tony and Sanna Gustafson of Wilmar, Maja Turenne of Bemidji, Chad Gilbert, Marty and Michelle Levine of Fosston, Luke Torgerson, Effie Handy and Sanna and Arnold Brovold.

It was time for Orville Christianson to celebrate his birthday on December 1st, so they came in to the Gully Cafe. And his wife Gertrude treated afternoon coffee and the first ones had cake until the cake was gone. Some knew about the birthday and came to wish Orville well, among those were Evelyn Hanson of Clearbrook, Harry and Nora Hanson, Lulla and Clifford Arvason, Arnold and Sanna and who ever else happened to stop.

Last week I mentioned some had planned for a "Get together" on December 13th for Eileen Erlandson to help with her medical problems. Those who wondered if there were enough people interested to make it work, would not have had to worry. It is so satisfying to hear the different individuals willing to help. First of all the Council said the Hall was vacant on December 13th and we could use the Community Center that day. We hope to have cups of coffee and lunch to sell. One lady offered to bring ham for sandwiches, another lady offered to make Bar-B-Que for sandwiches and for the biggest treat of all especially for the scandinavians, Mavis and Bernice offered to bring their lefsa grill and they'll be making lefsa in one corner of the center. So you can buy hot lefsa right off the grill. They hope to start baking around ten o'clock and keep on until they get tired out. I hope some of us can help with some of the less professional parts of lefsa baking. It promises to be a fun day. At other doings people in neighboring towns have been so generous in helping, we hope that same caring friendly feeling prevails on December 13th. Come spend a day of visiting and help get our Christmas spirit motivated and you need not bring a sack lunch.

Breakfasting at the Gully Cafe Friday morning were, Kerry, Mary, Arnold and Tyler Ringstad of St. Paul, Delores Ringstad of Fosston, Mildred Solien, Dave and Sandie Graff of Gully.

Strandquist

F. Myrtle Vagle
436-2133

The weather in Northwest Minnesota has been the same each day this first week in December, overcast with lots of frost hanging on every tree but with no sunshine to show off the sparkles like only is seen in this Northern area. The days are getting so short it is hard to catch up on the things that need to be done at this time of year but the good news is that in 2 weeks they will begin to lengthen. The newscaster says he hasn't seen the sun yet this month but neither have we had any blizzards nor the rains as they have in California where they have no place to run off.

I was just watching a ladybug that is in the house for the winter. I wanted to throw it out but Hazel says to leave it inside to eat the small plant lice that come on my plants. So I put it on some of my plants and in two blinks of the eye, she is back smelling on the spray starch on my curtains. I was playing with her the other day and she tipped over on her nice red with black dotted hard shell, the shell opened in the center and out came two long grey silk wings that propelled her upright and back to the curtain again. The see catalogues recommend having ladybugs around but Roy says that's and old wives tale and one of these days she will find herself out in the cold. Maybe when I'm not at home, and he takes care of the plants by himself.

Strandquist is laying to rest one of it's oldest residents this week a most beautiful person that has been our fortune to have in our midst, namely Elsie Kimbrough. She has been one of our leading citizens as far back as I can remember. Our love goes to all the family. Her obituary is elsewhere in the paper.

Brandon Kasprowicz and friend Sarah of Grand Forks and Kelly Lofrooth, Amanda and Jessica and Brad Kasprowicz visited Judy Kleinvachter on Sunday.

Roy Vagles visited Isaac Thompson at the hospital in Thief River Falls on Tuesday. He is doing fine and hopes to be home with Betsy before too long, like maybe yesterday. She forgot her purse at Elsie's today so when she got home she had to come back and get her purse. Elsie said she didn't even look in it.

Hazel and Morris Anderson went to Thief River Falls and Hazel found another amaryllis and I got my Christmas present early.

Elmer Holmstrom and Evelyn Albaugh and Frank Grochowski were visitors at Judy Kleinvachter's this week as were Marie Stolten, Claudia Berggren and Kali, Lois Lindstrom and Lowell Lofrooth.

Goodridge

Friday evening those who visited and had turkey supper at the Neil Liedberg home were Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Liedberg, Shari Liedberg and Andrew Lallier.

Saturday dinner guests at the Norman Liedberg home in Thief River Falls were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Galler, Karen and Aaron of Moorhead, Later Mr. and Mrs. Neil Liedberg, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Liedberg, Shari Liedberg and Andrew Lallier visited at the Norman Liedberg home.

Gena Fjeld of rural Thief River Falls visited at the Clarence Dahlen home on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Grandstrand had as Thanksgiving dinner guests Vernelle Stokke and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Kron.

LeRoy and Ruth Sustad stopped in for a brief visit at Liz Swenson's home on Saturday morning.

Thanksgiving dinner guests at the Dan Olson home were Gordon and Adelle Skjervun, the Arnold Woloski family, the Corey Skjerven family, Darren and Trish Lee of Grand Forks and the Randy Skjervens of Grand Forks.

On Tuesday November 18th, LeRoy and Ruth Sustad took an enjoyable drive to Akeley (their home town). Made a short visit at the Dick and Patty Young home on their way out to Bud and Ginny Peterson's to help celebrate his birthday. Their son Raymond was busy with corn harvest. Due to the heavy snow and rain through central Minnesota harvesting was slow but by Thursday was finished for them.

Virgil and Marvelle Hjelle went to Gonvik to spend Thanksgiving at the Clark Hjelles along with other relatives.

Friday evening James and Ruth Tostrup of Newfolden were visitors at the LeRoy Sustad home.

Saturday evening Amy Hjelle and Ardelle Hjelle from Milbank, SD were visitors at the Virgil Hjelle home.

Liz Swenson was a Thanksgiving dinner guest at the Darren and Shari Heller home along with other relatives. They also celebrated Cole Heller's 3rd birthday that evening.

Sunday evening James and Ruth Tostrup and LeRoy and Ruth Sustad enjoyed the Bethania-Westaker Choir Concert at the Westaker Church in Newfolden.

MnUSA Urges Safety In Snowmobile Season

Since the Minnesota United Snowmobilers Association (MnUSA) was founded in 1978, it has actively promoted safe snowmobiling practices. The organization provides volunteers to assist the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources in conducting safety training classes throughout the winter across Minnesota.

"Awareness is the key," says Jeff Mausolf, 1997 president of MnUSA. "People need to ride for the conditions, follow the trail system and use common sense—absolutely no alcohol, slow it down, especially after dark, and know where you're riding."

Mausolf and the association he heads offer the following advice that all persons who snowmobile should take to heart:

Ride Straight—no alcohol or drugs.

- Alcohol was involved in 66 percent of the fatalities during the 1996-97 snowmobile season.

Know the trail or terrain and ride for the conditions.

- 56 percent of last season's fatalities involved hitting a fence, tree or other object.
- More than 85 percent of all accidents involve hitting a fixed object.
- Many trails are on frozen lakes, which are especially dangerous early or late in the season; ice must be five inches thick to support a snowmobile.

Slow it down, especially at night.

- Maximum speed allowed on public land, frozen waters, roadside ditches and groomed trails in Minnesota is 50 miles per hour;
- At night, speeds should be slower because of reduced visibility.
- At 50 miles per hour, riders need 300 feet—the length of a football field—to come to a complete stop.

The association adds that before anyone first rides a snowmobile, that person should read the owner's manual; check snowmobile equipment; wear a helmet, eye protection and proper clothing; find out about ice and snow conditions; and tell someone where he or she is going and when to be expected to return.

While riding, snowmobilers should stay to the right on trails, know the trail and terrain, let weather and trail conditions determine safe speeds, use headlight and taillight, maintain proper spacing when riding with others, yield to other vehicles, stay clear of thin ice and lake inlets and never cross open water.

In 1996 there were 254,500 snowmobiles registered in Minnesota, making it the largest state snowmobile population in the country. In the past two seasons, more than 70,000 new snowmobiles were registered in the state.

Total state budget projected for snowmobiling in Minnesota was $5.9 million for the 1997 fiscal year. The state's snowmobiling fund, which is generated through snowmobile registration fees, pays for the maintenance of more than 15,700 miles of Minnesota trails. There are more than 18,000 miles of snowmobile trails throughout the state.

Minnesota snowmobile manufacturers had more than $600 million in annual sales of snowmobiles, clothing and related outdoor products and equipment during the 1995-96 season, according to MnUSA. Minnesota snowmobilers spend an average of $4,296 each season on snowmobile equipment and related gear—not including travel costs.

Since youth snowmobile safety training began in 1969 by the DNR, more than 257,000 young people (ages 12 to 16) have completed the training program. There are more than 1,600 active certified snowmobile training instructors in the state. If the snowmobile safety program approaches the success level of the firearms safety program also conducted by the DNR, it is a valuable influence for young people.

We applaud the safety efforts of the MnUSA and thank the organization for attempting to prevent needless deaths and injuries among snowmobilers and those who encounter snowmobilers. That emphasis, and the cooperation of those who ride to be alert and sensible, should help counter legislative efforts to place stronger restrictions on the activity.

Snowmobilers hold the future enjoyment of their sport in their own hands. If they can show they have the restraint to obey the law, follow the rules and take care of the behavior of their own fellow riders, the public will tolerate a fairly loose rein on the riders and the industry. But any more senseless loss of life and look for a public outcry for restrictions that the legislature will dare not ignore.

How about it, snowmobilers? Are you up to meeting the challenge of MnUSA to make safety a priority? It will be worth your while in many ways.

Too Many Lawsuits, Too Little Justice

America's civil legal system was established as a service to society as a means to settle disputes and ensure that those who have been wronged obtain reasonable redress. While the system is a good one, it has been warped and distorted to a point well beyond what most reasonable people would consider justice.

Many in the legal profession are guilty of perverting the system to provide personal gain. An example is the hazardous waste clean-up program under the U.S. Superfund law. The nation spends between $10 billion and $20 billion a year, presumably to rid the environment of toxic waste, but records show that a full 55 percent of the money goes to lawyers rather than clean-up.

Another corruption of the system is the legal doctrine of joint and several liability, often referred to as the "deep pockets" doctrine. Under this doctrine, damages are determined not necessarily by who is responsible but by who has the money to pay for them.

Example: In 1987 a chemical tank car burst into flames in Louisiana, causing temporary evacuation of 8,000 people but no loss of life or even serious injury. In September a jury assessed $3.5 billion in damages, mostly against CSX Transportation, although the National Transportation Safety Board had ruled CSX was not responsible for the fire.

Example: In 1991, 25 people died in a fire at a chicken processing plant in North Carolina. The plant owner was responsible for the fire, but had no money. Gates Manufacturing Company of Denver, CO, was one of 45 defendants named in the suit. Its connection to the fire was only that it made some of the rubber hoses and fittings used at the plant and that presumably contributed to the smoke.

These types of awards lead many major companies to pay large sums to settle what may seem to be frivolous claims because of the costs—and the risks—of going to court.

It is time to put an end to this blight in our nation's legal system, even if it means putting a crimp in the lifestyle of enough trial lawyers to close golf courses across the country. Legitimate victims are entitled to retribution from those who cause damages, and that is what the courts should be spending their time determining—not how to extract money from those not at fault.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Re: Senator Moe's guest editorial 12/10/97.

It is difficult to decide exactly how to respond to State Senator Moe's editorial concerning global warming. It is certainly interesting that he has taken an absolute position on the subject. For him there is no theory: global warming is real, and if we do not respond we will suffer catastrophic consequences. For a long-term astute politician this is quite remarkable.

The litany of disasters and false alarms predicted by government officials continues to grow. The government and various of its elected officials also created disasters around cyclamate, saccharine, the ozone hole, acid rain, Alar, silicone breast implants and second hand smoke. Now we have global warming, which is in fact a theory.

The Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) does not "consist of 2,500 eminent climate scientists from all over the world," as Senator Moe asserts. Yes, 2,500 scientists signed off on the report. However, the majority are not environmental scientists or climatologists. The actual report is 2,000 pages long. How many scientists or politicians have even read the report or even the seven-page summary?

What the report did offer was a hypothesis based on rising carbon dioxide levels. Why these levels are rising, and what the rise means, continues to be open for discussion and for advancement of theories.

Common sense tells everyone of us that it is difficult enough to predict the weather tomorrow. While weather forecasts are generally correct, they are seldom perfect, and many times just wrong. There are simply too many variables to consider. If this is the case, then how is it that we are all of a sudden able to predict the effects of a rise in carbon dioxide levels? The arrogance to think we can predict global climatic events in the future is absurd.

Of greatest concern is why the global warming crowd has found it necessary to predict disaster for all of mankind. The government and its officials have simply cried "wolf" too many times. And too many times they have simply been wrong. But to create an atmosphere of hysteria is irresponsible.

The theory of global warming should continue to be investigated, refined and evidence gathered. To declare today that there is irrefutable proof and there is impending disaster is ridiculous. If you would like another perspective on this subject I recommend "Bill and Al's global warming circus" in Forbes magazine, November 3, 1997.

Most of all be wary. In the end this is about money—your money. If they create enough fear, then they will be asking for money to "defeat" the global warming monster. And you can bet we will need another whole bureaucracy to manage the money and a whole new set of regulations to control us and govern our lives.

Sincerely,
Paul Nelson

FROM THE NEW CITY

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER — DECEMBER 22, 1897
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

Christmas Carols.
The Day Will Be Observed By All in Thief River Falls

"Christmas will be generally observed in this city Saturday, and most of the stores will be closed. The churches will all have Christmas trees and appropriate exercises Friday evening.

"The city schools will close for the holiday vacation this afternoon and appropriate exercises will be had at both the Knox and Central buildings. At the Central school the rooms of Prof. Parker and Miss Miller will unite, as will also the two lower grades, Misses Morrill's and Wallin's.

"The people of New Solem will have two large Christmas gatherings. Parties from there were in the city last week making purchases for trees. One will be at the residence of Knute Nelson and the other at Hans Hanson's.

"Few families in this city will have turkey for dinner Christmas, and this is not on account of their being too poor, but because there are not any to be had. The farmers around here did not raise many, and although the local meat markets here endeavor to buy from outside points they have been unsuccessful.

"In this connection, it may not be amiss to state that there are other families who will be thankful, if Dame Rumor is to be believed, for enough to eat. This is to be deplored, and more especially at this time when the world is supposed to be overflowing with good cheer and 'peace on earth, good will to men' is on the lips of all. If you have more than you need, give a portion to the unfortunate ones in the city.

"It is announced sub rosa that one proverbial young man in this city is making arrangements to present the only girl in town' with a 'useful' present -- a crown of mistletoe.' Of course it will be necessary for a curious public to remain silent for a year, and then they will find out whether or not it has proven 'useful.'

"The stores in this city have all enjoyed a lucrative holiday trade, which means that young America will not be disappointed."

Council Buys Garbage Truck To Serve City

"With the objective of adding to the efficiency of garbage collection service in Thief River Falls, the city council in an adjourned meeting Tuesday evening voted to purchase a garbage truck with special body from the Northern Chevrolet company on its bid of $5,048.

"Delivery of the new unit is scheduled for March 1, 1948. When received, it will replace the present system of entering into a contract with the collector, who furnishes his own truck."

Baby Sitters' Club Is Formed

"A committee representing the four local PTA units met last Friday afternoon at Lincoln high school with a group of 25 girls interested in forming a babysitters club.

"A fee of 25 cents per hour until midnight and 35 cents an hour after midnight was fixed for caring for children over two years of age, and 40 cents an hour for children under two years.

"Among other regulations adopted were the following: Parents must see that the sitter gets home at the end of the evening, and lunch should be provided. Parents cannot keep the sitter any later than midnight on school nights, and cannot require them to do any housework."

Shovel Snow Off Walks Is Plea Of Postmaster

"With the period of heavy Christmas mail deliveries at hand, Postmaster Andrew Anderson today directed an urgent plea to local home owners to shovel the snow off sidewalks in front of their premises as a means of facilitating the work of the mail carriers. Many walks, he added, at present are in poor condition."

Salvation Army Staff Available In Evening

"Local residents having foods of any kind to donate to the Salvation Army are requested by officers of the local unit to call them in the evening and arrangements will be made to pick up the items. During the Christmas season, officers stated, they are away from their headquarters during the daytime hours. They added that street collections have been highly satisfactory to date."

Municipal Liquor Store Formal Opening Monday

"The municipal liquor store will hold its formal opening next Monday, December 22, following completion of work on the new bar and lounge equipment, Robert Erickson, manager, announced this week."

Fuel Oil Locally Continues To Be in Short Supply

"With shortages of fuel oil reported during the past week from a dozen or more Minnesota communities, a nip-and-tuck relationship exists between supply and demand in Thief River Falls, a survey of local dealers revealed this week.

"The supply problem has been aggravated this year by the fact that cold weather arrived unusually early this year, and dealers are concerned about getting adequate supplies for the remainder of the winter."

News Items

"Wheat 83 cents today.

"Sunday is Christmas.

"9 days left of this year.

"You can turn over a new leaf a week from Saturday.

"A grand ball will be given at the St. Hilaire Hotel next Saturday evening, good music has been secured for the occasion and a good time is assured. All are cordially invited.

"A merry Christmas to you all.

"Three carpenters came up from McIntosh Monday and at once proceeded to erect a building for C. Evenson which will be used as a harness shop. The building is to be 24 by 30 and they expect to have it completed in about three weeks.

"The south bound train was about eight hours late yesterday owing to a breakdown of the tender three miles this side of Red Lake Falls. A few ties were put under and the engine dragged her in on the side track sometime during the night.

"After initiating a candidate into the mysteries of Odd Fellowship Thursday evening, the local members of the order with their wives and sweethearts assembled at the lodge rooms and spent a few hours very pleasantly. Cards and dancing were indulged in after which dainty refreshments were served by the ladies. Such gatherings should be duplicated every two weeks, and will, judging from the nice time they had at the first gathering of this kind."

Memorials

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Olga (Mrs. Olaf) Ryan who passed away on December 11, 1977

Often we relive that sad day
When God called you away
How well we recall
Being at the funeral home
To do the necessary arrangements
And Christmas carols wafted softly through the building
Christmas - a time of family joy and fun
But we were saddened for our loss of you, dear Mom
Although time has passed
Sweet memories of you remain and ever will
You're with our memories as long as we live

Dearly loved and sadly missed
Her Children and Grandchildren

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank all my family and friends for all their visits, phone calls, cards and gifts I received while I was in the hospital and at home. Special thanks to my classmates for the flowers and balloon and the school board and staff for the big basket of fruit. Also, thanks to all the nurses (especially student nurse Lori Campbell) and to Dr. Appel for all that he has done. Thanks also to Pastor Johnson for his visits. Thanks again everyone!

Todd Willett

SPECIAL BOARD MEETING

December 2, 1997, 5:00 p.m.

S.D.S.C. Conference Room A

A Special Board Meeting of Independent School District #564 was held on Tuesday, December 2, 1997, at 5:00 p.m. in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center. The purpose of the meeting was to update the Board on the graduation rule and to provide input on a profile for the Franklin Middle School Principal position.

The following Board members were present: Carl Clark, Hank Hallstrom, Jean Larson, Darla Twomey and Steve Young. Also present was Superintendent Jerry Robicheau.

Chairperson Carl Clark called the meeting to order and Clerk Jean Larson established that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by D. Twomey to approve the agenda as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Glenn Chiodo, Educational Services Coordinator updated the Board on the grad rule presenting information about where the district is at the present time and the goals for the 1997-98 school year.

Jerry Robicheau, Superintendent of Schools, presented characteristics for a Middle School Principal which were developed by the Franklin Middle School staff and its Parent Advisory Committee. The Board reviewed these characteristics and compiled a list of characteristics they would like to see in this individual as well. It was noted that the principals will also be asked for their input. A complete profile will be put together from the information gathered and will be brought back to the Board. Plans are to post the position in January, recruit candidates in January and February, interview in March, conduct site visits, and make a selection by mid-April.

The Special Meeting was adjourned at 7:00 p.m.

REGULAR BOARD MEETING

November 24, 1997, 7:00 p.m.

S.B.S.C. Conference Room A

A Regular Board Meeting of Independent School District #564 was held on Monday, November 24, 1997, at 7:00 p.m. in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center.

The following Board members were present: Carl Clark, Jean Larson, Cheryl Lee and Darla Twomey. Also present was Dr. Jerry Robicheau, Superintendent of Schools.

Chairperson Carl Clark called the meeting to order and Clerk Jean Larson established that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by J. Larson and seconded by D. Twomey to approve the agenda as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

The November 1st Enrollment Report was reviewed and a thank you from Chelsea Haviland and her family for all the support the district has given them was read.

On behalf of the Minnesota Rural Education Association the Board presented the Profiles of Excellence 1997 Honorable Mention Academics Award to student and staff representatives of the Northern Expressions School of the Arts.

Terry Blacklance, Minority Student Services Coordinator, was recognized for the success of the Human Rights Conference he co-sponsored in October. The following were recognized for their recent donations to the district's Close Up Program: Arctic Cat - $500, McDonald's - $1,594.60, Townsend Printing - $100, Sjoberg's Cable - $25, Forsbergs - $100, Norwest Bank - $100 and Rebekah's Club - $25. The TRF Jaycees was also recognized for donating $500 to the Boys Golf Program as was Domino's Pizza for their donation of $120 to the district's Drug Education Program. The Board noted the following for their donations to the Little Brother/Little Sister Program: Heritage Community Center - $200, First National Bank - $66, and AAL Trinity Branch #7904 - $500. The North American Outdoor Group was recognized for donating $100 to the Lincoln Scholarship Fund at the suggestion of their employee Rebecca Pluth. Board member Jean Larson was recognized for receiving the "Hero in Education" Award from the Minnesota Academic Excellence Foundation.

Lincoln teacher Lorell Dyrud and literary arts students Eeva Young, Beth Dixon and Jenna Tsukchi presented their winning entries in the Emerging Writers Contest sponsored by St. Catherine's College. Jessica Kinnkkala also had a winning entry in the contest but was unable to attend the Board meeting. Lorell read a portion of her entry for the group.

Auditor Roy Lunde reviewed the audit report for the 1996-97 school year highlighting that the district's fund balance per pupil unit was $660 which includes the operating unappropriated balances. Roy also noted that district cash balances are good and will not require any short-term cash flow borrowing.

Members Cheryl Lee and Jean Larson and Superintendent Jerry Robicheau discussed the MREA Conference they attended last week specifically noting the presentations by Mary Beth Blegen, National Teacher of the Year and Vicki Phillips. Also noted was the Edison Project which are for-profit schools located across the country.

Cheryl Lee reported on behalf of the TEII Committee noting they heard reports from the Information Technology and Library Media Curriculum Committees. The committee was also updated on the graduation rule and noted plans for the November 14th staff development day.

Carl Clark reported on behalf of the Board Negotiating Team indicating the Principals and Directors contract is on the agenda for approval. The contract includes only salary adjustments for the 1997-98 school year.

Darla Twomey reported on behalf of the MECC Joint Powers Board indicating they met last week and that bids will be resubmitted on the building, track and football field without the wellness center. These bids are due on December 12th. Darla also noted a meeting was held regarding strategies to complete Phase I of the project.

Business Manager Harry Nelson reviewed the investments as of November 19th and the recommendation to authorize the sale of a bus.

Superintendent Jerry Robicheau reported he has been meeting with the TRF Education Association regarding a calendar for the upcoming school year. Three student days need to be added to the calendar which may mean fewer staff development days for teachers next year. It was noted that school can begin before Labor Day this upcoming school year since Labor Day isn't until September 7th. A recommended calendar will hopefully be presented to the Board in January. Jerry updated the Board on the goals that were adopted for this school year noting the progress that has been made in many areas. Jerry discussed the possibility of holding a Special Board Meeting next week to gather input from the Board on a profile for the Franklin Middle School Principal and to be updated on the graduation standards. Jerry also noted that he attended a presentation last week by Jim Benson, President of Bemidji State University, regarding technology and where it's going.

A motion was made by C. Lee and seconded by J. Larson to approve the Minutes of the November 10, 1997, Special and Regular Board Meetings. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by C. Lee and seconded by J. Larson to approve the bills as submitted and on file in the School District Business Office. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by D. Twomey and seconded by C. Lee to approve the following resolution:

WHEREAS, ISD #564 was faced with difficult financial situations, and

WHEREAS, ISD #564 was faced with the possibility of making significant budget reductions, and

WHEREAS, these budget reductions would negatively impact programs for students, and

WHEREAS, the Citizens Concerned for Quality Education were instrumental in the development of a successful campaign for a levy referendum,

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Members of the ISD #564 School Board do hereby extend their individual and collective gratitude to the members of the Citizens Concerned for Quality Education for all their efforts on behalf of students of ISD #564. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by J. Larson and seconded by D. Twomey to establish and authorize the administration to post for three 6.5-Hour Kindergarten Educational Assistants at Challenger effective immediately. Motion carried unanimously.

Policy GBEAA Harassment and Violence Policy was presented for review. The policy has been changed in relation to reporting procedures indicating that if the principal or Human Rights Officer is not available, incidents are to be reported directly to the Superintendent or in his or her absence, to the Personnel Office Manager. Concerns were expressed by a parent as to how the policy is implemented.

A new Hazing Prohibition Policy was also presented for review. Both policies will be presented at the next meeting for approval.

A motion was made by J. Larson and seconded by D. Twomey to approve the Principals and Directors Contract for the 1997-99 school year as negotiated. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by C. Lee and seconded by D. Twomey to schedule a Special Board Meeting on Tuesday, December 2, 1997, at 5:00 p.m. in the School District Service Center for the purposes of reviewing grad rule information, developing a profile for the Franklin Middle School Principal position and other business. Motion carried unanimously.

Board members were reminded of the Levy Hearing scheduled for Tuesday, December 2, 1997, at 7:00 p.m.

A motion was made by J. Larson and seconded by C. Lee to change the time of the next Regular Meeting scheduled for Monday, December 8, 1997, in Conference Room A of the School District Service Center to a time to be determined due to the choir concert scheduled that same evening. Motion carried unanimously.

Meeting adjourned at 8:50 p.m.

Plummer

Day of Thanksgiving

Many of us in the Plummer area spent the day doing much of the same things. We give thanks for the many gifts God has given us. Stuff the turkey then stuff ourselves! Hal, Ron and I had our daughter Kelly, Dave and granddaughter Alysha Krueger over for a turkey meal with the fixings and received calls from family and friends. Kelly said they took the long way over so they could sing "Over the river and through the woods to grandmother's house we go."

Connie and Roger Hughes had family dinner of turkey with Tom, Brian and Nickolas Schindler of Thief River Falls and Brad and Shelly Hughes of Warroad.

Recent visitors of Charlotte Leining have been Wayne and Barbara Leining of Austin who stopped enroute from a visit with their son Scott and his family of Wellister ND, Frances and Bernice Leining of Wadena, Jeff Leining of Vermillion SD, Dale, Justin and Travis Flatgard of Austin, Hilma Homstad, Clara Hosse, Margaret Greenwald, Lorena Westerlund and Jim and Carole Wright.

Lucille and Goodwin Kvasager went to Excelsior to spent some time with Charlie and Janet Hebert. Thanksgiving was spent at Charlie's parents.

A delicious turkey meal was made and served by Fern Eskelt for Amelia and Eddie Eskelt, Donna Kvasager, and Ray Nenonen.

Charolotte Leining was a dinner guest of Jim and Carole Wright on Thanksgiving Day.

Home for Thanksgiving

Mom and Dad (Rosemary and Melvin Eskelt) welcomed home daughter Lisa on Wednesday night and son Wes on Thursday along with sons Dave and Steve, daughter-in-law Becky and grandson Matthew. The family enjoyed a great Thanksgiving dinner and day together.

Visiting their folks, (Mr. and Mrs. Carl Koskela) were Mr. and Mrs. Darol Brasgalla from Bismark, ND. They came on Tuesday. Also Tim and Lisa Brasgalla from Fargo, ND came on Wednesday. After a delicious dinner Tim and Lisa had to drive back to Fargo. Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Carl Koskela and Mr. and Mrs. Darol Brasgalla had dinner at the home of Arvin Hostet.

Turkey Winners

Winners of the Plummer Community Club Turkey give away is as follows, Nel Hosse, B. Fallon, Lillie Halvorson, Pastor C. Johnson, Esther Wolters, Brad Dudon, Janie Walter, Ronald Rondorf, Judy Morinville, Mike Josson and Willard Purth. Congratulations!

Returning taxpayer dollars to be legislative challenge

Sen. Roger Moe of Erskine says that the good news heading into the 1998 legislative session is that state revenues are projected to be nearly $1.3 billion ahead of expenditures by mid-1999 when the current biennium comes to a close.

The major challenge to lawmakers, he says, will be how to return those dollars to taxpayers and make prudent investments in the future.

"Above all," he said, "we must avoid the temptation of making long-term commitments to spending programs or permanent tax cuts that will place the state on a budget roller coaster similar to the difficult times of the early 1980s."

Minnesota has achieved a AAA bond rating with all three major national bond houses as a reflection of its economic strength, but there will be no shortage of requests for the money which is expected to flow into state coffers.

"The 1998 bonding bill could exceed $500 million," Sen. Moe said. "The University of Minnesota system is seeking $249 million in capital improvements, and the state college system is expected to make a significant request. Several state prison improvements are planned and a major Department of Natural Resources request aims at bolstering parks, trails, wildlife habitat and the Reinvest in Minnesota program."

The senator said that with the immediate concerns resulting from the 1997 floods behind them, legislators can begin to make decisions that will have a lasting economic impact on the Red River Valley and other areas of the state that sustained heavy losses. The state also will be involved with significant flood diversion projects that are now in the planning stages.

Another economic development concern is the lack of affordable housing in rural centers where job opportunities are expanding. Despite significant state efforts in recent years to expand rural housing, the continued strength of the state economy aggravates the housing shortage problem.

In addition, Moe says, continuation of low-cost financing for senior housing is needed throughout the state to keep senior housing affordable and widely available. State funds will be used to extend existing senior housing loan terms and leverage federal participation.

The statewide community-based land use planning process involving counties, cities and townships will continue to be studied during 1998. An advisory council on community-based planning is expected to make some relatively minor changes in the 1997 framework legislation.

"It is my hope," Sen. Moe says, "that membership changes in the advisory council will broaden representation to the entire state—including northwestern Minnesota."

The advisory council is expected to make detailed recommendations on implementation of the community-based planning process in time for the 1999 legislative session.

With a significant budget surplus available, meaningful school financing reform will be discussed. Gov. Arne Carlson is also asking that the legislature review the proposed diversity rule for school curriculum before it is implemented in schools statewide.

Moe says the legislature is certain to consider improved trail funding for snowmobiles. As the number of snowmobile related fatalities has risen in recent years, the idea of mandatory liability insurance for snowmobile operators may also be considered in the 1998 legislative session.

"The noise and lake traffic generated by highly popular personal watercraft have resulted in support for restrictions on their use," Sen. Moe said. "Proposals for state standards could involve restricted hours of use or allowing local authorities to impose stricter rules."

The legislature will also have the difficult task of weighing state, county and township responsibilities in the environmental and zoning regulation of feedlots—a situation which has emerged in recent years as manure storage systems have increased in size around the state.

In 1997 the Minnesota House authorized a constitutional ballot question rededicating the 40 percent of lottery proceeds to the Environmental Trust Fund used for environmental programs until the year 2020. The current dedication is due to expire Jan. 1, 2001. If the Senate approves the measure, the question of extending the dedication 20 years will appear on the 1998 general election ballot in the form of a constitutional amendment, Sen. Moe said.

I understand Santa had notified Gully that if he was going to come to Gully this year, he needed to be treated better than last year when people laughed and made fun of his outfit. Last year he wore a thread bare suit with fur that looked like it came from a yellow animal. Last year he hadn't taken time to stop at a shop and his whiskers were stringy and off color. Holly Hocks Met

The Holly Hocks home study group met in Brooks, at the home of Myrtle Hemrum. There were eleven members and three guests. The two ladies were life long friends of Myrtle and Alysa Krueger of Plummer, daughter of Kelly Krueger. The Meeting was called to order by Chairman Lorna Nielson and secretary Rosemary Eskeli and Treasurer Dianne Gagner gave their reports. We then had a Christmas exchange of gifts. We had a sing-a-long and then lunch was served. Myrtle also made a birthday cake for our two birthday gals, Bertha Hughes and Kelly Krueger. Bertha was unable to join us because she was not feeling well and we all pray she will be feeling better very soon. We all sang "Happy Birthday" to Kelly and had cake and ice cream. Bertha and Kelly make our group very unique. With only thirteen ladies in our Holly Hocks group not only do we have two of our ladies with the same birthday but they are our oldest and youngest and are fifty years apart! What fun.

Gary and Jean Carpenter from Jamestown visited with Jean Carpenter on Friday and Saturday.

Saturday Louise Carpenter from Bitfield had a nice visit with Jean Carpenter.

Thanksgiving guests at the home of Jim and Debbie DuChamp were, Shirley and Walter Veilleson, Wayne and Deb Veilleson and Wyatt of Trail, Kevin and Kim Veilleson and Kyla and Hannah of Oklee, Ole Nestand of Grygla, Steve Kloety of Thief River Falls, Bunny DuChamp, Chris and Marci DuChamp.

Immanuel W E L C A Meets

Immanuel WELCA met on Wednesday night for their Christmas meeting. Lucille Kvasager presided over the meeting and the Shadrach circle put on a skit "A Christmas Tea Party". Favorite Bible verses were read, and each brought a favorite cup and saucer, and told a short story about it. After which pot luck lunch was enjoyed. Joan Carpenter won the door prize and it was a very pretty tea cup and saucer.

Happy Birthday Kelly

Kelly Krueger was guest of honor at a birthday breakfast held at the River Road Casino. A delicious breakfast was served and Happy Birthday was sang and Mom (Kathy Juneau) made birthday cupcakes in Kelly's favorite colors. (Packer green and gold). Kelly then opened her many great gifts and even our little Alysa got gifts from Auntie Lucille. Helping Kelly celebrate her birthday were, Joan Carpenter, Fern Eskeli, Lucille Kvasager, Ruth Wilkens, Goodwin Kvasager, Art and Alma Henson, Bunny DuChamp, Dad and Mom Juneau, husband Dave and daughter Alysa. We all sure had a fun time and our thanks go out to all the nice people at River Road for helping us to make Kelly's birthday so much fun! God's blessings Kelly.

Minnesota Technology, Inc. sponsors scholarships

Minnesota Technology Awards Scholarships will recognize four Minnesota high school seniors who excel in technology-related studies and demonstrate leadership abilities.

To be eligible, students must be Minnesota residents and planning post-secondary education at a 2-4 year college or university.

"Minnesota's technology industry is a key factor to the future success of the state's economy. We want to identify today's outstanding high school seniors and encourage them to become tomorrow's technology leaders," said Rudy Mazzocchi, president and CEO of MICROVENA Corporation and the 1997 Minnesota Technology Leader Award winner.

"The Minnesota Technology Awards Scholarship Program is the only scholarship in Minnesota recognizing young people who exhibit leadership, aptitude and excellence in technology," he added.

The four $2,500 scholarships will be awarded to high school seniors who have demonstrated exceptional scientific/technical aptitude and entrepreneurial spirit. A selection committee of Minnesota academic and business leaders will select the winners. Scholarship winners will be recognized at the Second Annual Minnesota Technology Awards program on May 6, 1998, in Minneapolis.

Scholarship applications are now being accepted. The application deadline is Feb. 1, 1998. To receive an application, call June Peterson, Minnesota Technology, Inc., at 1-800-325-3073 statewide.

Minnesota Technology, Inc., is a nonprofit corporation established to assist Minnesota companies in becoming more competitive through technology.

Wolf management meeting at Northland is January 5

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will hold a series of 12 public meetings on wolf management. One of the meetings will be held at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls from 1 to 3 p.m. on Monday, January 5.

The eastern timber wolf is currently classified as threatened under the Federal Endangered Species Act, but it is likely that it will be reclassified in the near future. To prepare for the reclassification, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will present an overview of the wolf management planning process, answer questions and seek public comments at the January meetings.

"DNR's goal is to ensure the long-term survival of the wolf in Minnesota and the adjacent Great Lakes states," said DNR Commissioner Rod Sando. "At the same time, we must address the conflicts that inevitably result when wolves and people live in the same vicinity. We need to understand how people in Minnesota feel about the future of wolf management and also to help strengthen the understanding of the biology of wolves. These public meetings are the first step in a longer process that will give Minnesotans throughout the state an opportunity to share their ideas and views."

After the initial public meetings, a wolf roundtable will be convened. The members of the roundtable will represent the full spectrum of management ideas.

Wolf numbers have increased dramatically in Minnesota in recent years and the wolf range in Minnesota has expanded. "The wolves really fooled us," said Bill Berg, DNR Research Biologist and wolf expert. "They responded to increased white-tailed deer populations and protection from humans and they established themselves in areas of the state that we predicted would never have wolf populations."

Under the Endangered Species Act, the Federal recovery plan for the eastern timber wolf set a minimum population goal for Minnesota of 1,251 wolves. "We likely achieved that goal in the late 1970's or early 1980's," said Berg. "The wolf population census conducted in 1989 showed that Minnesota had about 1,700 wolves, and they have continued to expand their range. We estimate the wolf population in Minnesota now to be more than 2,000. This winter, we will conduct another wolf population census, to accurately determine current wolf numbers and distribution in Minnesota."

The Federal recovery plan also requires a second, secure wolf population outside Minnesota. That population has been established in Wisconsin and Michigan, started by wolves naturally moving from Min-

Welfare union votes to strike

Jean Heinrichs, vice mayor of the Thief River Falls City Council, presented a plaque to Mayor Robert Reeve. Reeve has served as Mayor of Thief River Falls since January of 1992. Prior to that he served as fifth ward alderman from January of 1987 to December of 1991. The plaque, in appreciation for his many years of service and dedication, was presented to him Monday night at his last city council meeting as mayor.

Pennington County Social Services employees union has received permission to strike. The intent to strike vote was taken by the local and strike authorization was granted December 9. Following a 10-day cooling off period the 25 union members are allowed to strike at any time. Currently, they are at work.

Monday, December 22, social service employees voted down the latest proposal from the county. According to Charles Naplin, county commissioner and official spokesperson for the county, the main issue is salary. The latest offer, he said, included a 2.7 percent increase.

Valarie Heffner is the union president for American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Minnesota Council 65, Local 3452. Heffner said the main issue is salary. She said all employees want is to receive a salary close to the average of other social service employees in the region.

The vote on the latest proposal wasn't even close, Heffner said. That doesn't mean they are going on strike. Heffner said everyone wants to work. The ball is now in the county's court, she said.

The county social service employees are working under the 1996 contract. They have been negotiating with the county board since last January. Twenty-five employees are included in the

Christmas comes early for MECC joint powers board

by David Hill
Associate Editor

Christmas was delivered early to the Joint Powers board of the Multi-Events Cultural Center Thursday. It was announced that a re-bid package that contained a football field and track came in within budget.

It was good news to a board which has had to struggle with being a unique board comprised of many governmental units, public controversy over the project, project changes and delays forced upon them by the state, and high construction costs driven by flood repair construction in Grand Forks.

Not only did the project bids in August come in higher than what had been funded, but without any bids on the football field and track. Some of those bids were accepted — primarily site preparation. As a result of the controversy and cost, the Wellness Center element of the project was dropped and the prospective operators withdrew their proposal. The bid packages were reconfigured and re-advertised.

Thursday it was announced that they had had a much better bid opening. Norm Trichwasser of Trichwasser Helenske and Associates of Fargo explained that they had received bids between big orders at Grand Forks. He said the market seems to be settling down now.

The good news was that by re-bidding the project the joint powers board had picked up about $100,000.

Included in the project bids reviewed Thursday was the general construction of the Phase I building, heating and plumbing, air distribution and temperature controls, fire protection sprinkler system, electrical construction for the Phase I building and stadium, the track and field with all weather surfacing, the football and soccer stadium irriga-

Electric power deregulation explained to seniors

by Marvin Lundin

Views on deregulation of electric power supplies were presented by four individuals involved with power suppliers Monday afternoon at a meeting sponsored by the Northwest Chapter of the Minnesota Senior Federation at the Heritage Community Center in Thief River Falls.

Participating were Pete Wasberg of Otter Tail Power Company, David Loer of Minnkota Power Cooperative, John T. Anderson and Darryl Tveitbakk of Northern Municipal Power Agency (NMPA).

Anderson explained that NMPA is an organization of municipalities in northwestern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota which owns a portion of the Coyote electrical generating plant in North Dakota. The agency sells electrical power transmitted by Minnkota to its member municipalities, including Thief River Falls, where the agency has its headquarters.

Tveitbakk showed a brief video on electric deregulation prepared by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers. The video reviewed areas where deregulation pilot projects were being carried out. Rate reductions of five to 15 percent were being experienced but it was noted that electric generators were selling power at less than cost.

All of the speakers seemed in agreement that some form of *de*regulation or *re*regulation would be taking place in the next two to five years. Tveitbakk said that the move to deregulation is being driven primarily by industrial users on the east and west coasts where electric rates are generally high. Minnesota, in contrast, is among the five lowest rate states for electric power.

Other drivers, he said, are the philosophy that competition in anything is good and should bring about lower prices and that there is a nationwide effort to break up the power companies.

Wasberg said that Otter Tail Power company would back some form of deregulation but with some big red flags and some big asterisks attached to that statement. What the company would like to see out of a reregulation that could work would be:

Grant to help people get back into their houses

For families who have been unable to return to flood-damaged homes in eight counties in North Dakota and Minnesota, the Saint Paul Foundation has granted $1,300,000 to replace heating systems and assure hot running water.

Dennis DeMers, executive director of the Tri-Valley Opportunity Council Inc., says the grant will help families return homes to livable conditions with working heating systems and hot water.

"Getting families back in their homes is a top priority, but winter caught up with us before many families could find the help they needed to restore heating and hot water systems."

DeMers said the grant will be coordinated through several agencies, including the Northwestern Minnesota Disaster Relief Network, VICTORY [illegible]

The [illegible] will help us work with local plumbers and heating [illegible] in the purchase, installation, inspection and payment for each [illegible]," DeMers said. "We're working out details on a simple application process [illegible] eligibility, [illegible] and costs and to monitor and inspect work."

Phil Wold, director of energy and weatherization programs for Tri-Valley, says families will need to verify home ownership and must have been denied heating or water heater assistance from other sources. Inadequate heat or hot water must be the reason families cannot reside in their homes, and each family which receives assistance will need to agree to allow its [illegible]

The grant will go to flood victims in Norman, Polk, Marshall and Kittson counties in Minnesota and Traill, Grand Forks, Walsh and Pembina in North Dakota. For more information, contact Wold at Tri-Valley Opportunity Council Inc. in Crookston or call 218-281-5832 or toll free 1-800-584-7020.

Wikerts state finalists for outstanding conservationist

Billy and Phyllis Wikert of Grygla were selected as finalists for the state Outstanding Conservationist Award by The Farmer magazine and the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts (MASWCD) for a 14-county area in northwestern Minnesota.

The recognition was made December 9 at the 61st annual convention of the MASWCD in Rochester. They were previously named outstanding conservationists by the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation district with offices in Grygla.

"The Wikerts have worked hard to take care of the land and manage it properly," said Grant Sutie, chairman of the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD board, which nominated them. "They provide an excellent example for all of us and I'm happy we had the chance to publicly acknowledge them."

"To me, recognizing our outstanding conservationists is the highlight of the convention," agreed Vern Wilkin, president of the MASWCD and a Steele County SWCD supervisor. "It reinforces what the districts are doing."

Attending the convention from the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD were supervisor Lloyd Wiseth and his wife Sylvia of Goodridge and Cheryl Sistad, district manager from Grygla. A total of about 850 people attended the convention.

Wiseth said that hearing astronaut Mike Mullane speak on leadership and teamwork was a highlight of the convention. "Although Mullane spoke about his experiences as an astronaut, his advice pertained to people in all areas of work, including conservation," Wiseth said.

Supervisors and staff also had the opportunity to attend training sessions on a variety of topics including erosion control, the livestock industry and land use. Among other awards presented, the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD received an "excellent" rating in The Farmer magazine recognition.

Memories are the magic of the holiday season

By Kathi Carlson
The Times Reporter

If you've ever wondered where newspaper stories come from, I can tell you that some come to you like bolts out of the blue. Some simply involve being in the right place at the right time, and others you have to look for.

For the past several weeks I have kept my eyes and ears open looking for the perfect Christmas story. In recent days, my search became desperate, and in the end, I didn't find the story I had hoped for.

As I sat in a living room chair pondering my dilemma, I found myself staring blankly at the twinkling lights of our Christmas tree, and my mind began to travel back to a time when life was simpler.

Author James Baldwin describes writing as "mind traveling—destination unknown." I invite you to journey with me through my memory. Hopefully, my remembrances of Christmases past will help you conjure up some of your own.

My earliest Christmas memory is of a year when I decided that I was going to wait up for Santa Claus. Always curious, I wanted to see the jolly old elf. I remember curling up with my pillow and blanket on a fuzzy, purple couch. When I mentioned this story to my mother recently, she said that we had a maroon, velvet daybed in the dining room—a piece of furniture my grandparents left on the farm when they moved to town when my parents got married. Mom said I must have been very young, perhaps three or four. She also said that she had done the same thing as a child. Neither of us, of course, stayed awake through the night.

The Christmas trees of my youth were always of the short-needled variety, and my dad had a way of bringing home the ugly ones. Usually, they had big bare spots and had to be positioned in the corner just right. One year, the tree was wider than it was tall. Another year, a crooked tree wouldn't stand up and had to be wired to the wood molding that ran along the ceiling in our living room. My mother was never very happy with what he brought home. Over the years, however, his tree selecting abilities became a family joke, and her disgust part of the humor.

Regardless of how sad those trees looked before adornment, they were always magnificent once they were decorated. The lights in those days were large, multi-colored bulbs that clipped to the branches. They couldn't be programmed to blink, or twinkle or chase. They were simply on, and when the overhead lights were turned off, they lit up the entire room. Once the lights were in place, we added colored glass ornaments and silver icicles—one strand at a time—an activity which required great patience.

I remember playing Christmas carols on the piano in the living room—the only light coming from the tree. My siblings and I sang and sang. When I think now of how limited my piano skills were at the age of seven or eight and the fact that none of us have or ever had any vocal talents, I laugh as I imagine what we must have sounded like.

Holiday programs at church required much practice and preparation. Each child would have a number of lines to recite—the length depending upon the age and perhaps abilities of the child. I practiced and practiced those lines and was always very nervous before I delivered them. When one of my younger sisters was three, she got the first line of her short piece out and then paused before declaring, "Sorry folks, but I forgot the rest!" She then pulled the front of her dress up over her head and jumped around in a circle. The congregation broke into laughter. At eight, I was embarrassed and wanted to crawl under the pew. Little DeDe had shamed the Page family forever.

Whether we were naughty or nice, Santa Claus was always good to us.

One special gift was a wicker sewing basket that contained all of the things a "grown up" seamstress needs—scissors, pins, needles, a tape measure and thimble. There was also an assortment of colored embroidery floss and several stamped dish towels. After the holiday, my mother taught me to embroider, and the real gift was the fact that mom always praised my crude efforts. Sewing became a life-long hobby.

A childhood gift that remains a treasured possession is a white leather, zippered Bible that has my name stamped in gold on the cover.

The Cabbage Patch doll of the 80's and Tickle Me Elmo of '96 were not the first toys to be in short supply at Christmas time. In 1961 my parents traveled hundreds of miles in search of a Barbie doll for me—a fact that both surprises and touches me. Barbie was not to be found, and instead of the doll, I received several Barbie outfits, one a beautiful gold brocade dress with matching coat. The coat had a real mink collar—impressive to an eight-year-old. I don't remember being disappointed at Christmas, but I do recall being delighted on Valentine's Day when I finally got that long-anticipated doll.

Wrapping gifts for needy families are members of the youth organization at St. Bernard's Catholic church in Thief River Falls. The youth raised $1,020 by serving a fish fry to 280 people and used the funds to purchase gifts and food items distributed through the church, Violence Intervention Project, area food shelf and other agencies. Discounts on purchases were given by Kmart, Pamida, Land O'Lakes and Hugo's.

When I was 12, I traveled to Spokane, Washington with my grandfather on a train to spend the holidays with my aunt, uncle and cousins. It was quite an adventure—my first trip through the mountains, my first exposure to a big city and a different way of life. I was awestruck by their silver foil Christmas tree that changed colors by way of a colored revolving wheel off to its side. I couldn't believe it when we traveled downtown on Christmas Eve day to pick up the pies that my aunt had ordered from the bakery of a large department store. It was from that same department store that my gift was purchased, a trendy pair of stretch pants with a matching sweater—a very snazzy outfit for a farm girl from Minnesota.

My siblings tell me that Christmas was quite miserable at home that year. Mom, it seems, was in tears most of the time because her "baby" wasn't there. She was pregnant with her seventh child at the time, and Dad tried to console her with the fact that there were still plenty of babies at home. I was lonesome, too, when I talked to mom and dad on the phone on Christmas Day, but my homesickness didn't last too long. My aunt, uncle and cousins were wonderful to me and for several weeks after Christmas treated me to outings and adventures that I would never forget.

When I returned home, my grandfather remained in Spokane. At the time, I couldn't understand why everyone was so concerned about my traveling alone. I was instructed not to talk to strangers on the train, but after miles of endless teasing, I gave in and talked to a pair of handsome and authentic Montana cowboys. Both my parents' eyes were wet with tears as I stepped off the train in Fargo and into their waiting arms. It was good to be home.

Some of my fondest Christmas memories during my teenage years involve my younger sisters and brothers. Evidently, mom and dad tired of getting up so early, and Santa Claus started coming on Christmas Eve. After supper and the dishes were done, Dad would take the little ones for a ride "to look for Santa." Of course, he always showed up when they were gone, and it was fun being one of his "elves."

In high school, our student council collected gifts for children of the Red Lake Indian Reservation, and as a member of the student council, I got to make the trip to the reservation to deliver the presents. The Indian children presented a memorable program for us.

Twenty years ago I was a Christmas bride. In these 20 years Marv and I have made some memories of our own—funny, sad, outlandish but mostly happy. I look forward to the next 20 years or more with my best friend.

Our Christmas tree is of the artificial version, and only when I put its color-coded branches in the wrong slots does it take on the appearance of some of the funny trees my dad picked out. It is decorated with white lights that can be programmed to twinkle, fade, chase or flash and a hodge-podge of mismatched ornaments that I have collected over the years. Recently I discovered that a Hallmark ornament from the late '70's has a collector's value of around $800. As far as I'm concerned, that ornament can go. It's the now-fading red and green paper chains that my little boys made at day care or the treasures made or given to me by Cub Scouts and Sunday school students that are precious and priceless.

Twenty years from now, I hope that my sons will look back on our Christmases together and have fond memories of their own for it is in the simple memories that we discover the real gifts—the magic—of Christmas.

Head Start Center Base and Home Visit families and ECFE families in Thief River Falls went on a horse-drawn sleigh ride at the Larry Bakke farm. The Bakkes operate the Bakke Carriage Service in Newfolden. While at the event, families participated in a sleigh ride, decorating outdoor trees with food for wildlife and fed chickens the corn they shelled off of ears of corn. Playing in the snow was also a popular activity.

Presenting a check for $150 to members of the fifth grade class at St. Bernard's school for use toward their trip to Deep Portage this spring is Lynette Haugen of the St. Bernard's Booster Club. Accepting are Amanda Nelson and Jeff DeMars, fifth grade representatives on the student council. The check was presented in appreciation for the fifth graders' help of the Boosters Club in its concession area and serving tea and coffee events.

Thank You!

Thank you to all our great friends and relatives who helped in so many ways to show Gerald and our family how much you cared these past two years. You all helped Gerald to want to fight his courageous battle against cancer.

Thank you to everyone who has been here for us. Thank you Pastor Tuite for all your visits with Gerald and the nice messages at the family service and funeral. The many cards, phone calls and visits have helped us through each day. Thank you for all the beautiful flowers, plants, memorials, delicious food, and all the nice gifts. Thank you to everyone who helped out at the house during the week before and after the family service and funeral. Thank you to Dr. Coisey, the Clearwater Ambulance, Steve Haugen & Jeremy Goudge for your help, Clearwater County Memorial Hospital, Clearwater County Nursing Service and Clearwater Hospice.

Thank you to the Grace Lutheran Ladies Aid for the delicious lunch and also to the Faith Lutheran Church. Thank you to the pallbearers, Phyllis DeMars, Kim Neslund and Joe LaVine for the beautiful music. Thank you the Cease Funeral Home for your services. We always knew Gerald was a very special husband, father, son, brother and friend and you have all proved to us what a great person he was. We will never be able to thank all of you enough for everything you have done but we truly appreciate it. We really do live in a very caring community. God bless all of you.

TIMES FOR TODDLERS

ACTIVITIES

A Pleasant Present Surprise

If you are having a number of children at your house during the holidays, surprise them with this holiday guessing game. To prepare, turn a large box upside down, then wrap the sides and top with holiday paper. Top the box with a large bow. Pick a child to close his/her eyes. Pick a second child to hide under the gift wrapped box. Ask the first child to open his eyes, then look at the remaining children in the group. Provide him with plenty of chances to guess the child who is under the box, giving him clues if necessary. When the identity of the child under the box is guessed, have that child return to the group and close his eyes. Continue play as a new volunteer hides under the box. Aren't holiday surprises fun!

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need cornstarch, baking soda, a heavy saucepan, paint, paintbrushes and water.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

During the holiday season, the Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its selection of children's books including the following:

Jarman, Julia. Will There Be Polar Bears For Christmas? Sam is worried that Santa won't know where to deliver his presents when his family decides to spend Christmas all the way up North at Great-Aunt Addie's house. Sam is sure there will be ice, snow, and even polar bears! But Sam soon discovers that everything is really quite ordinary and Aunt Addie has a big surprise in store.

Joyce, William. Santa Calls. Art Atchinson Aimesworth, inventor, crimefighter and all-around whiz kid, along with his sister, Esther, and his pal, Spaulding, journey north by special invitation from Santa himself. Swashbuckling adventure awaits, concluding with a most spectacular and touching Christmas celebration.

VIDEO VARIETY

The Legend of the Christmas Flower. Set against the backdrop of colonial Mexico, eight-year-old Juanito and his grandfather leave their small mountain village and embark upon the adventure of a lifetime. An adorable story of the popular legend of the poinsettia, it's a real perennial.

MAGAZINE MENTION

Discover how families are focusing away from commercialism and onto what they value most, friends and family. Homespun Christmas rituals such as home-baked loaves of bread, cookies with Santa and homemade gift exchanges are featured in the December issue of Family Fun.

PARENTING TIPS

After the Holidays

After the holidays, it is sometimes hard to get back into the routine of things. Some people (parents as well as children) experience a real let down or depression. The house looks so bare when all the decorations are put away and the holiday special events are all over, the time has come to make a transition back into "normal" routines. The good news is that it can be done smoothly without those feelings of depression. Here are some suggestions:

•Do something to spruce up your house. Buy a new centerpiece, or have your children make some snowmen and snowflake decorations or simply rearrange the furniture.

•Plan some activities to look forward to in the next couple of weeks. Remember that the planning and anticipation are half of the fun of the event.

•Don't let the thought of a long, cold winter get you down. Plan to make the most of winter in northern Minnesota.

•Check out the Early Childhood Family Education program winter quarter events. The newsletter with details of January and February events will be in the mail this week. All activities will start the week of January 12.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Talk about the holidays. See if your child can retell three events in the order they happened, ask which one happened first, next and last.

WIC schedule announced for January

Redeemer Lutheran Church will be the site of several WIC clinics in January. The clinics are scheduled for January 5, 12, 15 and 16.

The Women, Infants and Children's Supplemental Nutrition Education Program is for infants and children up to the age of five and pregnant or breastfeeding women. All potential clients must write the WIC Program at P.O. Box 190, Red Lake Falls, MN 56750 or call 1-800-223-1591 or 1-218-253-2125 and complete an application.

Christmas Eve service United Methodist Church

Thief River Falls United Methodist Church invites the community to attend its Christmas Eve service at 5 p.m. on Wednesday, December 24.

Following a service of music, scripture and a seasonal message, those in attendance are invited to come caroling at Valley Home.

Alison Luota and Toby Henrickson wed Nov. 15

Candleabras, candle trees, pew candles, a unity candle and hurricane globes in the windows decorated with autumn florals and leaves adorned Flint Groves Baptist Church in Gastonia, NC for the wedding of Alison Leigh Luoto and Toby Lee Henrickson on November 15. Reverend Michael Henrickson, brother of the groom, officiated at the 5 p.m. ceremony.

Parents of the couple are David and Ruth Luoto of Lowell, NC and Perry and Faye Henrickson of Mooresville, NC.

Marla Troutman sang "How Beautiful" and Doug Sherrill sang "Parent's Prayer." Together Marla and Doug sang "Faithful Friend" and "Surely the Presense." Sandy Grant was the pianist and played "Trumpet Tune" for the processional and "Wedding March" and "Joyful, Joyful" for the recessional.

The bride wore a white A-line gown of silk shantung with a portrait neckline and chapel length train. The bodice was covered with sequins and beads. The long illusion sleeves tapered to a point on top of the bride's hands. Three rosettes beneath silk buttons adorned the back waist of the gown.

Her bouquet consisted of trumpeteer roses, bridal white roses, salala, Bells of Ireland, Rover mums and Saladago with stems bound by white tulle.

The Matrons of Honor were Leslie Gibson of Bessemer City, NC and Amy Tidwell of Gastonia, NC, both friends of the bride. Bridesmaids were Angie Funderburk of Matthews, NC, Amy Ledbetter of Winston-Salem, NC and Michelle Traywick of Mt. Holly, NC, all friends of the bride.

The bride's attendants wore floor length gowns of hunter green crepe which featured satin embroidered bodices. Each carried a hunter green chiffon shawl.

Blair Gibson of Bessemer City, daughter of the Matron of Honor, was the flower girl. Her gown featured short sleeves with lace and pearls and a tulle skirt. She carried a flower ball covered with autumn orange mums. Her headpiece was of ivy with mums in fall colors.

The groom wore a black tuxedo with shawl collar and tails complemented by a paisley vest and bowtie.

The Bestman was Perry Henrickson of Mooresville, NC, father of the groom. The groomsmen were David Luoto Jr. of Gastonia, NC, brother of the bride, Nick Smith, Junior Johnson and Chuck Bohner, all friends of the groom, of Mooresville, NC. The men of the wedding party wore black tuxedos with shawl collars and paisley vests and bowties of hunter green on black. Their boutonnieres were ivy with autumn mums.

Caleb Henrickson, son of the groom, of Terrell, NC was the ring bearer. He wore a black tuxedo with shawl collar and tails and a white paisley vest and bowtie. His boutonniere was also ivy with autumn mums.

The mother of the bride wore a sand floor length crepe gown featuring a satin embroidered lace top and matching jacket. The groom's mother wore a taupe floor length gown with a beaded bodice and chiffon skirt. The mothers carried three stem bouquets consisting of one burgundy gerber daisy and two trumpeteer roses. The tuxedo and boutonniere of the bride's father matched those of the other members of the bridal party.

Honored guests included John and Evelyn Luoto of Thief River Falls, grandparents of the bride, Nellie Ledford of Gastonia, NC, grandmother of the bride, and Velma Webb of Mooresville, NC, grandmother of the groom.

Attending the guest book at the wedding was Susan Ladd Smith, friend of the couple.

The five tier wedding cake of a basket weave design featured bells of Ireland, trumpeteer roses, saladago, autumn mums and salala between the first and second tiers and a cascading strand of ivy, trumpeteer roses and autumn mums from the top layer. Each of the five satellite cakes was topped with bells of Ireland and white bridal roses.

The cake was cut by Tammy Henrickson, sister-in-law of the groom, and Tamara Loggins, sister of the groom. Cheryl Henrickson, sister of the groom, served punch.

Following a wedding trip to St. Lucia, West Indies, the couple is at home in Terrell, NC. The bride is employed at Piedmont Healthcare of Statesville, NC and the groom at Concrete Forming of Mooresville, NC.

Goodridge Area Historical Society held annual meeting December 7

The annual meeting of the Goodridge Area Historical Society, Inc. was held Sunday, December 7 at the Goodridge Senior Center.

The minutes of last year's meeting were read and approved, and the treasurer's report was given.

Old business concerned the annual newsletter, Echoes of the Past. New business included discussion about moving the old Woodrow School to a new site.

The board of directors reorganized with the election of officers: Norma Hanson-president, Beattie Mickelson-vice president, Marcella Hanson-secretary and Helen Holen-treasurer.

The group enjoyed a program of Christmas carols sung by the group and performed by a soloist. Irene Lovly was the program chairman.

Orlen and Marcella Hanson were honored with an engraved plaque by the society for their contributions to the history of the community. Beattie Mickelson was the selection committee chairman. Other committee members were Ernest Swanson and Donna Hrachek.

Reports were given by Curator Lois Swanson and President Norma Hanson.

Refreshments were served.

Middle River Class of 1978 to plan 20-year reunion

An informational meeting regarding the 20th reunion of the Middle River Class of 1978 will be held Saturday, December 27 at the Wagon Wheel in Middle River.

All available 1978 graduates are encouraged to attend.

Kelly Krouse (right), daughter of the late Al Krause, along with Diane Marshall, chair of the Franklin Middle School Greenhouse Project, hold a check for $6,042.98 which was raised by the students of Franklin Middle School and the Franklin Middle School Student Council during the Santa Penny Wars which was held at the school from December 8-15. The money will be used toward building a greenhouse at the school.

Fundraising for FMS greenhouse moves forward

Franklin Middle School in Thief River Falls has completed a successful fund-raising activity toward the building of a Greenhouse at the school. The greenhouse project is being done in memory of long time Science Teacher Al Krause who passed away a year ago.

Diane Marshall, an eighth grade geography teacher is heading up the various fund-raising activities. Through appeals to community organizations, private donations, and student fund-raising activities, the fund has grown to over $13,000 on the way to a goal of $20,000.

The most recent activity was undertaken during the week of December 8-12. Sponsored by the school's student council, it was called Santa's Penny Wars and the idea was for students in fourth hour classes to compete to see who could bring in the most pennies. However, "silver" nickles, dimes, etc. could be dropped into other competing class buckets during the rest of the school day. This silver would then have to be subtracted from the total amount of pennies. The highest number of pennies in each class would be the winner of a pizza party and the overall winner would also get their pop free. The student council pledged to match the total amount contributed by the student body doubling the total.

Students really got into the spirit of this activity and thanks to the generous staff at Northern State Bank, the totals were announced last Wednesday. A total of $3,021.49 was raised. The winning sixth grade class was Mr. Bob Wayne's social studies class. Mrs. Margaret Olson's communications class raised the highest amount in the eighth grade and the largest amount raised overall came out of Mrs. Leslie Nordheim's seventh grade communications class. With the student council's matching funds, the students of Franklin Middle School came up with a grand total of $6,042.98. This activity helped the Greenhouse Project move in a major way towards becoming a reality.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

Scrooge or good cheer?

With a flurry of preparations, Christmas is here! If I were a Scrooge, I could judge the success of my holidays on what I didn't accomplish.

For example, I didn't do any holiday baking. That means we won't be savoring two dozen varieties of taste-tempting Christmas goodies, unless we get invited to someone's home where the baking WAS completed.

My family is fortunate that I did make "Dough One" of the "12 Doughs of Christmas," that being "Cookies on a Stick." But I believe the lack of baking is a favor to our family. I've saved us from having to shed the extra 10 pounds after January 1! That's one less item to add to the New Year's Resolution list.

Also, our house isn't as brightly lit on the outside as it usually is. The two little bushes with lights look rather lonely twinkling in the dark by themselves. The lawnmower has not been kind to strings of Christmas lights left year-round.

But instead of focusing on a litany of "didn'ts" there are many "dids" to celebrate this season.

I did shop for gifts. Throughout the shopping season I felt like Santa Claus. Making a list and checking it twice. I can proudly say that there is a neat line crossed through every name on my list, meaning I don't have to frantically knock down the doors of the nearest store on Christmas Eve Day.

Now I need a map to help me locate the presents I stashed from the rampant curiosity of a 7-year-old. In following the tradition of our family, at least one gift won't be found until spring when closet cleaning begins in earnest or when the dust bunnies are cleaned from under the bed.

Gift wrapping has also been completed. But don't expect stunning packages adorned with fancy bows and pretty curled string. I'm your basic budget wrapper with lots of tape and little creativity. Definitely not the packages or technique featured in the Good Housekeeping magazine.

Our "halls" have also been adorned. Meaning that I put some Christmas decorations up around the house. I placed a few items strategically around the house giving the holiday feel. I then remove the decorations just before they're scheduled to be dusted. You won't find me completely redoing my home's decor with pictures, garland, knickknacks and the like. If that was the case, it would be Christmas year-round at my house, because I would be too lazy to take it down.

I wasn't too lazy to send out Christmas cards, although the max mailing was 25. No more, no less - that's exactly how many photo greeting cards I ordered.

We were also successful in purchasing a Christmas tree, putting it up and decorating it. It's neither fallen down nor dried up so we consider it a victory and a sign of a happy holiday.

We've played our Christmas music favorites like Mannheim Steamroller and the Chipmunks. We've taken the scenic route through town to look at the lights. We've cleaned our house in preparation for celebrating relatives. We're ready to celebrate the reason for the season.

Yes, there are many "dids" this Christmas season. No reason to be a Scrooge. So enjoy and Merry Christmas!

....Of Course I Believe

Since some of you will be getting your Times on Christmas Eve and Santa Claus will be visiting good little boys and girls tonight, I decided this column from 1993 might be appropriate. The 1993 story about me and my cousins was dedicated to my grandson, Ryan, who was eight at the time and told me he didn't believe in Santa Claus.

Ryan is now 12 and, from our last serious conversation, still feels the same about Santa, no matter how much his granny tries to tell him differently. This year I would also like to dedicate this story to my other grandchildren, Jaime, Ryan's sister, who is six, and my newest grandchild, Rodney Gregory Smidt, who is nearly three months old. I'm going to do my best to see that they believe in Santa for as long as possible, just like their grandma does.

Here is the story I wrote in 1993. I called it "I Believe In Santa Claus".

As I said before, Santa always came to our house on Christmas Eve night. Our windows always had polka dots on them because my cousins and I would press our noses against the frosty glass, peering out to catch a glimpse of Santa. We especially wanted to see Santa's reindeer.

Each year we would make our plans for one or another of us to keep a vigil at the windows at all times during the evening so that we could catch a glimpse of those reindeer. We knew that we had to see them before Santa got to the door and started to ring his jingle bells, because by that time it would be too late.

Every single Christmas Eve night something would come up that drew all of us away from our window-watching. Either the Christmas cookie trays were brought out and we flocked to choose our favorites, or the uncles were in the kitchen making eggnog and we had to go taste it, or the aunts were cooling fudge outside the back door and we needed to help beat it and lick the spoons. Somehow later the window-watching would be abandoned.

And sure enough, just as you can imagine, that was the time that we would hear the jingle bells that meant Santa was on his way to the door. Can you beat it - we missed seeing those reindeer every year!

However we all got so excited we forgot about the reindeer when one of the cousins first heard the bells and shouted, no screamed, no shrieked, loudly, "Santa is coming! I hear the bells! He's here! Santa is here!"

Usually the one who was the first to hear the bells was in such a state and got so excited that he or she either started crying or wet his or her pants or sometimes did both. This would start all of the other younger cousins crying too and mothers would come to grab them up and pat them. Even the oldest of us got into a state of pure panic when we heard those bells.

It wasn't that Santa was scary - he was really not scary at all. It had to be the excitement of waiting and waiting so that when he appeared it was so anticlimactic that we were simply overwhelmed.

As Santa entered the house, cold, frosty air would swirl in around him, making it appear as though he was coming forth in a magical cloud. The jingle bells he wore all over would jingle louder and louder the closer he came and the "Ho, ho, ho!" he shouted would numb the eardrums.

What a din there was - if the cousins weren't crying loudly, they were jumping around like little Mexican beans and shrieking "Hi Santa! Hi Santa! Look at me! Look at me!" at the top of their lungs, hoping he would notice them. Santa's jingling on bells that dangled from him everywhere were jangling and jarring the senses and his jolly "Ho, ho, ho" seemed to sound like the roar of a giant.

He seemed like a giant, dressed all in red, with a huge tummy sticking out in front of him, and white fuzz covering nearly all of his face, and his brighter than real red cheeks and nose. Even his feet seemed outlandish, clad in monstrous black boots. And his bag, his black bag, bulging grotesquely with lumps and bumps and strange knobs and swellings. How would he ever find room in it for toys for children other than those in our family?

Every year, as I got older, I tried to be calm and nonchalant about Santa and I would look for flaws in him. Was his beard real or was it fake? Were his cheeks and nose the real color or were they made so red with rouge? Were his eyebrows the right color, white, and not black or brown? Was his tummy really fat or was it a pillow? Did he really have elves that made those presents he brought?

But every Christmas, no matter how hard I tried to find something wrong with Santa or how "grown up" and casual I tried to be about him, something would happen to me between the time he came through the door in a magical cloud and left again.

By the time he shouted his last happy "Merry Christmas!" and his red suit and now empty black bag disappeared out of the door I believed in him. Despite the fact that his beard may have been a little strange or his tummy a little soft, it didn't matter. It didn't matter that I was too old to believe. In my heart, he was real.

As the door closed behind him, the house seemed to be a little bit empty, and so did my heart. And that's why I love to see Santa come every year.

And do you know, there are still Christmas Eve nights when I lie awake long after everyone else is asleep and swear I can hear the jingling of bells. I am too old, however, to jump out of bed and press my nose to the window to see if I can catch a glimpse of those reindeer, no matter how much I would like to see them, just one time.

Merry Christmas, and may you believe, too.

HATS OFF TO 4-H

Silverton 4-H club held its monthly meeting November 17 at 6:10 p.m. The meeting was called to order by Vice President Miranda Nelson. The secretary's report was given by Derek Gustafson and approved. The treasurer's report was given by Shara Guidry and approved.

Old business discussed included discussion of the 4-H Carnival, Awards Banquet and enrollment forms. Members were encouraged to get their enrollment forms into the Extension office as soon as possible.

New business included discussion of record judging, honor club criteria, knowledge bowl, ag activities day, and the December 7 ski trip to Bemidji. Members also signed up for project talks, demonstrations and serving lunch for the coming year.

A motion to adjourn was made by Shara Guidry, and seconded by Kory Kezar. The motion carried.

Shara Guidry and her mother demonstrated how to make reindeer from dog bones. Recreation consisted of members doing a craft. Lunch was served by Al and Derek Gustafson.

Survey shows pre-schoolers not getting shots on time

Up to [illegible] children who entered kindergarten last year in Minnesota [illegible] according to a new survey released by the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH).

Although children in the survey were slightly better immunized than children who entered kindergarten four years ago, a review of immunization records revealed that over 22,000 of the new kindergarteners were not fully immunized when they were two years old. Overall immunization levels in the survey group were still well short of public health goals for the year 2000. By then, public health officials hope to have at least 90 percent of children getting all of their recommended immunizations on schedule throughout their first two years of life.

Many children don't get fully immunized until they enter kindergarten when they have to comply with the state's school immunization law.

Statewide immunization levels among children in the new survey varied from a high of 90 percent at four months of age to a low of 55 percent at 20 months of age. In addition, immunization levels were significantly lower in some communities and areas around the state, and in the state's communities of color.

Of the 173 kindergarteners in Pennington County in the 1996-97 school year, 88 percent were fully immunized at four months of age, 72 percent at six months, 54 percent at eight months, 47 percent at 17 months, 18 percent at 20 months and 57 percent at two years of age.

A key reason children don't get immunized on time is the complexity of current immunization recommendations, according to State Health Commissioner Anne Barry. Children now need up to 16 separate doses of vaccine for up to 10 different diseases by the time they reach 18 months of age. In addition to the seven diseases listed in the survey, the list now also includes hepatitis B, haemophilus influenzae type b and chicken pox.

Many children fail to get all the immunizations they need because of "missed opportunities," noted Commissioner Barry. Physicians need to make sure children receive any overdue doses of vaccine — as well as any immunizations that may currently be due — every time they visit the doctor's office.

Commissioner Barry urges parents of preschool children to check with their physicians or health care provider and make sure that their children are fully immunized. Additional information about preschool immunizations is available from the Minnesota Immunization Hotline at 1-800-657-3970. The hotline is staffed from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

James T. Johnson, 89

Thief River Falls - James T. Johnson, 89, died Tuesday, December 16, 1997 at Oakland Park Nursing Home in Thief River Falls.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. on Saturday, December 20 at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls with Reverend Terry Olson officiating. Music was provided by organist Wanda Vigness and soloist Jan Nyflot. Casketbearers were Chris Rund, Roy Rund, Kenneth Ose, Norman Blackstad, Joe Ose and LeRoy Ose. Burial was at Sirsdal Cemetery in Excel township of Marshall County. Arrangements were with the Green Funeral Home.

James T. Johnson was born on August 23, 1908 to Christ and Anna (Bakken) Johnson at their home in Rollis township east of Gatzke. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith. He attended elementary school in Gatzke, and after his father died in 1921, he took over the family farm. Jim also worked in road construction for Ose Brothers in the 1920's and into the 40's.

In August of 1942 he joined the U.S. Army's 48th Engineer Combat Battalion and boarded the U.S.S. Edmund Alexander bound for Africa. The 48th, a bridge building battalion, continued on to Italy, southern France and Germany.

At the end of World War II, he returned to Gatzke and did road construction work.

On December 4, 1945 he was united in marriage to Inga Ose in Thief River Falls where the couple made their home. He worked for the Thief River Falls street department as a mechanic from the 1950's until the late 70's when he retired. Inga died on October 9, 1980.

On February 27, 1982 he married Gertie Thompson Joppru in Thief River Falls. James most recently resided at Oakland Park Nursing Home.

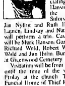
He was a member of Our Saviour's Lutheran Church. Very mechanically inclined, James built model steam engines and also enjoyed working with wood.

James is survived by his wife, Gertie, one daughter, LuAnn (Philip) Zieman of Montello, WI, one step-daughter, Susan (Dale) Wall of Hampton, NE, two step-sons, Andy (Jeannie) Joppru of Thief River Falls and David (Rosalie) Joppru of Northport, FL, several step-grandchildren, step-son-in-law, Robert Nelson of Thief River Falls, cousins and friends.

He was preceded in death by his first wife, Inga, one infant son, James, one brother, Arnt Johnson, and one step-daughter, Sandy Nelson.

Gladys Vedum, 88

Thief River Falls - Gladys Vedum, 88, died Friday, December 19, 1997 at Oakland Park Nursing Home in Thief River Falls.



Funeral services will be held on Friday, December 26 at 2 p.m. at the Evangelical Free Church in Thief River Falls with Reverend Curtis Anderson officiating. Audrey Hanson will be the organist. Soloists will be Jan Nyflot and Ruth Holm, and Lauren, Lindsay and Natalie Holm will perform a trio. Casketbearers will be Mark Hanson, Gary Hanson, Richard Wold, Robert Wold, Paul Wold and Jon Holm. Burial will be at Greenwood Cemetery.

Visitation will be from 10:30 a.m. until the time of the service on Friday at the church. The Green Funeral Home of Thief River Falls is in charge of the arrangements.

Gladys B. Wold was born September 26, 1909 in Adgar township of Marshall County to Ingvald and Alma (Bredeson) Wold. She was baptized at home as an infant and confirmed at Sotevdal Lutheran Church. She attended District 121, Sunnyside School and graduated from Lincoln High School in 1927. Gladys attended college in Bemidji for one year before returning to Thief River Falls where she worked for a time at Jung's Bakery. She later worked at JC Penney and for a long time at the Thief River Falls Utility office.

On July 26, 1958 Gladys was united in marriage to Jesse Vedum at Thief River Falls. The couple made their home in Thief River Falls. Jesse died on January 27, 1992. In October of 1991 she moved to Valley Home. She moved to the Karlstad Nursing Home in February of 1992 and to Oakland Park Nursing home in June of 1992.

She was a member of the Evangelical Free Church. She loved to share her faith and was given to hospitality.

Gladys is survived by one step-daughter, Naomi (Reverend Edsel) Lindquist of Thief River Falls; four grandchildren, nine great grandchildren, two sisters, Alice (Martin) Hanson and Judith Wold, both of Thief River Falls, one brother, Irving Wold of Fergus Falls, two sisters-in-law, Lenore Wold and Verna Wold, both of Thief River Falls, and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Jesse; her parents, two sisters, Myrtle (Hjalmer) Hanson and Bernice (Robert) Trochmann, three brothers, Clarence Wold, Bernard (Evelyn) Wold and Reuben Wold; and one sister-in-law, Esther Wold.

Maurice Newton, 80

Thief River Falls - Maurice Newton, 80, died Sunday, December 21, 1997 at the Hutchinson Memorial Hospital in Hutchinson.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Friday, December 26 at Bethany Lutheran Church, rural Thief River Falls with Reverend Robert Dahlen officiating. Grace Hammer will be the organist, and the soloist will be Mark McGraw. Casketbearers will be Maurice's grandchildren—Ron McGraw, Mark McGraw, Leah Stanke, Bret Newton, Kyle Newton, Matthew Nordhmeier, Aaron Wold, Erika Wold, Adam Wold, Kelly Newton, Ann Newton, Brian Newton and Laura Newton. Burial will be at Immanuels Cemetery in Smiley township of Pennington County.

Visitation will be from 6 to 9 p.m. on Thursday, December 25 at the Green Funeral Home in Thief River Falls with a 7 p.m. prayer service and one hour prior to services at the church on Friday.

Maurice Allan Newton was born September 16, 1917 in Smiley township of Pennington County, the son of Abraham and Anna (Findelund) Newton. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith. He attended rural public School District 30. On January 13, 1942 Maurice entered the United States Naval Service. He served on the USS South Dakota as a 3rd Class Gunner's Mate.

On July 15, 1944 Maurice was united in marriage to Ellen Berggren in Seattle, WA. Following his honorable discharge on September 19, 1945, the couple moved back to the family farm in Smiley township where they farmed and raised their family. In 1969, Maurice started working for Brodin Sheet Metal and worked there until his retirement in 1980. For the past 11 years, Maurice and Ellen have wintered in Arizona.

He enjoyed woodworking, fishing, hunting, reading, watching all sports, and spending time with his wife, family and friends—especially his grandchildren. He had a wonderful sense of humor and a gift for telling stories.

As a 4-H leader, Maurice was active with his children's 4-H projects. He served as a supervisor on the Smiley Township Board and as president of the Smiley Community Club. He was a former council member of Bethany Lutheran Church, a member of the American Legion and a life long member of the VFW of Thief River Falls.

Maurice is survived by his wife, Ellen, five children, Nancy (Rick) McGraw of Hutchinson, Alan (Dianna) Newton of Thief River Falls, Peggy Newton of Montrose, Marcia (Cliff Jr.) Wold of Buffalo and Barry (Paula) Newton of Thief River Falls; 13 grandchildren, four great-grandchildren; and many nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, eight sisters, Andine Newton, Ida Bjorge, Christine Keiser, Agness Wold, Selma "Sally" Bolstad, Theressa Swedberg, Doris Newton and Josephine "Jo" Helgeland and three brothers, Bjorgo, Ole and Arthur.

Selma Melby, 83

Greenbush - Selma Melby, 83, formerly of Gatzke, died Thursday, December 18, 1997 at the Greenbush Nursing Home.

Funeral services were held Monday, December 22 at 11 a.m. at the Olland Lutheran Church of rural Greenbush with Reverend Alan Arneson officiating. Laura Melby was the pianist, and Jeanne Novacek was the vocalist. Casketbearers were Kris and Kurt Wojchowski, Clarence Nelson Jr. and Roger, Wayne and Larry Wojciechowski. Burial was at the Olland Lutheran Cemetery. The Gieseke Funeral Home of Greenbush was in charge of the arrangements.

Selma Georgina Dokken was born August 30, 1914 in Kittson County near Juneberry, the daughter of Gunder and Gena (Anderson) Dokken. She grew up and attended school in Juneberry.

On January 29, 1933 Selma was united in marriage to Hans Melby at Haug. They farmed at Juneberry and later at Haug before moving to Gatzke in 1957. The couple continued to farm at Gatzke. Hans Melby died on September 3, 1966. Selma continued to live on the farm until February 25, 1993 when she moved to the Greenbush Nursing Home.

She will be remembered for her kindness to children, sense of humor and love for music.

Selma is survived by one step-daughter, Emma (John) Lane of Grand Forks, ND; three sons, Gerald (Darlene) Melby of Kandiyohi and Harley and Ronald Melby of Gatzke; three daughters, Odella (Richard) Wojciechowski of Wannaska, Delores (Harley) Wojciechowski of Greenbush and Twyla (Gene) Wojchowski of Greenbush; 26 grandchildren, 52 great-grandchildren, five great-great-grandchildren; one brother, Elmer (Karen) Dokken of Greenbush, two sisters, Tilda Melby and Emma (Millard) Melby, both of Badger, and one special sister-in-law, Edith Melby of Greenbush.

She was preceded in death by her parents, husband, Hans; three grandchildren, three great-great-grandchildren; and two sisters, Olga Melby and Myrtle Hovet.

Amber Garthus, 29

Warroad - Amber Garthus, 29, died Thursday, December 18, 1997 at Fairview University Hospital in Minneapolis after a long battle with cancer.

Funeral services were held Monday, December 22 at 2 p.m. at Nazareth Lutheran Church in Holt with Reverend Nancy Werner officiating. Organist was Yvonne Larson, and Andrew Thiessen was the soloist. Casketbearers were Wayne Garthus, Dean Garthus, Jim Garthus, Kevin Peterson, Mike Johnson and Don Lunke. Burial was at the Holt Cemetery. The Green Funeral Home of Thief River Falls was in charge of the arrangements.

Amber Joy Score was born July 9, 1968 in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada and was adopted as a baby by Severt and Beatrice (Anderson) Score. She was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith. As a young girl, she spent time moving with her family around the upper Midwest. Amber graduated from Edmore High School in Edmore, ND. She worked at the Grafton State School for a couple of years before moving to Warroad where she worked at Marvin Windows.

On August 14, 1993 she was united in marriage to Miles Garthus in Warroad. She continued to live in Warroad and worked at Marvin Windows until her death.

Amber enjoyed camping, reading, swimming, spending time with her husband and children and other family and friends.

She is survived by her husband, Miles, two children, Erica Ward and Nicholas Ward of Warroad; her parents, Severt and Beatrice Score of Cloquet, two brothers, Jon (Danielle) Score of Agoura Hills, CA and Joel Score of Chicago, IL, one sister, Rebecca (Walker) Craig of Simi Valley, CA, her mother-in-law and father-in-law, Jay and Carol Garthus of Holt, two sisters-in-law, Jodi (Don) Lunke of Holt and Leone (Mike) Johnson of Strandquist, and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her grandparents.

Charles "Pake" Wymore, 23

In addition to her husband and parents, Marion was preceded in death by one brother Ole Oseth in 1981.

Q&A SOCIAL SECURITY

Provided by the Social Security District Office in Grand Forks, ND

Q. I will file for retirement in early 1998. What do I need to have available?

A. Specifics will vary depending on the actual application but in general we do not need lots of evidence. You will need to show your birth certificate. Since Social Security cannot accept photocopies or notary stamped copies, you will need to provide a copy which has been certified by the county clerk or state vital statistics. If you were employed or self employed in 1997, you should have your W-2 form or tax return form Schedule SE, assuming it is available, so that we can provide you with credit for your earnings right away. Bank account information such as on a check blank will also be requested so that your SSA benefit can be sent directly to your financial institution. For many employees this is all the evidence needed. Those in self-employment will be asked more detailed questions concerning their plans along the lines of how is the retirees role in the business going to be changing. In addition, everyone will be asked what their retirement plans will be and their expected earnings for 1998 if they intend to keep working in some capacity. This last item is very important as it helps the SSA representative provide you with options as when to start your checks. Someone filing for benefits on the record of someone else, such as a spouse, would have additional evidence to submit. Social Security will return all of your records.

Appointments are definitely encouraged and should be made by calling the national number, 1-800-772-1213, between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. Note that applications can be completed over the telephone. You do not need to actually come into the SSA office.

Q. Can I have a part-time job and still receive my Social Security retirement?

A. Yes. In 1998, a person less than age 65 can have gross wages or net self-employment of $9,120 before the earnings start to lower the SSA amounts payable for the year. A person who is 65 or older in 1998 can earn $14,500 before benefits are lowered and for those past age 70 there is no earnings limitations. Additional exclusions based on monthly earning amounts also exist for those having 1998 as the first year of retirement.

Q. My son is on medical assistance. Does this mean that I cannot have a retirement account?

A. Medical assistance is run through the county social services so I cannot answer this question as written but benefits to a child through the need-based Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program, would not prevent a parent from having an IRA type of savings account.

Did you know: The Social Security Administration has program information available by fax. From a touchtone phone call 1-888-475-7000. A voice menu will lead you through the steps to learn what is available and to request information. You will need to supply a fax number. Approximately 200 pamphlets and factsheets are available. The fax request line operates 24 hours a day and you can request up to three documents on each call. Agency information is also available by calling the national toll-free number 1-800-772-1213 or any local office.

Eight artists participate in exhibit at Roseau library

Eight artists are participating in the traditional Joint December Exhibit at the Roseau public library. A wide variety of art created by adults is displayed throughout the library and dozens of student creations on paper are mounted on the glass lobby wall.

Both two dimensional pictures and three-dimensional forms are included. Potter Peggy Fulton has seven pots on display with each clay piece unique in shape, color and texture.

Anne Oie and Carole Wilson have textiles in their media. Oie's quilt features contrasting blocks of plain and print with a dominantly burgundy color scheme. Wilson exhibits several short vests and a long jacket as examples of her fine weavings.

Frances Karlsson's "Lily Pond" is done in pastels and she has on display from her collection an acrylic forest scene by Bernie Wilebski of Kennedy entitled "Itasca."

Bruce Ritchie shows two new family portraits, one in graphite and one in pastel—Jim and Greta Weisman and Earl and Enid Wilson.

Shelly Grove, who was raised in Grand Forks and studied art there, is a new resident of Roseau county and a first time exhibitor at the library. She favors pointilism, an impressionistic style which began in France. "For Scott" is a pointilistic picture and "Masique" is a silkscreen print.

Annette Hermansen has two small water/landscapes. A mixed media of "A Superior Place" featuring the Lake Superior shoreline, and "Rushing Through the Rockies," a watercolor focusing on a river in Glacier National Park.

The student exhibit was created by 125 Badger elementary school students from kindergarten through sixth grade. They participated in a nine week visiting artist program with Jean Hord of Roseau.

The December exhibit is open for viewing during library hours until December 31. The children's exhibit will be on display until January 10.

WIC program continues success

Minnesota Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) continues to be one of the great success stories of public health. Celebrating its 23rd birthday, the program saves $4.21 in Medicaid costs for every dollar spent on newborns and their mothers enrolled in WIC.

WIC provides quality nutrition education, breastfeeding promotion, education and support, and access to maternal, prenatal and pediatric health care services. In addition, WIC participants spend approximately $4.5 million per month purchasing nutritious foods from grocery stores in their own communities.

In 1998, the program expects to serve an average of 96,000 Minnesota women and children per month. This estimate is based on the federal fiscal year between October of 1997 and September of 1998.

WIC is especially proud of its successes in increasing the number of women who breastfeed and expanding the farmer's market nutrition program. Administered by the Minnesota Department of Health, WIC is a federal program funded primarily by the U.S. Department of Agriculture with additional funding from the Minnesota legislature.

Those eligible to participate in WIC include pregnant women, new mothers, infants and children up to age five. Each participant must be evaluated and found to have special nutrition-related health services. Participants must also live in Minnesota and meet income guidelines.

WIC services are provided through a statewide network of local WIC agencies. For more information about WIC in this area write WIC - Quin County, P.O. Box 190, Red Lake Falls, MN 56750 or call 1-800-223-1591 or 1-218-253-2125.

WIC is an equal opportunity program, in accordance with the policies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture which prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex or handicap. Persons who believe they have been discriminated against should write to the Administrator, Food and Consumer Service, 3101 Park Center Drive, Alexandria, VA 22302.

Christmas is an exciting time of year, whether you are four years old or sixty years old. Of course, it may be for different reasons (I doubt the reason the elderly are excited for Christmas is that Santa's coming), but Christmas means different things for different people. There are many things that shape Christmas: traditions, memories, family, friends, religious beliefs, etc.

I have many great memories from Christmases past. I remember when I still believed in Santa Claus. My sister and I would get so excited that we'd visit the big jolly guy at the Grand Forks mall at least a dozen times to update him on our Christmas desires. We also, just to ensure Santa got it all down and didn't forget anything, made specific lists. We started putting the list together at Thanksgiving and finished around the beginning of December. We would scurry out to the chilly garage in our pink and yellow nighties (the kind with the booties attached) to post the lists on the door. In the morning we peeked and, sure enough, Santa's elves had removed them and were on their way to deliver them.

The night before Christmas we'd make wonderful (in our opinion) cookies for him. We wanted him to retain his strength so he'd be able to efficiently deliver all of the toys for all of us "perfect" children. In the morning Mom and Dad would shake us from our happy, dreamy state and we would leap out of bed like twin shots from a double-barrel shotgun. Down the stairs we would thunder like wild rhinos. We'd check the cookie plate... empty! Santa had come.

Once, during our rowdy rejoicing Dad peered out the window and said, "hey, what is that..."

"What, Dad? What?" A chorus of excited words spurted from our writhing bodies.

We jumped up and down like Mexican jumping beans in front of the frosty window. There appeared to be something in the snow. Dad said that we needed to investigate. We danced into our zipper-up snow suits, mittens, scarfs, boots and face masks for our adventure outside. Clomping like newly shod horses we galloped to the mysterious section of snow. There were miniature indentations in the snow, like tiny hoof-prints, and shavings of carrots were all around. We stood in awe. "Dad, I bet it was reindeer. They were pretty messy eaters, that's for sure," I pondered, carefully analyzing the situation.

For the rest of my life I will remember the bubbling feeling of elation I felt at that minute. Santa Claus WAS real and all my dreams and wishes would come true forever! Ahhh, to be that young and completely out of touch again.

There was one Christmas where Santa came to our house. It was pure chaos. We had another family celebrating Christmas with us, complete with two little children who were about two and four years old. As a jolly rounded Santa burst through our front door bellowing a merry "Ho! Ho! Ho!" the small tots scrunched up their faces, looking like little pigs, and screamed their red faces off. I was so busy covering my ears that I barely remember even talking with the famous guy. After Santa left I looked out the window and saw him drive off in a green, rusty clunker of a car. I turned around and questioned, "Why is Santa driving a car? Where are the reindeer?" I vaguely remember some story about the reindeer being sick.

Our family has many Christmas traditions. My sister and I started our own tradition when we were small and impatient. In the weeks before Christmas, the presents would pile higher and higher under the tree until we couldn't stand it. Starting three days before Christmas Eve, we would whine, whimper and complain, "Couldn't we open just ONE present? Pretty please?" We finally wore our parents down and got the privilege of choosing one gift and opening it.

A more important family tradition we have is reading aloud the story of Jesus' birth. Before going to church on Christmas Eve we eat a huge meal, and before the meal we all fold our hands in our laps and listen quietly to the moving story. Every year we rotate who reads, so everyone gets a chance.

We also have a traditional Christmas dinner. This usually consists of lutefisk (to my dismay), turkey or salmon, mashed potatoes, carrots and sweet soup. Sweet soup is a tradition that mom brought with her from her native country Finland. You cook some rice and put it in a bowl. You pour the sweet soup, which consist of various fruits (apricots, raisins, etc.) over the rice and voila, you have a Finnish tradition. In the soup there is always a hidden nut, and if you're the lucky one who gets it, you eat it and get to make a wish.

Christmas is, indeed, an important time for people. It's so much more than the commercialized presents and tinsel that it's made out to be. It's a special time for giving, hoping, sharing and loving. Enjoy your Christmas and make lots of memories!

THANK YOU

Little did we know when we left home that he would not return.
How suddenly he left this earth and left us here to mourn.
Life is so lonely without him.
We could not say goodbye.
Now that Christmas Time is here,
It's extra hard to bear.
But now he's resting comfortably like he did in his "thinking" chair.

Project JobWrap to assist welfare reform legislation

A partnership including the counties of Marshall, Pennington, Polk, Kittson, Norman, Red Lake and Roseau has received a grant of $548,000 from the McKnight Foundation to fund a response to welfare reform legislation. Polk county has been appointed fiscal agent for the grant which will begin Jan. 1, 1998 and run for two years.

The partnership is called Project JobWrap and was developed with the assistance of a $20,000 McKnight Foundation planning grant coordinated by the Polk-Marshall Family Services Collaborative, Minnesota Extension Service and Minnesota Workforce Centers/Job Service.

Social service directors from the seven counties, along with area employers, educators, clergy, community leaders, public health, mental health and corrections administrators also participated in the planning. Twelve members of the partnership attended a forum sponsored by the McKnight Foundation last Monday.

"Through JobWrap, we expect to interview and allocate 640 former AFDC clients directly into the workforce, into customized educational programs or into the JobWrap process," states Joyce White, Polk-Marshall Family Services Collaborative coordinator and grant preparer.

The JobWrap concept is a method of helping communities develop individualized plans of action and support for individuals entering unfamiliar situations—in this case, the workforce. Many of the clients have years of dependency on welfare as a way of life. One does not move easily from this situation into the workforce.

"People who have not participated in regular employment in the past often lack the personal skills to adjust to the workplace," White added. "Furthermore, the lack of adequate transportation and child-care resources are a major stumbling block to full employment in the rural area, whether or not one has been on welfare support.

"We hope to alleviate some of these problems," she continued, "by building transportation, education and childcare capacity throughout the region. With the provision of $500 start-up grants, we will recruit 72 new childcare providers, many of whom will be available for late afternoon/evening and early morning shift workers. We are also seeking ways to expand the services of Heartland Express and other transportation providers (schools, churches, businesses) into non-traditional service hours." →

Similar capacity building efforts are being taken by many of the partnerships funded by the McKnight Foundation. What is considered unique about Project JobWrap is the emphasis on the wraparound process, wherein the employees are encouraged to develop personal support networks and take responsibility for their own success on the job and in the community.

"We believe that informal supports are more effective than professional services—that they last longer, are more relevant to the employee and are less expensive than governmental support," White said. "JobWrap builds on the unique strengths, values, norms and preferences of the employee, his or her family, the workplace and the community. It is an empowering process in which the employee is given access, voice, ownership and responsibility for the success and/or adjustment of plans and services.

Of primary importance is the fact that the employee and the employer are partners in the plan, with both partners responsible for making their part of the plan work. Services and supports are individualized to meet the needs of both parties. Financial management, time management and personal skill development will be a major part of individual plans, however.

"Getting a job is only the first step," White said. "Persisting in it despite all the obstacles that are sure to arise is the real challenge. It requires the identification of key players in the life of the employee—family, church, neighborhood, co-workers—to form a network of support that creates a sense of community for those who have not already built the types of social networks that contribute to the success of the ordinary worker.

"It's a major shift for all concerned, but thanks to the assistance of the McKnight Foundation, we have both the incentive and the means to make it work," White observed.

Project JobWrap will be guided by a project management team headed by a full-time project director. Members of the team include Jennifer Anderson and Kent Johnson representing the area social service directors, Rev. Michael Dahle, clergy representative, Doug Swedberg (Polaris) and Tom Lenertz (Riverview Healthcare Association), business representatives, Jeanine Windels, United Way and Crookston Chamber of Commerce, Lana Sandahl, Thief River Falls Workforce Center, Kent Ehrenstrom, Tri-Valley Heartland Express, John Schmalenberg, Polk county coordinator, Barb Muesing, University of Minnesota, Carol Gregerson, Northwest Service Cooperative, Julio Espinosa and Shirley Jensen, client advocates, and Deanna Patenaude, Retired Senior Volunteer Program.

Additional members will be recruited from the client population and other interested individuals at a later date.

"We will count our work successful when (1) clients are helped to identify and build their own networks of support, rather than relying on the system, (2) clients use their strengths (including family, neighbors, church, personal determination) to secure and sustain employment, (3) community organizations reach out in new ways to help people build self-respect, and (4) employers view each employee as an investment worth nurturing and improving," White summarized.

For more information about Project JobWrap, contact any members of the transition team: John Schmalenberg (281-5408), Susan Mills (281-6363), Dan Wilson (281-3910) or Kent Johnson (281-3127).

Snowmobilers plan ride to raise MS funds

Roseau County Trailblazers and the Fourtown/Grygla Sportsmen Club are teaming together Saturday, January 3 to sponsor the Trailblazer Frostbite 250 as a benefit for the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Minnesota.

Riders will start either at the Cenex convenience store in Roseau or the Fourtown Store in Fourtown and ride to Roseau, Fourtown, Waskish, Baudette and Warroad. An alternative route is planned in case of minimal snow cover. The event is formed in conjunction with the MS Sno Rally fundraiser.

Riders are encouraged to raise pledges through donations. Prizes will be given to the top fundraisers and each participant will receive a 1998 MS Sno Rally hat and pin.

Proceeds from the rally support national research and such programs as counseling, support groups, referrals to community services, equipment assistance, educational events, therapeutic recreational activities and advocacy.

union. If they were to go on strike that would leave four supervisors to handle financial services, child support, social work and accounting.

[illegible] said they plan to continue to try to negotiate with the county board representatives.

Naplin said their next meeting is not until January 7.

The social service employees' window to strike ends on January 8. If they desire the authority to go on strike after that they would have to apply for an extension from the state mediation board.

Christmas at Telemarken is December 28

Annual Christmas at Telemarken program will be held Sunday, December 28, at 2:30 p.m. at Telemarken Lutheran Church located seven miles southwest of Goodridge or 13 miles east of Thief River Falls on Highway 1 and two miles south.

The program will consist of recitations, readings, special musical numbers and audience carol singing according to Rev. Raynard Huglen, pastor. A brief meditation will be given by Rev. Terry Olson of Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls.

Following the program a fellowship lunch of Christmas baked goods, coffee and hot cider will be served. Everyone is invited to attend the program.

Three area students take part in BSU Madrigal Dinners

Three students from area communities participated recently in the 29th annual Madrigal Dinners presented by the music department of Bemidji State University.

Dana McGeary of Oklee, a graduate of Lincoln high school and a junior social work major, played a cellarkeeper. Joe Linder of Plummer, a freshman music major, played a troubadour. Sarah Ryan of rural Thief River Falls, a junior music major, was a soprano in the royal court.

A representation of a 15th Century Yuletide feast, the Madrigal Dinners combine musical, visual, dramatic and culinary arts into a performance that has become a holiday tradition in both Bemidji and the Twin Cities. The dinners have also been presented in Washington, Wisconsin and New York.

In a spirit of helping the poor, homeless and hungry, students from pre-kindergarten through fifth grade at St. Bernard's school in Thief River Falls have been collecting spare change throughout December to purchase items needed by Care and Share, a shelter for refugees and homeless in Crookston. These collections and proceeds from the student council bake sale provided $450 to purchase such items as brooms, mops, dish soap, blankets, baby sleepers, paint, washcloths, bath towels, socks, t-shirts and many other items. During the last week of school, students in first through fifth grades walked downtown to purchase the items on their special gift list and then wrapped them for delivery at Care and Share just before Christmas. In the photo above, some of the students are pictured with their purchases at the JC Penney store.

tion, and storm sewer manholes and piping.

Treihwasser recommended that contracts be awarded for a total of $1,651,272. Previously, the board had awarded contracts totaling $510,860. With $2,254,787 available for the project, that leaves a budget excess of $92,655.

Joint Powers board members were pleased. Darla Twinney, representative from School District 564 exclaimed that it was a nice Christmas present and finally some good news.

There was some discussion about an apparent low bidder on the general construction of the Phase I building. Upon investigation, Treihwasser said he did not think this low bidder was the "lowest responsible bidder." He recommended that the bid of Stamson and Blair be approved instead. The board agreed.

The joint powers board approved a recommendation to the state to approve the bid of Stamson and Blair on the Phase I building and award bids to the following low bidders: Lee Plumbing and Heating, Peterson Sheet Metal, Ebert and Hinson Fire Protection, Naylor Electric, Northern Paving Inc., Atlas Trac and Tennis, Midwest Tennis and Track, and Greener Plains Contracting. The state will review the bids and recommendation and announce its decision later.

Thursday the joint powers board also reviewed a plan to address what isn't included in recent Phase I bids. What's not included — stadium bleachers, including cement base and fencing, a press box, service sidewalks, scoreboard, concessions building and storage, lighting for the baseball and softball field, recreational soccer fields, four tennis courts, paved asphalt parking lot, and lighting for the parking lot. The total cost of these elements of Phase I not included in the recent bids is estimated at $1.15 million.

Jim Burkholder, a local citizen, wanted to know how the joint powers board was going to address those needs. In addition, he commented that the project really hadn't come in under estimates at all.

Dr. Orley Gunderson, joint powers board chairman and president of Northland Community and Technical College, explained that originally Phase I design did include these elements. Due to the construction "environment", which referred to the construction demands in Grand Forks, the board knew they had to set some of the Phase I items aside temporarily. He concluded that what really happened was that the project was underfunded. They plan to fund the unfunded elements of the project from private fund-raising.

The State of Minnesota funded the project to the tune of about $3.1 million. In-kind matching funds from participating government units brought the total to $4.1 million. Total funds available for construction, however, is $2,254,787. Contributions from participating governmental agencies were "in-kind", which includes a state approved variety of services and work done by the local governmental agencies. What happened to the remaining $800,000?

Rick Nelson, a project coordinator, explained that he would get the board a break-down on that $800,000. But, he said, the money went for things like construction management fees, liability insurance, contingency fund, required art elements, surveys, liability insurance, building permits and a host of other costs. Nelson said he hopes to have the list to the board before a public informational meeting is held sometime in February.

The board is hoping for public input prior to the meeting so that they can answer everyone's questions. Anyone with questions is asked to submit the questions to Dr. Orley Gunderson at Northland Community and Technical College, 1101 Highway 1 East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Electric power deregulation explained to Senior Federation

(1) A more level playing field where all participants would have the same regulations and tax liabilities;

(2) Equalization of the differential tax rate paid by electric companies which puts electric customers at a disadvantage;

(3) Recognition of the stranded cost to electric companies which built facilities to meet a power need and then would have that power need served by another company, and

(4) Everyone comes into the program at the same time so all have the same regulations which apply.

Wasberg said that education of the customer is important as is the need for safety and reliability of electrical service.

On January 1, it was noted, the state of California will be deregulated on a statewide basis—the first state to do so. The legislature in California has mandated a 10 percent reduction in electric rates across the board.

Dave Loer said that Minnkota is a consumer owned company and it is difficult to be opposed to deregulation that is portrayed to offer consumers a choice in their electric supplier.

While he personally doesn't like the idea of deregulation, he said, Minnkota is preparing itself for it. The cooperative has adopted the policy that if the customers want it and if the customers will benefit from it, Minnkota will support it. A target date to be ready for deregulation has been established as the year 2003.

Loer said there will be some valuable experience to benefit from as experiments are made by states with deregulation. Some expensive mistakes will be made, he said, but there will be good and bad examples of what deregulation can provide. He advocated going slow enough in the process to learn from those examples.

While consumers in this area are concerned about an adequate power supply and reliability, he said, big business is interested primarily in cost. And big business stands to gain substantially from deregulation as it could shop around for its power supplier anywhere in the country.

Loer and Wasberg emphasized that although they are in a sense competitors and organized under a separate philosophy and type of operation, they work cooperatively for the joint benefit of their customers. Neither has had a rate increase for more than a decade, showing that they have been cost conscious for their customers, and they even share generating facilities to help reduce power costs.

Putting his finger on the heart of the issue from the standpoint of Minnesota consumers in small communities and rural areas, Loer asked: "If you live in a state with low cost electricity, why would you want to average with a high cost area?"

The same reasoning applies to choice of power suppliers. If large customers are able to negotiate for lower rates, won't smaller customers have to pay higher rates to equalize the reduced revenue to the companies?

One of the efforts being made by Minnkota and other power suppliers is known as "unbundling." This refers to separation of operations into power generation, electric transmission and electrical distribution, so that costs can properly be allocated to each phase of the business.

"I have been with Minnkota for 30 years and never in that time have I seen as many changes on the table as we must concern ourselves with as in the past two or three years," Loer told those at the meeting.

Al Sollom, president of the Minnesota Senior Federation, who presided at the meeting, thanked the representatives for their presentations and information. He said the public must be made more aware of what is being discussed legislatively at the present time regarding potential changes in electrical service which would affect everyone in the nation.

MN DNR holds meetings on wolf management result.

"To satisfy the Federal recovery plan goals, the second population in Wisconsin and Michigan needs to exceed 100 wolves for five consecutive years," said Mike DonCarlos, DNR Furbearer Specialist. "Wolves exceeded the 100 threshold in 1994 and have dramatically increased their numbers since then. There were more than 250 in 1997. It is almost certain that wolf numbers will continue to increase in Wisconsin and Michigan, as well as in Minnesota. By early 1999, all recovery goals will be met and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service can consider removing the wolf from the Federal Endangered Species list."

In the event that the wolf is removed from the Federal listing, the DNR will assume primary responsibility for wolf management in Minnesota. But even after removal from the list, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will probably require minimum numbers of wolves in each of the three states to ensure that recovered wolf populations do not relapse.

Most of the management goals and methods, however, will be the states' responsibility. The Minnesota DNR wants to develop a management plan before federal government action on delisting so that the state is prepared to assume this important responsibility.

The biological concerns and options in Minnesota's wolf management plan may prove to be the simplest issues to address. "The wolf is the most "studied" animal in Minnesota," said Berg. "We have the tools to responsibly manage this species."

DonCarlos agrees, adding, "The wolf has become symbolic to many people. Addressing the social issues resulting from strongly divergent views of the wolf will be the greatest challenge in developing a state management plan."

The first step in the planning process is the public information meetings in January 1998. Following these meetings, the DNR will organize a roundtable process bringing together representatives of diverse viewpoints on wolf management. Members of the roundtable will include government agencies, environmental groups, agricultural groups, sports organizations, and wolf advocate groups to ensure that all views on wolves are heard. The Minnesota Bureau of Mediation Services will facilitate the roundtable meetings. The DNR intends to have a draft wolf management plan completed by the end of 1998.

Meetings will be held at the following locations:

- Thief River Falls at Northland Community and Technical College auditorium, Monday, January 5, from 1 to 3 p.m.;
- Warroad High School Mini Theater on Monday, January 5, from 7 to 9 p.m.;
- International Falls at the Rainy River Community College on Tuesday, January 6, from 7 to 9 p.m.;

Sen. Stumpf plan would control number of wolves

State Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Thief River Falls has announced plans to introduce legislation in 1998 to control the number of wolves in Minnesota.

"I've heard from many constituents that wolves are menacing livestock and deer and have become a nuisance," Sen. Stumpf said. "Wolf populations are high enough now that we should start reducing their numbers."

Wolves were placed on the federal Endangered Species list in 1973 and were upgraded to a Threatened Species in 1978. Federal environmental law supersedes state law, and so wolves can't be hunted in Minnesota until after the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) removes wolves from the Threatened Species list. Because of the rapidly growing population of wolves, however, officials at the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) are likely to recommend delisting to the USFWS.

According to Bill Berg, DNR research biologist and wolf expert, the wolf population likely reached the federally set minimum population goal of 1,251 wolves in the late 1970s or early 1980s. Officials in the DNR now estimate the wolf population at 2,000 to 2,500 animals. A more detailed census is scheduled to be undertaken by the DNR this winter.

The Stumpf bill would give the DNR the responsibility and necessary authority to manage the state's wolf population. Stumpf said he is considering several different methods of population management which would involve citizens being able to hunt wolves. Further research is being done to see how other states manage wildlife populations, and Sen. Stumpf says he has not ruled out any approach.

Another aspect of the Stumpf bill would raise state payments to farmers who lose livestock to wolf attacks. Under the current wolf depredation program run by the state, farmers only qualify for $400 in compensation for their losses to wolves. The program was initiated by the state in 1977 and the reimbursement level hasn't been raised since then.

"I had one constituent contact me after losing a full-grown Simmental cow to a wolf attack," Sen. Stumpf said. "The cow was worth well over the $400 he will get from the state. We should have raised the reimbursement a long time ago."

As part of the wolf delisting process, the DNR has scheduled a number of public information meetings on wolves throughout the state. In this area community meetings will take place January 5 from 1 to 3 p.m. at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls; from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Warroad high school mini-theater; and January 6 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Rainy River Community College in International Falls.

"It is very important that people get out to these meetings and tell the DNR how they feel about taking wolves off the Threatened Species list," Sen. Stumpf said. "This is our best chance in years to gain control over the wolf population in our area."

Advance Sign Co. named graphic supplier for Arctic

Arctic Cat, Inc. has named Advance Sign Co. of Thief River Falls as the official graphic supplier for Team Arctic, the Arctic Cat factory snowmobile race effort.

Brenden Wilde, owner of Advance Sign Co., has already been at work for the factory team and says he is excited about the upcoming race season.

Wilde has operated the Thief River Falls based company since 1996. His business specializes in vinyl graphics and commercial signage and has been a graphic supplier for top race cat drivers in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Montana and Texas and also Canada and Japan. Wilde says in the future his business will expand to include clothing graphics design.

In the new agreement between Team Arctic and Advance Sign Co., Wilde will be the official graphic designer of Arctic Cat racers Kirk Hibbert, Brad Pake, Brian Sturgeon, Jesse Strege and Tiny Taggart.

Roger Evenson attends Sears DealerFest '97

Roger Evenson, owner and operator of the Sears Retail Store in Thief River Falls, recently attended DealerFest '97, an annual four-day training seminar held in Chicago.

Former University of Notre Dame Head Football Coach Lou Holtz and home improvement expert Bob Vila were this year's honored guests at the event.

In addition to addresses by the honored guests, key manufacturers were on hand to provide product training and demonstrations.

Store owners were also introduced to a number of new product highlights.

Hallock firm completes their independent review

Dahl, Hatton, Muir & Reese, Ltd. of Hallock announced recently that it has successfully completed a rigorous peer review of its accounting and auditing practice.

Reviewers concluded that the firm complies with the stringent quality control standards set by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and endorsed by the Minnesota Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Dahl, Hatton, Muir & Reese, Ltd. serves clients throughout northwestern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota. The firm provides a full range of services and specializes in agricultural taxation.

Todd Gerber new officer at Norwest

Roger Reuter, president of Norwest Bank, announces the appointment of Todd Gerber as business banking officer. Gerber will assume his duties on January 5, 1998 and will replace Wade Ekder who left the bank last month.

Presently a business banker at Norwest Bank of Mandan, ND, Gerber is a 1994 graduate of the University of North Dakota with a bachelors degree in accounting. While living in Mandan, he was active in the community and belonged to the Lions Club. Gerber is single and enjoys golf, hunting and auto racing.

Jeff Scramstad completes work with the Marines

Marine Capt. Jeffery O. Scramstad, son of Harry E. and Judy M. Scramstad of Middle River, recently visited Singapore while on a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific Ocean with the 13th Marine Expeditionary Unit (MEU), embarked aboard the ships of the USS Peleliu Amphibious Ready Group.

During the port visit, Marines from Scramstad's unit participated in a community relations project at a boys and girls brigade camp. Working with minimal equipment in the hot and humid climate, the Marines dismantled a cabin piece by piece, moved the pieces and rebuilt them at the new location on the campsite.

Scramstad's unit is an expeditionary intervention force with the ability to rapidly organize for combat operations in virtually any environment. MEUs are composed of more than 2,000 personnel and are divided into an infantry battalion, an aircraft squadron, a support group and a command element. With the combination of these teams, Scramstad's unit supplies and sustains itself for either quick mission accomplishment or clearing the way for follow-on forces.

The 1981 graduate of Middle River High School joined the Marine Corps in October 1990. Scramstad is a 1989 graduate of the University of Minnesota with a BA degree.

Jared Sunsdahl completes basic military training

Army Pvt. Jared J. Sunsdahl has graduated from One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at Fort Knox, KY. The training combines basic military training and advanced individual training.

The first eight weeks of initial entry training (IET) include drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

During the final seven weeks, soldiers received advanced individual training (AIT) as cavalry scouts. The training includes subjects and instructions to operate, maintain and fire M2/M3 Bradley fighting vehicles, call and adjust fire on enemy targets, recognize friendly and threat vehicles, call and adjust fire on enemy missions, perform foot patrols, conduct land navigation, locate and neutralize mines, and operate and maintain scout vehicles.

Sunsdahl is the son of Gerald L. Sunsdahl of rural Goodridge, and Christie A. Meck of rural Warroad.

He is a 1997 graduate of Goodridge High School.

Brian St. George completes naval course in Connecticut

Navy Fireman Recruit Brian J. St. George, son of Bradley St. George of Thief River Falls, recently graduated from basic enlisted submarine course at the Naval Submarine School in Groton, CN.

During the five-week course, St. George learned the basic theory, construction, and operation of nuclear-powered submarines. St. George also learned ship board organization, damage control, and submarine safety and escape procedures.

St. George participated in hands-on training with reality simulators, practicing firefighting and flood control on board a submarine. St. George also learned about a submarine's basic hydraulic, water and air systems, and practiced escaping from a simulated sinking submarine.

With nearly 50 percent of the Navy's ships and submarines deployed at any given time, St. George will spend roughly a quarter of his first enlistment at sea.

As a graduate of the basic enlisted submarine course, St. George demonstrates his tremendous ability to excel in an elite underwater force. Whether assigned to ships, squadrons or shore commands around the world, men and women like St. George are making a difference as they work to improve their knowledge and skill as part of the most highly technical naval force in history.

The 1995 graduate of Benton High School of Benton, IL, joined the Navy in July 1997.

Eileen Erlandson Day

Cheryl came down from the "hill" on Friday to help get the Community Center ready for what we hoped would be a good day for Eileen Erlandson on Saturday. We didn't dare to imagine how big it would be. Bernice and Mavis came early with containers of dough and soon we could smell lefse baking. Elmer was there to help with the baking. Debbie also helped. Eleanor Sundquist was ready to add butter and sugar and Sarah collected the money and we were happy to have a chance at getting lefse of the finest taste and quality. Elmer had another duty, she made arrangements for matching funds up to $400.00 from A A L #9635. The ladies in the kitchen were really kept busy cooking coffee and making sandwiches to serve with the coffee and goodies. Soon the two "Vernons" showed up with their instruments to entertain us which put us all in a festive mood. It was a beautiful day and the roads were good. People started moving from all directions.

The Christmas spirit of caring and sharing had moved [illegible] and the people gave generously. We are so thankful for all the people who came and took time for a cup of coffee and to visit with friends many of them traveled so many miles to be with us. Along in the afternoon the Bar B Que was gone and the lefse dough all used up. After way over a hundred lefse had been made by the lefse makers. By that time it was time for them to rest their weary arms. Then we turned the money box over to the Erlandsons and we hope besides a financial boost it may give Eileen some help in a healing process knowing so many people wish her well.

Newfolden

Wednesday afternoon Arnold and Vernice Larson visited and enjoyed coffee with Hanna Moen.

Harvey Skyberg visited and had coffee and goodies with Carl and Ethne Thompson last Monday.

Cheryl Koshzinski visited Pearl Johnson late Sunday afternoon and attended the kindergarten Christmas program in which their grandson participated and visited at the Dale and Ericka Opdahl home.

SHOP THIEF RIVER FALLS

TRF proposes to increase the size of waste ponds

Thief River Falls is proposing to upgrade the waste disposal system by raising the depths of each of its three pond cells by two feet. Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) water quality division is accepting comments about the proposal from December 15 to January 14.

Thief River Falls current permit was issued on December 22, 1994. It will expire on September 30, 1999, but the city is proposing to raise the depths of each pond cell by two feet. According to a description of the facility and reason for this request, the three pond system was designed to treat an average wet weather influent flow of up to 1,400,000 gallons per day. For the past 12 months, however, the average influent flow has been 1,595,167. The heavy rains in the early spring of 1997 accounted for the higher than average flows for the year.

It is hoped that by raising the depths of the three pond cells by two feet, they will be able to operate within design capacities. Raising the dikes will increase capacity from 1.4 million gallons per day to 2.14 million gallons per day in the winter period, and [illegible] million gallons per day in the summer.

According to the notice sent to The Times, MPCA has made a preliminary determination to modify its permit for a term of about one year and nine months. The city requested the modification to incorporate the construction of two feet of additional dike height in all three pond cells.

Anyone wishing to submit written comments on the conditions of the permit or preliminary determination should be submitted before January 14, 1998 to Nancy [illegible], Point Source Compliance Section, Water Quality Division, Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, 520 Lafayette Road North, St. Paul MN 55155-4194. Written comments must include the following: a statement of your interest in the permit application or the draft permit, a statement of the action you wish the MPCA to take, including specific references to sections of the draft permit that you believe should be changed and the reasons supporting your position, stated with sufficient specificity as to allow the commissioner to investigate the merits of your position.

Turkey council seeks candidates for board seats

Minnesota Turkey Research and Promotion Council is currently seeking candidates for five positions on its board of directors.

Board members must be turkey industry representatives willing to serve as leaders and advocates for the Minnesota turkey industry and to work to improve its profitability and viability. To be considered, a person must share in the profits and risk the loss from producing turkeys during the current or preceding marketing year.

Directors are elected to three one-year terms and the board meets approximately eight times throughout the year.

The following positions are open:

- Region 2 Representative — Any candidate active in turkey breeding or production, living in the counties of Big Stone, Brown, Chippewa, Cottonwood, Douglas, Grant, Jackson, Kandiyohi, Lac Qui Parle, Lincoln, Lyon, Martin, Murray, Nobles, Otter Tail, Pipestone, Pope, Redwood, Renville, Rock, Stevens, Swift, Traverse, Watonwan, Wilkin, or Yellow Medicine.
- Integrator (3 positions) — Any turkey processor from any part of the state is eligible.
- At-Large Grower — Any turkey grower from any part of the state is eligible.

Interested candidates should contact the Council offices by calling 612-646-4553. Nominations will be taken until December 31, and elections will take place by mail ballot in January.

NCTC women take crown

■ Pioneers beat Hibbing, Mesabi in invitational

There was a considerable difference in the final point spreads, but the host Pioneers nevertheless came up with two wins and the title at the 1997 Northland Invitational women's basketball tournament that matched them against Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division foes Hibbing, Itasca and Mesabi.

Northland opened the Friday-Saturday tournament with an 84-51 rout of Hibbing and closed it with a 60-59 nail-biter over Mesabi.

The two wins allowed Northland to reach .500 at 3-3 heading into the holiday break. The Pioneers will be idle until a Tuesday, Jan. 6, match-up with Minot State University-Bottineau in Thief River Falls – a final nonconference tune-up before they start MCCC play with a Jan. 9-10 weekend trip to Mesabi and Vermilion.

Girls high school basketball tournament...

RLCC wins Northland title

Red Lake County Central turned some heads Thursday by beating Tri-County 43-40 in overtime to win the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational girls high school basketball tournament.

The unbeaten Wildcats, ranked No. 2 in the Class A state poll, trounced the Mustangs 80-44 in the 1997-98 season opener. But Red Lake County Central was missing two starters at the time due to Minnesota State High School League rules violations. In the rematch, it was Tri-County at less than full strength with starting guard Afton Hanson sidelined by an injury suffered earlier in the tournament.

Red Lake County Central is the third winner in the three-year history of the event, which began with a Thief River Falls title in 1995 and included a Badger/Greenbush-Middle River victory in 1996.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River beat Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke 50-35 in the third place game, Thief River Falls picked up a 55-25 consolation final win over Marshall County Central and Stephen-Argyle turned aside Kittson County North 46-32 in the seventh place game.

Red Lake Co. Central 43
Tri-County 40

Red Lake County Central saw a game-long lead disappear in the fourth quarter, but the Mustangs answered the challenge in overtime to upset Tri-County 43-40 for the title.

Angie Chervestad scored 17 points, Sylvia Hilgeman 11 and Katie O'Neill 10 for the winners, who had quarter leads of 10-7, 18-16 and 29-23.

A pair of fourth quarter 3-point baskets by Krista Bogestad rallied the Wildcats to a 35-35 regulation time tie. A couple of baskets, plus a free throw, by Hilgeman gave Red Lake County Central the upper hand in overtime.

Krista Bogestad scored 13 of her game-high 20 points in the fourth quarter and overtime. Anna Bogestad added 10 points to the Wildcats' attack.

Red Lake County Central is 5-3.

Thief River Falls 55
Marshall Co. Central 25

Thief River Falls forced Marshall County Central into a rash of first-quarter turnovers, producing a 14-3 lead and sending the Prowlers on their way to a 55-25 consolation final victory over the Nordics.

It was 30-12 at halftime and 43-17 through three quarters.

Nicole Kopp scored all 15 of her game-high points in the first half for the Prowlers. She was the game's only double figure scorer.

Thief River Falls is 3-5 heading into the holiday break. Marshall County Central, coached by former Prowler Alice (Dimmer) Dahl, is 1-5.

Kittson Co. North 32

Stephen-Argyle pulled away in the third quarter for a 46-32 seventh place game win over Kittson County North.

The Storm, led by Angie Jensen's 14 points, had quarter leads of 16-13, 24-19 and 36-23.

Kendra Hunter of Kittson County North led all scorers with 17 points.

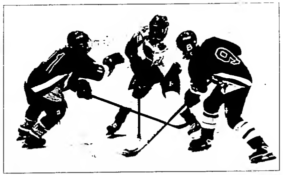
Tiffany Bring of Marshall County Central tried to drive past Thief River Falls defender Becky Mooney during the consolation final at the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational girls high school basketball tournament. The Prowlers beat the Nordics 55-25.



Two Bemidji players closed in on Thief River Falls' Jeff Rislov during Friday's high school hockey game at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Fighting Rislov for the puck were Eric Scotland (11) and Mike Wambach (9). The Lumberjacks beat the Prowlers 4-2.

Bemidji 4-2 winner over TRF

Scott Bergland had hoped to hand the community an early Christmas present. But the package did not arrive in time, and the first-year Thief River Falls head high school hockey coach was left with only a simple holiday greeting for the fans. "Tell everyone in Thief River Falls that Coach Bergland wishes them all a Merry Christmas," he said Friday following the Prowlers' 4-2 loss to Bemidji at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center.

He was hoping to be able to offer Thief River Falls first win as an early present. The Prowlers played well – probably one of their better efforts of the season, hinted Bergland, but still wound up with a 4-2 loss that dropped them to 0-8.

"We played as well as we're capable of playing," said Bergland. "We have nothing to hang our heads about in this one. Everyone played hard."

The Prowlers deserve better fate, according to Bergland. "In five of the eight games, we've played pretty well," he said. "Tonight we were an eyelash off on an offside."

The offside Bergland was referring to came in the final seconds of the second period. Wade Chiodo, who split the Bemidji defense with a burst of speed to score a power play goal that tied the game 1-1 at 12:21, was in alone again for an apparent go-ahead goal at 14:58. But an over-the-close offside whistle killed the play.

"It was close," said Bergland of the offside, "but the official was in good position to make the call."

A quick 12 seconds into the third period, Thief River Falls sophomore goalie Mike Dowers stopped Bemidji's Joe Motzko's clean shorthanded breakaway with a big pad save, but the Lumberjacks were back on top of him again at 1:05 when Dan Fallon got behind the defense and scored for a 2-1 lead.

A bouncing puck on a rebound in traffic in front of Bemidji goalie Jim Schoonover was picked up by the Prowlers' Craig Lawrence, who put the puck over the fallen netminder for a 2-2 tie at 5:53.

It remained deadlocked until a Thief River Falls center ice turnover led to a Mike Wambach power play goal at 12:09. Wambach, a defenseman who had opened the scoring at 6:06 of the first period, took a feed in the slot and connected on a high hand one.

Thief River Falls called a time out to plot strategy for a final minute shot at a tie, but Dowers never got a chance to head for the bench for an extra attacker. A breakout pass to initiate the play was intercepted by Motzko, who came in alone to ice it at 14:11.

Dowers finished with 28 saves, Schoonover had 21.

The Prowlers will be idle until the Dec. 29-31 Holiday Classic – a six-team, pre-arranged series of match-ups that take place at East Grand Forks Monday, Crookston Tuesday and Thief River Falls Wednesday. The Prowlers will be meeting Red Lake Falls at 3:30 p.m. on Day 1, Mesabi East at 5:45 p.m. on Day 2 day and Grafton at 5 p.m. on Day 3.

TRF swimmers lose dual meets against Bemidji, Crookston

Bemidji and Crookston handed the Thief River Falls boys high school swim team a pair of losses in the Prowlers' first dual meet outings of the 1997-98 season.

The host Lumberjacks collected a 95-64 Tuesday (Dec. 16) victory. The Pirates picked up a similar 87-65 Thursday win at the Franklin Middle School pool.

Bemidji clinched its win with a 95-32 lead after the 200 freestyle, and swam exhibition races in the final three events – the 100 backstroke, 100 breaststroke, 400 freestyle relay.

Thief River Falls' lone victory before Bemidji's late-meet moves came from Zach Olson with a 5:28.04 in the 500 freestyle.

The Prowlers won a pair of races against Crookston, with Rory Hoven going 1:00.81 in the 100 freestyle, while Collin Browning, Cody Sorvig, Hoven and Olson combined for a 1:49.45 in the 200 freestyle relay.

Detroit Lakes tops cold-shooting TRF

A poor shooting night sabotaged Thief River Falls' best chance to date to break into the win column Saturday as the Prowlers lost a 44-43 boys high school basketball game to Detroit Lakes.

It was the fifth straight loss to start the season for the Prowlers, who will be idle until hosting the annual Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic Dec. 29-31.

With the ball going in the hole, the Thief River Falls grabbed an 18-11 first quarter lead against the visiting Lakers. But when the shots quit falling, the Prowlers' point production was cut in half. They shot just 33 percent from the field (17/51) and only 41 percent at the free throw line (7/17).

Thief River Falls' quarter scoring never hit double figures after the first eight minutes, although the Prowlers managed to take a 27-22 lead into intermission and trailed just 36-35 at the final stop.

There was a chance to pull it out at the end, too, after Thief River Falls controlled the rebound following a missed Detroit Lakes free throw with 12 seconds to play. But two game-ending shots were off the mark – a two-pointer for a tie and a desperation trey at the buzzer.

Thief River Falls' improved play was reflected in the Prowlers' season-low eight turnovers.

Adam Stensgaard and Ryan Kotta led the Lakers with 17 and 16 points, respectively. A 10-point effort by Jeremy Swanson was the Prowlers' only double figure performance.

Gators first half play nets win over Storm

■ B/G-MR boys win 63-50

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River boys put together 16 minutes of top-notch high school basketball Friday, and that was enough to carry the visiting Gators past Stephen-Argyle 63-50.

The winners turned an 18-14 first quarter lead into a 35-22 halftime advantage. The Storm narrowed the gap to 45-38 in the third quarter, but lost ground down the stretch.

"We played real good basketball in the first half," reported Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby. "It was a real solid first half. In the third quarter, we went to sleep; we just didn't take care of the basketball."

Balanced Badger/Greenbush-Middle River scoring, a season-long character for the Gators, featured six players scoring between 8 to 13 points, with Andy Schenkey leading the way. Reece Setterholm paced Stephen-Argyle with 14 points.

The Gators were 26-for-66 from the field (39 percent) and 6-for-9 at the free throw line. The Storm went 18-for-50 from the floor (36 percent) and 10-for-14 at the line. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River finished with a 38-33 rebound edge. Stephen-Argyle led a busy turnover night, 23-20.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River will take a 3-1 record into the Thief River Falls Russ Smith Holiday Classic Dec. 29-31.

Anderson earns honors

Keith Anderson, a St. Cloud State University freshman wing from Thief River Falls, was named WCHA Rookie of the Week following the Huskies 2-1, 4-1 weekend hockey sweep of Minnesota.

Anderson scored the game-winning goal and added an assist in the second-game victory to earn the award.

It was a clean sweep of the weekly WCHA honors for the first place Huskies, with Jason Goulet, a junior wing from Warroad, being named Offensive Player of the Week and Brian Leitza, a senior goalie from Lake Villa, IL, named Defensive Player of the Week.

Wilebski is selected

Northland Community and Technical College sophomore center Naomi Wilebski was named Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division Women's Basketball Player of the Week following her play in the Pioneers' Northland Invitational.

Wilebski, a Kittson County North product, was named the MVP in the tournament, won by the Pioneers with victories over Hibbing 84-51 and Mesabi 60-59.

Sanden is featured

Thief River Falls' Kyle Sanden is continuing his role as the starting center for the University of Minnesota men's basketball team.

The 6-11 redshirt freshman was featured in the Gophers Profile portion of the Clem Haskins Show that preceded the Minnesota vs. Sacramento State game on MSC-TV Monday.

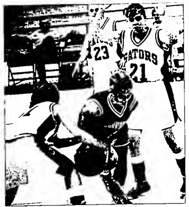
Haskins, assistant coach Bobby Jones and teammate Miles Tarver all cited Sanden's outside shooting touch as a real plus for a player of his size.

"Kyle has a very good shot on the perimeter," said Jones on the show. "He's more of a perimeter player than a post player right now. Kyle will be more effective when he's able to play with a true center. He's more of a power forward than a center."

"Kyle is working hard to improve every day," added Haskins, the Gophers' head coach. "He's got talent rarely seen in a big guy – that soft touch from 12-to-15 feet out."

Sanden is getting his minutes, but is averaging just 3.7 points per game.

Minnesota closes out its non-conference schedule at home Sunday against Florida Atlantic. The Gophers begin Big Ten play Jan. 2 against Purdue in Minneapolis.



Kara Kuznia of Badger/Greenbush-Middle River (left) reached in to tie up Jennicca Gallagher of Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, who was trying to drive to the basket, during the third place game of the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational girls high school basketball tournament. Stefanie Sparby (21) and Tiffany Hagen (23) of the Gators looked on. Badger/Greenbush-Middle River won 50-35.

Close losses haunt Grygla-Gatzke boys

Grygla-Gatzke began the 1997-98 boys high school basketball season with a pair of wins, but Saturday the Eagles suffered their third straight frustrating close loss. This time it was a 60-57 setback at home against Warroad, which came on the heels of an overtime loss to East Grand Forks Sacred Heart and a one-point defeat at the hands of Goodridge at the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational.

"It's getting to be tough on the kids," said Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson, who watched his team fall short in a come-from-behind effort against Warroad.

After playing Warroad to a 10-10 first quarter draw, Grygla-Gatzke fell behind 30-20 at halftime and trailed 44-30 at the third stop before putting together a 27-point fourth quarter.

"We dug ourselves a hole in the second quarter and at the start of the third quarter," explained Johnson. "Warroad took it to us, and we were back on our heels."

The Eagles' late-game rally included a potential game-tying 3-point shot at the buzzer that was off the mark.

"We had a great fourth quarter run," noted Johnson. "The kids really came back. It was a complete reversal from our play earlier in the game."

Game-high scoring honors went to the Eagles' Alex Anderson with 22 points. Despite spending part of the game on the bench due to foul trouble, Philip Brateng of Grygla-Gatzke put together a 19-point, 13-rebound performance. Andrew Sundberg combined with Brateng to help the Eagles control the boards with an 11-rebound effort.

"We really took care of the offensive boards," pointed out Johnson, whose team won the rebound battle 40-24.

But the Eagles shot only 25 percent from the field (17/68) and just 50 percent at the free throw line (16/32). Warroad shot 49 percent from the floor (25/51), but had trouble putting the game away because of a 9-for-23 free throw showing.

Turnover figures were low on both sides, a figure topped by the Eagles 10-6.

A trophy-size walleye was landed by 10-year-old Magan Klemmetsen of Holt on a recent ice fishing trip to Lake of the Woods. A veteran Lake of the Woods summer time angler, she made her first-ever ice fishing trip to the lake a memorable experience by catching this 10-pound, 6-ounce prize. Fishing partners were her grandfather, Walter Steinhauer, and father, Jim, who would not comment on their Dec. 6 catch. They were fishing at Zipple Bay.

MCC holds off RLCC, 62-58

Marshall County Central built a 12-point lead, then held off a Red Lake County Central comeback Friday as the Nordics edged the Mustangs 62-58 in a boys high school basketball game at Plummer.

Red Lake County Central started with a 15-6 first quarter lead, but Marshall County Central was up 25-24 at halftime, and the Nordics doubled the Mustangs 20-10 in the third quarter to open a 45-34 spread.

"I thought we played pretty well," said Red Lake County Central coach Chris McLean. "They (Nordics) did a good job shooting the ball in the third quarter, and we didn't do such a good job defending those shots."

Red Lake County Central battled back, but the rally was cut short when a drive to the basket with 1:09 left in a three point game was ruled a charging foul on the Mustangs.

Mark Lorenson of Red Lake County Central led all scorers with a 28-point night that included a half-dozen 3-pointers. Teammate Nick Waldal added 17 to the Mustangs' offense.

The Nordics countered with a balanced attack as Jon Domarski netted 15 points, Matt Nelson and David Wilcox 12 each, and Garrett Magner 10.

Red Lake County Central shot 44 percent from the field (22/50), including a 7-for-15 showing from 3-point range. Marshall County Central shot only 39 percent (24/61). The Mustangs also had a 30-23 rebound advantage.

But the Nordics had half as many turnovers (16-8) and came up with eight loose ball recoveries.

"Those (turnovers, recoveries) were obviously a big factor," pointed out Marshall County Central coach Ron Ueland. "To get out-shot and out-rebounded and still win the game is pretty unusual. The turnovers and recoveries gave us enough extra possessions to compensate for the shooting and rebounding."

The Nordics were 10-for-17 at the free throw line, where the Mustangs went 7-for-11.

Red Lake County Central heads into the holiday break at 3-5. The Mustangs will be idle until a Jan. 6 game against Mahnomen at Oklee. Marshall County Central took a 4-1 record into a Tuesday match-up against Warren-Alvarado-Oslo in Newfolden.

TRF JV hockey team win, loses OT games

Last two starts for the Thief River Falls junior varsity high school hockey team went into overtime, resulting in a 3-2 win at Lake of the Woods Tuesday (Dec. 16) and a 5-4 loss to Bemidji Friday.

Nathan Dicken scored twice and Matt Trontvet had one goal against Lake of the Woods.

Nathan Kenner, Derek Berg, Nathan Ptacek, and Dicken scored the goals against Bemidji.

Thief River Falls junior varsity, out-shot by Bemidji 28-17, is 1-5 for the year.

Statewide harvest figure released for 1997 deer season

Results from the 1997 firearms deer season show that Minnesota hunters harvested 128,000 deer, an 8 percent decline from 1996 and the lowest harvest since 1982, the Department of Natural Resources reported.

The lower harvest was anticipated as a result of lower deer numbers in much of the north due to two consecutive severe winters, and because of a statewide decrease in antlerless permits, especially in western portions of the state that were hard hit by last winter's blizzards. Wildlife managers and conservation officers also observed fewer hunters in the field in many areas, although license sales figures will not be available for several months.

Largest drops in harvest were in the northwest (22 percent decline from 1996) where many areas were restricted to bucks-only hunting for the first time, and in the west and southwest (10 percent decline) where a series of winter storms reduced deer numbers and fawn production. Harvest also declined in northeastern forest areas, although harvest in some southern portions of that forest area actually saw some recovery from 1996 levels. The northeast region's harvest was down 9 percent from last year. Harvest increased 3 percent in east-central Minnesota. Metro and southeast regions also reported increases of 4 percent and 2 percent, respectively.

Some archery and muzzleloader seasons are still underway in the state. Final harvest figures for these seasons should be available after the first of the year.

Goodridge over rival Grygla-Gatzke...

Huskies top Eagles in overtime contest

Grygla-Gatzke tied it with a buzzer-beater at the end of regulation time, but Goodridge won 57-53 in overtime Monday as the two rivals hooked up in a boys high school basketball game at Goodridge.

It was the second down-to-the-wire finish between the two teams this season. The Huskies rallied in the final minutes to pull out a come-from-behind 40-39 win when they met in the third place game at the Northland Invitational Dec. 13.

This time, it was the Eagles who rallied. They faced narrow deficits at each of the quarter stops, 9-7, 25-23 and 35-33, and didn't catch the Huskies until Alex Anderson hit one at the horn to create a 48-48 regulation time deadlock.

Grygla-Gatzke started overtime with a four-point lead but couldn't hold on. The Huskies won it by going 5-for-6 at the free throw line in the extra session. Three of those free throws were supplied by Ben Hanson.

"It was a case of them making their free throws at the end, and us missing ours," pointed out Grygla-Gatzke coach Vern Johnson, whose team was 13-for-19 at the line for the night, but five of those six misses came in the fourth quarter or overtime. Goodridge enjoyed a 14-for-16 free throw game.

The results sent the Huskies into the holiday break with a 4-3 record, while the Eagles fall to 2-4, including four straight losses — two in overtime and the last three by a combined total of eight points.

"We're three plays away from being undefeated," noted Johnson. "We give ourselves the opportunity to win, but we just don't get it done."

Jared Eidelbes scored 17 points, while Hanson and Jim Scheel both netted 15 for the Huskies. Phil Bratene wound up with a game-high 26 points for the Eagles, with Anderson collecting 17.

Goodridge was 21-for-61 from the field (34 percent), while Grygla-Gatzke went 21-for-45 (47 percent). The Huskies had a 39-28 rebound advantage, and the Eagles topped the turnover charts 12-9.

"It was a pretty good ball game," said Johnson. "Both teams battled hard."

DNR issues a warning for area aerated lakes

A number of locations in northwestern Minnesota are among the approximately 180 lakes in the state with public accesses that will have aeration systems operating on them this winter. Private hatchery operations also use aeration systems, usually on small lakes without public accesses.

Caution is urged when going onto any ice-covered lake, particularly at night. However, special care should be taken when using the ice on aerated lakes, according to Marilyn Danks of the Department of Natural Resources.

"Open water areas created by aeration systems can shift or change shapes depending on weather conditions," Danks said. "Leaks may develop in air lines, creating other areas of weak ice or open water."

Aeration systems help prevent winterkill of fish populations by adding oxygen to the lake. They also create areas of open water and thin ice that are significant hazards to ice anglers, snowmobilers, skiers and other lake users. They are generally operated from the time the lakes freeze until the ice breaks up in the spring. The majority of the aeration systems are located in counties in the southern and western portions of the state.

A DNR permit is required to install and operate an aeration system. Permit holders must publish public notices, post warning signs and inspect the systems at least once every seven days. Liability insurance is generally required of private parties operating aeration systems in protected waters. For more information, contact the DNR area or regional fisheries manager.

Two types of signs are used to post aerated lakes: "Thin Ice" and "Warning" signs. Permittees maintain warning signs at all commonly used lake access points in order to warn people that an aeration system is in operation and to use extreme caution. Thin ice signs are used to mark the perimeter of the thin ice and open water area. These signs are diamond shaped with an orange border and white background with the warning "Thin Ice" in bold print. Permittees are required to post and maintain thin ice signs at 100-foot intervals. Some municipalities have ordinances that prohibit entering into the thin ice marked area and/or prohibit the night use of motorized vehicles on lakes with aeration systems in operation. These local regulations are often posted at lake accesses. Aeration systems are inspected for safety and compliance with regulations by permittees and DNR personnel.

For more information concerning aeration, call toll free in Minnesota, 1-888-MINNDNR.

New non-resident snowmobile trail permits required

Minnesota is introducing a non-resident snowmobile trail user fee in 1997. In order to legally use Minnesota snowmobile trails this winter, out-of-state snowmobilers operating snowmobiles not registered with the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will need to purchase a $15 trail permit. Unlike a regular Minnesota snowmobile registration, the non-resident permit will be a carry along card, with no sticker or decal provided for display on the snowmobile. The permit is a user fee that does not serve as a snowmobile registration. Permittees will be required to show their permit when so requested by a conservation officer or police officer.

The trail permit is only required of snowmobile operators who are using designated state and/or grant-in-aid snowmobile trails. Snowmobilers riding on frozen waters, private land or on other authorized use areas, but not on state trails, are not required to purchase the permit.

A distribution network has been established that includes many Minnesota state parks, 11 travel information centers, and the Explore Minnesota USA store at the Mall of America. Travel information centers will have permits available, but are not DNR affiliated offices and may not be equipped to answer questions about the permits or about snowmobile regulations. The permits are also available at DNR regional offices and many hotels and resorts around the state.

To order by mail, send a $15 check or money order, payable to Minnesota DNR, to Snowmobile Trail Permit, DNR License Bureau, 500 Lafayette Road, Box 26, St. Paul, MN 55155-4026. For more information, or to purchase a permit with a Visa, MasterCard or Discover credit card, call the DNR License Bureau at 1-800-285-2000.

Early-season ice in state is dangerous, warns DNR officials

Intent on a safe 1997-98 winter season, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources reminds everyone to assess ice conditions carefully and prepare themselves to deal with an ice emergency before they venture out on Minnesota's lakes and ponds. Parents are also asked to keep their children away from frozen bodies of water, especially as ice first begins to form.

It's never too early to start preparations and the few minutes it takes can mean the difference between an enjoyable experience and a tragedy, according to Boat and Water Safety Coordinator Kim Elverum, who cautions that ice is never safe. "Avoid traveling on ice at all until we have experienced sustained cold weather," he said. "Usually it takes a week or more of near zero temperatures for ice to achieve any thickness. Ice thickness can vary considerably, even in the coldest part of winter. It can be two feet thick in one area of a lake and one inch thick just a few yards away."

For safer recreation, the DNR encourages winter enthusiasts to develop a personal safety check list, review it frequently with companions and remember past advice:

- Talk with lake residents and resort owners about known thin ice areas.
- Check for diamond-shaped thin ice signs that indicate open water.
- Walk only on clear, solid ice that is at least four inches thick.
- Drive snowmobiles and ATVs only on five or more inches of clear, solid ice; light trucks and cars only on eight to 12 inches of clear, solid ice.
- Avoid driving on ice whenever possible, especially at night and when it is snowing.
- Carry a pair of homemade ice picks or a pair of screwdrivers tied together with strong cord to pull yourself up and onto the ice if you do fall in.
- Avoid alcohol when you plan to venture onto ice.

If you do suddenly find yourself immersed in cold water, follow these few self-rescue rules:

- Stay calm and act quickly.
- Turn around to face the way you fell in – it is usually the strongest ice.
- Break off as much weak ice as possible.
- Pull yourself up slowly with the homemade ice picks while kicking your feet, so water drains out of your clothing.
- Roll away from the hole, distributing your weight evenly over a larger area.
- Seek medical help.

Organizations have the opportunity to reserve and show their members the DNR "Danger, Thin Ice" video, available for free loan to Minnesota-based organizations such as scout groups and fishing and snowmobiling clubs.

To reserve a copy of the video and for other information on ice safety, call the DNR Information Center toll free at 1-888-MINNDNR. Ask for the brochure or for video V-386, Danger, Thin Ice.

DNR NEWS

New Regulations Considered

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is considering a number of fishing regulations changes that could affect trout steams in southeast Minnesota, Lake Superior and its tributaries, the Mississippi River downstream of Hastings, the Rainy River on the Minnesota-Ontario border, and muskellunge size limits on Minnesota-Wisconsin border waters. Regulation changes are also being considered that could affect mussels and turtles. The DNR is soliciting public input on the changes.

On the Rainy River, the possession limit of walleye may be lowered to two from March 1-April 14. The Rainy River has provided a popular spring fishery, but there have been concerns about overcrowding at access points. The DNR is considering a reduction in the possession limit to see if it will help ease the crowding problem.

On Lake Superior and its tributaries, the DNR is considering removal of aggregate limits for rainbow, brook and brown trout. As different possession limits, size limits and seasons have evolved for these species, aggregate limits have become unnecessary and confusing to understand and explain to the public. The DNR is also considering changes that would allow catch and release only for unclipped rainbow trout on Lake Superior tributaries above the posted boundaries; increase the brook trout possession limit from five to 10 on the St. Louis River and its tributaries above the Fond du Lac Dam, and change the possession limit for brown trout in Lake Superior and its tributaries below the posted boundaries from five with only three over 16 inches, to five with only one over 16 inches. These changes would help make regulations more uniform for each stream trout species found in Lake Superior's tributaries.

In southeast Minnesota, the Minnesota Trout Association and Trout Unlimited have jointly proposed three changes for trout stream regulations – provide a two-week catch and release season from April 1 to the current trout stream opener in mid-April, during the regular season, require the release of all trout between 12 and 16 inches (possession limit would remain at five fish, with only one over 16 inches), and allow catch and release only for the last two weeks of the season (Sept. 16-30).

On Minnesota-Wisconsin border waters, the DNR would increase the minimum size limit for muskellunge from 36 to 40 inches. This would be consistent with Minnesota's inland waters and with Wisconsin, which recently made this change for its side of the border water.

More uniform fishing regulations are also being considered for the Mississippi River downstream of Hastings.

The DNR is considering whether more restrictions are needed on commercial and recreational taking of turtles, particularly for painted and softshell turtles. Commercial markets for painted turtles are expanding and there is increasing concern that uncontrolled harvest may no longer be sustainable.

The DNR is also considering a prohibition on the harvest of live mussels for personal use. There are currently 25 species of mussels listed as endangered or threatened in Minnesota and another five species listed as special concern. Since most people cannot tell the various species of mussels apart, there is concern that recreational harvest of live mussels could hurt the listed species.

Comments on the changes being considered may be submitted until Dec. 19 by calling or writing Steve Hirsch at the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Section of Fisheries, 500 Lafayette Road, St. Paul, MN 55155-4012; telephone 612-296-0791.

Officials report many snowmobile mishaps seen as preventable

In the wake of the first snowmobile-related deaths this year, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, safety groups and snowmobiling community are emphasizing awareness of basic safety behaviors.

The Minnesota Snowmobile Advisory Committee, coordinated by the Department of Natural Resources, will work to promote awareness of snowmobile safety issues throughout the winter. The committee and its partners include Mothers Against Drunk Driving, the Minnesota Safety Council, Minnesota United Snowmobilers Association, Arctic Cat Inc., Polaris Industries Inc., legislative representatives and others.

"Enjoying the outdoors on recreational vehicles is a favorite pastime for many Minnesotans," said Lt. Governor Joanne Benson. "As winter settles across the state, we want to remind people to take necessary precautions to make the season for snowmobiling safe and fun for everyone."

"Last year, 32 people died and 615 were injured in snowmobile crashes," said Jeff Thielen, education coordinator for the DNR, Division of Enforcement. "Most of these incidents were not random accidents – they were predictable and preventable."

Minnesota Snowmobile Advisory Committee notes that operator error is the main cause of snowmobile crashes. Key contributing factors include alcohol consumption, excessive speed, riding on unfamiliar terrain, over-driving headlights while riding at night, and unfamiliarity with snowmobile operation.

Males ages 15-25 are at the greatest risk for involvement in snowmobile crashes. The advisory group offers the following basic safety tips:

- Take a DNR snowmobile training course.
- Know your machine and make sure it is in proper running condition.
- Always obey trail speed limits and signs.
- Never mix snowmobiling with drugs or alcohol.
- Always wear your helmet.

There are an estimated 275,000 licensed snowmobiles in Minnesota and approximately 18,000 miles of maintained trails. Snowmobiling has become a $1 billion industry in Minnesota, which is home to two of the world's four major snowmobile manufacturers.

Several thefts reported to local law enforcement officials last week

Several thefts were reported to local law enforcement officials during the past week.

Thefts. On September 30 police received a report of a theft. A duffel bag containing clothes and other items had been taken from Franklin Middle School. Recently, police charged a 13-year-old female of Thief River Falls with theft, and a 14-year-old female from Thief River Falls with receiving stolen property. They will face the charges in juvenile proceedings.

On December 16 at 2:27 p.m. police received a report of a stolen stereo. The Clarion CD player and equalizer had been taken from a car parked in the 600 block of North Gleason. Also taken was $360 in CDs. The total theft loss was estimated at $800.

On December 14 at 3:46 p.m. police received a report that a CD player had been taken out of a car parked in a trailer court. The theft loss was estimated at $200.

On December 16 at 2:15 p.m. police received a report that a trailer had been taken from a business on Highway 1 and 59 west. The homemade, black, two-wheel flat-bed trailer had eight sheets of 4 x 8 chipboard on it. The total theft loss was estimated at $1,848. The license number on the trailer is N22068.

Two face charges of gross misdemeanor theft after an investigation at a local convenience store. On October 1, police received a report of a theft at the store. After surveillance and further investigation, police have charged Chip James Stockwell, 19, Plummer, and Anthony Charles Klotter, 18, Thief River Falls, with gross misdemeanor theft. It has been alleged that Stockwell took about $515 in merchandise. Klotter is alleged to have taken about $195 in merchandise. The two were not working together.

On December 18 at 1:20 p.m. police received a report that someone had taken an Alpine Stereo/Cassette from a vehicle parked in the college parking lot. The theft loss was estimated at $300.

On December 20 at 8:19 p.m. police received a report that someone had stolen a cell phone and bag of merchandise. The vehicle had been parked behind the house. The theft loss was estimated at $260.

Driving while intoxicated. On December 17 at 3:26 a.m. 18-year-old Benjamin Chris Furuseth, Thief River Falls, was charged with driving while intoxicated. A 17-year-old male from St. Hilaire was cited for consumption under age.

On December 21 at 3:32 a.m. police charged Jenny Linette Oserley, 21, Thief River Falls, with driving while intoxicated.

On December 21 at 8:36 a.m. the sheriff's department received a report of a vehicle in a ditch. Scott Allen Novak, 29, Thief River Falls, was charged with gross misdemeanor driving while intoxicated.

Consumption under age. On December 20 at 2:46 a.m. police stopped a vehicle for no taillights. Nathaniel Lee Johnson, 19, Middle River, was cited for consumption under age. The driver, Debra Anne Risser, Middle River, was cited for open container.

On December 23 at 5:17 a.m. police received a complaint about a driver. A vehicle was stopped and the driver gave police a name. Upon checking, it was learned that the individual was wanted on a warrant. Upon further discussion it was learned that the driver had given police a false name — that of his passenger's name. Nolan Gene Myers of Trail was taken into custody and faces charges of giving a false name to police and consumption under age. Zachary Joel Dahl, 18, Clearbrook, was taken into custody on a warrant out of Clearwater county.

Accidents. On December 18 at 2:30 p.m. police received a report that a pedestrian had been struck by a vehicle. Melanie Georganne Lundstrom, Thief River Falls, was crossing Third Street in the middle of the block when she was struck by a red vehicle driven by a woman who then drove away from the scene. Lundstrom was not knocked to the ground, but reported bruises to her leg.

On December 16 at 9:56 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of a snowmobile accident on the Thief River in North township. Bryan Roy Bolstad, 16, Thief River Falls, and passenger Nicholas William Osowski, 16, Thief River Falls, were riding on the river when their snowmobile rolled over. Osowski complained of bruised ribs. The sheriff's department estimated damage to the snowmobile at $500.

On December 22 at 2:18 a.m. the sheriff's department received a report of a single vehicle accident on the west side of County road 24, one-half mile north of County road 6. When the officer arrived it appeared the driver was asleep.

Kevin Charles Hart, 25, Redlake, was charged with aggravated driving while intoxicated and possession of a small amount of marijuana. While being transported back to the law enforcement center the officer was flagged down by another individual who said he had been with Hart. Both men were taken to Northwest Medical Center for minor injuries.

On December 19 at 5:40 p.m. police received a report of an accident in the 700 block of East First Street. John August Lingren, 86, Thief River Falls was driving a car west when his car collided with a legally parked vehicle belonging to Dennis Martin Rantanen, Thief River Falls. Lingren was cited for violating of his driver's license restrictions. Police estimated damages at $1,000 to the Lindgren vehicle and $800 to the Rantanen vehicle.

Vandalism. On December 17 at 12:32 p.m. a local resident reported that someone had smashed the bone coverings over her rose bushes in the 200 block of North Maple. Damage loss was estimated at $110. As a result of investigation, an 8- and 9-year-old male of Thief River Falls face charges in juvenile proceedings. The same two boys were believed to have damaged some Christmas lights in the 100 block of North Spruce. Damage loss was estimated at $10.

Assault. On December 20 at 2:46 a.m. police received a report that a female had hit a male. Mina Rae Bowles, 34, Thief River Falls, faces a charge of gross misdemeanor fifth degree assault.

Drugs. On December 21 at 3:26 p.m. an officer observed a vehicle with expired registration. It was stopped and 18-year-old Jared Allen Johnson, Thief River Falls was found and charged with possession of a small amount of marijuana. A 16-year-old male was charged with possession of a small amount of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, no Minnesota driver's license, no insurance and no current registration.

Burglary. On December 22 police received a report of a burglary at a residence in the 200 block of South Markley. Someone in the last three weeks or so took these sets of tools valued at $165.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Grafton man sentenced on felony drug charge

Gerardo Martinez Pruneda, Grafton, ND, 32, was sentenced Tuesday on a felony charge of controlled substance crime in the fifth degree. The charge against Pruneda stemmed from an incident on November 3 during which he was caught selling one pound of marijuana. Pruneda was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and serve 90 days in jail. He was placed on supervised probation for 10 years.

Reward offered for wolf killed in St. Louis Co.

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) is offering a reward of up to $2,500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for injuring a gray wolf on December 13 on Birch Lake near Babbit in eastern St. Louis county. Because of the extent of its injuries, the wolf was later destroyed.

After receiving a call from a local resident, a Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Conservation Officer found the critically injured wolf on Birch Lake. Snowmobile tracks on the lake surface indicated that the animal had been struck twice by snowmobiles. Although still able to run after the initial strike, upon being stuck a second time, the animal suffered two broken legs and apparent internal injuries. After discovering the condition of the animal, the Conservation Officer was forced to destroy it. No arrests have been made in the case.

Because of their listing on the federal threatened species list, gray wolves are protected under the Endangered Species Act. The fine for "taking" (killing, hunting or harassing) a threatened species such as the gray wolf within the United States is $25,000 and/or six months in federal prison. Protecting endangered and threatened species and restoring them to a secure status in the wild is the primary objective of the FWS endangered species program.

This illegal killing follows a related incident in Marshall county during the firearms deer season, when a radio-collared wolf was shot. The Marshall county wolf had been part of a research program conducted by biologists at the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge near Middle River.

Anyone having information pertaining to these incidents should contact a FWS Special Agent at (218) 720-5357 or Turn In Poachers (TIP) at (800) 652-9093. Callers may remain anonymous.

Reward increases for wolf killers

Public outrage stemming from the maiming of a threatened gray wolf by snowmobilers on Birch Lake near Babbitt, on Saturday, December 13, has pushed the reward offered for finding and convicting those responsible to $7,250.

Since offering the reward, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has received numerous calls from local companies and concerned citizens asking how they can help. "It's great to see members of the snowmobile industry and others step forward to help us find those responsible for this senseless act," said U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Regional Director Bill Hartwig.

A match of $2,500 from Polaris Industries, combined with contributions from Turn In Poachers, the Micro Control Company of Fridley, the Sierra Club, and other concerned individuals helped nearly triple the reward offer.

Fueling the anger felt by many are the circumstances surrounding the incident. Evidence at the scene suggests the animal was deliberately struck at least twice by snowmobiles while on the frozen surface of Birch Lake. The nine-month-old wolf had been part of an on-going federal research project. Upon discovery, a Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Conservation officer was forced to destroy the wolf due to its extensive injuries.

Because gray wolves are listed as a federally threatened species, federal statutes call for fines of up to $25,000 and/or six months in prison for those harming or killing the animals.

Anyone having information relating to this incident is asked to contact a Fish and Wildlife Service Special Agent at (218) 720-5357, the Minnesota DNR at (218) 827-2259 or TIP at (800) 652-9093. Callers may remain anonymous.

Charles Wymore killed in one vehicle accident

Charles P. Wymore, 23, Viking, was killed in a one-vehicle accident Saturday near Newfolden.

Marshall County Sheriff's department received a 911 call from a residence in Newfolden township reporting a motor vehicle accident on County road 8 about four and one-half miles south of Newfolden around 11:13 p.m. Saturday, December 20. A 1994 Chevrolet pickup driven by Charles Wymore of Viking ran off the road and rolled over. Wymore was found dead at the scene. He was the only person in the vehicle at the time of the accident. Thief River Falls Ambulance and Fire Department were dispatched to the scene. The accident was investigated by the Marshall County Sheriff's department.

Kenneth Nord dies at home Thursday night

Red Lake County Sheriff's department responded to the Kenneth Laine Nord residence, located three miles north of Red Lake Falls in Section 3 of Red Lake Falls township, at about 5:16 p.m. on December 18 to check on the welfare of Mr. Nord. According to the sheriff's department, Nord was armed with a rifle and after 10 minutes of negotiations, Mr. Nord shot himself and was pronounced dead at the scene by the Red Lake County Coroner. Notes to his family were found in the residence.

Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension was called in to help investigate the incident. Nord was 59.

Warren man dies from gunshot wound

Darrin R. Fulton, 27, Warren, died from a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Marshall County Sheriff's department received a 911 call at 7:33 a.m. on December 21 from the Don Fulton residence in McCrea township. After investigation by Marshall County Sheriff Dennis Brekke and his department, it was discovered that Fulton had died as a result of a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Crime victims get money from fund

Minnesota Department of Public Safety's Crime Victim and Witness Advisory Council (CVWAC) is distributing $100,000 in grants to 42 organizations that offer assistance to crime victims for the period of October 15, 1997 through June 30, 1998.

The Emergency Fund was created in 1995. The CVWAC received $200,000 for the biennium to assist crime victims. The first $100,000 is being distributed throughout the state to organizations including city and county prosecutors, battered women, sexual assault and general crime programs and tribal council.

"Distributing the funds to small organizations will help victims obtain the fund quickly — within 48 hours of the crime," says Sara Schlauderaff, director of CVWAC. "We recommend using the money for the emergency replacement of necessary property. Victims can only use the money for items necessary because of the crime that they endured. We suggest awarding $10 to $200 depending on the need and availability."

Three levels of funding, $1,350, $2,350 and $4,000, were determined based on demographics, geographic areas, crime rate and county boundaries of the applicants. The organizations are responsible for distributing the grants for uses such as:

- Replacement of necessary property that was lost, stolen or damaged because of a crime.
- Purchase and installation of necessary home security devices.
- Transportation to locations related to the victims needs as a victim such as medical and criminal justice facilities.
- Cleanup of the crime scene.
- Reimbursement for reasonable travel and living expenses the victim incurred to attend court proceedings held at a location other than where the crime occurred due to a change of venue.

The Second Section

Christine Johnson and Sally Philipp, student council representative at Goodridge, wrap presents as part of a community volunteer project. The presents are for children in the Christmas for Pennington County program. As of Wednesday, there were 353 children in the project and 138 families. A project coordinator said there are more children and families in this year's project than last year. She added that it is encouraging that the public is even more giving this year than last. The Goodridge Student Council was just one of many organizations and groups to participate in the program. After wrapping presents, the Goodridge Student Council went to the Occupational Development Center to sing Christmas Carols and hand out cookies.

MN property owners should take advantage of 1997 tax rebate

by Sen. Roger Moe

Homeowners and renters should take advantage of the 1997 property tax rebate available from the State of Minnesota. The large projected state budget surplus earlier this year allowed the Legislature to create a rebate returning to taxpayers 20 percent of the property taxes paid by homeowners and renters in 1997. To be eligible for the rebate, property taxes or rent must be paid during the 1997 calendar year. The December 31 deadline for payment is fast approaching.

A rebate from the state can be substantial. Homeowners can compute their rebate by taking their 1997 property taxes paid and multiplying it by 20 percent. The rebate to renters is based on 3.6 percent of the total yearly rent paid. Renters can compute their rebate by taking their monthly rent and multiplying it by 43.2 percent.

Homeowners and renters must file a 1997 M-1 income tax return in 1998 to be eligible for the rebate. The M-1 form contains a new line specifically for the rebate. Homeowners must attach a copy of the 1997 property tax statement from the county to their income tax returns. If you no longer have that statement, you can get a copy of it from your county treasurer's office. The Truth in Taxation statement received recently by homeowners does not contain the necessary information and will not be accepted as a substitute for the property tax statement. If you are a renter, attach a copy of your Certificate of Rent Paid (CRP) form. The completed form should be provided to you by your landlord before February 1.

Even people who would not otherwise need to file an income tax form are eligible for the property tax rebate. They should fill out the M-1 income tax form simply by writing "Do not meet filing requirements — rebate only" on the top of the tax form, then fill in "0" on line 1 and complete the rebate amount due on line 11.

According to Department of Revenue officials, people expecting a state income tax refund who file their return by mail are likely to find that their refund check will take longer than usual to process. This is because the rebate program is expected to significantly increase the number of Minnesota filers and the number of people who will be receiving refunds.

However, the Department of Revenue is expected to implement statewide electronic filing during the upcoming tax season. People who file electronically are likely to receive their refunds in 15 days or less. Electronic filing can be accomplished from a personal computer that is set up with a tax return software program. In addition, people who fill out the income tax short form soon will be able to file by using a toll-free number and an automated menu with their touch tone telephone.

If you have questions about the property tax rebate or filing your tax return, help is available by dialing toll free 1-800-652-9091.

The weather in Northwest Minnesota has been so nice that we feel sorry for the "Snowbirds" who left here earlier this fall for places like Florida and California where El Nino seems to be raising havoc with many inches of rain every once in a while. The flooding and mudslides make this sandridge look heavenly with the thermometer spoiling the 40 degree mark some days. Just think that next week the days will begin to lengthen and perhaps I'll be able to catch up on my work a bit. Roy gets that support me look as soon as it starts to get dark.

Last night the full moon made the landscape so pretty it was a delight to be driving. Homes were beautifully lighted and Christmas scenes were displayed for everyone to see.

My pet lady bug almost lost her happy home on Saturday when Roy spied her on the kitchen curtain again where she insists on hanging on and smelling the spray starch or so it seems. "Look what I found sitting on the clean curtain" and with that he proceeded toward the door with her in his hand. He very reluctantly let me put her on a plant in the office with a look on his face that there will come another time with no objections, period. If she would only stay in hiding until I can get her out to Hazel who will appreciate a ladybug's talents to keep her plants free of lice.

Vance and Kelly Lefrooth, Claudia Berggren and Jessie and Lowell Lefrooth visited at Judy Kleinvachter's this week.

On Thursday evening the ladies from the Assembly of God Church met and had their Christmas party at the beautifully decorated home of Cathy Thompson. After a delicious dinner, games were played and gifts exchanged. Cathy made a perfect hostess and we all had a great time.

Elsie Lefrooth had the misfortune of falling on the basement steps on Friday. Her sister Gloria Renstrom took her to the hospital for x-rays and we are glad to report no broken bones but it is difficult for Elsie to get around.

Judy Kleinvachter visited Elmer Holmstrom and Evelyn Albaugh on Wednesday afternoon.

Most of the churches in the area have had their programs and now folks are busy planning what's for Christmas and where they will be celebrating so will add that on Friday when the news goes out again.

Lise Berg, Head Start teacher, and Joyce Froschheiser, ECFE coordinator, serve up some hot drinks to participants in the Head Start and ECFE programs in Thief River Falls visiting at the Bekke farm last week. Families at the farm went on a sleigh ride, decorated outdoor trees, fed chickens, and participated in other outdoor activities.

Lloyd Ranum was a Saturday afternoon coffee guest at LeRoy Sustads.

Liz Swenson was an afternoon visitor and supper guest at Art and Kay Olsons. The large Christmas village was so interesting.

Gordon and Ardelle Skjerven were afternoon and supper guests on Wednesday at the Judy Swanson's home in Argyle. Lillian Stendley of Grand Forks was also a guest.

At four o'clock Sunday afternoon the Viking Town and Country Garden Club had their Christmas party at Vernette Slokke's home in Newfolden. Those who attended were Hazel Olson, Elmer and Clarisse Roaker, Bernyce and Alvin Grandstrand, Earl and Joyce Erickson, Bert and Joyce Kron and hostess Vernette. Lots of fun and food!

On Sunday afternoon Adelle Skjerven and girls went with Kathy Olson and Mary Woloski to the Chester Fritz Auditorium in Grand Forks to see the musical "God With Us" which was very good.

The Earl Erickson's attended the Saturday afternoon two o'clock Santa Lucia party at Grace Lutheran Church in Hallock. Those from the Viking area who attended were Bert and Joyce Kron, Erwin and Pearl Johnson, Alvin and Bernyce Grandstrand, LeRoy and Ruth Sustad and Vernette Slokke.

The Wednesday night gift exchange party for Jubilate Circle was held at Melanie Nelson's home. Those who attended were Bernyce Grandstrand, Sue Harbott, JeAnn Peters, Joyce Erickson, Gloria Anderson and Janet Berg.

On Sunday Lloyd Ranum and Elsie Hodik of Thief River Falls and Sidney and Clarisse Ranum motored to Roseau to see Alice Kozar who is in the hospital there. Riley and his wife from Warroad were also there so they all had a chance to visit.

Sunday morning Raymond Diotts was a caller and coffee guest at LeRoy Sustads.

Hal and Ardelle Anderson attended the musical "God With Us" at the Chester Fritz Theatre on Sunday.

by Jerome and Donna Myhrer

Santa Claus Given Royal Welcome Here Monday

"A crowd of youngsters from throughout the Thief River Falls community, estimated to number 1,300, extended a royal greeting to Santa Claus when he made an advance trip to this city Monday afternoon under the auspices of the Civic and Commerce association.

"Santa, impersonated by Joe Zavoral, got off a special train at the Soo Line station promptly at 2 o'clock, and found the platform thronged with his little friends. After a brief pause there, he left on a pony drawn sleigh for the auditorium, traveling along crowd-lined streets."

First Baby To Be Born In City In 1948 To Get Gifts

"In accordance with the custom of past years, local business places have arranged a shower of gifts for the first baby to be born in Thief River Falls in 1948. The lucky infant will receive a valuable collection of gifts, the donors of which are listed in an advertisement elsewhere in this issue of the Times."

Chimes Are Installed In Community Church

"The Community Methodist church late last week installed a set of 21 Maas electric chimes operated from the organ console, and they were used for the first time at services Sunday morning. The interior of the church in the front portion also has been remodeled, the altar having been moved to the rear of the choir loft, which has been divided into two sections."

Bob Baker Is Given Place On Olympic Team

"Bob Baker of this city, stellar member of the Thieves hockey team, won an outstanding honor this week by being named a member of the 15 man squad that will participate in the Olympic Games in Switzerland this winter. Baker and Les Vigness had gone to Boston last week to participate in the try-outs.

"To honor the local participant in the Olympics, next Sunday has been designated as Bob Baker Day at the local arena, where the Thieves will meet the Roseau Cloverleafs. A collection will be taken up at the game for Baker's benefit, and he also will share in the gate receipts."

Ice Sheet In River Now Only 7 Inches Thick

"The Hendrickson Ice company announced this week that while wash ice is now being cut, the ice sheet in Red Lake river is only about seven inches thick, owing to the heavy layer of snow covering it. It will be necessary to clear away the snow to permit the ice to freeze to the thickness desired for storage for use next year."

Mercury Hits High Mark Of 34 Above Last Sunday

"Pleasant winter weather prevailed locally the last week before Christmas, the mercury reaching a maximum of 34 above zero Sunday, according to the KTRF reading. Temperatures on most of the other days during the week also approached the thawing point in the afternoon, while the minimum of 8 below was recorded Tuesday morning. No snowfall of consequence occurred during the week."

—Local owners of oil burners are pulling for Governor Youngdahl's committee in its efforts to work out a solution of the fuel shortage.

—After blaming inflationary prices onto speculators, President Truman must have been embarrassed to find some of the guilty parties in his own official family.

—A lot of individuals hereabouts are wearing mink coats, but most of them are living on mink ranches.

—Many local citizens would like to disaffiliate from the Christmas bills that will be coming along January 1.

—Speaking of names, the Middle River community boasts a family of four generations, each bearing the name of John Lusto.

—Now comes the time to do your Christmas swapping.

—A bow to the local street department for the manner in which it has kept the downtown streets cleared of snow this winter.

—Remember way back when a kaleidoscope was a popular parlor ornament?

—The folks who told us the snow would be gone before Christmas must be referring to Christmas 1948.

—Goodness sakes, but aren't the daylight hours getting long since the sun started traveling north again.

—Judging by the experience of Boston's Mayor Curley, the way to build up your political standing is to serve a few terms in prison.

FROM THE NEW CITY

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER DECEMBER 30, 1897
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

Dismissed
Judge Frank Ives Has Dismissed the Case of Thief River Falls v. Lee.
Costs Amount to be Considerable.

"Judge Ives handed down a decision in the case of the City of Thief River Falls vs. Henry W. Lee on Monday. The decision is that the action will be dismissed and in his memorandum Judge Ives holds that the city could not bring this action as Mr. Lee's judgement is against the village. No mention as to the city's legal incorporation is made or as to which party shall bear the costs. The case will be appealed to the Supreme Court, so the city's attorney, Francis Hibner, says."

Builders Party

[illegible]

On Friday Steve and Becky Lokken went to the home of Lonnie and Michelle Longtin for a Christmas party.

Family Gathering

Because of Mom/Grandma Corlan Kleinschmidt and husband Bob leaving for Texas over Christmas, the Christmas supper and gift opening took place at the home of Annette Magnell on December 6th. Gathering together were Mark, Derick, Ericka, Lindsay and Nick, Bob and Corlan Kleinschmidt, Dennis, Danielle, Jillian, Jenna, Jaren, Nathan and Miranda Magnell from Cross Lake, Jason, Toni, Krista, Brooke and Jacob Magnell. Supper was enjoyed then they had the gift opening.

Auxiliary Christmas Party

On Thursday December 11th the Plummer American Legion Auxiliary unit 623 held their annual Christmas party. A delicious potluck was enjoyed. Our Plummer President Ruth Wilkens introduced 9th District President Lois Thykesen of Detroit Lakes and Secretary/Treasurer and Department Relations Chairman Doris LaFayette. They both received a Christmas gift from our unit. The two ladies gave their thanks and a short but very nice speech. President Ruth held a business meeting and then I (Kathy Junoau) lead the gals in singing a few Christmas songs. Our Chaplin Fern Eskeli lead us in prayer. Our members then introduced the guests and we exchanged gifts. I must not forget one of the most fun parts of the party was when Fern Hesse gave a funny reading.

On Sunday Wavell Sorenson along with Jenathan, Charles, Mikel, Wesley, Krista and Brooke Magnell went to Ebenezer Lutheran Church for their Christmas concert.

Happy Birthday Lucille

A birthday breakfast was held at the River Road Casino for Lucille Kvasager. We all had a great breakfast and we were served a delicious dessert compliments of the casino. Lucille opened her gifts and enjoyed the company of her many friends. Attending the party was husband Goodwin, Ruth Wilkens, Karen Fossell, Idella Rewertz, Bunny DuChamp, Joan Carpenter, Edna Hyde, Fern Eskeli, Hazel Ollie, Clara Hesse, Esther and Herb Walters, Ron and Kathy Junoau and our granddaughter Alysa. Also gifts were sent by Amelia Eskeli and Dave and Kelly Krueger. We wish a very nice gal a great year!

Christmas Party

On Tuesday the Committee on Aging held their Christmas party in Brooks. There were eighteen people in attendance including honored guests Marie and Wally Selger and some retired committee members. Before lunch the group sang carols and played Christmas games. They played whist and Scrabble and had a great dessert served by President Pearl Lanlof and Myrtle Hamrum won the door prize.

Light Contest

Winners of the Plummer Community Club contest were: 1st Prize- Marvin Engeslhor, 2nd Prize- Doris Mrazek ... Jeff [illegible]

Concert Social

Saturday evening some of the Plummer ladies went to Thief River Falls to enjoy a great evening of music. Attending the concert were: Hazel Ollie, Bunny DuChamp, Esther Walters, Hattie Hesse, Norman and Florence Tvedt drove the ladies.

Arctic Cat Christmas Party

Arctic Cat held their annual Christmas party on Saturday at the Thief River Falls Armory. It was a fun-filled time and Arctic Cat served a delicious ham dinner with all the fixings. All enjoyed good fellowship and Santa stopped in to visit with young and old alike. Ron Junoau of Plummer took wife Kathy and granddaughter Alysa. On the way home, Grandpa and Grandma took Alysa to Plummer Hall to visit with Santa and enjoy a hot cup of apple cider and cookies. And there was also a bake and craft sale by the Plummer Lionesses. Santa gave each child a bag of goodies.

Christian Women met

On Tuesday the Christian Women Club met at the Legion in Thief River Falls. The Legion served a delicious ham loaf dinner. After lunch we sang Christmas carols and there was a "Love Auction." Janet Walch of Rochester was the speaker. The next luncheon will be held on January 20, 1998 (Tuesday) at noon. Cost of lunch is $5.00. For reservations call 964-5357 or 681-2135. There is a free nursery and if you can't make lunch there is a dinner held at the Best Western at 6:00 p.m. and you can call 681-4828 or 523-3232. Attending from Plummer Tuesday were Marian Vallhauer and myself (Kathy Junoau).

Hi, Sis

On Wednesday Bunny DuChamp had a surprise visitor, her sister Gertie Haugen. The gals had a happy visit together. Gertie lives in Goodridge.

Christmas Greetings

We received a Christmas card from Effie and Bunny today and they are doing just fine and enjoying good weather. Sure they will enjoy a fun filled, warm winter with all their many winter friends.

Harold and Marian Vallhauer returned home Friday from an Amtrak trip to California, visiting with Al and Myrt Olson in Portland, Oregon. They visited with Harold's sister Alice Quinn in Merced, California. They drove to Marysville, California visiting Harold's grand niece and family Rick and Monica Miller and daughter Tiffany. They also visited Marian's brothers in L.A. area, Adrian and Sue Sallem and families, Elwood, Marie Sallem. They also spent some time with Korn and Alice Tillman. After returning from California, they took Amtrak to Houston, Texas where they visited their son Edlyn and Sandi Vallhauer and children Kailyn, Brynlyn and Matthew, spending Thanksgiving with them and the nice weather. Returning home after the enjoyable Amtrak trip, they visited with Cleo Gustafson in Grand Forks. Ernest and Theresa Vallheuer came and got them from Grand Forks.

Ron and I would like to wish you and yours a very Merry Christmas and God's Blessing always.

The Christmas Story.... Old But Ever New

For a number of years we have published in our Christmas edition of The Times a version of the Christmas Gospel. The most popular, familiar and widely used is from the second chapter of the Book of Luke in the Holy Bible.

This year our Christmas story is from the New Revised Standard Version which was copyrighted in 1989.

Luke 2: 1-20

In those days a decree went out from Emperor Augustus that all the world should be registered.

This was the first registration and was taken while Quirinius was governor of Syria.

All went to their own towns to be registered.

Joseph also went from the town of Nazareth in Galilee to Judea, to the city of David called Bethlehem, because he was descended from the house and family of David.

He went to be registered with Mary, to whom he was engaged and who was expecting a child.

While they were there, the time came for her to deliver her child.

And she gave birth to her firstborn son and wrapped him in bands of cloth, and laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn.

In that region there were shepherds living in the fields, keeping watch over their flock by night.

Then an angel of the Lord stood before them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were terrified.

But the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid; for see—I am bringing you good news of great joy for all the people: to you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is the Messiah, the Lord.

This will be a sign for you: you will find a child wrapped in bands of cloth and lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God and saying,

"Glory to God in the highest heaven, and on earth peace among those whom he favors!"

When the angels had left them and gone into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "Let us go now to Bethlehem and see this thing that has taken place, which the Lord has made known to us."

So they went with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the child lying in the manger.

When they saw this, they made known what had been told them about this child;

And all who heard it were amazed at what the shepherds told them.

But Mary treasured all these words and pondered them in her heart.

The shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen, as it had been told them.

In the spirit of the first Christmas as told once again above, we wish all a very Merry Christmas and a new year filled with health, prosperity and happiness.

A Present Day Visit From St. Nicholas

Following is excerpted from a poem e-mailed to the Minnesota Newspaper Association by Duane Rasmussen and published in the MNA Bulletin:

'Twas the night before Christmas and Santa's a wreck
How to live in a world that's politically correct?

His workers no longer would answer to "elves,"
"Vertically challenged" they were calling themselves.

Four reindeer had vanished without much propriety,
Released to the wilds by the Humane Society.

And equal employment had made it quite clear
That Santa had better not use just reindeer.

So Dancer and Donner, Comet and Cupid
Were replaced with four pigs, and you know that looked stupid.

And as for the gifts, why, he'd ne'er had a notion
That making a choice could cause so much commotion.

Nothing of leather, nothing of fur,
Which meant nothing for him ...and nothing for her.

Nothing that might be construed to pollute,
Nothing to aim. Nothing to shoot.
Nothing that clamored or made lots of noise.
Nothing for just girls or just for the boys.
Nothing that claimed to be gender specific,
Nothing that's warlike or non-pacifistic.
No candy or sweets...they are bad for the tooth.
Nothing that seemed to embellish the truth.
No baseball, no football...someone could get hurt;
Besides, playing sports exposed kids to dirt.

Dolls were said to be sexist, and should be passe,
And Nintendo would rot your entire brain away.

So Santa just stood there, disheveled, perplexed;
He just could not figure out what to do next.

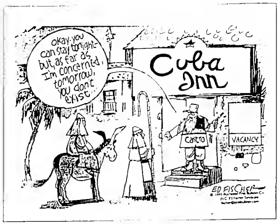
He tried to be merry, tried to be gay,
But you've got to be careful with that word today.

His sack was quite empty, limp to the ground;
Nothing fully acceptable was to be found.

Something special was needed, a gift that he might
Give to all without angering the left or the right.

A gift that would satisfy, with no indecision,
Each group of people, every religion,
Every ethnicity, every hue,
Everyone everywhere—yes, even you.

So here is that gift, it's price beyond worth...
"May you and your loved ones enjoy peace on earth."



Okay, you can stay tonight—but, as far as I'm concerned, tomorrow, you don't exist.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

Ditch 83 has not been cleaned or maintained as a ditch for some time. The trees grow larger and hang over the edge and fall into the ditch or river, making what we call snags. These snags catch the grass, sticks and debris that floats down the river, making small dams. In 1996 several farmers tried to get "sentence to serve" people to come cut the snags. Because of deep snow and poor ice it was not done.

After the spring flood of 1997 something had to be done. The area, including Agassiz Refuge, was flooded. When downstream water was gone it was like trying to empty a full bathtub with a small hose. It took too long for the water to get through all the snags and trees.

Not really knowing how to run a petition, the area farmers got together to petition for the following: Clean out the sand bars, snags and trees on the slope to where the ditch was first made, then add a four-to-one slope to keep the sides from washing in again.

One person is all that is needed to sign a petition but 16 of the neighbors signed, including me, and because I was flooded I saw a need and that the benefit to the ditch system was greater than the benefit of saving the trees. It is not only trees versus farmland, it is trees versus duck and other waterfowl nests in Agassiz Refuge, too. Agassiz and state lands need an outlet for their water as well as the water that comes from the east into Agassiz. One has to look at the whole picture, not just one small part.

Now for some of the mistakes that were made. Six families along the south end of the ditch were never informed. The watershed board presumed that they knew when the engineer recommended to cleanout one side to make surveying easier as most ditches are done. The board accepted his recommendation and let out bids. This is when the rumor started to cleanout from Thief River Falls to Thief Lake, which was false.

*The six families on the south end of Ditch 83 put in a request not to cleanout along their land before the survey was completed. The request was accepted and removal of heavier dams and snag tree removal began. A group of eight woodcutters is clearcutting for firewood along another area of the ditch. Someone needed to save the trees for firewood before they were destroyed. These trees are mostly oak, green ash and boxelder.

Many people called the local Audubon president to see if the Audubon club could do something to stop the cutting of large trees and save the wildlife habitat along the river. The most destructive to the present habitat would be the four-to-one slope of the sides that was asked for in the petition. This should be decided at a public meeting in January.

Don Arnosti from the National Audubon Society Minnesota office met with area farmers to explain the Audubon's plan and to see if farmers could be paid for storing water to help with flooding downstream. The watershed board would have control over the plan and the state or county would reimburse for it because of the benefit downstream. This idea was not fully developed and needs more input from farmers who are flooded and are willing to hold flood water.

This plan could also include state land as a flood control project and could be developed for the Red Lake River, Snake River and other flooded areas. Area farmers should let the watershed board know if they are interested in more information.

There is a flood control in place in the southwestern corner of Minnesota on the Minnesota River. Farmers receive payment on a one-time easement for holding water on their land. Thirty seven flood control structures are in place in Lyon county, reducing the water flow to one-half of what it had been previously. Ten counties have joined Lyon County in a flood control project. They have just received a $200,000 grant for downsizing culverts and ramming structures.

When is the Thief River not a river but a ditch? Ditch 83 was made by cutting across many curves in the Thief River where water never ran before. The Thief River was very crooked. Where Ditch 83 did follow the channel now there are no signs of the old river bed which was destroyed. Near the south end of the dredged ditch one can see the old river bed which no longer carries water.

Even on the refuge the river no longer exists. It has become a lake. The old river curves along side the ditch are called oxbows. Most of these hold water and are good wildlife areas. One oxbow can be seen south of County Road 7 as you enter the refuge from the west.

Mud River runs into Agassiz from the east and it is diverted by Ditch 11 into Ditch 83. Southeast of the refuge is the Lost River which ran into Elm Lake and the refuge. This river got lost as it flowed into the peat of Elm Lake or the refuge. It is diverted by Ditch 200. The old riverbed can be seen southeast of Agassiz.

The Silver Creek crosses County Road 12 by the Satersdal Church. It follows the south side of Ditch 20 to Ditch 83. Ditch 20 diverts the water that once ran in the Silver Creek and some of the water that may have run in the Lost River. Ditch 20 goes straight east all the way to the sand beaches of Red Lake.

Let's take the naming of our waterways a little further. I had the honor of showing a professor of geology from the University of Minnesota the Thief and Red Lake Rivers, the famous cliffs near Red Lake Falls and the Old Treaty Crossing at Huot.

As we stood on the Eighth Street bridge looking at the river, the Thief River runs straight and the Red Lake River comes at a right angle into it. According to the professor, the Red Lake River should stop here and the Thief River go on over the Thief River falls.

The city of Red Lake Falls is built mostly on the Clearwater River. Why is it not called Clearwater Falls? Both of the rivers have falls or rapids in them. So is a ditch called a river? A river called a ditch? Or both? Where does the Thief River rightly start and where does it end?

Sincerely,
Clifford Steinhauer

Keeping with their Christmas tradition Deer Park Garden Club members together with their husbands and guests dinned out at the DW's in Goodridge. Along with the mild frosty December evening put the diners in the Christmas spirit.

The newly refurbished dinning room had a beautiful festive look with the traditional trees, garlands, greeting santa's on rafters, a giant welcome wreath on the wall and a colorful decorated table set for the diners.

The evening began with ordering from the menu. Robert Flaten said a norwegian prayer (table grace). Ethel Wiseth presented a story of the Christmas wreath, assembling a straw wreath with religious symbols. She stated wreaths are 2000 years old. They are the oldest symbol to greet visitors into someone's home. The wreath was giving as a door prize and won by guest Lynn Hanson. Another wreath was won by guest Erie Swanson.

Each lady was armed with a sprig of mistletoe which had a slip with a message of good luck that they read to the group. Ethel stated the mistletoe is the symbol for the kissing license's. The vine twister Arlene Preslibak collected many 25c fines for the clubs expense fund. Arlene also gave the closing prayer.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Lois Swanson in the afternoon on the 13th at 2:00 p.m.

The diners present were Lois and Ernie Swanson, Lyn and Norma Hanson, Bob and Arlene Preslibak, Helen Chervestad, Donna Radniecki, Brad and Lona Nelson, Vance and Lori Wiseth, Tim and Michelle Preslibak, Ethel Wiseth, Mable Holstad, Robert Flaten.

Quite a few people from the Gully area and north of Gully attended funeral services for Orlean Randahl at Kings Church in Fosston on Friday. At one time Orlean lived with his folks Ole and Julia Rendahl up in Hickory north of Gully. Orlean and his wife Caroline Erickson Rendahl had lived in Fosston since 1967. They have two sons, Don and Mary and Joel and Jackie and two daughters Judy and Allen Polvin and Joyce Rendahl. Orlean was a good accordion player and didn't spare in sharing that music with others. Pastor Anderson mentioned how from the beginning of time trumpets or other musical instruments have been used to spread "The good news." The ladies served a nice lunch after the service. Vernon and Lloyd Wold sang and played "Softly and Tenderly" and "Pass me not."

We have a new Post Mistress in Gully since Bob David's retired the first part of July. Barbara Sellers has taken care of us very efficiently and cheerfully. Now Patty Olson of Bagley will be here. I hope we will like her as well.

Gully American Legion Auxiliary members met at the Community Center on Monday and packed Cheer Baskets to promote a bit of Christmas cheer and good will. Members there to pack and then deliver the baskets of goodies were Nancy Lee, Mary Berg, Cathy Singer, Irene Carlson, Luverne Fore and Sanna Brovold.

Emma Nyland and Ellie Handy visited with Alice Thompson at Clearbrook on Sunday and also spent time with Lyn Turenne at Clearwater Lake. Mrs. Roy Nelson and friend from Longby visited Ellie on Monday and on Saturday Marlon Handy of Fosston and Lyn Turenne visited Ellie.

The Christmas Story.... Old But Ever New

For a number of years we have published in our Christmas edition of The Times a version of the Christmas Gospel. The most popular, familiar and widely used is from the second chapter of the Book of Luke in the Holy Bible.

This year our Christmas story is from the New Revised Standard Version which was copyrighted in 1989.

Luke 2: 1-20

In those days a decree went out from Emperor Augustus that all the world should be registered.

This was the first registration and was taken while Quirinius was governor of Syria.

All went to their own towns to be registered.

Joseph also went from the town of Nazareth in Galilee to Judea, to the city of David called Bethlehem, because he was descended from the house and family of David.

He went to be registered with Mary, to whom he was engaged and who was expecting a child.

While they were there, the time came for her to deliver her child.

And she gave birth to her firstborn son and wrapped him in bands of cloth, and laid him in a manger, because there was no place for them in the inn.

In that region there were shepherds living in the fields, keeping watch over their flock by night.

Then an angel of the Lord stood before them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were terrified.

But the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid; for see—I am bringing you good news of great joy for all the people: to you is born this day in the city of David a Savior, who is the Messiah, the Lord.

"This will be a sign for you: you will find a child wrapped in bands of cloth and lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host, praising God and saying,

"Glory to God in the highest heaven, and on earth peace among those whom he favors!"

When the angels had left them and gone into heaven, the shepherds said to one another, "Let us go now to Bethlehem and see this thing that has taken place, which the Lord has made known to us."

So they went with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the child lying in the manger.

When they saw this, they made known what had been told them about this child.

And all who heard it were amazed at what the shepherds told them.

But Mary treasured all these words and pondered them in her heart.

The shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all they had heard and seen, as it had been told them.

In the spirit of the first Christmas as told once again above, we wish all a very Merry Christmas and a new year filled with health, prosperity and happiness.

A Present Day Visit From St. Nicholas

Following is excepted from a poem e-mailed to the Minnesota Newspaper Association by Duane Rasmussen and published in the MNA Bulletin.

'Twas the night before Christmas and Santa's a wreck...
How to live in a world that's politically correct?

His workers no longer would answer to "elves;"
"Vertically challenged" they were calling themselves.

Four reindeer had vanished without much propriety,
Released to the wilds by the Humane Society.

And equal employment had made it quite clear
That Santa had better not use just reindeer.

So Dancer and Donner, Comet and Cupid
Were replaced with four pigs, and you know that looked stupid.

And as for the gifts, why, he'd ne'er had a notion
That making a choice could cause so much commotion.

Nothing of leather, nothing of fur,
Which meant nothing for him...and nothing for her.

Nothing that might be construed to pollute,
Nothing to aim. Nothing to shoot.
Nothing that clamored or made lots of noise,
Nothing for just girls or just for the boys.
Nothing that claimed to be gender specific,
Nothing that's warlike or non-pacifistic.
No candy or sweets...they are bad for the tooth,
Nothing that seemed to embellish the truth.
No baseball, no football...someone could get hurt,
Besides, playing sports exposed kids to dirt.

Dolls were said to be sexist, and should be passe;
And Nintendo would rot your entire brain away.

So Santa just stood there, disheveled, perplexed;
He just could not figure out what to do next.

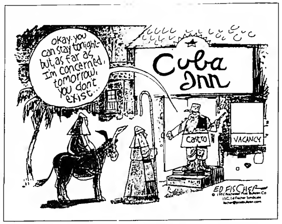
He tried to be merry, tried to be gay,
But you've got to be careful with that word today.

His sack was quite empty, limp to the ground;
Nothing fully acceptable was to be found.

Something special was needed, a gift that he might
Give to all without angering the left or the right.

A gift that would satisfy, with no indecision,
Each group of people, every religion,
Every ethnicity, every hue,
Everyone everywhere—yes, even you.

So here is that gift, it's price beyond worth...
"May you and your loved ones enjoy peace on earth."



Okay, you can stay tonight—but, as far as I'm concerned, tomorrow, you don't exist...

To The Editor:

Ditch 83 has not been cleaned or maintained as a ditch for some time. The trees grow larger and hang over the edge and fall into the ditch or river, making what we call snags. These snags catch the grass, sticks and debris that floats down the river, making small dams. In 1996 several farmers tried to get "sentence to serve" people to come cut the snags. Because of deep snow and poor ice it was not done.

After the spring flood of 1997 something had to be done. The area, including Agassiz Refuge, was flooded. When downstream water was gone it was like trying to empty a full bathtub with a small hose. It took too long for the water to get through all the snags and trees.

Not really knowing how to run a petition, the area farmers got together to petition for the following: Clean out the sand bars, snags and trees on the slope to where the ditch was first made, then add a four-to-one slope to keep the sides from washing in again.

One person is all that is needed to sign a petition but 16 of the neighbors signed, including me, and because I was flooded I saw a need and that the benefit to the ditch system was greater than the benefit of saving the trees. It is not only trees versus farmland, it is trees versus duck and other waterfowl nests in Agassiz Refuge, too. Agassiz and state lands need an outlet for their water as well as the water that comes from the east into Agassiz. One has to look at the whole picture, not just one small part.

Now for some of the mistakes that were made. Six families along the south end of the ditch were never informed. The watershed board presumed that they knew when the engineer recommended to clearcut one side to make surveying easier as most ditches are done. The board accepted his recommendation and let out bids. This is when the rumor started to clearcut from Thief River Falls to Thief Lake, which was false.

The six families on the south end of Ditch 83 put in a request not to clearcut along their land before the survey was completed. The request was accepted and removal of beaver dams and snag tree removal began. A group of eight woodcutters is clearcutting for firewood along another area of the ditch. Someone needed to save the trees for firewood before they were destroyed. These trees are mostly oak, green ash and boxelder.

Many people called the local Audubon president to see if the Audubon club could do something to stop the cutting of large trees and save the wildlife habitat along the river. The most destructive to the present habitat would be the four to one slope of the sides that was asked for in the petition. This should be decided at a public meeting in January.

Don Arnosti from the National Audubon Society Minnesota office met with area farmers to explain the Audubon's plan and to see if farmers could be paid for storing water to help with flooding downstream. The watershed board would have control over the plan and the state or county would reimburse for it because of the benefit downstream. This idea was not fully developed and needs more input from farmers who are flooded and are willing to hold flood water.

This plan could also include state land as a flood control project and could be developed for the Red Lake River, Snake River and other flooded areas. Area Farmers should let the watershed board know if they are interested in more information.

There is a flood control in place in the southwestern corner of Minnesota on the Minnesota River. Farmers receive payment on a one-time easement for holding water on their land. Thirty-seven flood control structures are in place in Lyon county, reducing the water flow to one-half of what it had been previously. Ten counties have joined Lyon County in a flood control project. They have just received a $200,000 grant for downsizing culverts and various structures.

When is the Thief River not a river but a ditch? Ditch 83 was made by cutting across many curves in the Thief River where water never ran before. The Thief River was very crooked. Where Ditch 83 did follow the channel now there are no signs of the old river bed which was destroyed. Near the south end of the dredged ditch one can see the old river bed which no longer carries water.

Even on the refuge the river no longer exists. It has become a lake. The old river curves along side the ditch are called oxbows. Most of these hold water and are good wildlife areas. One oxbow can be seen south of County Road 7 as you enter the refuge from the west.

Mud River runs into Agassiz form the east and it is diverted by Ditch 11 into Ditch 83. Southeast of the refuge is the Lost River which ran into Elm Lake and the refuge. This river got lost as it flowed into the peat of Elm Lake or the refuge. It is diverted by Ditch 200. The old riverbed can be seen southeast of Agassiz.

The Silver Creek crosses County Road 12 by the Satersdal Church. It follows the south side of Ditch 20 to Ditch 83. Ditch 20 diverts the water that once ran in the Silver Creek and some of the water that may have run in the Lost River. Ditch 20 goes straight east all the way to the sand beaches of Red Lake.

Let's take the naming of our waterways a little further. I had the honor of showing a professor of geology from the University of Minnesota the Thief and Red Lake Rivers, the famous cliffs near Red Lake Falls and the Old Treaty Crossing at Huot.

As we stood on the Eighth Street bridge looking at the river, the Thief River runs straight and the Red Lake River comes at a right angle into it. According to the professor, the Red Lake River should stop here and the Thief River go on over the Thief River falls.

The city of Red Lake Falls is built mostly on the Clearwater River. Why is it not called Clearwater Falls? Both of the rivers have falls or rapids in them. So is a ditch called a river? A river called a ditch? Or both? Where does the Thief River rightly start and where does it end?

Sincerely,
Clifford Steinhauer

Goodridge

Claire Ann Liedberg
681-4419

The newly furbished dinning room had a beautiful festive look with the traditional tree, garlands, greeting santa's on rafters, a giant welcome wreath on the wall and a colorful decorated table set for the diners.

The evening began with ordering from the menu. Robert Flaten said a norwegian prayer (table grace). Ethel Wiseth presented a story of the Christmas wreath, assembling a straw wreath with religious symbols. She stated wreaths are 2000 years old. They are the oldest symbol to greet visitors into someone's home. The wreath was giving as a door prize and won by guest Lynn Hanson. Another wreath was won by guest Erie Swanson.

Each lady was armed with a sprig of mistletoe which had a slip with a message of good luck that they read to the group. Ethel stated the mistletoe is the symbol for the kissing license's. The vine twister Arlene Prestibak collected many 25¢ fines for the clubs expense fund. Arlene also gave the closing prayer.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Lois Swanson in the afternoon on the 13th at 2:00 p.m.

The diners present were, Lois and Ernie Swanson, Lyn and Norma Hanson, Bob and Arlene Prestibak, Helen Charvested, Donna Rednlecki, Brad and Lona Nelson, Vance and Lori Wiseth, Tim and Michelle Prestibak, Ethel Wiseth, Mable Holstad, Robert Flaten.

Also submitted through the Northern Watch's website, was this message.

Bob and Doris Panek of Apache Jct. AZ would like to wish all our relatives, a Happy Holiday season.

A week ago Saturday Jodi Gustafson, Mrs. Nathan Liedberg and Mrs. Neil Liedberg had dinner together at the Rex Cafe in Thief River Falls to help Jodi celebrate her birthday.

Sunday Mr and Mrs. Neil Liedberg and Mr and Mrs Nathan Liedberg were among the many that attended a open house birthday party for Jodi Gustafson at her parents home, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Skadsom in Thief River Falls.

Later Sunday afternoon Mr and Mrs. Norman Liedberg accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Neil Liedberg to the Redeemer Lutheran Church for their St. Lucia Family Festival.

A week ago Friday evening Mrs. Neil Liedberg, Mrs. Dale Holtan, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Splanskowski of Lake Park, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Russ Culkins to Karlstad where they took in a business meeting and enjoyed potluck supper at the Charles Knapp home.

Terry Jensen visited and was a coffee guest at the Neil Liedberg home during the week.

Olga Dahlen visited at the Clarence and Clara Dahlen home on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Liedberg were among the many that attended the funeral of Hazel Hanson at the Ekelund Lutheran Church on Tuesday afternoon. Sincere sympathy to the family. Also sincere sympathy to the families of George Mick Sunsdahl, Emma Erickson and Inga Henrickson. May their memories be blessed.

I hope everyone had a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all of you.

Thank you to all that have given me news the past year.

Gully News

Sanna Brovold

Quite a few people from the Gully area and north of Gully attended funeral services for Orlean Rendahl at Kings Church in Fosston on Friday. At one time Orlean lived with his folks Ole and Julia Rendahl up in Hickory north of Gully. Orlean and his wife Caroline Erickson Rendahl had lived in Fosston since 1967. They have two sons, Don and Mary and Joel and Jackie and two daughters Judy and Allen Potvin and Joyce Rendahl. Orlean was a good accordion player and didn't spare in sharing that music with others. Pastor Anderson mentioned how from the beginning of time trumpets or other musical instruments have been used to spread "The good news." The ladies served a nice lunch after the service. Vernon and Lloyd Wold sang and played "Softly and Tenderly" and "Pass me not."

We have a new Post Mistress in Gully since Bob David's retired the first part of July. Barbara Sellers has taken care of us very efficiently and cheerfully. Now Patty Olson of Bagley will be here. I hope we will like her as well.

Gully American Legion Auxiliary members met at the Community Center on Monday and packed Cheer Baskets to promote a bit of Christmas cheer and good will. Members there to pack and then deliver the baskets of goodies were, Nancy Lee, Mary Berg, Cathy Singer, Irene Carlson, Luverne Fore and Sonne Brovold.

Emma Nyland and Effie Handy visited with Alice Thompson at Clearbrook on Sunday and also spent time with Lyn Turenne at Clearwater Lake. Mrs. Roy Nelson and friend from Lengby visited Effie on Monday and on Saturday Marian Handy of Fosston and Lyn Turenne visited Effie.

Legal Notices

December 17, 24, 1997
SECTION 00020 INVITATION TO BID
Notice is hereby given that CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS
THIEF RIVER FALLS, MN
will accept sub bids for construction of FURNISHINGS BID PACKAGE CITY OFFICES HISTORIC SOO LINE DEPOT
THIEF RIVER FALLS, MN
according to Drawings and Specifications prepared by Michael J. Burns, Architects Ltd., Moorhead, MN.

Sealed proposals will be accepted by the City Clerk's office, lower level of the City Auditorium, 123 Main Avenue North until 2:00 p.m., Thursday, January 8, 1998.

Bids must be delivered before the time and date indicated above where they will be publicly opened and read aloud. Bids received after that time will not be accepted.

Proposed Contract Documents may be examined at: Office of the Community Development Director, City Auditorium, 123 Main Avenue North, Thief River Falls, MN 56701; Michael J. Burns, Architects Ltd, 639 Center Avenue, Moorhead, MN 56560; Builder's Exchanges in Fargo and Grand Forks, ND; Builder's Exchanges in St. Paul and Minneapolis, MN; Builder's Exchange in Duluth, MN; FW Dodge Plan Room, Minneapolis, MN.

Bidders may secure copies of the proposed Contract Documents from the Office of the Architect on the following basis: 1. One copy of the Project Manual and one set of Drawings upon payment of $50.00 deposit, which is refundable to those submitting bids if the set is completely returned to the Architect, postpaid, in good condition within ten calendar days after the bid opening. 2. No partial sets will be issued.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a Bidder's Bond in a sum equal to five percent (5%) of the full amount of the bid, executed by the bidder as principal and by a surety company authorized to do business in the state of Minnesota, conditioned that if the principal's bid be accepted and the contract awarded to him, that within ten (10) days after the Notice of Award, the principal will execute and effect a contract in accordance with the terms of his proposal and a contractor's (Performance Payment) bond as is required by law and the regulations and determinations of the governing board.

No proposal shall be read or considered which does not fully comply with the above provisions as to bond. Any deficient proposal submitted will be resealed and returned to the bidder immediately.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive irregularity in the bids and in the bidding. The Owner further reserves the right to hold all legitimate proposals for a period of thirty (30) days after the date fixed for the opening thereof.

OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
PENNINGTON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
NOVEMBER 25, 1997 5:00 PM

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Pennington County Courthouse Board Room in Thief River Falls, Tuesday November 25, 1997, at 5:00 PM. Members present: Donald Jensen, Bob Carlson, Charles Naplin, Arden Comstock. Member absent: Oliver Swanson.

Sheriff Moe and Mr Drury from the Department of Corrections met with the County Board to discuss the possibility of housing minimum security State prisoners in Thief River Falls. The County would be paid $50 per person per day. The Department of Corrections is looking to place 20 prisoners here for the long run. The cost for the County would be to purchase and remodel a building and their meals. The State of Minnesota will pick up the medical expenses incurred for these prisoners. If a crew is housed here they will start to work in East Grand Forks because of the great need for affordable housing. The County Board would like to see a guarantee from the State of Minnesota regarding the funding before any kind of investment is made.

The following resolution was moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Carlson and upon vote was unanimously carried:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Minnesota Department of corrections has discussed with the Pennington County Board the possibility of housing a State Prisoner work crew in Pennington County on a per diem basis and

WHEREAS, Pennington County would use the per diem payments to provide housing for the prisoners in a minimum security facility and

WHEREAS, Pennington County could also use the minimum security facility to house county inmates serving time under the Huber Law or Sentence to Serve which would reduce the over crowded condition sometimes experienced in the County Jail.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Pennington County Board of Commissioners do hereby express an interest in housing State Prisoners under the Institution County Work Crew program.

Howard Person met with the County Board to review the final Septic System Ordinance. The Pollution Control Agency has accepted this ordinance which covers the entire county. Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to adopt the Pennington County Sewage and Waste Water Ordinance as written, County Ordinance #6. Motion unanimously carried.

Mr. Person has talked to Minnko regarding the reconstruction of the Processing building located on Pennington Co. property. He will have to discuss further with Minnko about amounts that would compensate for not replacing the bathroom and office for insurance purposes. Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to authorize Howard Person to pursue the reconstruction of the Solid Waste Processing building and to authorize Minnko Building Systems to repair the east building at the Solid Waste Facility if it is found that bids are not required. Motion unanimously carried.

It was noted that the November 1, 1997 SCORE payment to SWISS-PENNCO was approved for payment by the County Auditor.

Delton Schulz, County Engineer, and George Broadwell, Assistant Engineer, met with the County Board to discuss the Highway Department items. The Highway Department received a bill for their Environmental Assessment Report from GME Consultants Inc. on C.S.A.H. #16. The County Engineer needs to make some changes to the report and send it back to them, then he will pay the amount due of $1050.00.

There is a meeting with the architect on December 4, 1997 at 1:00 PM in the Pennington County Courthouse to discuss the status of a proposed Government complex building. All the participants involved with the building are invited.

The County Engineer, Delton Schulz, informed the County Board that John Wolbeck, Highway Technician II terminated his employment effective December 7, 1997. Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to accept John Wolbeck's resignation and to thank him for his years of service for Pennington County. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Engineer requested authority to promote Mark Swanson and Jerry Mattson to Maintenance Worker IV. The County Board wants to wait until after the next meeting for this decision. Also the Engineer wants to advertise for a Highway Technician II. The County Board also held this action until a later date.

County Ditches # 38, # 40 and # 51 were inspected by the County Engineer. The information gathered will be put into their files. If any improvements were to be done on the ditches, the County would have to go through the Red Lake Watershed. The County Board directed the County Engineer to put together a letter of life on size and invert elevation of culverts on County Ditch # 51.

As duly advertised, Delton Schulz, County Engineer opened the bids for SAP 57-598-34, L2431 on November 14 at 10:00 A.M. The Following bids were received: Landwehr Construction Inc, St. Cloud $68,848.00; Hedeen Construction, Thief River Falls $73,487.00; Plummer Exc., Plummer $77,260.00; Lyan Construction, Grygla $76,641.40; Midwest Contracting, Marshall $72,695.00.

The County Engineer recommended the low bid of Landwehr Construction of $68,848.00. Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to accept the bid of Landwehr Construction Inc for $68,848.00 as the best and lowest bid received for project SAP 57-598-34. Motion unanimously carried.

The following resolution was moved by Commissioner Naplin, seconded by Commissioner Carlson and upon vote was unanimously carried:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, The County of Pennington has applied to the Commissioner of Transportation for a grant from the Minnesota State Transportation Fund for the construction/reconstruction of County Road (58) Bridge No. L2431 (57J16) and

WHEREAS, The application for the grant has been reviewed the Northwest Regional Development Commission, and

WHEREAS, The amount of the grant has been determined to be $67,498.00 by reason of the lowest responsible bid.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the County of Pennington does hereby affirm that any cost of the bridge in excess of the grant will be appropriated from the fund available to the County of Pennington and that any grant monies appropriated for the bridge but not required, based on the final estimate, shall be returned to the Minnesota State Transportation Fund.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that whereas Federal monies are being used to participate in the cost of the bridge grant monies as matching funds shall be transferred directly to the agency account and that the records of the County of Pennington shall so state.

Delton Schulz reviewed the Pennington County's Personnel policy with the County Board regarding the Highway Department. Some items discussed were preapproved expenditures, personal vehicles in County Shops and personnel time cards. The board emphasized that Pennington County property is not for personal use. The County Board directed Mr. Schulz to review these suggestions with County Attorney Dave Olin.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve a Retailer's Off Sales Non-Intoxicating Malt Liquor License (3.2) to Larry and Beatrice Kruse for Kruse In, St. Hilaire. Motion unanimously carried.

MRCC, Minnesota Rural Counties Caucus will be having their last annual meeting December 18, 1997 in Bemidji at the Northern Inn.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to appoint Donald Jensen as delegate to the MRCC for 1998 and appoint Oliver Swanson as an alternate. Motion unanimously carried.

The Northwest Regional Development Commission is having a meeting December 13, 1997 at the Eagles in Crookston from 10:00 - 12:30.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to approve a duplicate warrant #119057 dated August 7, 1997, in the amount of $218.80 issued to Ron Paggen without issuing an indemnifying bond. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Comstock moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to authorize County Auditor Kenneth Olson to coordinate with Red Lake County for the advertisement for the position of County Ag Inspector. Motion unanimously carried.

The Law Enforcement Union will start arbitration on December 16 at 10:00 a.m. in the meeting room at the Courthouse.

A mediation session was set for December 8 at the Pennington County Courthouse for negotiations on the Welfare Union contract.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to reappoint LaRue Johnson to the Quin County Advisory Committee. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Board discussed the appointment to the Red Lake Watershed Board but no action was taken.

Commissioner Carlson moved, seconded by Commissioner Naplin to appoint Sam Honebrink to the Inter-County Nursing Board. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Comstock to approve the October 28th, November 3rd and November 12th minutes. Motion unanimously carried.

Commissioner Naplin moved, seconded by Commissioner Carlson to adjourn to December 9, 1997. Motion unanimously carried.

Erickson named acting dean in BSU college

Dr. Nancy Erickson, a native of Roseau, has been named acting dean for the College of Arts and Letters at Bemidji State University to replace Dr. Judy McDonald, who has announced her retirement.

Dr. Erickson received her undergraduate degrees in English and German from Concordia College in Moorhead and master and doctorate degrees in German literature from the University of Minnesota. She is professor of German and chair of the Department of Modern Languages at BSU where she has been on the faculty since 1981.

Fire marshal offers Holiday fire tips

The winter holidays are a time for celebration and that means more cooking, lots of parties and a risk of fire. Serious dangers exist for you and your family. Follow these fire safety tips to help keep your family and guests safe during the holidays.

Be careful when burning candles. Be sure they are kept well away from decorations or other combustible materials. Always keep candles, as well as matches and lighters, up high, out of reach of children and never leave children unattended in a room with a lit candle. Keep candles away from Christmas trees, wreaths, and never place in windows. Secure candles in tight fitting holder preferably into holders with glass globes to protect against contact with clothing or other things that may burn easily.

When decorating with lights, be sure to purchase only those labeled by an approved testing laboratory. For outside decorations use only those labeled for outdoor use and plug them directly into outdoor receptacles. Indoor lights should always be unplugged before leaving home or going to bed.

Decorate using flame-retardant or non combustible materials. Avoid using candles as much as possible during parties. Provide guests with large deep ash trays and dispose of ashes into an empty coffee can with a lid and allow them to sit for 24 hours before tossing them into the trash. Cigarette smoking is the leading cause of fire fatalities in Minnesota, and smoking coupled with alcohol is a deadly mix. After a party, make a quick check inside and under upholstered furniture and check wastebaskets for cigarette butts that may still be smoldering if someone disposed of them improperly.

When choosing a Christmas tree, pull on the needles to test the tree's freshness. If the tree is fresh, it will be hard to pull the needle off. Put the tree in a stand that will not tip over. Place the tree well away from heat sources and exists and water it daily. Make sure all artificial trees have a flame retardant label. If you have a fire in your fireplace, find an alternate spot for Christmas stockings. Choose holiday gifts wisely, passing up those that are highly flammable. And dispose of holiday wrappings as soon as you are finished with your gift exchanging, placing them into a closed metal container outdoors.

Make sure you roll up your sleeves and tuck in loose clothing before cooking. Turn pot handles in and never leave cooking unattended on the stove. Make sure appliances are in good working condition and clean. If a pan catches on fire, put a lid on it and turn off the stove.

Make sure you have installed smoke detectors on every level of your home and they are tested monthly. If a fire occurs, these life-saving devices will alert you to take action immediately.

Gasoline prices expected lower this holiday

Minnesota motorists feeling the pinch of holiday expenses will get a break at the gas pump. A current fuel survey shows that the statewide average price of self-serve, unleaded gasoline is $1.16, more than six cents less than over the Thanksgiving holiday when it was $1.224. Last year, the price of unleaded self-serve gasoline was $1.33.

A seasonal drop in demand, typical for this time of year, and a drop in the price of crude oil have contributed to these lower prices.

Holiday travel expected to be very high

Santa and his reindeer may have trouble navigating the highways and skyways this holiday as a record 44.5 million people expect to travel 100 miles or more from home during the Christmas and New Year's period, according to AAA.

This year's travel volume is up a healthy five percent compared to 1996's 42.3 million holiday trips.

"In the last five years, Christmas and New Year's travel has increased 26 percent, telling us that the holiday period has become more than just a time to get together with family and friends — it's a time to vacation, as well," said Barb Buchholz, spokesperson, AAA.

For the 1997 holiday, an estimated 34.9 million people will travel by automobile, light truck or recreational vehicle, up four percent compared to 33.6 million the year before. Holiday travel by airplane, bus, rail or ship is expected to jump 10 percent to 9.6 million, compared to 8.7 million in 1996.

Red Lake County Sheriff president of Sheriff's Ass'n.

Red lake County Sheriff Al Morken has been elected president of the Minnesota Sheriff's Association.

"If you say you want to make things better for everyone then you have to get involved," said Sheriff Morken.

Morken says he hopes he can do a good job for rural Minnesota. In the new position, Morken will work on legislative issues. He particularly hopes to secure funding for snowmobiles for sheriff's offices and get tax rebates for building materials used for regional correction centers. The Minnesota Sheriff's Association also tries to coordinate issues that come up each year. One such project involves the computer systems law enforcement officials use to obtain information. The state organization also works on issues that affect sheriff's offices throughout the United States.

Morken expects to attend a number of state and national conferences. In his absence Chief Deputy Les Arlt will take care of things in Red Lake county. Morken said he has a lot of confidence in the ability [illegible] as Chief Deputy.

His new duties will mean less time with his family. Morken said he probably wouldn't have taken on the duties if his family and Chief Deputy Arlt hadn't been very supportive.

Sheriff Morken is the son of Alfred and Margaret Morken of Grygla. He started his law enforcement career in May of 1971 as a police officer in the City of Oklee. In May of 1973 he was hired by Sheriff Kermit Knutson as a deputy for Red Lake County. In January 1984, he was appointed as Chief Deputy for Red Lake County until he was elected Sheriff in November 1986.

Sheriff Morken is among elite company. The only other sheriffs in this region to be elected president to the organization are Charles Richards of Pennington County (1982), and Paul Kuschenius of Roseau County.

Some of the information for this article came from a December 17 Red Lake Falls Gazette story written by Dorinda Anderson.

Sheriff Al Morken of Red Lake County receives the oath of office from Ninth District Judge Dennis J. Murphy. The oath of office was administered to Sheriff Morken at Bemidji during the Minnesota Sheriff's Education Conference. Sheriff Morken was recently elected State President of the Minnesota Sheriff's Association.

Elk's Club in Thief River Falls donated $517.50 to the Christmas for Pennington Co. program. The money was raised during the Annual Spaghetti Dinner. The club also collected 75 pounds of canned food items which were given to the Area Food Shelf. Thursday forenoon Vernice Larson went to Thief River Falls and met Carol Ness. They did some shopping and also went out for lunch. Afterwords I visited with Sue Dondelinger.

Saturday the 6th, Curt and Elaine Thompson, Clarice Trontvet and Rachel Tvelten drove out to Marvin and Rose Nelson's home and helped them with their Christmas decorating and the tree streamers, etc. It looked so nice and like Christmas. We had a potluck dinner and afternoon goodies. We also had fun working together, giving you the true Christmas spirit of helping others.

Kay Nelson of Middle River visited with Hanna Moen on Friday.

Tuesday evening the 9th Grandpa and Grandma Curt and Elaine Thompson took in the Christmas program at the Alvarado Elementary School in which their grandson Ryan and granddaughter Reanne Mathsen had a part. They did a great job and Ryan also had a solo part and did very good. We were proud of them both.

Monday Laura Roppe, Harriet Kujava, Gladys Erickson and Kathy Erickson went to Fargo and did some shopping. In the evening they met Mrs. Orland Roppe and Lisa Bye at the Pizza Hut and enjoyed pizza together.

Thursday evening Arnold and Vernice Larson attended the basketball game in Newfolden in which their grandsons Andy and Josh played.

Sunday afternoon the 8th, Curt and Elaine Thompson drove to the Greenbush Nursing Home to help Emma Kammen celebrate her 87th birthday. We brought a large sheet cake decorated with red roses and green leaves (also for Christmas.) She opened her gifts and we took several pictures of her. Then we had a singing program with the Christmas songs and others. There were about 55 people there in all. Happy Birthday Blessings Emma.

Saturday evening visitors at the Hanna Moen home were Marvin and Betty Moen.

LeRoy and Ruth Sustad had a wonderful Sunday evening (food, fun and fellowship) at the Merle and Buelah Bjornrud home of rural Newfolden. Others present were Vern and Maryls Lefrooth of Strandquist, Delbert and Laura Erickson of Thief River Falls, Eunice Waterworth, Earl and Jan Hanson, Floyd and DeElta Hanson and Nancy and Ken McKenzie.

LeRoy and Ruth Sustad were amongst the many hundreds of people, not only Swedes, who gathered at Grace Lutheran Church for the Annual old Swedish tradition called Santa Lucia Day Festival on Saturday afternoon. This is sponsored by the Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society. Refreshments of Swedish goodies were served in the Fellowship Hall following the program.

What Christmas means to me: What Christmas means to me is the gift of Jesus Christ, God's only son. Some more gift's are especially giving not getting because if you give you will get because you gave to others, and that would be a great deed because Jesus would see what you have done. I'm also thankful for my family, friends, teachers, priests & principal for taking time for me and others. It's Advent, the time for the coming for the day of the King coming to rule Heaven & earth to watch over us on the great night, Christmas.

Alex Yaggie

What Christmas means to me: On Christmas day Jesus was born. We all celebrate. I have fun with my friends and family. We decorate the tree at the house.

Joshua Skalsky

What Christmas means to me: At Christmas we have fun with friends and family. We like playing games with each other. I think that baking cookies is fun. I like decorating the tree and the house. I like visiting with other people.

Timmy Gaffaney

What Christmas means to me: I like Christmas because Jesus was born. We celebrate with our friends and family. I like making a snowman. I have cousins over to eat.

Tony Hoard

What Christmas means to me: I like Christmas because Christmas was the day that Jesus was born. We bake cookies and we play family games. We have fun together.

Spencer Johnson

What Christmas means to me: This is what Christmas means to me. I like to spend time with my family and giving presents and getting presents. I like to celebrate the birth of Jesus by going to church. I like putting up the Christmas tree and put up Christmas lights and then drink hot cocoa!

Matthew Olson

What Christmas means to me: I like to decorate the Christmas tree. We have people come visit. We play family games too but we don't fight. The thing I like the most is baking cookies. Christmas is Jesus's birthday.

Billy Mattson

What Christmas means to me: I like people to come and visit me and my family. Jesus was born on Christmas. It is fun with friends and family to help to bake cookies and to help decorate the tree and house.

Marae Kalinowski

What Christmas means to me: Me and mom like to bake cookies. My favorite is chocolate chip. I like to have a great time with my friends and family. Christmas is the time Jesus was born.

Andrew Rook

What Christmas means to me: Christmas is nice. We have fun with our friends and family. We bake Christmas cookies. We decorate our house.

Jordan Espeseth

What Christmas means to me: I like Christmas best because Jesus was born on Christmas day. I have fun with my friends and family. My family and I like to bake cookies. We like to decorate the Christmas tree too. I like to put the star on top of the Christmas tree.

Brandy Hermanson

What Christmas means to me: It's the birth of Jesus! I would give presents. To other people. I help my mom make cookies. I help decorate the tree and table. I Like christmas because Santo Claus comes to my house. He gives me a present or two. I like christmas because Santa Claus comes to my house. He gives me a present or two. I like his fluffy beard. we put sugar and cookies and milk on a plate. I love Christmas.

Ben Espeseth

What Christmas means to me: I like hanging the Christmas bulbs on the tree. I like helping my mom make cookies and decorate them. I like eating them too.

Jared Voecks

What Christmas means to me: Christmas means the birth of Jesus and giving to the poor. Christmas means to be nice to everybody. When it is Christmas we visit Grandma and Grampa and what we eat is pierogis and pickles and oplatek. The oplatek (Christmas Wafer) is just like the body of Jesus and we pass it around the table and share it. Pierogis are made out of dough and cheese and potato filling.

One time, Zane and my cousins where at Grandma's house and we pretended we where reindeer and that was fun.

Kari Anderson

What Christmas means to me: Christmas is a special time to be with family. I like to bake cookies with my mom. My sister and I get to do the frosting and the sprinkles. After we decorate our own tree, we like to drive around town and look at the Christmas lights. Christmas means a time to celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ. Every Christmas Eve my family goes to church. Then we go home and see if St. Nick has come. Every Christmas my mom and I go shopping and get a suprise present for my dad and my sister. The best part of Christmas for me is going to my Grandma's to see all twelve of my cousins! Merry Christmas.

Michelle Noreen

What Christmas means to me: Christmas means Love, caring, joy. It's a special time to be with your family. It's a time for Celebrating. It's a moment of peace. It's a time for rejoicing.

Kelly Thorstad

What Christmas means to me: Christmas is all about the birth of Jesus christ. It's time to spend time with your family. Right before Christmas is advent. It's time for giving presents and giving presents.

Isaac Victor Kalinoski

What Christmas means to me: What Christmas means to me is that Jesus was born. He told people, about God and love, and what it means it's a holy night. Merry Christmas.

Josh

What Christmas means to me: Singing Christmas carols, giving presents, and celebrating. Also there is decorating the Christmas tree, spending time with your family and others, and thinking about Jesus' birth and Advent. There is one most important thing which is to pray for the poor and every thing else.

Elizabeth Cox

What Christmas means to me: Giving presents to the poor. The great gift of Jesus Christ our Lord. Getting presents and the love of all. A special time to be with all you love. Time to put up the Christmas tree and decorations on the tree.

Joann

What Christmas means to me: Being with my Family! Jesus was born! Decorating the tree! Opening the presents! Eating a lot of good food! Going over to grandmas & grandpas!

Lauren Dondelinger

What Christmas means to me: What Christmas means to me is the birth of Jesus. It's a special time to be with our families. There's always a good feast. People Love each other. Saint Nick brings us Christmas presents. Being with each other to have a happy time. Receiving presents from our friends and relatives. To decorate the Christmas tree and presents.

1 cup butter, softened
1 cup chunky peanut butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
3 cups flour
16 oz. Snicker Bars – cut in half or thirds

Method: Cream sugars, butter & peanut butter, add vanilla & eggs, mix well. Add dry ingredients, mix well. Cut miniature Snickers in half, wrap dough around each bar, forming a ball. Cookies will flatten as they bake. Bake at 350° for 12 to 18 minutes

HAVE A VERY MERRY!

We'd like to say in all sincerity, hope your season's trimmed with peace, love, joy and prosperity!

Thanks for enriching our year with your friendship.

PIZZA HUT

PUMPKIN CRUNCH
MaryAnn Probasco
Palmer, Alaska

1 can (16 oz.) pumpkin
1 can (12 oz.) evaporated milk
3 eggs
1 1/2 cups sugar
4 teaspoons pumpkin spice
1/2 teaspoons salt
1 dry cake mix (yellow, white or spice)
1 cup chopped nuts
1 cup butter

Combine pumpkin, milk, sugar, spice and salt, mix well. Pour into pan 9x13 glass cake pan. Sprinkle dry cake mix on top, then butter and nuts. Bake 350° 45 to 50 minutes. Whipped cream on top.

PARTY ONIONS
Virginia Olson
Thief River Falls

1# small onions (can use canned onions)
1 cup water (or juice from canned onions)
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt and pepper to taste
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons chopped or slivered almonds
1/4 cup butter
2 tablespoons flour

Method: Pour boiling water over onions, let stand then drain and peel. Combine water, brown sugar, salt, paprika and pepper and bring to a boil. Add onions cover and simmer for 30 minutes or until tender. (If using canned onions omit this step and just simmer ingredients without onions for a few minutes.) Drain off liquid and save. Place onions in greased 1 1/2 quart casserole. Brown almonds in butter. Add flour and brown lightly. Stir in liquid from onions, cook until slightly thickened. Then add Worcestershire sauce, pour over onions, cover and bake at 375° for 25 minutes. Serves 6. Can fix the day ahead. Put in refrigerator, then heat in oven as directed.

Combine all ingredients and beat 6 minutes on medium speed. Grease and flour bundt pan. Bake 350° 50 - 55 minutes. Cool in pan for 1 hour. Serve with Cool Whip or whipped cream.

NORWEGIAN JELLY COOKIES
Doris Hallquist
Thief River Falls

1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 egg yolk
1 egg white
1 cup flour
1 cup finely chopped nuts

Cream butter and sugar, add beaten egg yolk and flour. Beat egg white lightly with a fork. Dip small balls of dough in egg white, then in nuts. Place on cookie sheet, press down center with finger. Bake in 350° oven for 8 minutes. Remove from oven and press down center again, return to oven and bake till light brown (5 to 8 minutes). Remove from cookie sheet and fill center with jelly. (I use red and mint jellies for Christmas)

MARINATED VEGETABLE SALAD
Corinne Haugstad
Hallock

1 pkg. fresh broccoli cut into bite-size pieces
1 head cauliflower cut into bite-size pieces
1 cup sliced black olives, drained
1 cup sliced water chestnuts, drained
2 cups sliced mushrooms (optional)
1 sliced onion
1 basket cherry tomatoes, halved
1 pkg. Good Seasons Italian Dressing

Prepare dressing according to directions, mix vegetables and let stand overnight in dressing. Add 1 bottle Cucumber Ranch (KRAFT) dressing and mix lightly. When sealed this salad keeps one week.

POPCORN CRUNCH
Lucille Myers
Thief River Falls

5 - 6 cups popped corn
1 1/3 cup sugar
cashews
salted peanuts
1 cup butter
1/2 cup white corn syrup

Put popcorn in a large buttered bowl and set aside. Mix sugar, butter and syrup in a sauce pan. Boil over medium heat for 10 - 15 minutes or to hard ball stage. Remove from heat. Stir in vanilla. Pour over popcorn and nuts. Spread onto cookie sheet, cool and break into pieces. Store in dry containers.

Mildred Duden
Plummer

1 cup white sugar
1 cup cold water
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon All Spice
2 cups apples (cut fine)

Boil together until well mixed, let cool real well.

2 1/4 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
8 large red and green gumdrops cut small

Add to above mixture. Bake in 325° oven for about 35 - 45 minutes. Makes 2 loaves.

May the happy music of Christmas fill all your days with harmony.
On a joyous note,
we say "thanks".

ROSETTES
Doris Hallquist
Thief River Falls

A deep saucepan or automatic deep fryer and a rosette iron will be needed
2 eggs
2 teaspoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
Beat very slightly with a fork eggs, sugar and salt. Add and beat just until smooth milk and flour. Heat lard to 365°. Heat iron in lard before dipping into batter. When iron is hot enough, dip in batter to within 1/4 inch of top of iron. Return to hot lard, covering iron entirely for 20 to 35 seconds, or until delicately browned. When brown, drain over fat a few seconds, using tip of a sharp knife. Carefully remove rosette from iron. Drain on absorbent paper. Sprinkle with powdered sugar. (Hints - if rosette is difficult to remove form iron, it has not been fried long enough. If batter drops from iron, it is not deep enough in fat or iron is too hot.)

Allen Aaseby is unique as designer and builder

Thief River Falls machinist gives up 25 years in Lincoln classrooms to meet demand for his abilities

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

As a builder for manufacturers, Allen Aaseby deals every day with tolerances that seem intolerably small and precision that can make a thousandth of an inch appear sloppy. After 25 years of teaching machine shop, electronics, drafting, wood shop and auto mechanics in the Thief River Falls public schools, he moved out of the classroom a couple of years ago to devote full time to meeting the demands of his machine shop, Aaseby Metal Works.

With a local reputation for being a bit of a mechanical genius, Allen is quietly building on that recognition in the unique position of being both designer and builder. In an age of specialization, it is typical for one business or department to design and another to use the design blueprints and build to specifications.

Local manufacturers have found Allen's expertise to be well suited to their operations as he is able to interpret their needs, design the machines which will do the work, and then convert the design into working equipment for them to use in their testing or manufacturing programs.

Aaseby is a native of Thief River Falls, the son of Alvin (who died in 1979) and Carmen (who continues to live in Thief River Falls). He graduated from Lincoln high school in 1965 and was in the first graduating class of what was then Northland Community College in 1967.

Shop Built In 1975-76

In 1970 he graduated from Bemidji State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Education and that fall began his teaching career in the local schools. In 1975-76 he built his machine shop northeast of Thief River Falls near Johnson's Riverside Boarding Home. The building has 5,000 square feet, including his residence. He is not married.

In his shop he worked nights, weekends, vacations and summers at a variety of building projects, learning by experience and sharpening his already considerable skills. He made dozens of trailers from small utility sizes to triple axle rigs used to haul large front end loaders as well as many parts and small machines.

His versatility created a good deal of business as he was almost always ready to accept a new challenge. As his profession has evolved, however, he now finds little time for the small projects which once filled much of his time.

Most of his jobs are still one of a kind, but their complexity, intricacy and accuracy have multiplied. As standards in industry have tightened, he has had to keep pace as best he could. While most people would consider the tolerances with which he must work to be incredibly small (his new mill reads to the 10th of a 1,000th), he points out that the industry with computerization is capable of being much more exact.

Among his most regular customers are Arctic Cat, Inc., Digi-Key Corporation and Independent Machine Service, all Thief River Falls businesses. For the most part, representatives of those companies tell him what work they need to have a machine perform and he conceptualizes the design and builds it from scratch. He has never built a machine from someone else's prints.

Aaseby also says he has never had to go looking for a job and he has never had to advertise to get all the work he can handle. In June he added his first full-time employees, hiring Joey Vettleson and Jared Housey as machinists.

"I had both of them as students at Lincoln and I knew how good they could be," Aaseby said. "They both worked here part-time when they were home from classes at Staples Technical College and they both graduated from the Staples program last spring. I've been more than

An example of one of the pieces of equipment produced by Allen Aaseby in his machine shop northeast of Thief River Falls is this creation made for a local manufacturer. The air and hydraulic-powered machine has its own hydraulic system in the base and switches which control clamps and a battery of drills. This machine has since been modified with more operations added.

Crop production clinics scheduled

Agricultural producers and others interested in crop production are encouraged to attend one of a series of Crop Clinics in the region on January 6, 7 and 8. The clinics are sponsored by the University of Minnesota Extension Service.

Clinics start at 9:30 a.m. and run until 11:45 a.m. and continue in the afternoon from 1 to 3:15 p.m. Lunch is on your own.

The clinics will take place January 6 in Mahnomen, January 7 in the Hallock city hall, and January 8 in the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

The meetings are set up with two concurrent sessions and each session will last 45 minutes. The speakers during the day will be extension specialists from the University of Minnesota. Dr. Beverly Durgan, weed specialist, will cover "Weed Management in 1998." Dr. Ian McRae entomologist, will cover "Insects to Look for in 1998: Aphids and Wheat Midge", during his first presentation and "Alfalfa Leaf Miner and Corn Borer" in his second session. Dr. George Rehm, soil scientist, will talk about "Profit Fertilization for Soybeans in the Red River Valley". Dr. Roger Jones, plant pathologist, will summarize "Chemical and Cultural Control of Small Grain Diseases". Dr. Albert Sims, soil scientist from the Northwest Experiment Station, will talk about "Nitrogen Fertilizer Application, Reaction, and Management in Calcareous Soils". Carlyle Holen, integrated pest management specialist, will speak on "Split Applications of Herbicides." Dr. Jochum Wiersma, small grains specialist, will share about Growth and Development of Small Grains."

City council thanks Mayor Reeve, certifies $1,184,800 1998 tax levy

Thief River Falls City Council thanked Mayor Bob Reeve for his dedication and service to the community. They presented him with a plaque during the city council meeting held Monday night. Reeve's term in office comes to a close January 1.

Mayor Reeve was also presented a special plaque from the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. Executive Vice President Bob Bergan presented Mayor Reeve with a check for $2,000 and a plaque, which made light of the fact that the chamber was not there to ask the mayor and council for money — this time. The check presented to Mayor Reeve represented donations collected for Christmas lighting in the community.

■ During the Monday night meeting, the council also certified the city's final tax levy for 1998 to be $1,184,800. That amount represents a 10 percent increase over last year's levy amount. Despite the levy increase and major cuts in city budget, the city decided it could not afford to pay a deficit request from Multi-County HRA. The $237,696 deficit request was based, according to the HRA, on performance of Summerfield Place and the student housing facility behind Northland Community and Technical College. According to the contractual arrangement, the city is under a "moral" not legal obligation to pay the deficit. It was noted at the meeting that every attempt was made to try and work that amount into the city's budget.

Thief River Falls is in the same boat as many other communities with Multi-County HRA housing. In southern Minnesota, a lawsuit on the very question resulted in a ruling that the counties needed only to attempt their "best effort" to keep the bonds from going into default if the revenue stream behind the bonds was inadequate.

Council representative Frank Hamerlinck worded a resolution to adopt the 1998 budgets to include language that the housing deficit had been discussed numerous times, along with a levy increase and that the council had decided to deny the request.

■ The council approved a snow removal policy for downtown businesses. The area covered by the policy includes the downtown area of Thief River Falls excluding Northwest Medical Center and Hartz Foods, at their request.

In the past, the city has hauled away snow that had been plowed into piles by private snow plowers from various parking lots within the city. The city is no longer able to remove that snow without compensation, yet private snow plowers have expressed no interest in removing the snow. To help in the removal of that snow, and as a safety measure, the city has decided that it will remove the snow for compensation. A contract defining the details and cost, $16.50 per load, has been developed. If a business wants to receive the service, they must sign the agreement with the city.

In other business, the council: approved a certificate of survey for Family Bowl, approved a variance request from James F. Marty to Larson, Shull and Barrett regarding a subdivision regulation, approved the cable television franchise extension with Sjoberg's Inc. through 2007, authorized publication of the cable television franchise in summary form, appointed Roger DeLap as temporary city and county representative to the Northwest Services Group board of directors, approved the city's 1998-2001 capital improvement plan, approved a variance request to a fire code for the Pennington County Family Preservation Center, approved a resolution increasing the city's cost for a single health insurance plan to $167 per month and a family health insurance plan to $380 per month, authorized the community development director to submit a matching grant pre-application to the Minnesota Historical Society for photographic reproduction, approved a change order to the depot, which would cost $5,460, approved a $250,000 inter-departmental loan from the electric department to the water department, called for a feasibility report concerning 1998 improvements to First Street and the Industrial Park, approved the appointment of Ron Lindberg to the Area Transportation Partnership committee, charged off liquor store NSF checks to bad debts expense for 1997, approved the new statutory liability insurance tort limits of $300,000 per individual claim and $750,000 per occurrence, approved general release of Tyler Pipe Company from all claims and liability for repair of a faulty tee replacement on city water main, approved a salary progression raise for James Anderson, approved the assignment of Les Cota to the position of power plant operator, electric department, re-allocated 1997 Capital budget for a salt and sand spreader to the RCF street equipment for purchase in 1998, authorized administration to post for the position of city mechanic, approved general business licenses for 1998, and approved dance license applications for music patrol on January 2 and 16 at the armory.

Year-end review recalls events from area during 1997

The year of 1997 began with stories on the Burnsville PeeWee A hockey team visiting Thief River Falls because of a book called River of Champions. The book, written by Mary Halvorson Schofield, documented the story of the 1956 hockey team from Thief River Falls which went on to win the state championship. The year also began with notice that Deb Zak, extension service leader, was leaving Thief River Falls to assume the role of director for the northwest district of Minnesota Extension Service. The year also began with a story about four people presumed drowned when their truck van broke through the ice on Lake of the Woods.

The January 4 edition of the Northern Watch included a story about the difficult conditions faced by the local dive rescue team when they went to Lake of the Woods to help recover the bodies of four people who had drowned in the accident.

Activities of the Lincoln High School Sno-Fest were highlighted in the January 8 edition of The Times. The first year year baby, Miranda Malave, was born to Kae Legg on January 4. Grand Forks Clinic began providing outpatient services at Northwest Medical Center.

Preparations for the Ironman 250, which was offering as much as $60,000 in cash and prizes, were reviewed in the January 11 edition of the Northern Watch. It was announced that Vernon Johnson of Clearbrook had been elected vice president of the Minnesota Association of Watershed Districts.

The January 15 edition of The Times reported that David Stenlund of Red Rock, Ontario, had won the Ironman 250 Pro 440 Liquid class. The newspaper included race results and numerous pictures from the race. It was also announced in this edition that the Pennington and Red Lake American Dairy Associations had merged.

Snow had been piling up this winter, but it eventually became too much. The January 18 edition of the Northern Watch reported that a January 16 snow storm was a snow disaster. This storm was to be just one of many.

Keeping up with technological change, The Times and Northern Watch officially went "online", now appearing on Internet with its own site. In what would become a long drawn out battle in 1997, a meeting on septic system regulation drew a concerned crowd in Thief River Falls.

The January 25 edition of the Northern Watch included stories about the Goodridge High School Snofest, Northwest Sentence to Service, Barb Jauquet-Kalinowski, who was elected to head the state library association, and the Thief River Falls SnoDrifters and their attempt to maintain snowmobile trails.

Curt Nomann assumed leadership of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce at the organization's annual banquet. Also in the January 29 edition of The Times, snow storm make up days were discussed by the school superintendent, Oklee teachers were considering filing for state arbitration, Lincoln High School was holding its second annual science fair, and a sagging ceiling at Grygla gave students a couple days of vacation.

February

Third quarter sales reported at Arctic Cat reported an increase in earnings, according to the February 1 edition of the Northern Watch. School District 564 reported combining several jobs into two positions. Glenn Chiodo and LeRoy Vigen were interviewed about their new duties. Team Ski-Doo caught everyone's attention with their tune-up and training near Goodridge.

GMC 500 snowmobile racers roared into Thief River Falls and were featured in the February 5 edition of The Times as were fishermen participating in the annual Knights of Columbus fishing derby. This edition also included a report on science fair winners and the Multi-Events Center.

Corey Davidson of Holt hung on to win the GMC Ten Stars 500 cross-country snowmobile race, according to the February 8 edition of the Northern Watch. Harold Johnson's contribution to the student loan program was the subject of a feature story. In this edition, it was also reported that final settlement in the Marshall County Central School fire had been reached following an appellate court decision.

School Board for School District 564 accepted the recommendation of its superintendent to cut $229,000 from the budget, according to the February 12 edition of The Times. Concern about rising snow drifts began to cause a flood of questions and insurance offices regarding floods. Community Policing Block Clubs were being promoted by law enforcement.

The City Council awarded contracts for renovating the Soo Depot, according to the February 15 edition of the Northern Watch. The schedule for the annual skating show was announced, and a Winter Merriment dinner and concert was planned at Northland Community and Technical College.

A new ordinance creating stiffer penalties for sale of tobacco products to minors was adopted by the City Council, according to the February 19 edition of The Times. Hartz Foods principals continued to be optimistic about its future. A feature story outlined their reasons for optimism. Dutch elm disease claimed 81 trees in Thief River Falls during 1996.

In the February 22 edition of the Northern Watch, Polaris announced it would enter the motorcycle field. FEMA announced that funds would be used to install flood gates.

Ray and Jan Nelson of Thief River Falls joined a select group of climbers to climb the high points of 48 states. Their adventures were

A new ordinance creating stiffer penalties for sale of tobacco products to minors was adopted by the City Council, according to the February 19 edition of The Times. Hartz Foods principals continued to be optimistic about its future. A feature story outlined their reasons for optimism. Dutch elm disease claimed 81 trees in Thief River Falls during 1996.

In the February 22 edition of the Northern Watch, Polaris announced it would enter the motorcycle field. FEMA announced that funds would be used to install flood gates.

Ray and Jan Nelson of Thief River Falls joined a select group of climbers to climb the high points of 48 states. Their adventures were 1997 features in review

by Kathi Carlson
The Times* Reporter

Think back to December 31 one year ago. Could anyone of us have predicted or even imagined what 1997 would have in store for us?

By this date last year weather was our enemy. Already, it had been winter for a very long time. Nature's nastiness continued as we wondered what kind of education our children were getting when there seemed to be more snow days than school days, and it wasn't uncommon to require snow removal services more than once in a 24-hour period.

And then, when the calendar said it was spring, and we thought we saw light at the end of the tunnel, we were slapped by a storm and power outage that threatened our homes and left us chilled to the bone. Historic floods wiped out a number of small towns and finally, the cities of East Grand Forks and Grand Forks.

At this time last year I was a homemaker of 19 years who had decided to venture back out into the "real" world. While I was happy for having had the opportunity to stay home and raise my children, I longed for a new experience and a paycheck with my name on it.

Taking my skills into consideration, I applied for and got a job in the commercial sewing department at Arctic Cat, starting on January 8. I soon learned that the sewing of a hobbyist had little in common with the sewing in a factory. It was very hard work, and I was exhausted at the end of the day—hurting everywhere as my body tried to adjust to physical labor.

When the ad appeared in The Times in late March for a reporter I said to myself, "I can do that," and on May 8 I began the adventure of my life.

Newspaper offices are busy places, and about all I could do was keep my eyes and ears open to try to figure out what it was I was supposed to be doing. Scared to death of the unfamiliar computer on my desk, I brought my 18-year-old son to work with me a couple of times to show me how to work the thing.

It was Arctic Cat that offered me my first story opportunity as I joined a group of outdoor reporters from across the country as Arctic introduced its 1997 ATV during an exciting, all-day excursion in the Beltrami forest area.

A few days later I nervously handed Mr. Lundin the written account of my experience. My heart sang when he handed it back to me with a few corrections and a few favorable comments.

Sixty or so stories later, I'm still a little nervous when I give Marv my stories for editing but welcome all that this wise and experienced man has to teach me.

Reporting has been an opportunity to meet wonderful people and visit interesting places. I'd be at a loss to name a favorite, and I can't think of a single interview that I didn't enjoy.

I asked questions and took notes over the sound of the engine of an airboat on the water at Agassiz Wildlife Refuge as I interviewed Bruce Eichhorst, the associate professor from the University of North Dakota who spent the summer studying grebes—birds I'd never heard of.

I was fortunate enough to meet several interesting visitors to Thief River Falls—German film producer Suzanne Franzel, Norwegian cat breeder and retired journalist Stina Eriksen and her son Bjorn, Swedish Dala painter Ann Nilsson, Ryan Drees who has a number of interesting jobs and is currently living in Japan, Rosemary Hartner who presented a challenging seminar on marketing to area agri-women, and Thief River Falls native Kathryn Sheller Dahlstrom who has authored a series of Christian children's books based on her inner city experiences.

Other stories involved intriguing local folks. In June I was there when Paula Kjos, a young hearing-impaired woman, received Casper, a mixed breed dog trained to act as her ears and make her life easier. Casper was trained in Colorado by Hearing Dog International, a organization which originated in Minnesota and continues to receive the majority of its funding from the Lions Clubs of Minnesota.

Another time, I visited with Brian Stenseth and met his big kitty, "Freddie," a female mountain lion. Since our interview in July, Freddie has continued to grow in size and strength, and while she considers herself just another kitty cat, she requires careful handling because of that strength.

In October I wrote about Woody Mootz, the displaced East Grand Forks flood victim who made his home in the campground in Thief River Falls. A window washer by trade, Woody was overwhelmed by the many kindnesses he experienced during his stay in town. With cold weather around the corner, Woody left Thief River Falls shortly after the story was printed. The Times received a number of calls asking, "Where's Woody?" The last I heard he was living in his 16-foot trailer in a friend's driveway in East Grand Forks. He had spoken of visiting his brother in Arizona, and perhaps he is there washing windows and soaking up the sun with his dog Pepper.

Pastor Terri Cuppet provided an inspiring story. Blind since shortly after birth, Terri doesn't let a disability keep her from pursuing her goals or her work to combat racism.

In October, I wrote about Caroline Brunelle, the waitress from the Eagles who was honored for 40 years of employment. She thoroughly enjoyed her much deserved party that month. Turning 88 this past Monday, Caroline is still waitressing at the Eagles two nights a week.

Halloween took me to the decorated homes of Geri and Don Sollom and Jill and David Heaton. While Jill is as enthusiastic as ever about her halloween decorating and has bigger plans for next year, Geri says that 1998 will be the eleventh and last year for the Solloms. It seems she aspires to have a water garden in her yard. If her garden skills rival her decorating talents, I smell a future story.

Recently I reported on the many accomplishments of Lincoln High School senior Becky Mooney including a first-ever figure skating achievement in Thief River Falls. Mom Val liked the story but said her daughter didn't know if she'd need to go to school the next day. Quiet Becky is anything but boastful and was written about as an example of the many fine young people in our community.

In its tenth anniversary year, the Heritage Community Center provided a number of stories—activities, the senior nutrition program and the greeting card recycling enterprise of Lois Larson and Marietta Jorgenson. Impressed with the quality and quantity of handmade items at the Senior Craft & Gift Shop which is housed at the center, I wrote a story encouraging holiday gift buyers to stop there.

A number of articles were inspired by the accomplishments and contributions of community members and groups. The small town of St. Hilaire put on a big show in July, and plans are underway for another not-to-be-missed All Nations Cultural Festival in 1998. An annual block party is held on South Maple every year and is eagerly anticipated by neighbors. Randall and Catherine Niper were honored for their many contributions to the Pennington County Historical Society and Pioneer Village at a reception in August. Overwhelming financial support from the community led to the construction of a sunroom at Valley Home—an addition that will bring sunshine to the lives of residents for years to come. In November I wrote about the many volunteer hours which enhance operations at Northwest Medical Center. These community stories confirmed what I already knew— that Thief River Falls is a great place to live.

A couple of stories were of a personal nature—my grieving experience after the loss of my dad and the sharing of the happy and ordinary Christmas memories from my childhood.

In addition to calmer weather, I hope 1998 brings a continuation of the adventure and learning process I began this past year. Eagerly anticipating many more stories, I welcome comments and suggestions about the interesting faces, places and events in Thief River Falls and area communities.

Persons over 50 need calcium

Every day thousands of baby boomers turn 50 and this population group is now being told that it needs 50 percent more calcium in the daily diet than was previously thought.

Newly released recommended dietary intakes for calcium have risen from 800 milligrams a day to 1,200 milligrams for those over 50, according to Mary Darling, nutritionist with the University of Minnesota Extension Service. The new higher level is intended to help retain calcium in the bones and guard against bone fractures often associated with weakened bones among the elderly.

Darling says the National Academy of Sciences issued the new guidelines for calcium this summer and will be issuing guidelines for other nutrients over the next several years. For those over 50, the new calcium guidelines mean that many people probably are not currently consuming enough milk, yogurt and other foods with high calcium levels.

"An eight-ounce glass of milk contains almost 300 milligrams of calcium, so anyone over 50 should be drinking three or more glasses of milk each day plus additional sources of calcium or possibly a calcium supplement," Darling said.

"The dilemma is that eight ounces of milk, even skim milk, has 100 calories," she added. "Three or four glasses of milk could contribute 20 percent of a normal calorie intake, which is 1,800 to 2,000 calories per day for older adults.

"Most older adults, especially those who have low incomes, are in poor health or above age 85, only consume 75 to 80 percent of the recommended amount of calories. The less people eat, the more likely they are to have diets that are low in nutrients."

Darling says that older adults, and especially the very elderly, should look for foods that are "nutrient dense" or high in nutrient content for the number of calories.

"Coffee and cookies don't make the grade for people in their retirement years," Darling said. "Supplements are worth discussing with a physician after a person reaches age 50."

Even people who are lactose intolerant and have trouble digesting milk can often tolerate four ounces of milk at a time. Darling recommends that these people try to drink small quantities of milk throughout the day. Milk-based soups and sauces, milk in coffee and milk in frozen desserts or baked goods also contribute to the calcium recommendation.

Dairy products are by far the best way to consume calcium, the nutritionist said. Some vegetables contain calcium, but in much smaller quantities than in milk and yogurt. For example, a cup of cooked broccoli contains only about one-third as much calcium as a cup of milk, and broccoli has one of the highest calcium levels of any vegetable.

"These new guidelines are something that older adults should really pay attention to in planning their meals and snacks," Darling says. "The guidelines were formulated to help prevent diseases such as osteoporosis, which threaten so many elderly Americans, both men and women."

Snow Removal

Keeping Minnesota highways as free as possible of snow and ice and safe for travel is a costly process, according to information provided by the Minnesota Department of Transportation.

- A snow plow truck with a plow and sander costs between $75,000 and $98,000.
- Minnesota has approximately 800 snow plows state-wide and 1,500 drivers to operate them.
- During the 1996-97 winter season, MnDOT's snow plows covered six million lane miles of roadway.
- The trucks spread 620,448 tons of salt and sand and the snow and ice control cost $57,659,000.
- A snow plow truck fully loaded with sand and salt weighs between 30,000 and 56,000 pounds. Most passenger vehicles weigh about 3,000 pounds.
- Snow plow trucks are generally slow-moving with speeds ranging from five to 35 miles per hour.

Minnesota Department of Transportation reminds motorists of the hazards existing around snow plow trucks and has adopted the warning slogan "Stay Back Stay Alive."

National Guard, Salvation Army is honored for efforts

Association of Minnesota Counties (AMC) has recognized the Minnesota National Guard and the Salvation Army for their efforts during the floods of 1997, honoring them with "Friend of County Government" awards. AMC President Peter McLaughlin, Hennepin County Commissioner, presented the awards during the Association's annual conference December 1 in Bloomington.

Major General Eugene Andreotti, the Adjutant General of the National Guard and Lieutenant Colonel David J. Grindle, Salvation Army Divisional Commander for the Northern Division, accepted the awards on behalf of their organizations. The "Friend of County Government" award is presented to individuals/entities which are not county officials, but have worked closely with counties to meet their mission and goals.

The Minnesota National Guard State Active Duty mission, titled "Flood Fight 97," began April 1, activated by Governor Arne Carlson to provide assistance to overwhelmed civil authorities in west central Minnesota. When the mission was completed in July, it had involved over 3,000 soldiers and 24,000 work hours. Equipment used included 250 trucks, 93 generators, 69 water pumps, 17 C-130 sorties and more than 100 helicopter missions. The operation, including recovery, is estimated at nearly $7 million. More than 6,900 citizens were rescued and millions of dollars in property was protected.

The Salvation Army responded to the flood disaster in three phases: initial relief, recovery and restoration. The relief phase included 35 food canteens, 38 shelters and distribution of critically needed goods and materials. The recovery phase helped disaster victims become reestablished in their homes and businesses (included volunteer crews bused and flown in to assist in clean-up). The restoration phase is underway through a Flood Operations Center, which offers emotional and spiritual counseling for flood victims. As of August 31, more than 382,500 instances of service had been provided, over 740,000 meals had been served, and more than 50,000 volunteers had committed over a quarter of a million hours to help with the relief effort.

During the award presentation, Polk County Commissioner Warren Strandell shared personal testimony using a slide presentation showing the devastating floods which swept through his community last spring. He thanked counties for sharing their staff, equipment and expertise in helping fight the floods.

Strandell said, "There's a saying that if you allow someone to do you a favor, you have a friend for life. If that is so, and I believe it is, East Grand Forks and Polk county have friends all over the world." Polk County Board Chair Lyle Essen accepted replicas of the awards on behalf of the affected counties.

Snow People Paperweights

Not enough snow outside! You can still make snow people! Just use homemade clay. To make the clay, mix four cups of baking soda, two cups cornstarch and two and three-fourths cups water in a large heavy saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens and pulls away from the sides of the pan. Turn out onto a pan or wooden board to cool. Knead well. (If you are not going to use the dough right away, store it in a zipper-top bag or wrap securely in aluminum foil.) For each snowman, make two balls, one larger than the other. Place the larger ball on a piece of wax paper and slightly roughen the top at the center with a plastic fork. Wet a finger with water and dampen the roughened surface. Place the smaller ball on top, pressing it gently against the roughened surface. Allow the snowman to air dry, then use small paintbrushes and assorted colors of paint to decorate.

SCAVENGER HUNT

For next week's Activities feature, you will need a large paper plate, orange tissue or construction paper, black construction, string, glue and scissors.

BOOK OF THE WEEK

The Thief River Falls public library invites you to browse through its new selection of children's books including the following:

Wells, Rosemary. Bunny Money. Ruby has a beautiful present all picked out for Grandmother's birthday, but Max has his own ideas. One mishap leads to another as the pair go on a rollicking gift search in hopes that their money will hold out.

Bonsall, Crosby. Piggle. How do you piggle? When a boy starts looking for someone to play with, he has to first find out what kind of game "Piggle" is from Homer, Lolly, Molly, Polly, Dolly, Rabbit, Duck, and even Pig!

VIDEO VARIETY

Look What I Made: Paper Playthings and Gifts. Six- to ten-year-olds will learn how to make creative projects such as pinatas, origami, flower bouquets and newspaper hammocks either on their own, or with adult supervision.

MAGAZINE MENTION

Gifts kids can make, edible ornaments and homemade cards are featured in the November issue of Family Fun magazine. You will learn how to make heavenly angels out of pretzels, candy glass, gumdrop ornaments, lifesaver wreaths and more.

WONDERS OF THE WEB

"Brendan Kehoe's Kids on the Web." Primarily a site of links to other sites, from homework help to penpals, with sections for parents and for net safety.

PARENTING TIPS

Parents Have Needs, Too!

This is the time of the year when we start to reflect on what the past year has been like. It's a good time to look at changes that we would like to make and to make plans for improvements. In the process of making all these plans for changes, remember to be good to yourself, the parent.

Often parents put themselves last on the list, thinking that they are being a good parent by doing that. But putting yourself last is not necessarily being a good parent. A favorite saying of mine is "A child's needs are best met by an adult whose needs are met!" Just think about that statement for a minute.

Parents who do not take care of themselves physically, mentally, emotionally or spiritually will most likely be tired, short-tempered, impatient and more. How can you possibly be a "good" parent in those circumstances? What kind of example are you modeling for your children?

The moral of the story is: Parents, be good to yourselves (without neglecting your children, of course). Be sure you are meeting your own needs so that you can better meet the needs of your children, too. You need to be a good manager so that everyone in your family is getting their needs met and no one is neglected, physically, mentally, emotionally or spiritually.

SOMETHING TO TALK ABOUT

Set a good example for your children by talking to them (at their level, of course) about your needs and their needs. When family members' needs are in conflict, a family problem-solving session may be needed. Model for your children how compromise can solve the problem.

ON MY MIND

Kim Chadwick-Quade

Perfect Presents?

The presents we so thoughtfully shopped for before Christmas have been ripped open. The wrapping paper has been discarded, the bows and ribbon saved for next year. The tradition of exchanging gifts at Christmas has been officially completed in most households.

The gifts are now being assessed, played with and put in their proper places (or being returned). I don't have any complaints, my wish list was filled with moccasin slippers, books, gift certificates, the Dickens Village Curiosity Shop and Rare Book Store, a Looney Tunes denim shirt, and much more. I received many useful and usual gifts.

We can't say the same thing about my dad. He earns the prize for receiving the most of the unusual gifts. (That's probably his fault because he doesn't make a list like the rest of our family.)

First prize goes to the battery-operated nose hair trimmer that he received. (My mom can't understand why we're making such a fuss of this gift. She feels it's totally practical, creative and useful.) Dad experimented with it Christmas Day, after he figured out how to operate it, the nose hair trimmer came with more directions than a 300-piece Lego set. When he turned the trimmer on and stuck it in his nostril it sounded like a weed eater chopping down three-feet high weeds. Dad should appreciate that it doubles as an ear hair trimmer and that he'll never have to use a tweezers again.

Second prize in the most unusual gift category goes to the three railroad spikes he received from my sister - a mother of two elementary-aged boys. This unique and most un-useful gift came in retaliation; she felt my father should have at least half of the collection of spikes that grandpa sent home with her son who now refuses to dispose of them and decorates his room with them.

The third unusual gift was given to my dad by my family - a book called "Maneaters" that contains stories about animals eating humans. Not exactly your soothing bedtime reading. Dad wasn't quite sure what to say when he unwrapped it. "Thank you" just didn't seem to be appropriate.

As he sat with a puzzled look on his face, we told him it was a joke. Usually, dad doesn't have as many gifts to unwrap as the rest of us, so we wrapped an extra one just for him. Actually, it was a present I received in a White Elephant gift exchange and instead of discarding it, we passed it on. It's one of those gifts that someone will probably see again next year.

My other sister also earns a prize for GIVING the most unusual gifts. She went on a shopping binge in a dollar store in Montana and bought each of us something special. Like my dad, we weren't sure if we were supposed to laugh or say "thank you." I received a set of plastic mustard and ketchup containers. I was going to put them in my box for the summer rummage sale, but instead decided to wrap them up for my dad's January birthday. I'm sure he'll be thrilled.

We all received many nice gifts. In fact, we believe my husband received the best. My sister purchased two pair of socks and included three scratch-off lottery tickets in the package. My husband actually received two pair of socks and $51.

But we can all be glad that no one in our family received a Giga Pet - one of those computerized pets that need to be fed and exercised regularly. They can also wake you up by barking loudly. We have enough to do just affixing decals to a boy's new toys.

SPEAKING OF

Sherry LaCoursiere

...Not Divine, Just Divinity

I did a lot of baking and cooking for the holidays and most of it turned out fairly well, all except the divinity. I've tried to make decent divinity for years and I distinctly remember being able to make it well for a while about 20 years ago. Then, suddenly my luck changed and I haven't been able to make it decently for years.

You know what divinity is, right - that fluffy, light, white lump of sweetness, sometimes filled with tasty nuts, flavored with vanilla and almond? Making it should be easy. Recipes tell me to cook sugar and water to a certain temperature on the candy thermometer, which I do, then to pour it over the stiffly-beaten, but not dry, egg whites, and beat it like mad. "This should be simple," I tell myself each year. "There is no reason I can't make this stuff." So each year I try again.

Last Tuesday night, the night before Christmas Eve, I cooked the sugar and water syrup, watching the candy thermometer carefully - until I had to run downstairs to fold the laundry for a minute or two. When I got back upstairs, the thermometer was going higher and higher, faster and faster, and had passed the correct mark. I quickly removed the pan from the heat, started the mixer that was poised above the beaten egg whites, and began to pour the syrup over the whites.

I was using a hand mixer and perhaps should have been using my large mixer, because after beating the heavy mixture for a few minutes, the mixer began to smell funny, like hot plastic. Oh well! I poured the flavorings into the bowl, giving the mixer a little rest, and then proceeded to beat some more. When the mixer began to smoke, I quit beating with it before it caught fire and grabbed a wooden spoon. I beat some more with the spoon, then I let the mixture sit for a while to rest my arm, and then beat some more.

Soon my arm felt like it was going to fall off and the mixture looked like it was solid enough to stand up alone now. I proceeded to drop little teaspoonfuls of the mixture on the waxed paper I had spread over my dining room table. Remembering that grease of any kind will make egg whites fall, I did not butter the waxed paper. In no time, my dining room table was covered with little white dots of divinity sitting on waxed paper. They looked good - they were standing up quite well and I figured that I'd finally broken the divinity jinx. I went down to finish the laundry.

When I came back upstairs, the divinity was no longer standing up. It had turned into little blobs of flat divinity puddles. After considering tossing the waxed paper and blobs into the garbage or scraping it all into a buttered pan to see if it would turn into nougat bars, I decided to scrape up every single little puddle into a clean bowl and try again. I came out with considerably less of the original recipe, since I left much of the divinity blobs on the unbuttered waxed paper and lots of it on my hands, face, arms and clothing. I buttered more waxed paper and, after stirring some more with a wooden spoon, again placed little teaspoonfuls of the mixture on the fresh, buttered paper. They were standing proudly when I went to bed.

When I got up Christmas Eve morning, I couldn't believe my eyes. The divinity had once again formed itself into puddles - it looked just like it had the first time! After trying to ignore the stuff while I showered and dressed, I finally got angry. "This divinity is not going to be ruined," I said. I grabbed the little paper candy cups I had purchased to make some kind of peanut butter candies and set them around the table. Once again, I scraped the divinity puddles off the waxed paper (but this time they came off so much easier) and dumped them into the cups. I left for work, expecting to come home later to find divinity leaking over the tops of the cups and forming into limp puddles again.

When I came home at noon, the divinity was still sitting pertly in the cups, nary a puddle to be seen. I decided to try to eat one, thinking it would surely have to be scraped out of the little cup with my teeth. It didn't! The cup peeled away neatly and I was left with a nice little ball of white candy in my fingers. I ate it and it was good.

Next year I will make divinity again. I will make the divinity and let it sit in the bowl overnight, not touching it at all and certainly not trying to put it out on waxed paper, buttered or unbuttered. The next morning, I will try to make it into nice, neat mounds - once - and if that doesn't work I'll dump it in little cups again. I know that one year my divinity will turn out perfectly, just as long as I keep trying.

And if I just can't stand fighting with it again, I'm going to pay someone else to make me a batch!

She enjoyed cooking, crocheting, golfing and playing cards and Yahtzee.

Barb is survived by one son, George (Janet) Arnold of Moorhead, three daughters, Connie (Don) Omdahl of Thief River Falls, Jackie (John) McDaniel of Mesa, AZ and Sandra (Peter) Hapka of Warren; 12 grandchildren; 13 great-grandchildren, three sisters, Helen Fiedeman of Crookston, Dorothy (Joe) Wellman of Apache Junction, AZ and Patricia (George) Lefebvre of Mesa, AZ, one brother Charles (Eleanor) Morrisey of St. Cloud, and many nieces and nephews.

In addition to her husband Kelly, she was preceded in death by her parents, one son, Edward "Eddie" Arnold, two sisters, Marion Brower and Frannie Ohlgren, and two brothers, John Morrisey and Ralph Morrisey.

Kirk Hibbert of Goodridge, was declared the winner in the Pro 440 division during the Break the Lake 100 in Lake Bronson last weekend. Hibbert rides for Team Arctic.

Disqualification moves Hibbert to first place in Lake Bronson race

Following a disqualification, Kirk Hibbert was moved up to first place in the Pro 440 division during the Break the Lake 100 at Lake Bronson last weekend. Corey Davidson was originally listed as the winner, but according to a later update he was disqualified after an International Snowmobile Race (I.S.R.) ruling disqualification.

According to North Star Racing officials there was an unintentional discrepancy from I.S.R. stock rules on Corey Davidson's snowmobile. Two small baffles were missing from the airbox that connects to the carburetor.

Allen Aaseby checks the read-out as he adjusts this milling machine in his shop. Tolerances are becoming exceedingly tight in machining and calibration on this mill reads in the 10ths of thousandths.

Allen Aaseby is unique as designer and builder

happy to have them in the shop."

Builds Own Equipment

Aaseby has built some of his own equipment, including a press brake for metal bending. The machine weighs 22,000 pounds and is made of two 2 1/4-inch steel plates welded together to make a 4 1/2-inch thickness. It generates 165 tons of pressure and on a recent job was used for bending 10-foot lengths of quarter-inch plate and five-foot lengths of half-inch plate.

He also built the crane which can reach within three feet of the wall all the way around his shop. It was intended to handle 4,000 pounds, but was built with a five-to-one safety factor and has lifted 10,000 to 12,000 pounds. The crane is necessary because the small shop does not allow room for a forklift.

Aaseby's ingenuity has also created a spray booth for painting, sand blasting equipment and a disc sander among other things.

Over the years Aaseby has made many parts for machines which were not available as manufactured parts. He has also cut a lot of gears and made some extremely delicate, small parts.

Delicate Drilling

In one order, for instance, he created four dozen tubes from 3/4 inch tool steel that had an outside diameter of .062 and a drilled out inside diameter of .042, leaving a wall 10,000th of an inch thick (make that thin!).

Although most of his orders are for one-of-a-kind machines, he has also provided one customer with large quantities of a single item. The part is a snare lock, used in making trapping snares. The parts are stamped out and bent at an angle that permits the snare to tighten but not release. Over a period of 15 years or more Aaseby has supplied over a million of the parts to the Wahpeton-Breckenridge customer, including making 46,000 during a single month.

At the time we interviewed Allen for this article, he was working on a machine which would drill six holes and ream three holes in a casting. The tolerance for all was plus or minus half a thousandth of an inch. Aaseby was not concerned about meeting the tolerances, which have become commonplace in his work, but said he had no idea in what way the casting would be used.

His Own Best Teacher

Although he did have some formal training in college, much of what Aaseby has learned has been self-taught. He says his interest was piqued in a summer course in machine shop taught by Dick Kutschevar, a former Lincoln shop instructor, while Allen was still in high school. He has done a lot of reading and tries to attend machining trade shows whenever he can.

Visitors are impressed with the cleanliness of Allen's shop, especially given the nature of the machines and materials with which he works. He would tell you that his shop does not have enough room for clutter, and that may be true, but it is more a reflection of his approach to his work.

Aaseby says that within the machining industry, Minnesota is known for precision work along with New York and California. That reputation is not diminished by Allen's craftsmanship.

And as his former students, his employees, his neighbors and his customers would agree, he's also a nice guy. Today's business world could use a whole lot more Allen Aasebys.

10 beds donated in TRF area to needy families

Marty Aulette, store manager for Slumberland Furniture in Thief River Falls, has announced that the local store has donated 10 beds to needy families in the Thief River Falls area during the holiday season.

On a six-state basis, the company is donating 1,000 new beds to families in need.

Local efforts were coordinated through the Violence Intervention Project and Pennington County Social Services which identified the needy families. Employee volunteers from the local store delivered the new and complete beds including frame, mattress and box spring.

Audette said he was grateful to the employee volunteers who donated their time and energy to make sure the beds were delivered and set up and said he is optimistic about the partnership and continued success of the program.

Roping clinic January 11

4-H club horse project members, their parents and anyone else with an interest in horses are invited to participate in a horse roping clinic Sunday, January 11, at 1 p.m. in the Jim Potucek shop east of Warren.

This is the first in a series of clinics and horses will not be used in the first session. Viewing of videos and personal practice and instruction will be on the agenda. Horses will be used in future clinics.

Cost of the clinic session will be $3 for 4-H club members and $5 for non-members with special rates for families. The Potucek shop is located seven and one half miles east of Warren on highway 1, five miles north on the Radium road and one-half mile west.

Lunch will be served following the instructional program. For further information contact Terry Nowacki at 437-8526.

Coats for kids available at service unit

Coats for kids are still available at Seventh Day Adventists' Community Service center in Thief River Falls. The coats come in sizes from infant to 16 and are free. They also have a large supply of scarves and mittens as well.

The Community Service Center is located at 1004 North Tindolph

This sign affixed to the 165-ton metal brake which Allen Aaseby built for his shop is also one of Allan's creations. Metal casting was one of the areas he taught while an instructor in the Thief River Falls public schools.

Year-end review recalls events from area in '97

featured in the February 26 edition of The Times.

March

Headlines of the March 1 edition of the Northern Watch proclaimed that a new record area flood potential had been forecast.

The March 5 edition of The Times reviewed a State Conservation Priority Area for the Conservation Reserve Program. The procedure to follow for the CRP signup was also reviewed.

Area agencies were cooperating to help reduce the flood potential, according to the March 8 edition of the Northern Watch. According to this same edition, seventeen counties, including most of the counties in northwestern Minnesota, had banded together to launch an organization called the Minnesota Rural Counties Caucus devoted to the protection and enhancement of rural lifestyles.

According to the March 12 edition of The Times, Linda Bentson, president of Thief River Linen, had been elected to the board of directors of Northwest Initiative Fund. A Young Authors conference had also brought about 400 middle school age children to NCTC.

Pat Gaffaney was awarded the Silver Beaver award, one of Scoutings highest honors. Gaffaney was featured in the March 15 edition of the Northern Watch. David Stromlund of Thief River Falls, referred to as "Mr. Buttons" was also featured. He had 3,500 buttons in his collection.

In the March 19 edition of The Times it was announced that Dakota Clinic would build a new facility in Thief River Falls. It would consist of a 45,000 square foot facility and would open in the summer of 1998. Also in this edition, Kate Ihle had been selected to receive the Academics, Arts and Athletic award and as a finalist for the National Merit Scholarship.

Plans and preparations for a spring flood were underway in March, according to a March 22 edition of the Northern Watch, area managers and emergency planners had participated in a flood fighting course in Thief River Falls.

Needed improvements to the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center were reviewed in the March 26 edition of The Times. Although the entire $4.5 million project was discussed, it would only be taken on in phases and originally as a private fund-raising project.

A supply of sandbags became available at the Eighth Street boat landing to local residents who would need them in the fight against flooding, according to the March 29 edition of the Northern Watch. Preparations for potential flooding were well underway.

April

Over $38,000 in stolen Arctic Cat merchandise had been recovered from a local man according to the April 2 edition of The Times.

Arguments in the Kevin Scott Skjerven case were heard in a Marshall County courtroom. Skjerven was eventually acquitted of the sexual assault charges filed against him. Also in the April 5 Northern Watch news was the naming of a wheat variety "Lambert" after a former resident, Lambert Erickson.

In the April 9 edition of The Times the news reported on the flooding, blizzard and power outage that paralyzed northwest Minnesota and parts of North Dakota. The storm left many residents without electrical power for a considerable time. Many local families moved into temporary shelters like Challenger Elementary school.

In the April 12 edition of the Northern Watch rumors of price gouging during the power outage ruined the good feelings many people had because of the extra effort and sacrifice made during the power outage. Once again the area was declared a disaster because of a storm. Another storm was brewing as MPCA was threatening to strictly enforce a new septic system law.

In the April 16 edition of The Times lineman from throughout the region were assisting electric companies repair and re-establish lines knocked out by the storm. Officials held an emergency response review meeting. The city council passed a resolution in support of dredging the reservoir, the school district approved $80,300 in budget reductions.

Flood relief efforts were in full swing, according to the April 19 edition of the Northern Watch. A sandbag filling operation at the Eighth Street boat landing was providing sandbags for many local and area homes.

The April 23 edition of The Times documented the efforts of local citizens to come to the aid of flood-stricken communities in the Red River Valley. About a half a million sandbags were filled in the emergency effort. Homes and facilities were opened to evacuees.

In the April 26 edition of the Northern Watch, Vivian Harney, former Mayor of East Grand Forks, shared her thoughts and feelings about the flooding. Grand Forks Clinic announced that it had opened offices in Northwest Medical Center.

In the April 30 edition of The Times, more pictures of flood-stricken communities filled the pages. Legislators stopped in Thief River Falls on a tour of those communities to see the preparations and hear the needs of emergency personnel. Goodridge volunteers, also featured, had resurrected the Goodridge hall.

Dogsled and snowshoe classes at Rydell Refuge

Dogsledding and snowshoe program will be presented Sunday, January 4, beginning at 2 p.m. at Rydell National Wildlife Refuge visitor's center southwest of Erskine.

Dr. Ryan Kelly of Fosston will share his experiences of working with sled dogs and the enjoyment of this form of winter recreation. He enjoys winter camping and using his dog team and sled for mobility in northern Minnesota, and has participated in the John Beargrease dog sled race in the Duluth area.

Included in the program will be information on preparation of dogs for pulling a sled, types of equipment used and preparation of the human musher for recreational dogsledding and racing.

Because a good deal of the program will be presented outside the visitor's center where Dr. Kelly will be demonstrating with his dogs and equipment, those attending are advised to dress appropriately. If conditions allow, a limited number of dog sled rides will be provided.

At the end of the dogsled program—approximately at 3:30 p.m.—Diane Bach of Thief River Falls will present information about snowshoeing and give basic information on how to make snowshoes from kits using the traditional white ash frame and nylon lacing. She will discuss the advantages of several different styles of snowshoes. This informational program is free.

For those interested in making their own pair of snowshoes, Diane will be offering a two to three-day class (approximately six hours per day) to be scheduled at the Rydell Refuge in January, depending on the participants' schedules. Fee for the class will be $85 and includes the kit and instructions for making one pair of snowshoes. Cost does not include bindings, but options are available for these as well.

Three styles of snowshoes are available to choose from and several furniture options are also available using variations of the same wood and lacing techniques.

Anyone interested in these programs is invited to the refuge on January 4. Those who can't attend the program but are interested in the snowshoe making class may contact Diane Bach at 218 681-8170.

On dean's list

Two Lincoln high school graduates have been named to the fall quarter dean's list at Michigan Technological University in Houghton, MI. They were among 1,229 students earning grade point averages of 3.5 or higher.

Named to the list were Joshua Clark, son of Carl and Jamie Clark, freshman in engineering technology and Paul Kopari, son of John and Joyce Kopari, freshman in mechanical engineering.

TRF is 4-3 winner in overtime...

Prowlers edge RLF for first hockey win

■ McDonald's Classic match-up

Three one-goal games were featured Monday in the opening day of the annual McDonald's Holiday Classic high school hockey series.

Two of the match-ups at the East Grand Forks Civic Center went into overtime as Thief River Falls edged Red Lake Falls 4-3 and Grafton got by Crookston 3-2. East Grand Forks closed out the Day 1 activity with a 4-3 victory over Mesabi East.

Games switched to Crookston Tuesday and Thief River Falls today (Wednesday) in the round-robin format.

The Prowlers and Eagles went into overtime for the third straight year in the McDonald's Classic, but after playing to ties in 1995 and 1996, a winner emerged this time as Thief River Falls' Kyle Anderson put the first shot on goal in the extra period past Red Lake Falls goalie Mike Roff. Just 17 seconds had expired in overtime.

For Thief River Falls, it was the first win for first-year head coach Scott Bergland, whose team brought an 0-8 record into the game.

"We played adequate," said Bergland. "We played well enough to win. It was the age-old problem – we can't put the puck in the net."

Thief River Falls out-shot Red Lake Falls 40-21.

The two teams swapped goals all day. First period goals came from Thief River Falls' Adam Nordin, Red Lake Falls' Aaron Cardinal, and the Prowlers' Treavor Peterson, who gave his team a 2-1 edge at 13:57.

Aaron Arlt tied it at the start of the second period, but Trevor Lee put Thief River Falls back on top 3-2 at 11:08.

Andy Raymond of the Eagles created another tie at 3-3 with a goal at 8:12 of the third period. The deadlock wasn't broken until Anderson found the net in overtime.

LHS, NCTC teams enter 1998 portion of season

The 1998 portion of the Thief River Falls 1997-98 winter sports season will begin Friday when the Prowlers host East Grand Forks in boys high school basketball. That follows in short order today's (Wednesday) completion of the annual Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic.

Saturday, the Lincoln High School girls basketball team will be at Roseau and the Thief River Falls boys swim team will compete in the Bemidji Invitational.

The Northland Community and Technical College men's and women's basketball teams will return from a holiday break with a Tuesday, Jan. 6, doubleheader in Thief River Falls against Minot State University-Bottineau. Both teams will begin their Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division schedules with a January 9-10 trip to to Virginia and Ely to face Mesabi Friday night and Vermilion Saturday afternoon.

Today's Thief River Falls' portion of the three-day, three-city McDonald's Classic high school hockey match-ups will be followed by a Thief River Falls regular season game at Crookston Thursday, Jan. 8.

Also on the calendar Jan. 8 will be a high school wrestling dual at home vs. Fertile-Beltrami. Thief River Falls wrestlers have been idle since Dec. 18.

Northwest deer harvest numbers are published

The 1997 firearms deer season in northwest Minnesota recorded a total of 33,677 registered deer – a 22 percent decline from the 43,331 deer registered in the same area last year, according to the Department of Natural Resources. The decreased harvest was anticipated by wildlife managers within the DNR because of two very severe winters since 1995, and corresponding decreases in antlerless permits the past two seasons.

Statewide, the 1997 firearms season registered a total of 128,000 deer – an 8 percent decline, or 10,100 fewer deer than were registered in 1996, and the lowest harvest in Minnesota since 1982.

DNR's Northwest Region includes 21 counties in northwest and west central Minnesota – the northern portion of hunting Zones 2 and 4, plus a narrow slice along the western edge of Zone 1. Antlerless permits have been eliminated in all but seven of the 53 permit areas in Zone 1 during the past two seasons.

In the rest of the region – the northern portions of Zones 2 and 4 – antlerless permits were reduced by an average 16.5 percent in 1996, and an additional 35.6 percent in 1997. Most of the reductions came in Zone 2 where antlerless permits were reduced by 50 percent in most areas, compared to 1996 permit numbers.

The drastic reduction in antlerless permits was intended to reduce hunting pressure on does, which in turn, would help deer populations rebound faster. Mild temperatures and relatively little snow across northern Minnesota so far this winter should also help improve winter survival and fawn production next spring.

Statewide record deer harvest was set in 1992 at 229,000, including a record-high 67,918 deer registered in the northwest region. This year, all 11 DNR northwest deer registration areas reported fewer deer registrations compared to 1996 totals – from eight percent at Fergus Falls, to 59 percent at Roseau.

Area Deer Registration Totals

■ Baudette - down 44 percent from 2,532 in 1996 to 1,419 in 1997. Record harvest was 5,0897 in 1995.

■ Bemidji - down 35 percent from 4,839 in 1996 to 3,138 in 1997. Record harvest was 12,950 in 1992.

■ Crookston - down 19 percent from 3,487 in 1996 to 2,859 in 1997. Record harvest was 4,912 in 1995.

■ Detroit Lakes - down 11 percent from 3,686 in 1996 to 3,288 in 1997. Record harvest was 6,096 in 1985.

■ Fergus Falls - down 8 percent from 10,639 in 1996 to 9,766 in 1997. Record harvest was 13,199 in 1995.

■ Glenwood - down 17 percent from 6,995 in 1996 to 5,795 in 1997. Record harvest was 7,956 in 1993.

■ Karlstad - down 19 percent from 2,787 in 1996 to 2,249 in 1997. Record harvest was 3,790 in 1992.

■ Park Rapids - down 35 percent from 4,502 in 1996 to 2,908 in 1997. Record harvest was 12,040 in 1992.

■ Roseau River Wildlife Management Area - down 59 percent from 64 in 1996 to 26 in 1997. Record harvest was 544 in 1992.

■ Thief Lake - down 48 percent from 1,797 in 1996 to 930 in 1997. Record harvest (combined with Thief River Falls) was 7,092 in 1985.

■ Thief River Falls - down 35 percent from 2,006 in 1996 to 1,320 in 1997. Record harvest (combined with Thief Lake) was 7,092 in 1985.

■ Northwest Region totals - down 22 percent from 43,331 in 1996 to 33,677 in 1997. Record harvest was 97,918 in 1992.

■ Yearly Northwest Region totals - (1984) 40,418, (1985) 49,878, (1986) 41,450, (1987) 45,852, (1988) 43,130, (1989) 39,600, (1990) 47,365, (1991) 58,999, (1992) 67,918, (1993) 91,339, (1994) 57,773, (1995) 92,698, (1996) 43,331, (1997) 33,677

Russ Smith Classic also has JV bracket

Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament features both a varsity and junior varsity bracket.

In Monday's opening round junior varsity games, Marshall County Central beat Fertile-Beltrami 55-51, Tri-County edged Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 42-40, Kittson Central defeated Clearbrook-Gonvick 75-59, and Thief River Falls got by Stephen-Argyle 45-41.

Instead of following a bracket format, the junior varsity match-ups duplicate the varsity encounters each day, with the games preceding the varsity contests at 1:15, 3, 5 and 6:45 p.m.

David Wilcox of Marshall County Central (21) kept a close eye on Tim Petry of Fertile-Beltrami as he brought the ball up the court during Monday's opening game of the Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament. The Nordics came from behind to beat the Falcons 42-38.

Ten teams to play in TRFAHA Pee-Wee B invitational tourney

A ten-team field will be featured in the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association Pee-Wee B Invitational, scheduled to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Participants include both Thief River Falls Pee-Wee B teams (Blue and Black), four Grand Forks squads (Sugar Kings, Supras, North Stars, Wheat Kings), and single entries from Devils Lake, Baudette, Bagley, and Fergus Falls.

Friday's opening round games will be played at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Saturday and Sunday action will also include match-ups at the Old Arena.

It's the second tournament of the 1997-98 season to be hosted by the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association.

TRFAHA Pee-Wee B Invitational

■ Friday round Friday, Jan. 2 - (Huck Olson MCC) Baudette vs. Thief River Falls Black, 11 a.m.; Grand Forks Sugar Kings vs. Bagley, 1 p.m.; Thief River Falls Blue vs. Grand Forks Supras, 2:45 p.m.; Fergus Falls vs. Grand Forks North Stars 6:30 p.m.; Grand Forks Wheat Kings vs. Devils Lake, 9:15 p.m.

TRF boys high school basketball tournament...

Russ Smith Holiday Classic is under way

Marshall County Central, Tri-County, Kittson Central, and Thief River Falls were opening round quarterfinals winners Monday in the 15th annual Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament.

The Nordics overcame Fertile-Beltrami 42-38, the Wildcats stopped Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 44-34, the Wolfpack held off Clearbrook-Gonvick 59-56, and the host Prowlers handled Stephen-Argyle 69-49.

Russ Smith Holiday Classic

■ Quarterfinals Monday, Dec. 29 - Marshall County Central 42, Fertile-Beltrami 38; Tri-County 44, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 34; Kittson Central 59, Clearbrook-Gonvick 56; Thief River Falls 69, Stephen-Argyle 49

■ Semifinals Tuesday, Dec. 30 - (consolation round) Stephen-Argyle vs. Clearbrook-Gonvick, 3:15 p.m.; Badger/Greenbush-Middle River vs. Fertile-Beltrami, 5 p.m.; (championship round) Marshall County Central vs. Tri-County, 7 p.m.; Kittson Central vs. Thief River Falls, 8:45 p.m.

■ Finals Wednesday, Dec. 31 - seventh place, 3:15 p.m.; consolation, 5 p.m.; third place, 7 p.m.; championship, 8:45 p.m.

Marshall Co Central 42
Fertile-Beltrami 38

A slow start didn't stop Marshall County Central from advancing into Tuesday's semifinal round as the Nordics opened the tournament with a 42-38 win over Fertile-Beltrami.

The Falcons shut out the Nordics 10-0 in the first quarter, but couldn't put the game away when the opportunity presented itself. Marshall County Central stayed within 19-13 at the half and it was just a one point difference through three quarters, 30-29.

The Nordics finally overtook the Falcons when a Matt Nelson 3 point basket with 6:27 remaining put them ahead 33-32.

A basket on the inside by Jon Donarski provided the Nordics with a four-point edge, 38-34, and that was the final margin of victory as Garrett Magner made one of two free throws with 40 seconds left to complete the scoring.

David Wilcox scored 11 points and Nelson had 10 for the winners. Jason Franklin was the only Fertile-Beltrami scorer in double figures, finishing with 10 points.

The Falcons struggled through a 5-for-13 performance at the free throw line, were the Nordics had an 11-for-19 game.

Tri-County 44
B/G-Middle River 34

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had a tough time generating an offense in losing a 44-34 match-up with first-time tournament entry Tri-County.

The Wildcats grabbed a 13-8 first quarter lead, then put together a half-ending spurt to take a 26-14 advantage into intermission. The Gators played some defense themselves in holding Tri-County to four third quarter points and pulling within 30-27.

But the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River comeback came to a screeching halt when the Gators could muster just two fourth quarter field goals.

The game produced just two double figure point producers with Seth Olson of Tri-County and Jeremy Vacura of Badger/Greenbush-Middle River both netting 10.

Kittson Central 59
Clearbrook-Gonvick 56

A strong start carried Kittson Central to a 59-56 victory over Clearbrook-Gonvick in the first evening quarterfinal game.

The Wolfpack jumped out to a 27-14 first quarter lead, maintained a 34-25 halftime advantage and took a 41-36 edge into the third quarter.

Game-long comeback by the Bears got them within 57-56 on a three-point basket by Dana Johnson with 4.9 seconds to play. But two free throws by Jason Urbaniak rebuilt a 59-56 Kittson Central lead, and a final desperation three-pointer by Clearbrook-Gonvick was off the mark.

Josh Deere and Aaron Austin provided the Wolfpack with a potent 1-2 scoring punch as Deere netted 23 points and Austin collected 22. Jon Gerlofs scored 16 points, Johnson 15 and Seth Dorman 10 for the Bears.

Thief River Falls 69
Stephen-Argyle 49

Thief River Falls spotted Stephen-Argyle a 7-0 head start, but the Prowlers carried the play the rest of the way en route to a 69-49 win that closed out the tournament's opening round.

It was the first win for first-year Thief Falls head coach Bob Johnson, whose team opened the year with five straight losses.

The Prowlers looked to be in trouble at the start, but they took care of the 7-0 deficit with a 23-2 run to take control.

Matt Myers scored 11 of his game-high 17 points in the first half to lead the early-game Thief River Falls comeback. Kelly Cota came off the bench to scored 12 points and Jeremy Swanson had 10 for the Prowlers.

TRF is 4-3 winner in overtime...

Prowlers edge RLF for first hockey win

■ McDonald's Classic match-up

Three one-goal games were featured Monday in the opening day of the annual McDonald's Holiday Classic high school hockey series.

Two of the match-ups at the East Grand Forks Civic Center went into overtime as Thief River Falls edged Red Lake Falls 4-3 and Grafton got by Crookston 3-2. East Grand Forks closed out the Day 1 activity with a 4-3 victory over Mesabi East.

Games switched to Crookston Tuesday and Thief River Falls today (Wednesday) in the round-robin format.

The Prowlers and Eagles went into overtime for the third straight year in the McDonald's Classic, but after playing to ties in 1995 and 1996, a winner emerged this time as Thief River Falls' Kyle Anderson put the first shot on goal in the extra period past Red Lake Falls goalie Mike Roff. Just 17 seconds had expired in overtime.

For Thief River Falls, it was the first win for first-year head coach Scott Bergland, whose team brought an 0-8 record into the game.

"We played adequate," said Bergland. "We played well enough to win. It was the age-old problem – we can't put the puck in the net."

Thief River Falls out-shot Red Lake Falls 40-21.

The two teams swapped goals all day. First period goals came from Thief River Falls' Adam Nordin, Red Lake Falls' Aaron Cardinal, and the Prowlers' Treavor Peterson, who gave his team a 2-1 edge at 13:57.

Aaron Arlt tied it at the start of the second period, but Trevor Lee put Thief River Falls back on top 3-2 at 11:08.

Andy Raymond of the Eagles created another tie at 3-3 with a goal at 8:12 of the third period. The deadlock wasn't broken until Anderson found the net in overtime.

LHS, NCTC teams enter 1998 portion of season

The 1998 portion of the Thief River Falls 1997-98 winter sports season will begin Friday when the Prowlers host East Grand Forks in boys high school basketball. That follows in short order today's (Wednesday) completion of the annual Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic.

Saturday, the Lincoln High School girls basketball team will be at Roseau and the Thief River Falls boys swim team will compete in the Bemidji Invitational.

The Northland Community and Technical College men's and women's basketball teams will return from a holiday break with a Tuesday, Jan. 6, doubleheader in Thief River Falls against Minot State University-Bottineau. Both teams will begin their Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division schedules with a January 9-10 trip to to Virginia and Ely to face Mesabi Friday night and Vermilion Saturday afternoon.

Today's Thief River Falls' portion of the three-day, three-city McDonald's Classic high school hockey match-ups will be followed by a Thief River Falls regular season game at Crookston Thursday, Jan. 8.

Also on the calendar Jan. 8 will be a high school wrestling dual at home vs. Fertile-Beltrami. Thief River Falls wrestlers have been idle since Dec. 18.

Northwest deer harvest numbers are published

The 1997 firearms deer season in northwest Minnesota recorded a total of 33,677 registered deer – a 22 percent decline from the 43,331 deer registered in the same area last year, according to the Department of Natural Resources. The decreased harvest was anticipated by wildlife managers within the DNR because of two very severe winters since 1995, and corresponding decreases in antlerless permits the past two seasons.

Statewide, the 1997 firearms season registered a total of 128,000 deer – an 8 percent decline, or 10,100 fewer deer than were registered in 1996, and the lowest harvest in Minnesota since 1982.

DNR's Northwest Region includes 21 counties in northwest and west-central Minnesota – the northern portion of hunting Zones 2 and 4, plus a narrow slice along the western edge of Zone 1. Antlerless permits have been eliminated in all but seven of the 53 permit areas in Zone 1 during the past two seasons.

In the rest of the region – the northern portions of Zones 2 and 4 – antlerless permits were reduced by an average 16.5 percent in 1996, and an additional 35.6 percent in 1997. Most of the reductions came in Zone 2 where antlerless permits were reduced by 50 percent in most areas, compared to 1996 permit numbers.

The drastic reduction in antlerless permits was intended to reduce hunting pressure on does, which in turn, would help deer populations rebound faster. Mild temperatures and relatively little snow across northern Minnesota so far this winter should also help improve winter survival and fawn production next spring.

Statewide record deer harvest was set in 1992 at 229,000, including a record-high 67,918 deer registered in the northwest region. This year, all 11 DNR northwest deer registration areas reported fewer deer registrations compared to 1996 totals – from eight percent at Fergus Falls, to 59 percent at Roseau.

Area Deer Registration Totals

■ Baudette - down 44 percent from 2,532 in 1996 to 1,419 in 1997. Record harvest was 5 0897 in 1995.

■ Bemidji - down 33 percent from 4,636 in 1996 to 3,136 in 1997. Record harvest was 12,050 in 1992.

■ Crookston - down 18 percent from 3,487 in 1996 to 2,858 in 1997. Record harvest was 4,812 in 1995.

■ Detroit Lakes - down 11 percent from 3,686 in 1996 to 3,288 in 1997. Record harvest was 8,096 in 1985.

■ Fergus Falls - down 8 percent from 10,639 in 1996 to 8,766 in 1997. Record harvest was 13,106 in 1995.

■ Glenwood - down 17 percent from 6,995 in 1996 to 5,795 in 1997. Record harvest was 7,956 in 1993.

■ Karlstad - down 18 percent from 2,787 in 1996 to 2,248 in 1997. Record harvest was 3,790 in 1992.

■ Park Rapids - down 35 percent from 4,502 in 1996 to 2,908 in 1997. Record harvest was 12,048 in 1992.

■ Roseau River Wildlife Management Area - down 59 percent from 64 in 1996 to 26 in 1997. Record harvest was 544 in 1992.

■ Thief Lake - down 48 percent from 1,797 in 1996 to 930 in 1997. Record harvest (combined with Thief River Falls) was 7,092 in 1985.

■ Thief River Falls - down 33 percent from 2,006 in 1996 to 1,320 in 1997. Record harvest (combined with Thief Lake) was 7,092 in 1985.

■ Northwest Region totals - down 22 percent from 43,331 in 1996 to 33,677 in 1997. Record harvest was 67,918 in 1992.

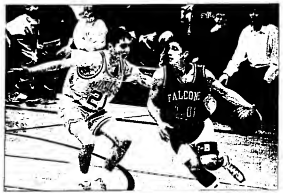
■ Yearly Northwest Region totals - (1984) 48,418, (1985) 48,678, (1986) 41,458, (1987) 45,852, (1988) 43,136, (1989) 39,600, (1990) 47,385, (1991) 58,889, (1992) 67,918, (1993) 81,339, (1994) 57,773, (1995) 62,808, (1996) 45,331; (1997) 33,677.

Russ Smith Classic also has JV bracket

Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament features both a varsity and junior varsity bracket.

In Monday's opening round junior varsity games, Marshall County Central beat Fertile-Beltrami 55-51, Tri-County edged Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 42-40, Kittson Central defeated Clearbrook-Gonvick 75-59, and Thief River Falls got by Stephen-Argyle 45-41.

Instead of following a bracket format, the junior varsity match-ups duplicate the varsity encounters each day, with the games preceding the varsity contests at 1:15, 3, 5 and 6:45 p.m.



David Wilcox of Marshall County Central (21) kept a close eye on Tim Petry of Fertile-Beltrami as he brought the ball up the court during Monday's opening game of the Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament. The Nordics came from behind to beat the Falcons 42-38.

Ten teams to play in TRFAHA Pee-Wee B Invitational tourney

A ten-team field will be featured in the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association Pee-Wee B Invitational, scheduled to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Participants include both Thief River Falls Pee-Wee B teams (Blue and Black), four Grand Forks squads (Sugar Kings, Supras, North Stars, Wheat Kings), and single entries from Devils Lake, Baudette, Bagley, and Fergus Falls.

Friday's opening round games will be played at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center. Saturday and Sunday action will also include match-ups at the Old Arena.

It's the second tournament of the 1997-98 season to be hosted by the Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association.

TRFAHA Pee-Wee B Invitational

TRF boys high school basketball tournament...

Russ Smith Holiday Classic is under way

Marshall County Central, Tri-County, Kittson Central, and Thief River Falls were opening round quarterfinals winners Monday in the 15th annual Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic boys high school basketball tournament.

The Nordics overcame Fertile-Beltrami 42-38, the Wildcats stopped Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 44-34, the Wolfpack held off Clearbrook-Gonvick 59-56, and the host Prowlers handled Stephen-Argyle 69-49.

Marshall Co. Central..........42
Fertile-Beltrami 38

A slow start didn't stop Marshall County Central from advancing into Tuesday's semifinal round as the Nordics opened the tournament with a 42-38 win over Fertile-Beltrami.

The Falcons shut out the Nordics 10-0 in the first quarter, but couldn't put the game away when the opportunity presented itself. Marshall County Central stayed within 19-13 at the half and it was just a one-point difference through three quarters, 30-29.

The Nordics finally overtook the Falcons when a Matt Nelson 3-point basket with 6:27 remaining put them ahead 33-32.

A basket on the inside by Jon Donarski provided the Nordics with a four-point edge, 38-34, and that was the final margin of victory as Garrett Magner made one of two free throws with 40 seconds left to complete the scoring.

David Wilcox scored 11 points and Nelson had 10 for the winners. Jason Franklin was the only Fertile-Beltrami scorer in double figures, finishing with 10 points.

The Falcons struggled through a 5-for-13 performance at the free throw line, were the Nordics had an 11-for-19 game.

Scoring

■ Finals Wednesday, Dec. 31 - seventh place, 3:15 p.m.; consolation, 5 p.m.; third place, 7 p.m.; championship, 8:45 p.m.

Tri-County..............................44
B/G-Middle River 34

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River had a tough time generating an offense in losing a 44-34 match-up with first-time tournament entry Tri-County.

The Wildcats grabbed a 13-8 first quarter lead, then put together a half ending spurt to take a 26-14 advantage into intermission. The Gators played some defense themselves in holding Tri-County to four third quarter points and pulling within 30-27.

But the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River comeback came to a screeching halt when the Gators could muster just two fourth quarter field goals.

The game produced just two double figure point producers, with Seth Olson of Tri-County and Jeremy Vacura of Badger/Greenbush-Middle River both netting 10.

Scoring

Kittson Central 59
Clearbrook-Gonvick 56

A strong start carried Kittson Central to a 59-56 victory over Clearbrook-Gonvick in the first evening quarterfinal game.

The Wolfpack jumped out to a 27-14 first quarter lead, maintained a 34-25 halftime advantage and took a 41-36 edge into the third quarter.

Game-long comeback by the Bears got them within 57-56 on a three-point basket by Dana Johnson with 4.9 seconds to play. But two free throws by Jason Urbaniak rebuilt a 59-56 Kittson Central lead, and a final desperation three-pointer by Clearbrook-Gonvick was off the mark.

Josh Deere and Aaron Austin provided the Wolfpack with a potent 1-2 scoring punch as Deere netted 23 points and Austin collected 22. Joe Gerlofs scored 16 points, Johnson 15 and Seth Dorman 10 for the Bears.

Thief River Falls 69
Stephen-Argyle 49

Thief River Falls spotted Stephen-Argyle a 7-0 head start, but the Prowlers carried the play the rest of the way en route to a 69-49 win that closed out the tournament's opening round.

It was the first win for first-year Thief Falls head coach Bob Johnson, whose team opened the year with five straight losses.

The Prowlers looked to be in trouble at the start, but they took care of the 7-0 deficit with a 23-2 run to take control.

Matt Myers scored 11 of his game-high 17 points in the first half to lead the early-game Thief River Falls comeback. Kelly Cota came off the bench to scored 12 points and Jeremy Swanson had 10 for the Prowlers.

September to October region unemployment shows decline

Unemployment in Region 1 which includes seven counties in northwestern Minnesota declined by 1.7 percent from 5.5 percent in September to 3.8 percent in October, according to the Minnesota Department of Economic Security.

Every county in the region showed employment gains from September to October. Comparative unemployment rates for September and October in the seven counties included:

Kittson, 4.7 and 2.9; Marshall, 7.9 and 6.0; Norman, 2.3 and 4.9; Pennington, 4.0 and 3.2; Polk, 5.9 and 3.7; Red Lake, 9.1 and 6.0; and Roseau, 3.5 and 2.9.

The counties in Region 1 showed more unemployment rate declines than increases from October of 1996 to October of 1997 with four showing declines, two showing gains and one—Roseau county—remaining the same at 2.9. Overall in the region, unemployment dropped .1 percent from 3.9 percent in October of 1996 to 3.8 percent in October of 1997.

Counties with decreases in unemployment included Kittson, down 1.3 percent from 4.2 to 2.9; Marshall, down 1.8 percent from 7.8 to 6.0; Pennington, down .5 percent from 3.7 to 3.2; and Red Lake, down .7 percent from 6.7 to 6.0.

Increases in unemployment were recorded by Norman county, up 1.4 percent from 3.5 to 4.9 and Polk, up .6 percent from 3.1 to 3.7.

In numbers of people, the unemployment comparison from October of 1996 to October of 1997 showed Kittson down from 108 to 71, Marshall down from 371 to 272, Pennington down from 303 to 264 and Red Lake down from 132 to 117 while Norman was up from 124 to 182. Polk was up from 537 to 663 and Roseau up from 267 to [illegible].

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Two face charges after knife fight

Two individuals were cut with a knife when they became involved in a fight at a North township residence early Sunday morning. One individual was taken to Northwest Medical Center for treatment of a cut to a hand. Ryan Lee Johnson, 30, Strandquist, and Christopher John Nelson, 25, of Karlstad face charges.

The sheriff's department received a report of a fight on December 28 at 12:02 a.m. When sheriff's deputies arrived there were a large number of people outside. An officer heard someone yell that he had a knife. One individual was taken to Northwest Medical Center with a cut to his hand. Another individual had a small cut on a finger, but did not require medical attention. The fight allegedly began after two men were kicked out of a party at the house.

The charges to be filed are under consideration by the county attorney's office.

Consumption under age. On December 23 at 10:25 p.m. police received a complaint about four individuals drinking in a car at a local convenience store. Upon checking, the following were cited for consumption under age: Ryan Michael Rude, 20, Thief River Falls, Brian Curtis Howe, 20, Thief River Falls, Benjamin Chris Furuseth, 17, Thief River Falls, and a 17-year-old female.

On December 24 at 1:06 a.m. police stopped a vehicle for erratic driving. A 17-year-old male, and passenger in the vehicle, from St. Hilaire was cited for consumption under age.

On December 25 at 2:26 a.m. Garth Olaf Larson, 20, Oklee, was cited for consumption under age.

Driving while intoxicated. On December 24 at 1:08 a.m. Harlan Francis Altepeter, Red Lake Falls, 27, was charged with refusal to test and driving while intoxicated.

On December 25 at 2:02 a.m. Joseph Randy Dessellier, 20, Oklee, was arrested for aggravated driving while intoxicated and refusal to test.

On December 27 at 8:36 p.m. the sheriff's department arrested Rick Dean Edlund, Goodridge, for aggravated driving while intoxicated.

Accident. On December 23 at 7:18 p.m. the sheriff's department received a report of an accident on State Aid 7, three quarters of a mile east of County road 13. Gregory Mark Prehe, 36, Thief River Falls, was driving a car east on State Aid 7 when his vehicle collided with a deer.

On December 28 at 1:12 p.m. police received a report of an accident at First and Highway 59. Camilla Jo Juppin, Thief River Falls, was driving a van north on Highway 59 and was unable to stop and her vehicle collided with a Ford Bronco driven by Susan Lynn Anderson of Greenbush. Police estimated damages at $1,000 to the Juppin vehicle, and $200 to the Anderson vehicle.

On December 27 at 2:17 p.m. police received a report that a parked car had been struck by another vehicle which then left the scene. On December 28 an individual contacted the law enforcement center and admitted being the driver of the hit and run vehicle. According to the report, Tina Louise Hultman, Thief River Falls, was driving a car south on Arnold and side swipped a parked vehicle belonging to Michael Glen Leach of Thief River Falls. Police estimated damages at $600 to the Leach vehicle and $1,100 to the Hultman vehicle. Hultman was cited for leaving the scene of an accident.

Theft. On December 13, a leather coat was reported stolen. On December 22, Adalpe Leal, 21, Thief River Falls, was charged with possession of stolen property.

On December 7 police received a report of a stolen car. It was found in a ditch near Oslo. On December 19 a 17-year-old female of Thief River Falls was charged with falsely reporting a crime.

On December 29 at 3:30 p.m. police received a report that someone had broken into a vehicle parked in the 900 block of South Crocker and had taken a purse and curlers. The theft loss was estimated at $50. Damage loss was estimated at $100.

Drugs. On December 25 at 1:52 p.m. a sheriff's deputy on patrol on Highway 32 south observed an individual he knew to be driving after revocation of his license. He stopped the vehicle and Chad Mitchell Beito, 20, Thief River Falls, was found in possession of two ounces of marijuana. He faces a felony charge of controlled substance crime in the fifth degree. The sheriff's department was assisted by the Minnesota State Patrol and Thief River Falls Police department.

Vandalism. On December 27 at 10:18 a.m. a brick was reported thrown through a car window. The car was parked overnight in the Hugo's parking lot. The damage loss was estimated at $400.

Cruelty to animals. On December 11 police investigated a report that a dog had been left outside tied to a trailer without food or adequate housing. Bryan Robert Pierson, 27, Thief River Falls, was cited for cruelty to animals.

These reports include names of individuals charged, arrested or cited with various crimes and offenses by police, the sheriff's department or other law enforcement officials. Depending upon the circumstances of a case, charges can be, and sometimes are, changed or dropped by law enforcement officials or attorneys even before the case reaches court. Readers should also realize that under the American system of jurisprudence, individuals charged with crimes are innocent until proven guilty of those crimes in a court of law.

Center offers seminar

Thief River Falls Workforce Center will offer a seminar focusing on Minnesota employment laws for area employers on Friday, January 30 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in room 131 of Northland Community and Technical College.

Seminar topic will include recruitment, employee selection, employment manuals, company policies, terminations, documentation, employee files, employer liability and a number of other issues affecting the employment practices of local employers.

The seminar will be presented by Maura Murphy and Dominic Cecere of the Minneapolis law firm of Doherty, Rumble and Butler.

Attorney Maura Murphy is the co-author of Summary Guide to Hiring Under Minnesota and Federal Law and focuses her practice in the areas of employment law counseling and litigation.

Dominic J. Cecere, attorney at law, concentrates his practice in the areas of labor and employment law.

The $80 per participant fee includes the seminar, lunch, topic handouts and a reference manual.

Because the seminar is limited to 35 participants, early registration is encouraged. For more information, call the Minnesota Workforce Center at 218 681-0909.

The weather in Northwest Minnesota can't be beat it seems. Even the TV weather reporters say it looks like a snowless Christmas for the area, a black Christmas as it is sometimes referred to but I call it snowless. Some people from this area who were leaving for the Holidays received telephone calls to come a few days earlier as their weather reporters had warned them of expected storms. We may get a dusting of snow for Christmas but I think we can handle that. These are the shortest days of the year but by next week we may be able to see them growing longer. I always feel real good when I can begin to see the sun coming up farther to the north than when it gets up so far south that it is in a line with the west window of the house way down the street. I do get up in time to see sun up, especially in winter.

Paul and Shirley Anderson returned home after spending a week in and around Florida. They were celebrating their 25th anniversary which was a trip sponsored by their children.

Apples And Oranges? Lemons And Lemons!

St. Paul Mayor Norm Coleman says comparing his city's request to the legislature for $65 million in bond funds for a new hockey arena and the recently rejected push to bond for a new stadium for the Minnesota Twins "is like comparing apples and oranges." We look at it more like comparing lemons and lemons.

"I presume this legislature will provide for the Minneapolis Convention Center, which I support," Coleman said. "If they do that, unless it's pure base politics, it would be incomprehensible to say with a straight face that you support Minneapolis' convention center, or Rochester's or Duluth's, without supporting a public improvement for part of St. Paul's convention complex."

Members of the public could well paraphrase Mayor Coleman's comments with: "The hockey arena and Twins stadium are like comparing lemons and lemons. This legislature has already rejected state support for a baseball stadium and, unless it's pure base politics, it would be incomprehensible for legislators to say with a straight face that they support a hockey arena, or a football stadium or basketball arena, without aptly being labeled a bunch of hypocrites."

Mayor Coleman's statement was included in a Minneapolis Tribune article which stated, "St. Paul's City Council and Civic Center Authority approved a lease Monday that details their 25-year deal with a National Hockey League team, which will take the ice in a new $130 million arena in 2000. Now, St. Paul officials will slide the puck debate over to the Legislature, where they'll ask for $65 million in state bonds to foot half the bill for the new arena."

The 25-year agreement calls for the new hockey team to pay $35 million (one-fourth of the cost) toward construction and be responsible for operating and maintaining the arena and any cost overruns that develop in the next few years. The team has agreed to allow the Minnesota State High School League to continue to hold its prep sports tournaments at the arena, and the lease calls for 10 days of city events, such as the Festival of Nations.

In return, it gets all revenues generated by the new arena, including naming rights, and all money that flows through the arena, including proceeds from concerts. What does the city get? Parking revenues on non-hockey nights. What would the state's taxpayers get? The blessing that comes from giving rather than receiving.

"I wouldn't call it a sweetheart deal," Mayor Coleman was quoted as saying. "You don't want to sign a lease with someone and squeeze them so they will fail. Then you have to pick up the pieces, and it's counterproductive. You wouldn't do that with any other businesses. I don't know why these sports businesses become the big enemies."

Mayor Coleman, perhaps you haven't noticed, but other businesses aren't asking the state's taxpayers to sell bonds to finance their ventures. Sports businesses aren't really enemies. For the most part, they aren't really businesses either. They are hobbies for multi-millionaires and case studies in mismanagement.

At least in this case the City of St. Paul has Plan B, which it could put into effect if (and we expect when) the legislature rejects the request. That plan would extend a half-cent sales tax and use other tax-capturing schemes to subsidize the $95 million city cost for its arena.

We think St. Paul deserves the chance to exercise Plan B and pay for its own arena. Let it show the nation it has the independent nature to fulfill its pro sports dreams on its own.

And for that matter, why should the state taxpayers, through their legislature, have any obligation to assist Minneapolis with expanding its convention center? Where did the idea of state financing for local wants come from anyway?

The Gold Box

One of our readers dropped off the following story, the original source of which is unknown:

We often learn the most from our children. Some time ago a friend of mine punished his three-year-old daughter for wasting a roll of gold wrapping paper. Money was tight, and he became infuriated with the child tried to decorate a box to put under the tree.

Nevertheless, the little girl brought the gift to her father the next morning and said, "This is for you, daddy." He was embarrassed by his earlier over-reaction, but his anger flared again when he found that the box was empty. He yelled at her, "Don't you know that when you give someone a present, there's supposed to be something inside of it?"

The little girl looked up at him with tears in her eyes and said, "Oh, daddy, it's not empty. I blew kisses into the box. All for you, daddy."

The father was crushed. He put his arms around his little girl and he begged her forgiveness. My friend told me that he kept that gold box by his bed for years. Whenever he was discouraged, he would take out an imaginary kiss and remember the love of the child who had put it there. In a very real sense, each of us as parents has been given a gold container filled with unconditional love and kisses from our children. There is no more precious possession anyone could hold.

The New Roth IRA

It's becoming a household name.

Thanks to the taxpayer Relief Act of 1997, not only do more people qualify for IRAs, they now have more choices and opportunities to get the most benefit from an IRA. Call us today for more information on the new Roth IRA and the Simple IRA for small-business owners.

Valuable Prizes Await First Baby Born In 1948

"A contest that probably will be decided sometime Thursday, January 1, is the one sponsored by local business places to determine which mother will be the first to give birth to a baby in Thief River Falls in 1948. A valuable collection of prizes awaits the winner of the contest."

Store Closing Hour on New Years Eve Set at 5

"Thief River stores will close Wednesday evening, New Years Eve at 5 o'clock instead of 5:30, the usual hour, it was announced by James Roche, secretary of the Civic and Commerce association."

Firemen Prepared For Big Crowd at 1947 Ball

"After conducting a successful advance sale of tickets, members of the Thief River Falls fire department are preparing to entertain a record crowd of dancers at their 53rd annual Firemen's Ball in the municipal auditorium Wednesday evening, New Years Eve, Fire Chief Roy Langevin announced, adding that tickets sold for the same price this year as they did for the first dance given July 4, 1894."

Lions Members Share in Yule Program Dec. 24th

"The Christmas spirit prevailed at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday, December 24, in the Rex cafe. Members exchanged gifts of toys, which were later turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution to needy children of this community. Further carrying out the Yule spirit, a group of Girl Scouts sang Christmas carols under the direction of Mrs. Vic Jung."

Post Office Handles Record Mail Volume Before Christmas

"Holiday mailing at the Thief River Falls postoffice before Christmas was featured not only by what was probably the heaviest volume on record but also by the fact that the rush of mailing got under way earlier than in the past, Postmaster Andrew Anderson reported this week.

"In the fifteen day period from December 11 to 25, a total of 192,507 letters and greeting cards passed through the canceling machines, slightly more than the figure of 190,582 for the same period in 1946. Peak days were December 15 to 18, when the number of cancelations ranged from 22,338 to 23,510.

"Stamp sales at the parcels post window aggregated $1,595.47, compared to $1,342.67 in 1946. Insured parcels increased in number from 1,854 last year to 2,076 in 1947 for the 15-day period. A total of 2,527 sacks of mail were received during the period this year while 2,043 sacks were dispatched."

Colorado Citizen Hears Julotta Radio Service

"Rev. L. W. Lindholm reports he had a letter from a patient at the Swedish National Sanatorium, Engelwood, Colorado, telling that he listened to the Julotta service through KILO which originated in the Mission Covenant church here Christmas morning."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

50 YEARS AGO • DECEMBER 31, 1947

Editorial comments from the files of Norm A. Holen

—England's Princess Elizabeth will get along all right. The British government has granted her an annuity of $200,000.

—If there had been a Christmas lighting contest in this town during the holidays, it would not have been an easy job to pick the winner.

—If you fail to get that Christmas greeting card, it isn't because there are too many towns named Thief River Falls for it to end up in.

—Business note. The Christmas issue of The Times last week was the first issue in nearly two years that was as small as 14 pages.

FROM THE NEW CITY

THE NEWS, JOHN W. EASTMAN, PUBLISHER DECEMBER 30, 1897
THIEF RIVER FALLS, RED LAKE COUNTY, MINNESOTA

Christmas Notes:

"An unusually large number of Christmas presents were received at the postoffice in this city. Most everyone in town received several presents from friends outside the city. Of course there were a few exceptions, as some did not have friends living outside the city. These were all remembered by Sam Bardelson, who wanted to see all the patrons of the office get something.

"Two Christmas trees, laden with toys and candies, was the attraction that filled the Methodist church on the East Side last Friday evening. A very entertaining program was rendered. The Synod church had a very attractive tree Saturday evening which was greatly admired by the audience.

"'I'll tell you what,' said Mike Burns to the News, 'The people around here don't enjoy Christmas as they did when the country was new. Why, we used to have a big dance and everyone for miles around would attend. Of course, there wasn't many girls, which was the biggest drawback. Now the town is full of 'em - pretty ones too -- and you can't get out a crowd big enough to pay the fiddler.'"

News Items

"Two loads of young people from Thief River Falls drove down here Sunday afternoon.

"The Christmas number of the Fisher Bulletin was printed on blue tinted book paper and looks real well.

"Those in a position to know predict another general coal strike after the present agreement expires December 31.

"Forty dollars and forty days in jail is what our justice gave a fellow the first of the week for hitting his wife on Christmas Day.

"There will be a social dance at Hotel Markham on Friday evening December 31st. Good music! All are cordially invited to attend, to dance the old year out and the new year in."

Polk Centre

"A man from Roseau peddled fish here last week.

"A number of our Wylie people attended 5 o'clock mass at Red Lake Falls on Christmas.

"A birthday party in honor of Miss Gertrude Melin was held at her home Wednesday. All the lucky ones who participated reported an excellent time."

TURNING BACK THE TIMES

10 Years at a Time

by Donna Myhrer

1897 — One Hundred Years Ago

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO LES'S SANITATION CUSTOMERS

In 1997, the Minnesota Legislature eliminated the SCORE tax (6.5% tax on Municipal Solid Waste Service) and the solid waste generator assessment ($2.00 per household, 60 cents per cubic yard of capacity) and combined them into one solid waste management tax that begins January 1, 1998. This substitute tax pays for programs currently funded by the two different state fees. Both Senator LeRoy Stumpf and Representative Mike Finseth voted yes on this tax.

Under the new system: • Residential waste generators pay a 9.75% tax on the sales price for mixed municipal solid waste management services. • Commercial waste generators pay a 17% tax on the sales price for waste management services.

For questions related to programs funded by the new Minnesota solid waste management tax, call the Minnesota Office of Environmental Assistance (OEA) at 612-215-0206 or 800-657-3843.

Plummer Seniors have potluck

Plummer Senior Citizens held their Christmas potluck on Thursday. The group had a great time. Potluck was served and then Froiland in charge of entertainment had the Plummer High School Choir come over and sing. The young people did a great job, lead by Lynn Burns. There was also an extra great treat from Art and Avis, they gave four bags of their mouth watering home made donuts to prize winners, Amelia Eskeli, Dorothy Reese, Howard Lafayette, and Alma Hanson.

Anniversary and Birthday

After church service at Immanuel Lutheran in Plummer everyone sang "Happy Anniversary" to one of our nicest couples, Clayton and Bea Larson. After singing to Clayton and Bea "Happy Birthday" was sung to Roger Hughes.

Christmas Pageant

Immanuel Lutheran Church held their Christmas pageant on Sunday evening. The children told and sang the beautiful story of the advent through the birth of Jesus and why we should keep Christ in Christmas. After the program Christmas cards and gifts were handed out, then Mary and Shadrack Circle served lunch.

Jean Carpenter was a very proud grandmother Sunday evening when her granddaughter Danielle Holmes played the part of Mary in the Christmas pageant. The part of Joseph was played by Josh Brekkertron and both did very good. Too bad Bunny DuChamp's grandson Brady didn't live closer he could have played the babe in the manger.

Jim, Debbie and Bunny DuChamp spent Friday evening at the home of Kevin, Cathy and Brody Samuelson of Sarles, ND. The family got together to visit and have an early Christmas together.

Jean Carpenter had a very nice visit when Don and Merle Gagner of Maple Bay stopped over. The three then went to Third Base in Brooks for supper.

Howard and Margaret Greenwald spent Saturday afternoon and evening at Goodridge for a early Christmas with their daughter Sharon Wayne and her family.

Frances Schubert visited with Willie Gallant and Lorna Westerlund on Thursday afternoon and evening.

Christmas Program

St. Vincent DePaul had their Christmas program on Wednesday night, it was very enjoyable.

Birthday Lunch

On Sunday Roger Hughes enjoyed his birthday lunch at the home of his Mom, Bertha Hughes of Thief River Falls. Also helping the birthday boy celebrate was his wife Connie, daughter Teri and grandson Nickelas. Sure glad you home Bertha and doing well. Ron and Kathy Juneau stopped in to visit Bertha also on Sunday.

Jean Carpenter and her daughters, Nancy Holmes and Judy Kelley enjoyed a nice lunch together in Thief River Falls.

Sunday visitors at the home of Ron and Kathy Juneau were, Art and Alma Hanson spreading Christmas cheer then they were off to their next stop at the home of Dave, Kelly and Alysa Krueger.

Early Christmas

Erick and Arlene Bergman and Rueben and Wanda Rydeen all of Clearbrook stopped for a visit with Kenneth and Alice Forsberg on Tuesday evening. Alice surprised them and prepared a swedish Christmas Torsk supper.

Elaine Bergman and Carol Burshe of McIntosh and Warren and Barb Torgerson stopped to wish Kenneth and Alice Forsberg a good Christmas and of course they were served coffee and Christmas goodies.

It is good to have some snow on the ground so we can feel it is a white Christmas. This is especially true for Dianne and Dave Kerssen who decided to celebrate Christmas early this year. Their son Tim Kerssen has been home from Mt. Home Air Force Base since December 3rd. He will be reporting back to Idaho on Dec. 24, so on Dec. 20, Kerssens had an early family Christmas "Get together". Their complete family was present except a son-in law, one daughter-in-law and three grandchildren, also David's Dad Bennie Kerssen. Besides being busy with their own family, Dave and Dianne thought about others and got out early to spread Christmas Cheer. On the 19th they dressed up their team of horses with Christmas ribbons and went in to Fosston to Calvary Lutheran Church to give sleigh rides and enjoy Christmas Caroling that evening. Bill Fulz and Eva James from McIntosh went over to Fosston with his team of horses and sleigh to help out with the rides. What happier way could there be to celebrate Christmas than with a bunch for a sleigh ride while singing Christmas carols about why we have Christmas.

The Parish Council from Bethany, Sand Valley, and Lund met this week after learning Rev. Bob Kelly will be leaving us the first of 1998. This was not happy news for us, it is not easy to say farewell, to one who has been a part of the community and our "shepherd" at church for 12 years. We are thankful he is not going further than Bemidji.
